Report Truce Accord; ROK Vows to Battle

Rhee Alerts Nation, Recalls S. Korea
Officers From U. S., Truce Teams Meet

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

PANMUNJOM (Sunday)—(AP) The United Nations and the Communists were believed Sunday to have reached general agreement on a Korean armistice and an announcement was expected at any moment, possibly within 24 hours. But South Korean spokesmen accused the U. S. of "selling out" and vowed to fight on unless ROK terms were met.

Vandenberg Warns of Red Air Buildup

(Compiled from AP and UP)

WASHINGTON — Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg says Russia has a rapidly growing fleet of light jet bombers that can hit any point in Free Europe in an hour, or if pitted against the Allies in Korea can "quickly jeopardize" the U.N. position there.

In the most detailed official public discussion thus far on Soviet capabilities, the USAF chief of staff who is fighting against administration-ordered cuts in the Air Force budget also:

Said the TU-4 medium bombers of the USSR can "deliver the atomic bomb through staging bases already prepared in Siberia and northern Russia to any target in the United States in a one-way mission."

Asserted the initial blows in any struggle are likely to be the decisive ones. "We no longer can count on having time, as we did in the last two wars, to mobilize our military resources after the fighting has begun. If Soviet industries, and air fields, and transport facilities were left intact while they struck with atomic weapons at those of the West, we would have no chance of ever meeting them again on anything like equal terms."

The comment by Vandenberg seemed to challenge the basic policy of industrial mobilization, under which additional weapons for all-out war would be produced after hostilities had started.

He noted that "the principal target area which is nearest the iron curtain is Moscow," nearly 1000 miles from any land or sea base, and that "targets in the Ural mountain industrial complex, in the atomic weapons area of Lake Baikal, and in other principal centers of war are protected by even greater distances."

Vandenberg's views were expressed to a House committee in executive session on Mar. 6 but now have been published in the Congressional Record by Sen. Maybank (D-S.C.), a member of the Senate appropriations subcommittee which has been hearing public testimony by the general.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) predicted Saturday that the Senate will uphold President Eisenhower's cut-back in Air Force funds.

All that was believed to remain before an actual truce signing was an agreement on minor details and a working out of mechanical details on the exchange of prisoners of war.

Allied and Red staff officers, who would handle much of these problems, went into secret session at 2 p. m. Sunday at Panmunjom. (Midnight Saturday EST).

An official announcement said the staff officers met "to discuss administrative matters pertaining to the prisoner of war question."

Red and Allied delegates met in three brief sessions Sunday that took only 49 minutes. They recessed "by mutual agreement" until 11 a. m. Monday. (7 p. m. Sunday, Long Beach time).

While they met, tension and expectancy in Panmunjom built up to a new height. The consensus among observers at Panmunjom was that "this is it."

Simultaneously South Korea pulled out completely from the Panmunjom negotiations and the last few officers who had been attached to the Allied staff boycotted the meeting.

It was learned that the U. N. command already had selected the officers who will serve on the military armistice commission that will police a truce.

The Allied command also was said to be ready to throw into operation its plans for carrying out the truce and exchanging prisoners of war. Some of these preparations already have been made.

Main support of the belief that a general armistice agreement was reached came from the fact that the main delegations turned over to lower level staff officers the job of working out the administrative matters of the prisoner exchange.

Meanwhile, stormy South Korea

ROKs Regain Half of Area Lost Saturday

SEOUL—(UP) South Korean infantrymen, battling at close quarters by the eerie light of flares, early today regained more than half the eastern front ground they lost to North Korean Reds Saturday.

Frontline reports said the ROK troops drove the Communists back 300 yards, regrouped, and again pushed their counterattack slowly forward.

The Reds drove 500 yards into Allied territory east of Lake the Gook's Castle Saturday. The South Koreans launched their counter-offensive about 10 p. m. Saturday night.

Three miles to the east, about 175 North Koreans aimed a two-pronged blow at a hill position held by the ROKs. A U.S. Eighth Army briefing officer said they retreated 70 minutes later after having lost 22 killed and 12 wounded.

This continuing Red punch in the east, made while reports from Panmunjom indicated near agreement on an armistice, suggested the possibility the Communists were bidding for a new truce buffer-zone.

On the east-central front, soldiers of the Fifth Korean Division fought desperately against about 750 Chinese Reds for an outpost on Bloody Ridge, 13 miles east of Kumsong.

Korea—End of Long, Weary Road?

Public Works Plan Eyed if Slump Hits

WASHINGTON—(UP) An informed source said Saturday the Eisenhower administration will develop plans for a multi-billion dollar public works program for use in event of economic emergency.

The administration's economic advisers are radiating confidence that no such "pump-priming" by the government will be necessary, but this source said it has been decided to have a program ready "just in case."

Full details of the program will not be worked out for several months—probably not before November at the earliest, the informant said.

President Eisenhower and his chief economic adviser, Dr. Arthur F. Burns, will have weekly 30-minute meetings, starting on Monday.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerly said this is no indication of any growing concern over economic trends. He said such meetings had been merely delayed until the President completed plans for reorganization of the council of economic advisers. That plan went to Congress this week.

Government economic advisers are reported to hold the view that, at the worst, the economy may take a modest dip by the end of 1953 or sometime in 1954. They refer to it more as a possible "readjustment" than a "recession."

They are said, however, to see a chance that a psychological wave of depression—prompted by downturns in important segments of the economy or an end to the Korean fighting—might cause business and the public to call off or sharply trim buying and expansion plans.

Typhoon Kills 8 in Southern Japan, Heads for Tokyo

TOKYO (Sunday)—(UP) A wild typhoon careened across western Japan toward Tokyo Sunday afternoon, killing at least eight persons.

The eight were lost in torrential rains that accompanied the roaring storm, which reportedly had winds up to 105 miles an hour at its center.

In southern Kyushu Island 17 others were dead, four were missing and 26 were injured in the storm.

The central weather bureau said the typhoon hit central Kyushu Sunday morning and was racing toward Tokyo at 40 miles an hour.

The storm was expected to strike this crowded area of 10,000,000 inhabitants late Sunday night if it continues on its present course.

Fireman Saves Tiny Tot From Flaming Home

2nd Child Rescued
From Upper Story
by Human Pyramid

A heroic Long Beach fireman dashed through flames in the kitchen of a second-floor Cabrillo Homes apartment at 2080 W. 19th St. Saturday evening to rescue a 15-month-old girl. A second child, a 3-year-old boy, was rescued from another bedroom by two men who boosted a third man through the window.

Fireman Charles Holmes, 27, of 1251 1/2 Loma Vista Dr., risked serious injury to rescue tiny Karen Mae Hatfield from her crib in the smoke-filled northeast bedroom of the apartment shortly after 5 p. m. He handed the child out the window to another fireman on a ladder. Moments later fire and smoke made the room untenable.

Meanwhile, three nearby residents scaled a seven-foot fence and formed a human pyramid to reach the southwest bedroom of the apartment and rescue Patrick Hatfield. The men were identified as Jack Havlichek of 2093 W. 19th St., who stood on the shoulders of Junior Bodkin of 2084 W. 19th St. and Scott Kern, 2084 W. 19th.

The children's mother, Mrs. Patricia Hatfield, 25, had been visiting neighbors with another son when a fourth child, who was playing in the yard, noticed the apartment was in flames and ran over and told his mother.

The frantic mother made several futile attempts to enter the apartment, singeing her hair, before firemen arrived.

Firemen said the fire might have been started by faulty wiring to a washing machine located in the kitchen or from children playing with matches. Flames quickly spread to a box of trash stored near the only entrance to the three-bedroom apartment.

Norse Beauty Edges Twin for L. B. Trip

OSLO, Norway—(UP) Six well-proportioned Norse beauties paraded up and down the floor at Oslo's swank Bristol Hotel last night, while five judges sought to pick this year's Miss Norway.

The nervous finalists turned on all the charm they could muster. At stake was not only the title but the promise of a trip abroad.

The judges finally narrowed the field down to two, both lovely "typical Norwegian blondes."

Paraplegics Ride to Altar in Tearful, Gay Wedding

By TEDD THOMEY

Except for the wheelchairs, it was just like any other happy wedding in June.

The bride, Juanita Cramer, was as radiant as all June brides are—and no one mentioned the fact that her legs and hands are paralyzed.

The bridegroom, Wayne Capson, was handsome—and no one mentioned the fact that he was paralyzed from the waist down.

Shortly after 5 p. m. Saturday at the Garden Wedding Chapel, 3020 E. Third St.—seated side by side in their wheelchairs—they became man and wife, promising to serve one another "in sickness and in health until death do us part." Among the 225 guests were a dozen wheelchair paraplegics from the Veterans Administration Hospital—all close friends of the young couple.

It was one of the most unusual

L.A.C. SAYS:

How You Treat Others

For many years we traveled as a salesman through most of the states. We recall how often it was said, "You can nearly always tell a new man on the road by the way he treats bellhops, waiters and cab drivers." The older, experienced traveler had the ease and showed the courtesy that come only from self-confidence. Intolerant and discourteous treatment of others always marked for us a new man who just didn't know how to get along with people. If he did not learn quickly, he soon ceased to be a traveling salesman.

The old-timers resented this type of individual. They considered him a hypocrite. He was a hypocrite because he conducted himself so very differently when he was trying to sell his products to the merchants he called on. He fawned on those he considered his equal or his better, or those from whom he hoped to profit. He showed his ignorance and pettiness by his treatment of

Fast Life

By PETRONIUS JR.

THE 13 CANDIDATES in the Eighth Councilmanic District are becoming quite a problem.

They and their helpers are working so hard they create a traffic problem.

IF YOU BUMP against anyone out there the chances are good he is a candidate.

The area is north of Wardlow Rd. to Market St. east of the flood control to Cherry Ave.

NEXT TUESDAY it is believed some 6000 of the 19,000 registered voters will go to the polls.

One candidate will be elected to fill the council seat vacated by Burton Chace.

WITH 13 NAMES on the ballot anyone can win because it is the highest vote that counts, regardless of a majority.

It is an unfortunate situation when a man with 10 per cent or less of the vote can be elected.

Senate Committee Approves $200,000 for Study of San Pedro Tube Project

A $200,000 appropriation for studies on the proposed $14,000,000 tube under the main harbor channel to link San Pedro with Terminal Island has been approved by the State Transportation Committee, it was announced Saturday.

The assembly-passed measure by Assemblyman Vincent Thomas of San Pedro will go to the Senate Finance Committee next.

Only present means of transportation across the harbor is the San Pedro municipal ferry.

Several methods of financing the tube, which would accommodate two lanes of traffic, have been suggested in a report prepared for the California Toll Bridge Authority by the State Highway Commission.

The Los Angeles Harbor Department has been asked by Assemblyman Thomas if the harbor commission would do three things:

1. Guarantee interest on revenue bonds, which would be floated by the state to pay for construction of the tunnel.
2. Operate and maintain the tube.
3. Advance the necessary rights of way for construction.

Whether the harbor department can legally do these three things is now being studied.

Proposed terminal for the tube would be Regan St., on the San Pedro side, and about Berth 225 on Terminal Island. It has been suggested the tunnel would enable the harbor freeway to connect with the Long Beach Freeway where it passes through Terminal Island.

Star 2335 AMERICAN

FOR example, in the mail yesterday came a couple of clippings from the Oakland Tribune, relayed to us by Mrs. G. Wehrly, 2976 Maine Ave.

One was an editorial entitled, "Two Boys, One Lawnmower." The Oakland woman who clipped it, and sent it to her friend in L. B., wrote on the margin: "This is how Long Beach does it. I think this a shame."

The other clipping was a story about Oakland mothers trying to line up summer jobs for kids, including lawnmowing jobs. In the margin: "This is the way Oakland mothers try to help their children. Different from stingy old Long Beach!"

Local folks, getting mail like that, want something done, quick!

OF COURSE, the story has been overdone and there are a lot of inaccuracies in some of the printed comment. City Treasurer Frank Brejcha gets warmed up over the fact that most of the commentators fail to realize exactly how the license regulation is applied.

It is applied only when an automobile or truck is used by the gardener on city streets to transport his lawnmowing and other gardening equipment. Without a license, a kid can mow his neighbor's lawn, or as many lawns as he wants to, so long as he doesn't load his tools in a car and drive down the street.

Brejcha thinks that's an important point that has been missed.

WELL, maybe so, and perhaps this isn't a world-shaking affair anyhow, but it seems to this dept. that the City Councilmen, in their wisdom, should be able to figure out some way to stop the wave of ridicule that has become something of a national pastime in recent weeks.

No use being stubborn about it; just take some bit of practical action that will exempt youngsters doing odd jobs from the terms of the licensing ordinance. Maybe it could be done by putting in an age exemption or something like that.

The thing to do is to get the city officially on record to the effect that it doesn't want license money from kids mowing lawns.

AND it's a wholesome commentary on our national life that we can get worked up about such a homely issue. Unwittingly, Long Beach has made a hero of the American boy who earns spending money clipping the grass in a neighbor's yard. He never had such recognition.

One eastern editorial writer did a whole philosophical piece on the subject, ending up with the conclusion that there's no accepted professional standards for mowing lawns. He seemed to think we were licensing lawn clippers like physicians, opticians and architects.

Well, anyhow, let's look to the city dads for relief from those stinging barbs of ridicule.

MYSTERIOUS noises have become commonplace hereabouts, but we never lack for conversational fodder in Long Beach. Now we can speculate indefinitely on the source of a deluge of ice that smacked a couple of blocks on American Ave. Thursday.

Some one, I'm sure, will recognize it as the spectacular beginning of the 1953 flying saucer season. Just ordinary summer-time saucer visits have become old hat; this season, it looks as if those strangers are dumping saucers of ice on our used car lots.

But maybe my old friend Ray Chapin has a better idea. He sees the ice bombardment as an obvious phase of the cold war.

Artesia Fair Draws Throng

ARTESIA — Thousands of Southern Californians lined Pioneer Blvd. here Saturday to witness Artesia's first annual spring fair parade that led to Pioneer Blvd. — Orangethorpe Blvd. fairgrounds where a rugged hay trucking contest featured the afternoon's entertainment.

Winners of the two-man four-team hay pitching battle are Dick Van Dyke, 32, of Bellflower, and Cornelius Scholten, 34, of Lakewood.

Portraying the hay business in action, the duo loaded 64 bales of hay on a truck drove 300 feet to the finishing goal unloaded and placed the four ton of feed in a neat stack in 11 minutes flat.

Cash prize for the winners was $70 with a $40 purse going to R. Blekert of Cypress and Ted Wiersma of Artesia, second place winners.

The contest was sponsored by the Palo Verde Hay Co., Artesia Chamber of Commerce and the Artesia Hay Co.

Nellie Vander Poel, 17-year-old Artesia dairy maid was winner of the milking contest on the feature attractions of Friday's entertainment.

weddings in the city's history.

Instead of walking to the altar, the bride, who is 31, was wheeled in her chromium chair by her father, Doran Corn, of Middleton, Idaho.

The bridegroom, who is 21, but looks considerably older and more mature, was wheeled to her side by the best man, his brother, Marine Corp John L. Capson Jr., 22, of Camp Pendleton.

Juanita was lovely in a long pink gown of imported organza. She also wore a pink hat with tiny rhinestones, and carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations.

Wayne, dressed in a light gray suit with a maroon necktie, was as nervous as bridegrooms always are.

HOLD THAT KISS!

He was a bit wan and still weak from his four-day bout with a high fever which for a time threatened postponement of the ceremony.

It was probably one of the "kissiest" weddings ever held at the chapel.

Wayne modestly kissed Juanita a moment after Rev. Arthur P. Reese, of the Rosewood Christian Church, Compton, pronounced them man and wife.

Then half a dozen photographers swarmed through the chapel, flashing flashbulbs, requesting the bride and bridegroom to kiss again and again for news pictures.

A number of the guests pressed forward through the crowd and planted kisses on the bride's cheek.

Among them was Jim Dwyer, a paraplegic who got his wheelchair down front first. He kissed her twice—once on his own initiative and the second time, for the photographers.

PUNCH AND CAKE

The matron of honor, Mrs. Sandra Slovacek, of Baker, Ore., the bride's sister, planted a warm kiss on Wayne's cheek. A number of feminine guests followed suit and soon Wayne's face was covered with lipstick.

After the ceremony, the bride and bridegroom were wheeled from the chapel to the adjoining, ivy-covered patio where the reception—with pink punch and assorted cakes—was held.

During the reception, Charles Patterson, former owner of the chapel, stood up and quoted a bit of Robert Burns' poetry as a tribute to the bride. From a small card, he read:

"To know her was to love her
"And love but her forever.
"For nature made her what she is

"And never made another."
When he finished reading, there were tears in the eyes of some of the feminine guests who stood nearby.

Following the reception, Wayne and Juanita took a brief one-hour honeymoon trip to Garden Grove, where they inspected their new home which is under construction.

Then, following the orders of Wayne's doctors, they returned to the VA hospital, where both are patients.

They will leave on a real honeymoon later this month, when Wayne's health improves.

Usually robust enough to lift Juanita from her wheelchair into his hardtop convertible, Wayne has been quite weak since last Tuesday when he was struck down by a sudden fever. His temperature rose to 103 and did not subside until Friday.

A honeymoon suite has been arranged for them at San Diego's Hotel Manor as a wedding gift from the Independent-Press-Telegram.

Juanita's hands and legs have been paralyzed ever since she was injured in an auto accident at Baker, Ore., in 1949. She is a former WAC.

Wayne received his paralyzing injury while serving with the Marines in Korea in 1951.

During the bitter battle for Bunker Hill, a North Korean major infiltrated the Yank lines one night, managing to wound Wayne before he was killed by Wayne's leatherneck companions. Among the other paralyzed guests were Leo J. Murphy, Elizabeth Lindsey, Henry Hanson, Ernest Kossow, Dave Potter, most of whom are VA hospital patients, and Dick Slovacek, of Tarzana, brother-in-law of the bride's sister, who was paralyzed while fighting with the Army in the Philippines during World War II.

Among the out-of-town guests attending were the bride's mother, Mrs. Doran Corn, of Middleton, Idaho; the bridegroom's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Capson Sr., of Arcadia, Utah; his sister, Miss Eleanor Capson; cousins, Mrs. Roy Ross, of Pasadena, and his aunts, Mrs. Marie Hall of Escallante, Utah, and Mrs. Lillian Walter of Hollada, Utah.

Solon Asks Education Aid for Migrant Tots

WASHINGTON—(AP) Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) Saturday urged Congress to provide $181,000 for work with the states in providing educational facilities for children of migratory workers.

Humphrey said in a statement that recent studies showed such children provided "our biggest reservoir of illiterates." He said lack of methods for the million children to "get an education as they move from community to community, and across state lines" was a "blot upon our national conscience."

Hold Your Hats for a Gas Buggy Ride!

By Vera Williams

FROM Long Beach and elsewhere in Southern California, from Reno, Sacramento, the San Francisco Bay area, Tulare, Santa Maria, and as far away as Oregon, 90 shining horseless carriages of the "brass age" (1900-1915) and their proud and happy owners will converge on Fresno next Friday.

They will be participants in the sixth annual Horseless Carriage Club Caravan to Yosemite Valley June 12-15.

Cars will be parked overnight Friday in the Fresno fairgrounds. Owners will have a buffet dinner in Hotel Fresno, with prime ribs courtesy of General Petroleum, a dance to a six-piece orchestra and then an "old-fashioned" waltz contest.

Saturday morning the caravan of cars and owners most of them dressed in dusters, goggles and the other paraphernalia of the era of their cars—will head for Yosemite Valley on Highway 41. A motorcycle escort will be furnished through Fresno, Madera and Mariposa Counties.

They will have lunch at Coarse Gold Inn, in the foothills of the High Sierra, and during the two-hour stop there everyone in the vicinity with any kind of a camera is expected to photograph all or part of the caravan.

In Yosemite, they will have accommodations at Wawona Hotel and two adjacent lodges, with dinner and dance at the Wawona. The orchestra will be provided by the Horseless Carriage Club of Southern California.

Sunday morning, beginning at 9 o'clock, there will be a horseless carriage tour of Yosemite Valley, groups of 30 cars leaving at 15-minute intervals with a park ranger in charge of each group. Lunch will be served in Ahwahnee Hotel, with protected parking in the hotel compound. After a movie and talk by a park naturalist, the caravan will return to Hotel Wawona for a campfire barbecue, cowboy orchestra and awarding of plaques and prizes.

Monday morning, they will return home, many doing it by way of the 9000-foot high Tioga Pass and Reno.

Will the horseless carriages make that 9000 feet?

"Of course!" says Harry B. Johnson, 3671 S. Leland St., San Pedro, a Los Angeles fire department captain who drives a 1913 Mercer Raceabout, and is the unofficial local starter for the caravan. "They made it on dirt roads; they certainly can make it now!"

Lindley Bothwell of Woodland Hills, owner of a 1914 Rolls Royce, heads the Horseless Carriage Club, which organized in 1937 in Los Angeles, now has 2900 members in the United States and some foreign countries.

Among the Long Beach horseless carriage fans are Lester Barnett with a 1900 EMF—nobody seems to remember any more what those initials stood for; John Gillespie, with a 1914 Ford which he drove down the Alcan Highway from Alaska; Glenn Thomas, with an 1898 DeDion and 1903 Cadillac; C. Standlee Martin with 1909 and 1915 Oldsmobiles.

Ralph Cherry of San Pedro has a 1912 Flanders, and Dr. George E. Shafer of San Bernardino has a couple of Duryeas. The first gasoline-driven car in the U.S.A. was a Duryea, built in 1892, say the fans.

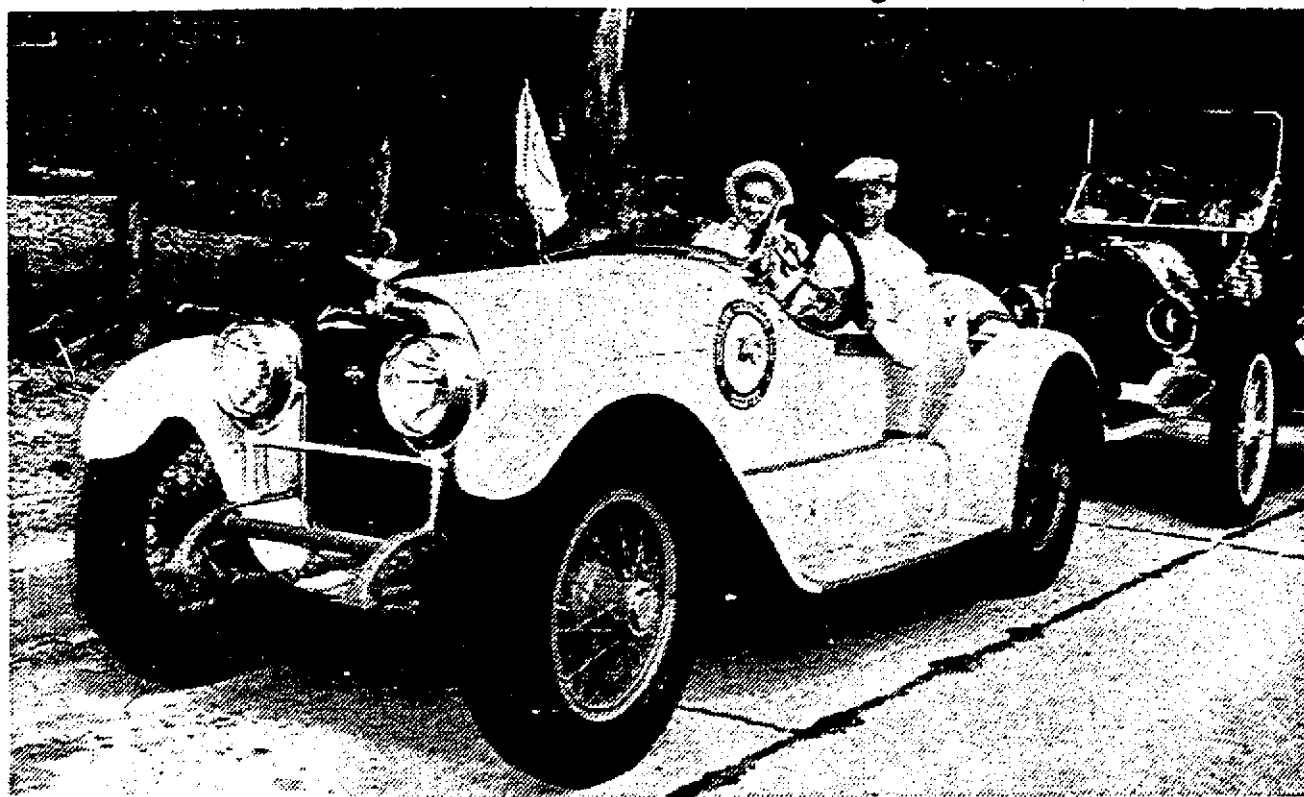

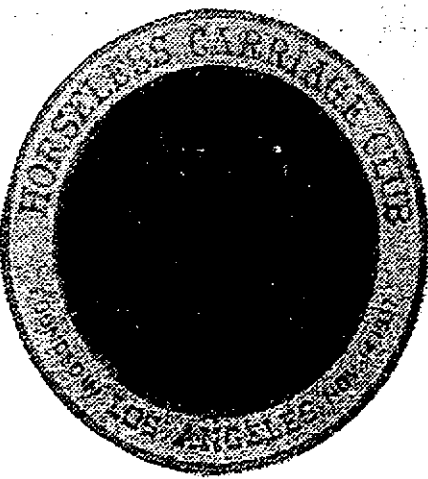

Although the horseless carriages in the caravan may have new upholstery, paint and general refurbishing, it isn't cricket to replace the motor. The motor made the car what it was—and is.

General Petroleum, underwriting the caravan, will furnish gasoline coupons, plaques for all cars, and prizes.

Last year, the caravan went from Los Angeles to Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Sorenson (standing) and Mr. and Mrs. Warwick Eastwood grab their hats as Eastwood takes off in 1905 Buick for a Horseless Carriage Club rendezvous.

Mr. and Mrs. Jo Goodell drive a 1915 Mercer. Can gas buggies like this climb the 9000-foot Tioga Pass? "Of course," say Horseless Carriage Club members.

IN ONLY A QUARTER CENTURY, LONG BEACH HAS BUILT THE

Goliath of the City Colleges

FROM AN ENROLLMENT of 500 to one of 10,000, from open-air classes in Recreation Park to the finest in new buildings, from dream to reality — this is the story of Long Beach City College as its 25th Anniversary year draws to a close.

Back in 1927, the junior college idea was still pretty new, although 18 of the present-day California junior colleges had already opened their doors. The idea was simple: bring college education to the people. There weren't enough of the traditional four-year colleges and universities to go around. They were too far away, too expensive. . . .

And so it was that in March, 1927, the Long Beach Board of Education called upon the citizens to decide upon the establishment of a Long Beach Junior College, announcing some of the functions of the proposed college as follows:

"(1) To make it possible for many more high school graduates to secure two years of college training, (2) To increase the number of students who will complete the four years of college, (3) To continue home influence during the years of immaturity, (4) To prepare boys and girls more acceptably for occupational positions, (5) To conserve finances to the advantage of both the parents and the city, and (6) To serve as a community builder."

The voters of Long Beach must have liked the idea, because the original Long Beach Junior College opened its doors on the Wilson High School campus in September, 1927, under the direction of Principal John L. Lounsbury.

By June, 1929, the fledgling

junior college had graduated its first sophomore class, and had also begun to make history by winning the state basketball championship.

FOUR MORE YEARS, and the college had grown steadily in enrollment and had gained high academic standing through the record of its graduates at major universities. Then came the 1933 earthquake.

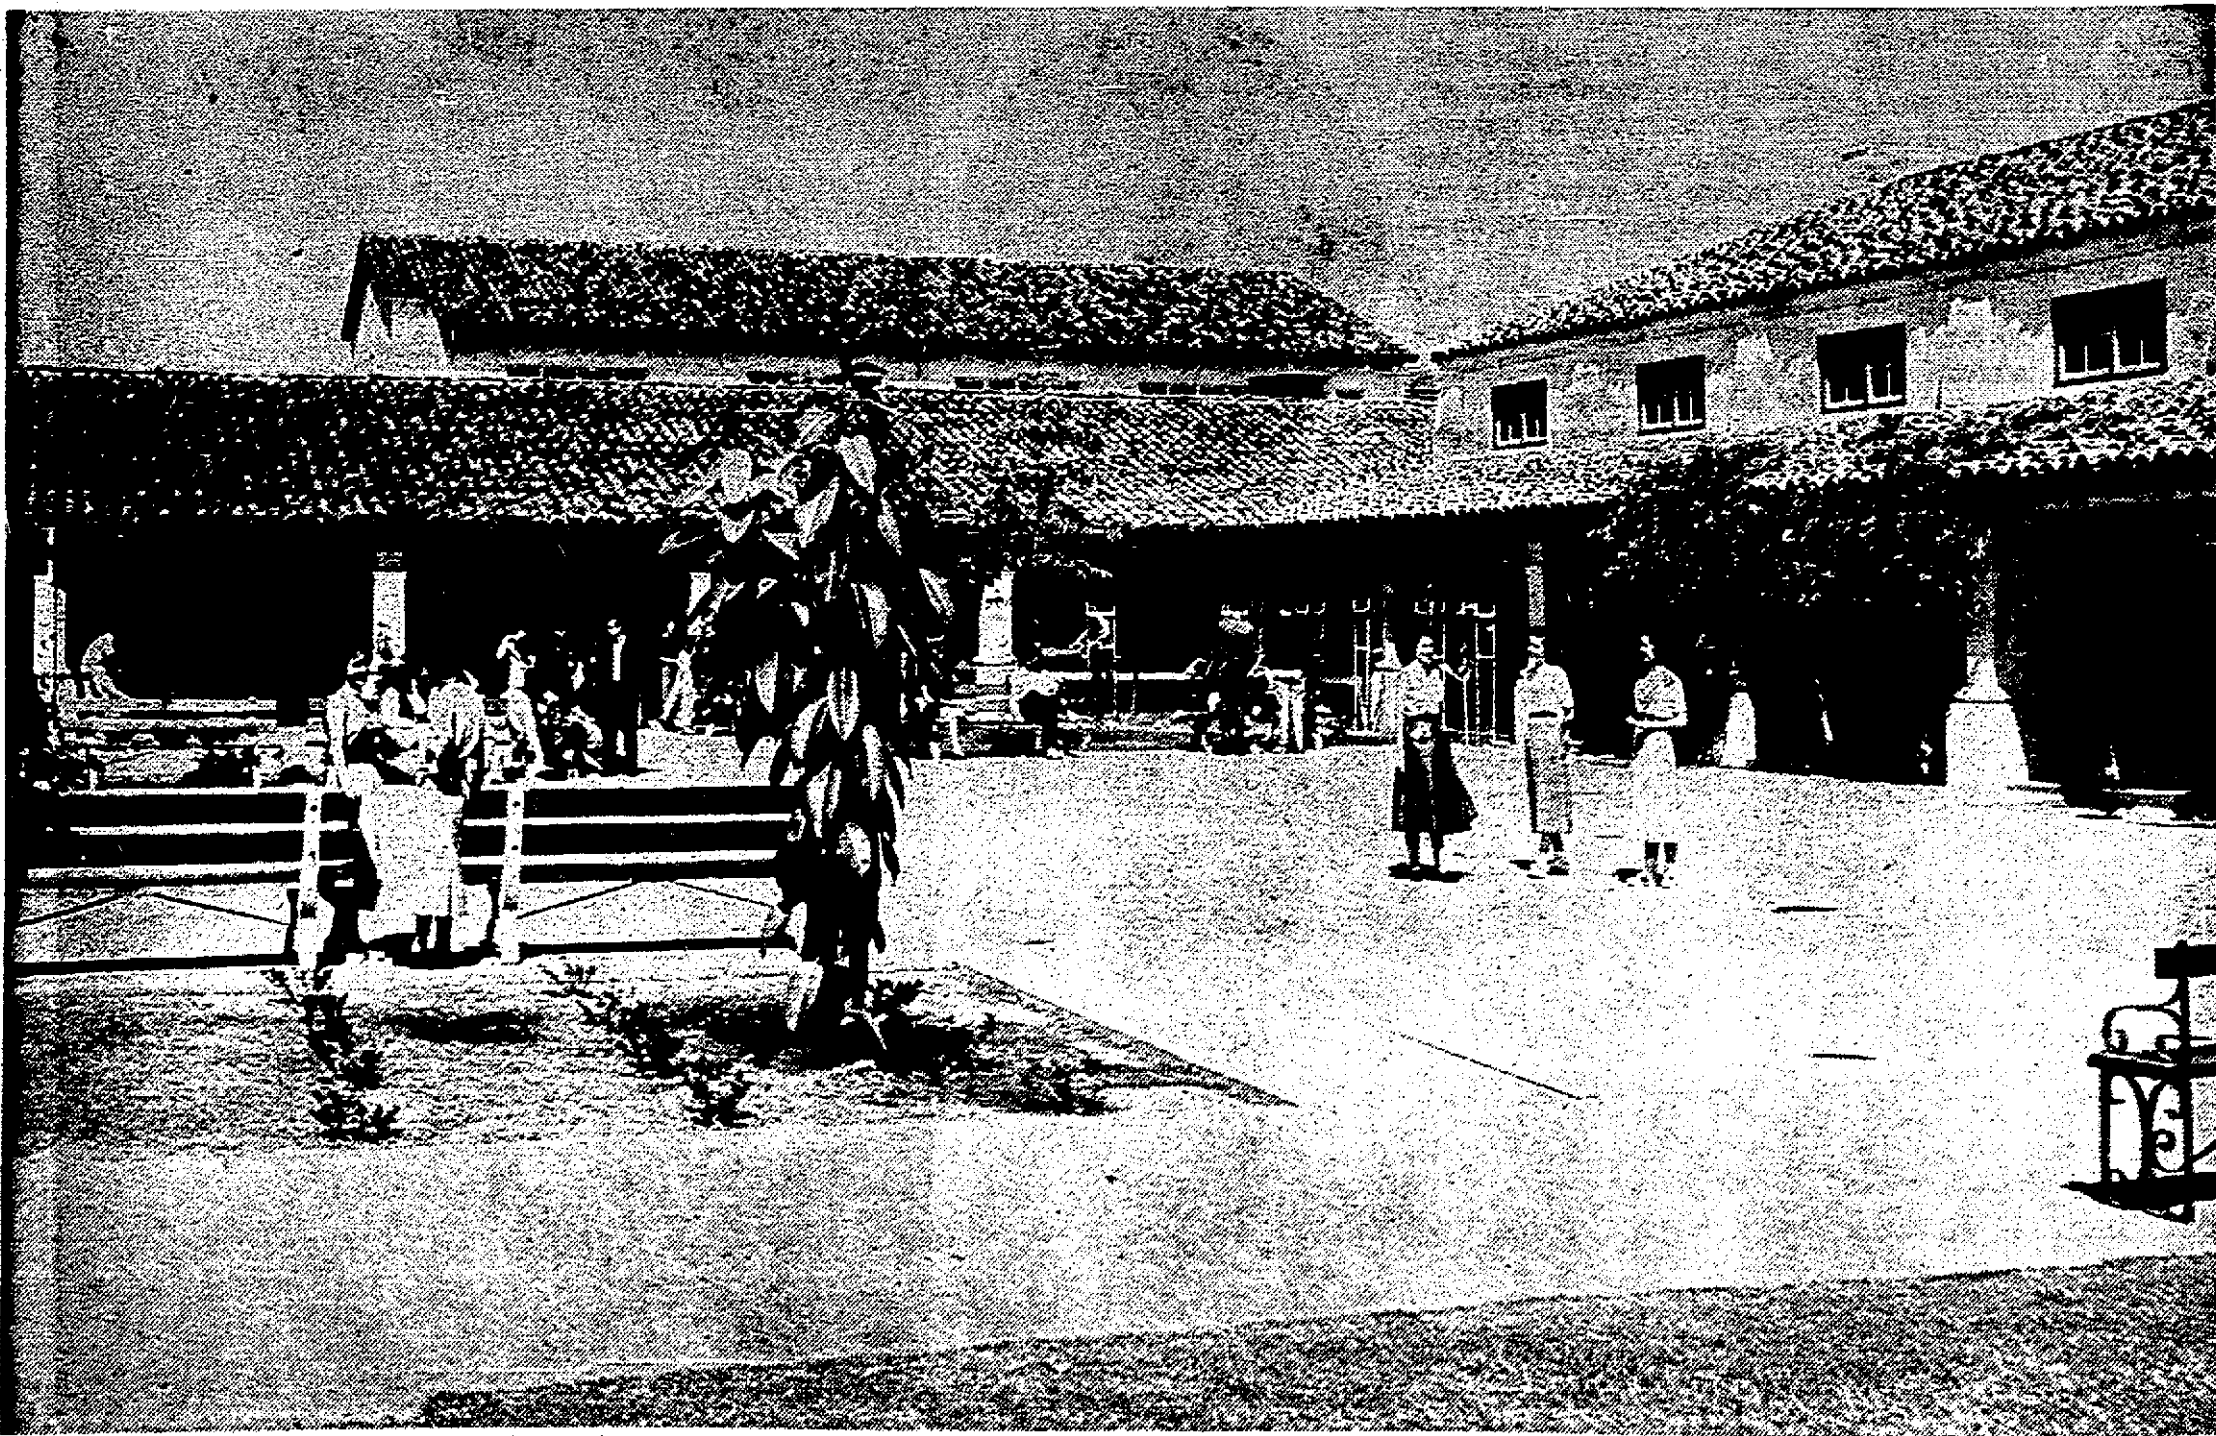

Forced out of damaged buildings, the college held classes in the bleachers, around picnic tables and under the trees of Recreation Park.

Kibitzers sometimes livened things up in this open-air era. Occasionally a stray picnicker would saunter up to a "classroom" table, start eating his lunch, and then — apparently assuming it was some sort of public meeting — would heartily join in the class discussion, and (Heaven forbid!) might even contradict the teacher.

Next big event in the school's history was the move from borrowed space at Wilson High to a campus of its own, as announced in the Sept. 15, 1935, issue of the Press-Telegram: "An educational dream which took form almost overnight will be realized here tomorrow morning when the new Long Beach Junior College at Lakewood Village opens its doors."

On its opening day, the first bus from downtown Long Beach reached the campus at 7:40 a. m. — and some visionaries ventured to prophesy an amazing growth for the new college and whole Lakewood area.

LAKEWOOD was then little more than a gleam in a real estate man's eye. Aside from a few scattered homes, one serv-

Mother Saves Five, Is Killed on RR Tracks

ORANGE—A split second after she pushed four children and a woman friend to safety, Mrs. Esther Louise Paul, 39, wife of an Orange physician, was fatally injured Saturday by a speeding Santa Fe freight train near Atwood.

Mrs. Paul, wife of Dr. Carl J. Paul and mother of the couple's four children, pushed two of her own children, Carolyn, 11, and Donald, 3½, and Mrs. W. J. Bodnar and two of the Bodnar children from her auto, stalled on the Santa Fe tracks on the Jefferson St. crossing.

Mrs. Paul, the California Highway Patrol reported, then leaped from the car—but too late.

A speeding heavy freight train struck the auto broadsides, piling it on Mrs. Paul as the five whose lives she had saved watched helplessly.

The train engineer, R. E. Bushy, 45, of San Bernardino, told authorities he could not stop his high-balling freight in time to avoid the crash.

Mrs. Paul died Saturday afternoon at St. Joseph's Hospital, Orange, without regaining consciousness.

Among the survivors are two other children, Nancy, 14, and Susan, 1, and the heroine's mother, Mrs. George Abplanalp, of Orange.

Assembly Passes Bill Hitting at Unemployment Pay

SACRAMENTO—(UP)—A bill to ban severance pay recipients from drawing unemployment insurance payments at the same time was given final passage by the Assembly Saturday on a 43-29 vote.

Assemblyman Harold K. Levering (R-Los Angeles), who handled the measure by Jack E. Tenney (R-Los Angeles) on the floor of the lower house, said he didn't "see why these people should have their cake and eat it, too." The ban also applied to dismissal and in lieu of notice pay.

Assemblyman George D. Collins (D-San Francisco) termed the measure "unreasonable, unfair and unjust" and "an attempt to destroy the obligation of a contract."

JUST ANOTHER D-DAY TO PARIS

BAYEUX, France—(UP)—American, Canadian, British and Free French troops—the vanguard of the armies that conquered Hitler's Nazi war machine—hit this rocky Normandy coast just nine years ago Saturday.

The anniversary passed almost unnoticed in Paris. There were a few flags of the four nations hanging outside farm houses in this area, where the Allied invasion of Europe began.

But there was no mass return of Allied high officers to the beach area to mark the anniversary of "D-Day."

Suit Contests Tideland Law

LOS ANGELES—(UP)—A California taxpayer has filed a suit challenging the validity of the recent federal legislation which recognizes the states' title to submerged coastal lands, including oil lands.

The property owner who filed the suit, Armand S. Fitzer of Hollywood, said Friday that he plans to ask next week for the setting of a hearing on his petition for a preliminary injunction.

His suit in federal court is directed against the secretary of the interior and other federal officials asking that they be enjoined from giving title to the states. He also asks that millions of dollars of impounded oil money, derived by slant drilling from offshore oil deposits, not be released.

His suit contends that the submerged lands bill, signed May 22 by President Eisenhower, nullifies three earlier decisions by the U.S. Supreme Court. He said the bill also violates agreements upon which the U. S. Constitution was based.

Sweden Stages Big Air Power Display

STOCKHOLM—(UP)—Seven hundred planes staged one of the biggest peace-time air displays over Stockholm Saturday to mark the city's 700th anniversary.

A Swedish-built jet crashed and was completely destroyed in open country some miles from the capital where 750,000 people were massed to watch the display. The pilot parachuted to safety.

Maritime Disaster Flares in Night

FLAMING TANKERS light up the Delaware River after the oil carriers Phoenix and Pan-Massachusetts collided Friday night. Coast Guardsmen, Army engineers and private citizens using everything from rowboats to cabin cruisers rescued 83 survivors. One man died and two are missing. The 14,000-ton Phoenix is one of the largest tankers afloat.—UP Telephoto.

Reed Will Unfreeze Tariff Bill, Has Tax Clause Vow

WASHINGTON—(UP)—Chairman Daniel A. Reed of the House Ways and Means Committee, agreed Saturday to let Congress act next week on extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act after getting "airtight" assurance it will not be converted into a tax bill.

He said he has received pledges from the White House and the leadership of both House and Senate that they will fight any attempt to tag on an amendment extending the excess profits tax on corporations for another six months.

For two weeks, the New York Republican has kept the reciprocal trade bill bottled up in his committee by refusing to call for a vote that would send it to the House floor for final action.

The trade act expires Friday. Reed's committee will vote on it Tuesday.

It appeared doubtful that the Friday deadline can be met, for Senate hearings and debate lie ahead. Administration leaders in Congress, however, viewed Reed's acquiescence for a committee vote as removal of a major barrier.

In announcing his intent to clear the legislation, Reed also loosed a new blast at the excess profits tax, on which his committee is now holding hearings, calling it "discriminatory and unfair."

At the same time, he inserted in the Congressional Record a statement declaring political trouble is ahead for House members who do not help him in his battle for immediate individual income tax relief.

The Rules Committee has blocked action on Reed's bill providing for a five per cent cut in individual tax rates on July 1.

11 Youths Hurt as Beach Party Vehicle Flips

Eleven children received minor injuries Saturday when a truck containing 63 youngsters overturned for a gay beach outing overturned at Pacific Ave. and Pacific Coast Hwy., police reported.

The children were members of Los Angeles Police Department's Department of Auxiliary Police Service and the vehicle was driven by Los Angeles Police Officer John J. Brickner.

Police said the truck overturned when all the occupants rushed to one side and caused it to over balance.

Injured were Janice Scott, Paul Stepp, Sacia Mead, Sue McCarthy, Carol Rains, Sharon Kelly, Nancy Danoff, Barbara Moore, Alberta Spamp, Susan Jones and Janet Rice, all of Los Angeles.

The children were taken to Seaside Hospital for emergency treatment and then were released to their parents.

Car-Pusher Killed

NORWALK—Louis Armijo, 30, of 1106½ Artesia St., Artesia, was fatally injured Saturday at Firestone Blvd. and Valley View Ave. He was pushing a stalled auto and was struck by a car driven by Paul D. Kieb, 25, of 207 N. Claudina St., Anaheim, California Highway Patrol reported.

WE DON'T KNOW HOW TO LIVE, PASTOR SAYS

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y.—(UP)—Dr. Norman Vincent Peale says that "from the point of view of the technique of how to live," today's Americans are "the most inept generation that ever occupied this country."

The pastor of New York City's Marble Collegiate Reformed Church advised Americans to combat the tensions of modern life by getting "the attitude of mind that Christ has everlastingly given you peace."

Warren to Speak to World Jaycee S. F. Conference

SAN FRANCISCO—(UP)—Governor Earl Warren is scheduled to address the Eighth World Congress of the Junior Chamber International here June 22.

The Congress, sponsored by the San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be held June 20 through 27.

Other speakers will include Ramon Magsaysay, Nacionalista candidate for the presidency of the Philippines, and Ambassador James J. Wadsworth, U. S. delegate to the United Nations.

Japan-Russia Trade Growing in Coal, Oil

TOKYO (Sunday)—(AP) Japan is moving quietly but swiftly into sizeable barter trade deals with Russia and Communist China in an apparent effort to bolster the nation's economy prior to the "shock" of a Korean armistice.

The government announced Saturday it was buying 450,000 tons of cheap Russian coal from the former Japanese owned island of Sakhalin, just 30 miles to the north. The price of $10 per ton, FOB Sakhalin, was one-third the cost of coal previously bought in the U. S.

In exchange, Soviet ships will be repaired in Japan and Russian crew members will be allowed to land and stay in the country for a specified time.

REDS GET MACHINES

In addition the International Trade and Industry Ministry announced an unspecified number of fishing ships will be sold the Russians.

This announcement came hard on the heels of another deal with Red China for 130,000 tons of coal from Chinwangtao.

In exchange the Japanese are sending the Reds spinning and weaving machines for the Chinese textile industry.

Kiyohide Okano, Japan's minister of international trade and industry, told a press conference Saturday that the government of Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida is negotiating with the Allies to relax restrictions on Japan's trade with Red China as much as possible.

Presently, the Yoshida government has agreed to the export of only non-strategic goods to the Reds.

The unrecognized Soviet trade mission in Japan also has approached private companies with offers to sell 500,000 to 600,000 tons of crude oil at prices well under U. S. and British prices.

The Russian oil deal, offered in mid-May was reported about 30 per cent lower than British or U. S. offers and involved low haulage costs from Sakhalin Island.

In exchange the Russians wanted motors, wires, fishing boats and nets.

Last month Hissakira Kano, vice chairman of the International Chamber of Commerce and head of the chamber's commission on Asian and Far Eastern affairs, said peace would bring a "slight shock" to the Japanese economy.

Kano expressed hope Japan would be able to work on reconstruction projects in Korea.

But he declared it would be "very helpful" if trading with Communist China could be resumed once the political situation eased.

A Korean peace, he said, "would help open the door to the Chinese market."

Chinese Communist propaganda of late has dropped its hostile tone toward Japan and is plumping its hardest for close trade ties.

Polio Epidemic Hits Yukon Towns

EDMONTON, Alta.—(AP) More than 100 cases of polio, three of them fatal, have been reported in western Canada, officials said Saturday.

The Western Army Command headquarters said 37 soldiers stationed in the Yukon had been stricken. One died.

Seventy-five civilian cases were reported. Two persons died at Whitehorse. In Dawson, 15 persons were stricken.

All schools are closed in Dawson.

Rockefeller to Move to Ark., Hint Divorce

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(AP) Winthrop Rockefeller disclosed Saturday he will establish a residence in Arkansas where he could obtain a quick divorce from his wife "Bobo," the Cinderella bride for whom he set up a $1,000,000 trust fund earlier this week.

Rockefeller made his announcement through Little Rock Atty. Edwin E. Dunaway, who said the wealthy oil heir will live in this city and open a business office.

Dunaway refused to comment on whether Rockefeller would file suit for divorce after he has completed the required 90-day residence in the state for divorce seekers.

The heir of the Rockefeller millions has been separated from his wife for the past three and a half years. He set up the trust fund after his wife said she was broke and living on charity.

Dunaway pointed out that Rockefeller has oil interests in Arkansas and adjoining states.

The Rockefeller marriage started out as a fairy-tale romance when the wealthy oilman fell in love with the blonde daughter of a Lithuanian coal miner.

They were married in 1948 and separated about a year later.

Their son, Winthrop Paul, was born in September, 1949, shortly before the couple separated.

Rockefeller also has created a $1,000,000 trust fund for the boy.

ice station and a tiny shopping center, the new junior college's three permanent buildings and dozen bungalows stood alone in an expanse of bean and alfalfa fields.

Already, with nearly 1500 students, the seventh largest junior college in California, the new college continued to grow, and to win increasing recognition as one of the outstanding two-year colleges in the state.

By 1938, celebrating its first "Decade of Progress," it was the third largest in the nation. Additional permanent buildings had to be added in the next three years. Then came Pearl Harbor.

During the next four years the college concerned itself with training citizens for wartime jobs. Enrollment in the regular academic program shrank to 250 as students and many faculty members went into uniform.

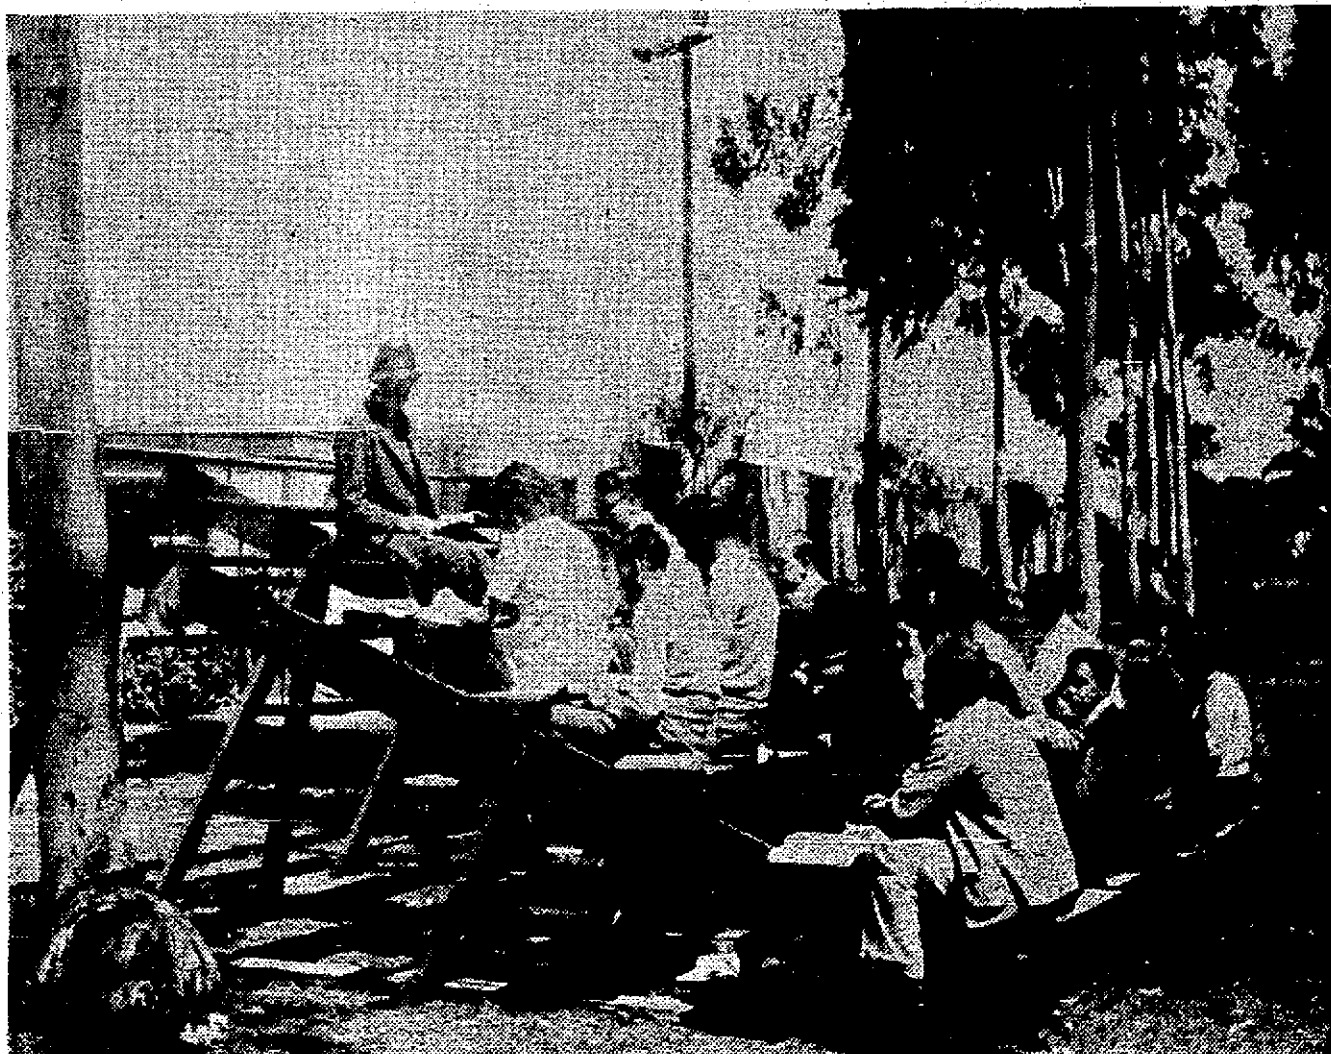

Another major event in school history took place in 1944, when the original junior college became Long Beach City College — including not only the Lakewood liberal arts campus but a business and technology division and a community service (adult) division.

Under the leadership of Dr. George E. Dotson, who had succeeded Dr. Lounsbury as director, City College now offered a complete range of post-high school training to the youth and adults of Long Beach and adjacent communities.

WILMINGTON.
LIFE HAS been long and painful for Martha Snell Nicholson, but the woman, famed as a religious poet, has brought happiness and relief from suffering to thousands throughout the world.

Mrs. Nicholson, who lives at 1406 Lagoon Ave., has had seven books of religious poetry published over a period of 20 years and daily receives hundreds of letters from persons who tell of the comfort found in her verse.

The letters crowd the frail poetess' home, filed in drawers, on tables, and in closets. All carry the same message of consolation and comfort.

"Twenty Years of Pain and Suffering," a prose tract on her fight against tuberculosis, amoebic dysentery, and arthritis, was published in 1932. Since then more than 1,500,000 copies have been distributed.

Visitors flock to Mrs. Nicholson's modest green cottage, where she is confined much of the time to her bed. Illness has shrunk her body from 5 feet 6 inches to 4 feet 8 inches and she now weighs only 77 pounds.

She first was stricken shortly before her marriage to Howard Nicholson, who died in 1948. After apparent recovery from a lung ailment, she married Nicholson. A relapse followed. The couple moved to California, where the poetess contracted amoebic dysentery. Later, arthritis crippled her.

Gay laughter still rings through the green cottage. Mrs. Nicholson tells of her laughter in a poem:

*"Watching me walk with sorrow,
That is why
He made me this gift of laughter,
This heart held high."*

Her illnesses have necessitated seven major operations and 15 lesser cases of surgery throughout the years, but Mrs. Nicholson and her husband worked ceaselessly to fill mail requests for her poems.

To top off her writings, Mrs.

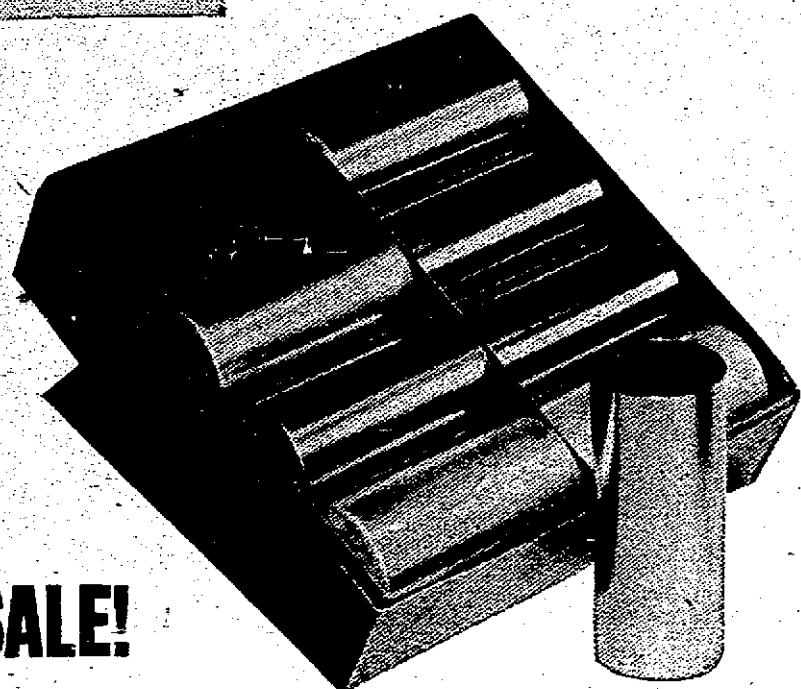

Frail Martha Nicholson—her poetry has brought happiness to thousands.

Nicholson, who has composed most of her work on the backs of envelopes or on paper bags, is writing her autobiography.

"It's the hardest thing I have ever done," Mrs. Nicholson says, "and, confidentially, it is not too good." But there are thousands throughout the world who would disagree, for the first and only time, with the frail poetess with the "heart held high."

Compton Joins in Fight to Hold PE Rail Service

COMPTON—Compton will join forces with Long Beach in the fight to prevent the sale of the Pacific Electric rail passenger service and its replacement by bus transportation in nearby areas.

This was announced Saturday by Chal Lones, president of the Compton Chamber of Commerce, who said that Hub City representatives will appear at the State Public Utility Commission hearing in Los Angeles Monday when the sale will be considered.

The June 8 hearing is on the application of J. L. Haugh, president of the Metropolitan Coach Lines, to purchase the PE rail passenger service. Haugh has announced that buses will replace the red trains on the runs to Long Beach, San Pedro, Bellflower and Santa Ana if the purchase is allowed.

A meeting has been called of Compton, Bellflower and Lynwood officials June 15 when Haugh will explain his plan.

In Long Beach the Bureau of Franchises, composed of the city manager and four councilmen, has voted to instruct the chief engineer, Henry E. Jordan, to protest the sale at the public hearing.

Lones said abandonment of the passenger service would mean a heavy loss of traffic and of business to Compton's central district. "It no longer would be the central district," he declared.

Mundt Lists 100 British Ships in Red Trade

WASHINGTON—(UP). Sen. Karl E. Mundt, accusing the British of "lush trade in blood profits," made public Saturday a list of 162 free-world vessels which he said made 264 trips to Communist China ports in less than four months recently.

The South Dakota Republican, speaking as acting chairman of the Senate permanent investigating subcommittee, said 100 of the ships were British and that the Department of Defense confirmed that fact.

He said that making public the names of the vessels blasted claims by Britain that her vessels made only 97 trips to Communist China during the early part of 1953.

MCCARTHY'S FEUD

Mundt's statement, listing the free-world vessels and the number of trips each made, was the latest round in a running battle between the subcommittee, headed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), and the British over war-time trade with Red China.

Assistant Counsel Robert F. Kennedy told the subcommittee recently that 100 British vessels made trips to Communist China during the first three months of this year.

He also said two British-owned ships carried Communist troops in the Far East during 1951, although they were flying the Panamanian flag.

Sir Roger Makins, British ambassador, said the British were not responsible because there was doubt that the ships were under "effective control" of Britain at the time.

The list Mundt made public Saturday named 96 of the 100 British vessels. He said the other four names are not now available.

VESSELS LISTED

The vessels and number of trips were listed as follows by Mundt: 100 British ships making 177 trips; 16 Greek on 20 trips and 12 Norwegian on 23 trips; Six Danish, 12 trips; six Finnish, six trips; five Swedish, six trips; four French, four trips; four Italian, five trips; four Japanese, four trips; two Dutch, four trips; and one Pakistani, Panamanian and Indian each making one trip.

He said the figures were for the period from Dec. 29, 1952, through April 20, 1953.

Mundt noted that Wallem and Co., Ltd., of Hong Kong, owners of one of the two Communist-carrying vessels, said the ship, the "Perico," was commandeered at gun point by the Communists.

Mundt said, "When United Nations merchantmen enter Red ports they become in fact a potential auxiliary to the Communist fleet."

Defense Dept. Bookkeeping Probe Slated

WASHINGTON—(UP). The Senate Armed Services Committee Saturday ordered an investigation of the way the Defense Department handles money.

Chairman Saltonstall named a subcommittee composed of Sens. Flanders (R-Vt.), Byrd (D-Va.) and Case (R-S.D.) to direct the inquiry.

Saltonstall said in a statement that the department had failed to "establish businesslike fiscal procedures" ordered by Congress six years ago. He said it should have been possible to save great sums of money and avoid many costly mistakes.

When Congress unified the Army, Navy and Air Force in 1947 under the new Defense Department, Saltonstall said, it accepted a provision by Sen. Byrd requiring that special management or controller sections be set up in each of these agencies.

CITES CASES

As evidence that this had not been done, Saltonstall pointed to two recent Senate investigations:

The probe of the ammunition shortages in Korea headed by Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.). The inquiry group sharply criticized Army and Defense Department procurement and accounting methods.

Investigation this week of costs and methods of awarding contracts for C-119 "Flying Boxcars" to Kaiser-Frazer Corporation's Willow Run, Mich., plant. Sen. Bridges (R-N.H.), who heads that inquiry, found much to criticize here.

WILL TELL RESULTS

"The subcommittee will look into specific areas where the law has failed to function and will report on the results of these failures," Saltonstall said.

Saltonstall said the staff for the special inquiry will include Fran Schneider, who helped draft the special section of the 1947 Unification Act, and Carter Burgess, State Department consultant with experience in government organization.

Employment Hits Pacific Area High

SAN FRANCISCO—(UP). Employment of non-agricultural workers on the Pacific coast hit a new peak in April, the bureau of statistics of the U. S. Department of Labor said Saturday.

The bureau's figures showed 4.5 per cent more people at work than in the previous high month of July, 1952.

Total employment, not including farm workers, was 4,924,000 in April, a gain of 35,000 over March. Biggest gains were shown by the construction and manufacturing industries.

Party Pretty

Party Plaid is designed in Black Watch tartan cotton. Snug through midriff, dress has high front neckline, low cut in back.

If it looks as fresh and charming in cotton as in silk
... if it has a full to very full skirt ... if it goes as many places as short white gloves ... then it's in tune with fashion for Juniors this summer. Plaids, prints, stripes and delightful little differences in sleeves, necklines and waistlines give variety within a pattern to the full-skirted dress ... casual to the more formal.

Lined with white organdy, this lacy shell knit navy-and-white cotton has a whirlaround skirt. It

They'll Ride the Mountain

By David Thompson

BEAUTIES of the Palomar country will attract nearly 100 horsemen to Vista in northern San Diego County June 19-23 for an annual five-day ride conducted in true western style. The ride is sponsored by the Vista Palomar Riders, who issue a blanket invitation to all who enjoy the pleasure of the out-of-doors, the mountain trail and the warmth of friendship that comes with a campfire gathering.

Following a trail that is as historic as it is beautiful, the riders will leave the Vista Palomar Riders grounds, Santa Fe Ave. and Bobier Dr., in Vista at 9 a. m. Friday, June 19. The first night camp and also the last night, will be spent at the Lazy H Sky Ranch in Rincon. The country traversed will include sections of El Camino Real which connected the California Missions; the Pala Mission, which was constructed on the San Luis Rey River in 1816, and the picturesque San Luis Rey and Pauma Valleys.

From Rincon on the second day the trail winds up "Nigger Nate" grade to the top of Palomar Mountain. The grade was named for Nathan Harrison, who was brought here as a slave in 1848 and later homesteaded a claim on the west end of the mountain. Camping the second and third nights will be in lovely Doane Valley, where the group has permanent tie-in stalls.

Sunday will be given over to riding through sections of Palomar State Park and Silver

Crest, an area sheltered by Golden and Valparaiso Oaks. A visit to famous Palomar Observatory is planned. A barbecue also is held on Sunday, at which families of the riders and other interested parties join in the festivities.

Returning to Vista, the trail followed will be the one used by the Indians to transport logs used as beams in the Pala Mission. The trail begins at Morgan Hill and crosses both Doane and French Valleys.

Each rider pays $40 to cover the cost of his food and feed for his mount. Bed rolls are transported by truck each night to the camping area. The fun and fellowship of the Vista Palomar ride is wide in its appeal with the ages of last year's participants ranging from 6 to 70 years. The barbecue on Palomar Mountain attracts nearly 150 persons in addition to the riders, and entertainment includes talent recruited from among the riders and their families.

WHAT'S YOUR HOBBY?

Golden Dishes With a Brush

By Jule Armin

ETCHING china in gold has been found by many hob-byists to be a most satisfactory art. This opinion is shared by Mrs. Herbert Jordon, 345 Molino Ave., who finds the richly-pleasing and difficult-appearing results no harder to achieve than is the case in most other handicrafts.

Mrs. Jordon displays as examples of her work an open-edged plate with a saucy bird in a bower of leaves in the center, a creamer and sugar bowl that can be made to ring like a chime, another bowl with a dragon prancing on it.

Mrs. Jordon says:

"At first I was so awed at the idea of golden dishes, I never thought of making them anything but beautiful. Now I sometimes like to add a bit of humor.

"Etching in gold is so unbelievably easy! Take any piece of fine china and draw or trace the desired design on it. There's a china marking pencil for those who can draw freehand.
Patterns can be bought ready to transfer for people like me, who love art but haven't quite the courage to try to make their own designs.

"Asphaltum, a sticky black tar is used to cover that part of the dish you wish to make bright gold. Just paint it over your pattern," she said.

City College

in 1946 when the "back to school" flood of veterans brought a record enrollment of 4500 — jamming inadequate buildings and bungalows from 8 in the morning to 10 at night.

Nineteen-fifty was another banner year. The City College Vikings won the Junior Rose Bowl game and were acclaimed the top junior college football team in the nation. A new building with the finest in technical equipment and facilities had opened at the Business and Technology Division, 1305 E.
Pacific Coast Hwy. Six new permanent buildings were under construction on the Lakewood campus.

THE SECOND largest junior college in the country, City College, in its various divisions, had an average daily attendance of 10,000 last year. In terms of total persons served (nearly 50,- 000), it was the largest.

What of the future? Looking ahead 10 years, Dr. George E.
Dotson (assistant superintendent, City College) expects an enrollment of 10,000 day and night students on the Lakewood
growth in the business-technology and general adult programs.
The new Long Beach State College is not expected to affect the growth of City College materially — since the two are complementary, not competing, institutions. When the flood of pupils now in the elementary schools reaches college age, college officials expect both schools to be bursting at the seams.

When 100 City College Alumi met on the Lakewood campus recently, they had every reason to congratulate themselves and the school on a "Quarter-century of Progress."

An interesting hobby and a satisfying art is the decoration of china in gold, as done here by Mrs. Herbert Jordon.

curves are then etched out by cutting through the tar-covered surface down to the china base, with a needle-like lace tool or etching knife, Mrs. Jordon pointed out.

The asphaltum dries quickly and when dry it is an easy matter to trim off any rough edges or unsatisfactory spots, with a craft knife. That is one of the nice things about gold etching. You can do a piece in a hurry, or putter along, fussing over each tiny detail, if you are a perfectionist. When the tar-painted design exactly suits you, the piece is ready to be etched."

"Unless you are truly an expert in the line, better let someone in a fully equipped shop give your china the acid bath which etches the design through the glaze into the base.
Any acid strong enough to eat through a good china glaze is definitely dangerous in the hands of an amateur. The cost of having the piece professionally done is negligible, and the piece comes back with all tar removed, ready for painting.

Wipe dish to be gilded with a non-lint cloth dipped in alcohol. Then handle with care, lest an undesired fingerprint loom up later as part of your design.
Liquid gold can be used directly from the bottle. Flow it on for even coverage. Too thin a coat may have a purple cast, in which case it would need repainting and refiring. Thick gobs of paint will blister and peel. Just a smooth, even all-over coat is required. The slick surface parts will come out bright gold and the rough surface parts will be dull or matte gold, after firing.

IF YOU prefer you can paint just the slick surface with the bright gold and have it fired.
Then paint the rough surfaces with burnished or Roman gold, for an antique effect.

"A mottled background, for even greater contrast to the smooth shiny design, is easier to do than it looks, too," Mrs.
Jordon said. "The scroll-like and marbled effects and an all-over coral effect background can be made by dipping a coarse sponge in the asphaltum and then just patting it hit or miss on the china so it leaves little, tarry imprints over the background area. All parts covered in tar remain smooth after etching. All parts left open to contact with the acid bath, become slightly roughened, or etched."

Rough surfaces are undesirable in contact with food and on the edge of a cup, but on vases or the outside of bowls, salt and pepper shakers, or purely decorative pieces, the contrasting surfaces are very effective in emphasizing the beauty of the clear design.

by Mrs. Jordon. Almost anyone can achieve similar results.

Tents Go Up to Establish 'Jamboree City'

SCORES OF SANITATION AND SUPPLY TENTS on Irvine Ranch at Newport Harbor Outline Vast Area to be Occupied by Boy Scout Jamboree in July

Campgrounds Readied for Scout Metropolis

By BEN ZINER

By the evening of July 16, a city as large as Santa Ana will have sprung up in five days' time on Irvine Ranch at Newport Harbor.

And 90 per cent of its inhabitants will be between 12 and 17 years old.

The community will be known as Jamboree City, gathering place for 50,000 Boy Scouts of America who will be, conducting their third national encampment.

They'll start arriving Sunday, July 12, and all 50,000 will have their tents pitched by the following Thursday night. Jamboree City is already taking shape with the staking of scores of sanitation and supply tents.

The Jamboree, which officially opens July 17 and continues through July 23, is truly a king-sized operation.

36 TRAINS
Eighty-six special trains will bring 36,000 of the Scouts and Scout leaders to the Southland, with the others arriving by bus and private automobile.

The U. S. Post Office will operate postal substations in each of the Jamboree's five trading posts. The camp will maintain its own telephone system requiring 25 trunk lines. Each of the 36 sectional camps will have three doctors on duty. Twelve miles of water mains and four miles of sewer lines are being constructed as well as eight miles of inter-camp service roads.

There'll be 30,000 tents and 5168 kitchens pitched on the 3000-acre campsite, and Scout officials estimate that by the time the Jamboree has ended, 18,000,000 gallons of water will have been consumed, 600,000 quarts of milk will have been downed, 175,000 loaves of bread will have been eaten, 150,000 doughnuts will have been gobbled, two freight carloads of cereal will have been digested and 100 tons of meat will have been relished.

PANCAKE SKYSCRAPER

Another way of considering the enormity of the Jamboree is to realize that if one serving of pancakes were to be stacked, they would tower higher than the Empire State Building.

Four evening pageants will be presented in the Jamboree Arena, which will be able to accommodate the entire encampment plus 25,000 visitors. It will have a stage 300 feet long and 125 feet deep.

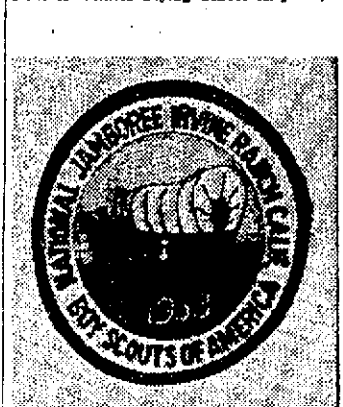

On Sunday, July 19 formal worship services will be conducted simultaneously in open air chapels. At the United Protestant worship, the Rt. Rev. Stephen F. Bayne Jr., bishop of the diocese of Olympia, (Wash.), Protestant Episcopal Church, will preach. Most Rev. Richard O. Gerow, bishop of Natchez, (Miss.), will be celebrant of the solemn pontifical field mass. Services also will be conducted for the Jewish, Mormon and Christian Science faiths.

50,000 CANDLES

A candlelighting ceremony of 50,000 candles will feature an evening convocation service Sunday night, July 19, in the arena with a theme of "My Duty to God."

Tuesday, July 21, will be Hollywood Night with a mammoth program under the direction of Actor George Murphy. A "Cavalcade of Scouting" will be the final pageant on the closing night, Thursday, July 23.

OFFICIAL JAMBOREE patch is decorated with covered wagon theme.

Jamboree Camp Model Displayed

Troop 33 of Boy Scouts and Explorers from Lakewood and Long Beach Saturday set up a model Jamboree camp at Pan-American Park.

The model display will be on view today. It includes an array of equipment to be used by Scouts at the July encampments at Irvine Ranch, Newport Harbor.

Exhibits are under direction of Leonard Stone, Lakewood Scoutmaster, and Tom Rothwell and Jack Clark of Long Beach. Explorer Scout Dick Smith of Post 47 will be senior patrol leader.

Swiss May Open Last Male Voting Stronghold to Gals

GENEVA, Switzerland—(AP) Geneva's men are deciding whether to permit women to vote. The all-male electorate of the Canton of Geneva voted Saturday and today on an amendment to the cantonal constitution. The amendment has gained the strong support of all political parties in the canton except the (conservative) Radicals, but its approval is regarded as by no means certain. The men have three times rejected votes for women in the past 52 years. Switzerland is the last nation in Europe to deny women the vote.

One of the Radical party's main planks is to become a "proving ground for dangerous political experiments." The streets of the city are plastered with anti-feminist posters bearing such themes as mother being torn in two by rival political ideologies, a beautiful girl declaring, "We Want Companions, Not Rivals," and a picture of East German Communist girls parading with rifles over the caption, "In Germany, Women Have The Vote."

Canadian Gets Degree
OXFORD, England—(AP) Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent received an honorary degree of doctor of civil law from Oxford University Saturday.

Bidault New Candidate for France Chief

PARIS—(AP) Georges Bidault, foreign minister in the last cabinet, accepted President Vincent Auriol's invitation Saturday to try to form France's 19th government since the war.

He said he would go before the national assembly next Tuesday or Wednesday to ask approval. Observers said his chances were slightly better than 50-50.

Bidault, honorary president of the Roman Catholic Popular Republican (MRP) Party, will draw strength from the center and the right but the Communists and Socialists are expected to cast their 205 votes against him.

Bidault has been premier twice during the past five years. He has taken part in 12 postwar governments, is personally popular in the much-divided assembly. One factor working in his favor is the assembly's embarrassment at the lack of a government at a time when President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Winston Churchill are impatiently awaiting a Big Three meeting in Bermuda.

Russ Back Rome Reds' Bid for Upset in Voting

(Compiled from AP and UP) ROME—Radio Moscow backed the powerful Italian Communists bid for control in the national elections today and tomorrow as 30,000,000 voters decide whether to follow the middle road of American democracy for another five years. All house and senate seats are at stake. The Russian broadcast attacked Premier Alcide De Gasperi and his pro-American coalition on the eve of elections in which the 2½ million strong Italy Reds hope to wrest control of the government. The Communies, the largest party outside the Iron Curtain and its ally, Pietro Nenni's Communist line Socialists, are running separately this time. Between them they hope to better their 51 per cent of 1948 and their chances to do so are good in spite of the $2.4 billions in aid the United States has poured into Italy since the war. Striking gains are predicted for the far right, particularly the Monarchists, who polled only 2.8 per cent of the vote in 1948. The fast-growing Fascist Italian social movement expects a big increase over its 2 per cent of the last national vote. The Moscow broadcast said De Gasperi in a recent speech at Naples had slandered the Soviet Union by claiming that only 8000 Italian prisoners of war were freed by Russia after World War II. It said the actual number of repatriated Italians was 149,000.

VATICAN URGES VOTE
The Vatican made a last minute appeal to Italian Catholics to vote for the coalition parties. The Vatican appeal, made in the official Catholic newspaper Osservatore Romano, told voters in the moderate parties that they were threatened from both the extreme left and right and that a solid government could not be formed if they failed to support De Gasperi's alliance.

"The lineup of parties and programs," the newspaper said, "leave no alternative to all who desire the strengthening of democracy in Italy and balance and security abroad for the cause of peace and the organization of Europe." "Nobody must neglect the polls," the newspaper said. "It would be tantamount to voting for the enemy."

The four Italian government parties making up the coalition pinned their hopes on good weather to get all eligible voters out. To encourage voters to return to their home towns and vote the government offered a 70 per cent cut in railroad fares.

A Friend to Tag Along With

When Joyce, 6000 pounds of Indian female pachyderm, arrived recently at Griffith Park Zoo, she was greeted "with open arms" by Bojo, "dainty" three-ton like member of her sex, who has been an all-alone since her arrival at the zoo in 1938.

The "girl" behemoths get more and more affectionate as they get better acquainted.

Fresh Strawberry Pie

STRAWBERRY season beckons the ingenious cook! And since you'll want to serve berries often, it's a good idea to have several variations of the strawberry theme in mind.

During this tempting season there are frequent calls for Fresh Strawberry Pie. A recipe for this culinary delight is supplied today by Mrs. Hubert J. Prichard, 5361 El Parque. An invitation to her home assures one of not only gracious hospitality, but of foods approved by experts as well. You'll be convinced, too, after you've tried her recipe for Fresh Strawberry Pie, which appears elsewhere on this page.

The mention of strawberries and nine people out of 10 immediately think of shortcake, even though they won't all think of the same kind. Some like a whipped cream layer-cake type, some think of sponge cake as a base, while others will grow vehement in insisting that the only true shortcake is made from a very short, sweetened biscuit dough. But they all agree that, no matter what the base, it's a "must" in summer. Following are some shortcake variations:

Whipped Cream Strawberry Cake

- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup milk
- 2 1/4 cups sifted cake flour
- 2 1/4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 quart ripe strawberries
- 1/2 pint heavy cream
- Powdered sugar

Work the butter to a soft cream, add sugar gradually, beating it in. Add eggs and beat for 2 or 3 minutes, until very light and fluffy and until the sugar is almost dissolved. Stir in the milk. Mix flour with baking powder and salt and sift twice. Add to the first mixture, stirring it in. Add vanilla and pour into 2 buttered, scalloped 8-inch pie plates. Bake in a moderate oven (375 F.) for about 20 minutes or until done. Cool 5 minutes in the pans, then turn out and let cool.

Wash and hull the berries. Reserve the largest for the top. Slice or mash the rest and sprinkle with powdered sugar to sweeten. Let stand at room temperature until ready to use. This is to let the sugar dissolve and make the berries more juicy.

For serving, put one layer, bottom side up, on a serving plate, cover with a layer of whipped, slightly sweetened cream and add a layer of berries. Cover with second layer, right side up, and add more cream and the whole berries.

Scone Shortcake

- 2 cups cake flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1 cup milk
- 1 egg white
- 1 quart strawberries
- 1/2 cup confectioners sugar
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped and sweetened

Sift together flour, salt and baking powder. Cut in butter with pastry blender or two knives until it resembles coarse cornmeal. Add milk and mix well. Place in well greased 8-inch layer cake pan. Brush top with egg white. Bake in hot oven (450 F.) 10 to 15 minutes.

Wash berries, set aside one dozen for garnish. Crush remaining berries and sweeten with confectioners sugar.

To make shortcake: When scone ring is cool, cut into two layers. Divide top layer into

Old Fashioned Strawberry Shortcake

- 2 cups sifted enriched flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 6 tablespoons shortening
- 3/4 to 1 cup milk
- Sweetened sliced strawberries
- Whipped cream

Sift together flour, salt, baking powder and sugar. Cut or rub in shortening. Add milk to form a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead gently 1/2 minute. Pat or roll out 1/2 inch thick. Cut with 2 1/4-inch biscuit cutter. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in hot oven (450 degrees F.) at 10 to 12 minutes. Split crosswise. Spread bottom layer lightly with butter or margarine. Cover with sweetened berries and replace top. Cover with more berries and whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

Kitchen Tip:

Mrs. Prichard's Fresh Strawberry Pie:

Bake one 9-inch pie crust and when cool, cream two small packages of Philadelphia Cream Cheese and spread on bottom and sides of pie crust.

Filling:

Wash and hull one quart of fresh strawberries. Select the choicest berries and set aside two cups. Slice the remaining berries once or twice and combine with a mixture of four tablespoons cornstarch and one cup sugar. Cook, stirring constantly, until the filling is smooth and thickened. Now cook over boiling water for 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool the mixture.

Place the uncooked berries in bottom of pie crust and cover with the cooled berries. Chill until serving time. Top with slightly sweetened whipped cream.

Rhee Declares ROK 'Alert,' Truce Teams to Meet Again

erupted with a series of ominous moves.

President Syngman Rhee ordered a "semi-emergency alert" and directed his defense minister to recall all South Korean Army officers now training in the U. S. Gen. Mark Clark rushed by air from Tokyo to Seoul today. He was reported carrying a message, possibly from President Eisenhower, dealing with South Korea's worsening attitude on the truce talks. It was the U. N. Far East commander's second trip to Korea in three days.

Rhee breathed new defiance. "We must continue fighting and unify the country by driving north by ourselves" if armistice fails to guarantee South Korea's security against new aggression, Rhee said. He added in a statement:

"I wish the people to understand the situation and unitedly act in accordance with the decisions of their government."

Rhee declared the Allies must accept his terms for armistice or South Korea would fight on. He demands withdrawal of Allied and Red troops from Korea; U. S. naval and air support while South Korea builds up its own forces; U. S. arms, ammunition and supplies for South Korea's military machine, and a pledge of immediate U. S. armed intervention if the country is attacked.

On Rhee's orders, Gen. Paik Sun Yup, army chief of staff, was summoned home from the U. S. and Vice Adm. Sohn Wun Il, navy chief of staff, was called home from England.

The semi-emergency alert placed most Korean civilians under control of the national police, loyal to Rhee.

National assemblymen called the Allied truce terms a Munich symbol for surrender—and vowed "to continue fighting rather than accept any armistice that would be a death penalty for South of the cabinet Saturday denounced the Allied truce terms as "nothing but a manifestation of defeatism of the free world."

In Washington, President Eisenhower, in an hour-long conference with State and Defense department leaders, Saturday worked out action designed to prevent South Korea's bitter opposition from wrecking the truce.

Secrecy covered the White House deliberations, but it seemed almost certain that the United States would offer President Syngman Rhee's South Korean government fresh new guarantees of American support against any renewal of Red aggression after an armistice.

That the next few days of the truce negotiations and the South Korean reaction are crucial was indicated by the fact that Secretary of State Dulles cancelled a commencement address Monday at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., where he also was to receive an honorary degree. Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) will make the commencement address instead.

President Eisenhower is reported to have asked Cabinet members to stand by for conferences on the truce situation.

Excluding South Korean objections, the major block to a truce was the disposition of Communist prisoners of war who may refuse to return to Red rule even after their own people have talked with them and political conference of the warring nations has discussed their situation.

Authoritative South Korean sources reported these moves up to Sunday on the POW problem in the secrecy-cloaked talks.

The U. N. command suggested May 25 that the U. N. General Assembly be given the final responsibility for such prisoners. The Communists replied Thursday that the U. N. was a belligerent and asked the Allies to withdraw their proposal.

Indications were Saturday that the U. N. command was willing to drop the General Assembly proposal if prisoners who remain unwilling to go home could be released to civilian status in South Korea four months after an armistice.

A high South Korean source said the delegates discussed at Saturday's 19-minute meeting two "minor" points which had been raised by the Communists.

The Allies offered to permit about 250 Red agents into South Korea to make "explanations" to POWs resisting repatriation. The Reds had asked 900 and the Allies earlier had proposed 150.

Also, the Allies asked the Reds what type and number of radio facilities such agents would require to communicate with their homelands. The Communists had asked for that privilege.

Presumably Sunday's meeting took up these two points and possibly the larger issue of the fate of balking POWs.

Reports were widespread that these matters could be settled quickly and pave the way for an early armistice.

Anti-Red Korean PWs Riot Over Truce Terms

SEOUL, Sunday, June 1.—(AP) Anti-Communist North Korean prisoners of war have demonstrated over the possible dividing of Korea in a manner reminiscent of the Communists riots at Koje POW compounds.

While the Communists were rioting these 32,000 POWs behaved themselves. But today the anti-Communists are the ones demonstrating and protesting any end to the war that would leave Korea divided.

Friday, a demonstration at S. C.

Munsan by some 2000 anti-Communist POWs against the partition proposals lasted for 45 minutes.

Authorities used tear gas to break up the chanting, flag-waving mob.

The major fear, according to an authoritative source, is that the North Korean prisoners and their South Korean guards—both sharing the same sentiments against partition of their country—might turn against the Americans.

The anti-Communist prisoners have not been closely supervised. One typical camp contains some 8000 North Korean prisoners, 2000 South Korean guards and 200 to 300 American personnel.

B-47 Jets Break Record Thrice

FAIRFORD, England.—(AP) U. S. Air Force B-47 jet bombers broke the America-to-Britain trans-Atlantic flight record in 1-2-3 order today as the last planes of the 306th Bomb Wing arrived from Limestone Field, Me.

The first plane, commanded by Capt. Robert D. Carlstrom of Minneapolis, Minn., touched down five hours and 30 minutes after leaving Limestone. This clipped six minutes off the record set yesterday by a B-47.

Twenty-eight minutes later another plane commanded by Maj. Frank Rennie of Roswell, N. M., cut the record to five hours, 29 minutes. At 3:26 p. m. the last of the 45 bombers landed after a flight of five hours 22 minutes. This plane was commanded by Capt. James Carter of Charleston, S. C.

Eighth District Prepares to Pick Councilman

By MALCOLM EPLEY

Adoption of a charter amendment requiring competitive bidding on all future Long Beach oil contracts is favored by all 13 candidates in Tuesday's special election to fill the Eighth District Councilmanic vacancy.

This was apparent in the approaching election in which approximately 19,000 registered voters will be eligible to cast ballots at 34 voting places. The candidates declared themselves on the bidding question and various other issues at a "Meet the Candidates" meeting Friday evening.

Polls will be open in the Eighth District from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. Tuesday. Sale of alcoholic liquors will be prohibited during election hours in the Eighth District only. The district is bounded by Market St., the Los Angeles River, Flood Control Channel, Wardlow Rd. and Cherry Ave. It was previously represented on the Council by Burton W. Chace, who resigned to become a County Supervisor. His successor will serve until the regular municipal elections next year.

In addition to agreement on open, competitive bidding for oil contracts, the 13 candidates indicated they favor calling for a vote of the people on the issue of fluoridating the city's water supply as a means of reducing teeth decay among children.

FINAL SESSIONS

The candidates made their final appearance together at the meeting held in Hughes Junior High School Auditorium sponsored by the Civic League of Long Beach. Only one mild controversy arose during the program, and it was provoked by a supporter of one of the candidates.

Former North Long Beach Councilman Francis Crawford, speaking for Candidate Glenn Hughes, inferred that other candidates had been copying Hughes' platform and made special mention of the proposal to move the Municipal Airport from its present location. Responding later, Candidate Hubert E. (Ray) Wylie, who has emphasized the airport issue in his campaign, declared he started the program of "fighting the airport nuisance" four years ago. He said: "I hope to do more as a councilman because I believe I have gone as far as I can as a private citizen."

Ex-Liner Captain Dies

HASTINGS, England—(AP). Captain John C. Townley, who commanded the liner Queen Elizabeth on her solo maiden voyage across the submarine-infested Atlantic in 1940, died here Friday night. He would have been 73 next week.

Crawford's appearance in behalf of Hughes stimulated speculation as to the effect of his support on Hughes' vote at the Tuesday election. Crawford was a member of the so-called "solid five" councilmen removed from office at an election in July, 1947. Representing the Ninth District, he was ousted by a vote of about 6 to 1.

In the current campaign, Hughes has been generally conceded as having special strength in the North Long Beach section of the Eighth District, and observers of the Eighth District race have been trying to figure out whether Crawford's aggressive support would help or hurt him.

DIFFICULT TO JUDGE
It has been equally difficult to judge the strength of other candidates, several of whom are widely known. All have made vigorous campaigns, and the Eighth District the last few days has been thoroughly covered by door-to-door workers and by a snowfall of campaign literature. Even astute political dopesters admit the size of the field and the prestige of many of the candidates has created a situation that has them puzzled.

At Friday night's meeting with Civic League President Ray Simpson presiding, candidates answered questions and explained their qualifications. Here is a briefing of remarks of candidates not mentioned above:

J. Stowe Carney: Pointed out he was the first to declare for the race, is in there pitching, and intends to win. He said for the first time in his life he would be able to devote full time to public office, and promises fair and efficient representation.

Edward F. (Ted) Cruchley: Recited his active interest in fraternal and civic activities, and declared it is the primary function of a City Councilman to approach all issues with honesty and an open mind, consider all the facts and give his soundest judgment to a decision best for the entire community.

Robert F. Dilley: He explained the "Dilday plan" wherein he proposes to invite interested citizens of the district to meet him, hear expert advice, discuss and reach a decision on major issues as they arise.

George D. Ezell: Told of his experience as a former councilman and present president of the Water Commission, and declared the biggest problem confronting the city is safeguarding its oil wealth. Advocated a special fund of $100,000,000 to reserve part of tidelands oil income for future generations.

Burton S. Galleher: Said office of Councilman requires a man who is honest, uses sound judgment in business and in dealing with the public, and has the courage to stand on his decisions regardless of pressure brought on him. He said he was offering his services because he sincerely believes he possesses those qualifications.

Frank E. Fitzgerald: Favors saving part of the oil fund for future generations.

John L. Kelly: Emphasized his experience as a Harbor Commissioner for eight years, saying he has a thorough working knowledge of oil development and harbor expansion, two major municipal problems. "Because of this I feel I can render you a real service," he said.

Clarence J. (Irish) Layden: Urged that Long Beach place more emphasis on youth, and recommended the improvement of park and sports facilities.

Richard H. Marrott: Noted he is youngest candidate, but said he is capable of "mature thinking."

William P. Nutter: Said he believes his training as a lawyer, his work as labor commissioner and experience in transportation field would make him valuable addition to Council. He blasted issue straddling and reiterated his stand against removal of Pacific Electric cars until better service is assured.

Edward T. Sauter: Said he doesn't pretend to know all the answers, but promised on the basis of his business experience and interest in civic affairs to use the "common sense approach" to the duties of the office.

Old-Fashioned Chicken Dinner

And what wonderful eating it is. Crisp, golden-brown chicken that's tender clear through... whole kernel corn... mashed potatoes with rich, creamy gravy. That's the kind of meal folks get hungry for.

And it's so easy to make it perfect with Pet Evaporated Milk. The chicken's always crisp, tender and golden-brown when you dip it in Pet Milk before frying. The gravy's always rich and creamy smooth because Pet Milk's twice as rich as ordinary bottled milk.

Like all Mary Lee Taylor recipes, this one helps you make your meals better with Pet Milk. And Pet Milk helps you save money, too, because Pet Evaporated Milk costs less generally than any other form of whole milk.

Mary Lee Taylor's Husband-Tested Recipe

1. You'll need a 2½-lb. chicken, cut into pieces, to serve four. Pour 1½ cups Pet Evaporated Milk into a bowl and dip each piece of chicken into it. Save the milk that's left for gravy. There should be 1 cup; if not, add more milk.
2. Roll each piece of chicken in a mixture of ½ cup flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, and ¼ teaspoon pepper.
3. Brown chicken slowly in a skillet in ¼ inch hot fat about 30 minutes, or until drumstick is tender when pierced with a fork.
4. Remove chicken (keep hot). Drain fat from skillet, then put 2 tablespoons fat back into skillet. Mix in 2 tablespoons flour, ¾ teaspoon salt, few grains pepper. Stir in 1 cup water. Boil and stir for 2 minutes.
5. Stir in the 1 cup of saved milk and heat till steaming hot, but do not boil. Serve the hot gravy with the fried chicken, mashed potatoes, and whole kernel corn for a real American chicken dinner.

IT'S WINDOWS framing views of Alamitos Bay, a two-story, shingle-faced house at 46 Geneva Walk is the friendly home of the Richard Lineberger family. The house, approximately a year old, is the realization of the Linebergers' long-held dream of a place within easy access of the bay.

The Linebergers are widely known for their sailing prowess and, when they first saw the lot on Treasure Island in the heart of the Naples district, they knew the site for their home had been found.

Just a few months ago, after the thrills of planning were over, the Linebergers with their three young children moved into their three-bedroom home which has 1700 square feet of floor space.

The house as it stands today is a dwelling that provides adequate space for the growing family. But the Linebergers have plans for extending the living area to a spacious 2100 feet with the addition of a fourth master bedroom and dressing room.

The living room features a wealth of redwood paneling and a welcoming open-hearth fireplace. Shelves adjoining the fireplace on each side display several dozen sailing trophies won by the seafaring Linebergers in various regattas.

The walls are finished in a warm pink plaster that marvelously compliments the deep-napped nude carpeting. In addition to the extensive use of paneling, the Linebergers have further brought the pleasing qualities of natural woods into their decorative scheme by means of valances, doors and baseboards, all of which are in the same deep-toned redwood finish. Aside from the feeling of warmth and hospitality that natural woods give a room is the very valuable work-saving advantage. And any mother, like Mrs. Lineberger, will agree that this should be a major factor in home-planning.

The Dutch door that grants admittance to the pleasant little entry hall is similarly curtained in organdy. The entry separates the living room on the left and the dining room on the right. And leading directly from the entry is the staircase to the bedrooms above.

The dining room is a restful room conducive to harmonious dining. The walls are papered in a scenic pattern that pictures sailing vessels against a background of soft gray.

The same pearl gray has been used in the heavy satin draperies. Mrs. Lineberger chose a graceful Duncan Phyfe dining set in deep mahogany and a regal crystal chandelier to complete the decor.

Directly off the living room is the cozy den-living area that is a mecca for the Lineberger children. The red cement floor has been scored off to simulate tile and has been highly waxed to give it an attractive ceramic-like finish. Walls in this congenial room have been faced with natural sugar pine against which the gayly patterned provincial curtains display themselves proudly.

This room, which is a step down from the living room, may be closed off by means of louvered, shutter doors. The

Oil Cash for Schools?

THE CITY'S decision to conduct a study of possible use of tideland oil money for school purposes is a wise one. This community's biggest single outlay of public money in the next few years will go for construction of schools. Supt. of Schools Douglas A. Newcomb points out that a decision on how to finance from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 in new construction must be reached by November, 1954.

Money is accruing at the rate of $1,380,000 per month in the public improvement fund alone. It is only natural that we should be giving thought to the possibility of putting some of this revenue into schools. What could be a better public improvement investment?

As Citizens Committee Chairman Eugene Tischer explains, the scope of the program would depend largely on the outcome of annexation proceedings in the Lakewood area, where the need for schools is most acute.

The city attorney holds that oil funds may be legally used for school construction only within Long Beach city limits. No one in official capacity is saying it bluntly—but obviously here is an added incentive for Lakewood areas to annex to Long Beach.

The citizens committee study will extend over a year. At the end of that time we should know the identity of most of the obstacles to the proposal. And we should have a decision from the courts on the legality of spending tidelands oil money away from the tidelands.

Should the citizens committee recommend submitting the proposal to a vote of the people, opposition might develop in the council, which has the say whether a public improvement plan shall be submitted to vote.

Some officials might not like the idea of spending money on projects which would come under the jurisdiction of another public body, the board of education. It would be unfortunate if such a narrow view should stall any worthy program. We know of no such view, but are merely considering a possibility.

Opposition might come also from citizens within the present city boundaries in case newly annexed areas stood to benefit heavily. But any tax-paying citizen would have a very practical reason for abandoning any prejudices he might hold. We have millions of dollars in oil revenue; if we draw on this revenue to build schools, we will be using nature's gift instead of tax dollars. It may profit us to invest oil money in schools regardless of the status of Lakewood annexation. Lakewood is in the Long Beach Unified School District, and we bear a portion of the cost of its schools in any event.

The public showed its willingness last April to invest oil dollars in public improvement projects. School construction is a critical problem in this rapidly growing area, and in our opinion the public would be more than willing to use oil money to meet this problem.

The close study which is about to be undertaken may reveal reasons why it would not be wise to invest oil money in schools. In any event, the question should be considered on its merits and not with prejudice.

Ike's TV Program

ALTHOUGH it is too early to hear from the pollsters of public opinion, I would risk the guess that President Eisenhower's television show made a lot of friends for the new administration.

Everyone enjoys informal discussion and the President made you feel that he was inviting you to draw up a chair and talk about the urgent problems he faces every day in Washington.

The Secretaries of the Treasury, Agriculture, Health, Welfare and Education and the Department of Justice gave their views in simple, understandable language. Charts were freely used to give fuller meaning to their words.

The President skillfully used his role as moderator to convey his own thinking on such subjects as national defense, the forthcoming Bermuda conference and the task of balancing the budget.

The impression was left that Eisenhower and his cabinet are working together as a team; that he values the opinions and judgments of the men and women he has asked to share his burdens.

The late Franklin D. Roosevelt was an adroit practitioner of the radio art. He used this medium to better advantage than any other political personality on the American scene.

But his radio appearances were "all Roosevelt." Never a team player, F. D. R. got his messages across by virtue of his own magnetic personality and oratorical skill. He wouldn't risk spilling a good show by sharing the spotlight with any of his associates, which was probably just as well.

Ex-President Truman was never a first flight performer, except upon the platform of a national political convention when he could berate the Republicans to his heart's content. On these occasions, he was very effective.

Truman's speeches from the White House were earnest exhortations marred by uncertain delivery and an annoying choppy, vertical motion of his hands.

In driving home a point, he appeared to be depending more upon the vigor of his gestures than the logic and appeal of his words.

President Eisenhower is not in the same class with Roosevelt and Adlai Stevenson when it comes to making speeches.

But he has another and extremely rare quality. Ike impresses you with his sincerity and good will. He is a friendly, down-to-earth fellow who likes you and wants you to like him.

The cynics are saying that Ike's "unrehearsed" television show was rehearsed for hours. Of course it was. How else would a 30-minute TV appearance be so smoothly presented?

The important thing is that Ike was ready and willing to sit down and chat informally with his fellow Americans on subjects of tremendous interest to all of us.

His remarks contained no harangues nor appeals to support his policies. It was simply a report to the country on some of the problems being encountered by the President and what he and his associates intend doing about them.

This practice should be encouraged. Similar reports at regular intervals will do much to keep the nation informed as to the progress being made by the Eisenhower administration.

People don't enjoy being lectured, even by a President. But they will welcome the opportunity to join in on a friendly informative discussion.

That is why I believe Eisenhower, with his TV show, has found a useful device for bringing about a better understanding between the government and the people.

OH, FOR THE LIFE OF A FIREMAN

DAVID LAWRENCE

Roundtable Report Inadequate

speaking, the television show put on by President Eisenhower and four Cabinet members had some advantages, but as a device to inform the country and influence large segments of voters on paramount issues, it was inadequate. One almost wished that Mr. Eisenhower had selected a single subject and dealt with it himself comprehensively rather than to try as he did, through his associates, to cover a variety of complex topics, no one of which was thoroughly handled.

With all due deference to the importance perhaps of simplicity and "folksiness" on the part of our high officials in their appearances on the screen, it may well be wondered whether the American people like to see their President acting as a sort of master of ceremonies in a piece of obviously rehearsed showmanship. As a novelty, it was interesting—as a regular technique, it raises doubts.

The acting, to be sure, was well done and the President carried off his part from a dramatic standpoint with an informality and spontaneity that emphasized again his likable personality. There was a sincerity and earnestness about what he said and the way he said it which undoubtedly convinced many people that he is trying hard—that his effort to "put the government house in order" is in the right direction.

But as a piece of political influence, it is questionable whether this presentation ranks with some of those skillfully prepared "fireside chats" which the late President Roosevelt occasionally broadcast on the radio during his four administrations. One advantage that Mr. Eisenhower didn't share with Mr. Roosevelt was a monopoly of the networks. All the television networks took the program but only one radio chain, so this did not shut off the competition from the comedians and musicians.

While some of the Democrats around here thought the Presidential show was effective, it may be said that some of them are not going to be much worried if the political quality of the future television shows is not any better than the one on Wednesday night.

For the essence of politics is prejudice—favorable and unfavorable. There is no need to "sell" the fine personality and good nature of Dwight Eisenhower.

DEEDS NOT WORDS

It is "deeds not words" which influence the electorate in the long run. When the President promises that there will be "no Munich" in the Far East and, yet "no risk of general war," he reassures many elements in the electorate, but the real issue on which the people's prejudices can be aroused is whether after all there is to be an early end to the Korean war and on what basis.

Likewise, what many people wanted to know succinctly is that there will be adequate defense even though air power is cut. They also are anxious to learn whether the economic system faces a major readjustment. As for Communist influences and the administration's program to rid the government of "subversives," these are highly controversial subjects and they were vaguely treated in the telecast. It was hard to tell just what the government plans to do on this score or what it has really done about it. The concept of television seemed to be that it was a means of creating a visual impression of a favorable nature rather than a medium for disseminating complete information on political issues.

It will be said in explanation by administration folks that this was only the first of a series of television shows and that with experience they will hit more directly at political targets. Maybe they will. But while the lines of this first show were well spoken and well acted by all the participants, they were abstract in content. A splendid chance was missed, moreover, to defend the inability of the administration to balance the budget and cut taxes right away and to extricate America from the Korean "mess."

There was a failure also to emphasize the state of affairs existing when the administration came into power and to outline penetratingly the difficulty of clearing up much of anything in only four-and-a-half months. The administration, however, is a bit blind to political realities, anyway. Indeed, there are persons in the President's entourage who still think he won the election on his popularity alone and not primarily on the deep-seated prejudices against Trumanism which swept every part of the country.

If the television producers had known more about politics and its negative trends and tendencies, they would have presented a far more effective telecast. While the show didn't lose votes, it is a question whether it gained many, though it did please supporters of the administration. The best that can be said of the performance was that it put across a point of view. "Wait now—we're trying."

Reds Start New Trade Offensive

MOST OMINOUS news from behind the iron curtain is that an army of high-pressure Communist purchasing agents has been sent into free Europe to launch an all-out trade offensive. It's a bald attempt to bribe our allies away from us.

American businessmen have reported from Europe that the Communists are offering fabulous bargains to lure European businessmen into trading behind the iron curtain.

Russia has $18,000,000,000 in gold bullion and a vast store of natural resources at the disposal of her business agents to offer as bait. U. S. informants report.

For example, the Communists are offering strategic coal for French silks and vital wheat for British textiles. The Soviet agents have taken pains not to ask for strategic goods in their first, foot-in-the-door trade offers. Instead, they promise to take nonstrategic surpluses off the hands of western businessmen in return for hard cash or strategic goods.

The Communist offers are so tempting that many European businessmen are finding them irresistible. U. S. informants are taking no chances on hiring subversive bartenders for their exclusive Capitol Hill drinking club. They are quietly advertising for bartenders "able to undergo a thorough investigation."

almost got into a fistfight the other day when one accused the other of selling out to the private power interests. The clash took place behind closed doors of the House appropriations committee. Congressman Andrew Jensen of Minnesota did not like the way Congressman Jensen of Iowa had cut public power projects out of the budget. In fact, Andrew almost sounded like a Democrat as he angrily accused Jensen of "selling out" to the private utility companies.

The Iowa turned an angry red and shouted something about economy. Then they almost came to blows before their colleagues could soothe them.

The House appropriations committee has made sure that housewives will never find out where their money goes. The Federal Trade Commission had asked for funds to investigate how much the middlemen are pocketing, but the Congressmen not only turned down this appropriation, but wrote into the bill that the FTC could not use any other money for such an investigation. Apparently the middlemen have potent friends on John Taber's committee.

Senate appropriations Chairman Bridges of New Hampshire has posted some handsome new signs on the committee doors advertising the name of the chairman in big letters.

What the ad doesn't say is that the "discriminating" membership comprises the nation's top Republicans, particularly Senators and Congressmen whose offices are only a block away.

CONGRESSMAN'S KINDNESS To look at his voting record on Social Security, labor, etc., you wouldn't know that the milk of human kindness ran strong in the veins of GOP Congressman Clarence Brown of Ohio.

Recently, fire totally destroyed the Brown Publishing Co., wholly owned by the Congressman and one of the mainstays of his home town of Blanchester. Simultaneous with this heavy financial loss, Brown was stricken with a gall-bladder ailment, underwent major surgery. Despite all this, a new factory is being built in Blanchester to be owned and operated by Brown's employees. He has quietly arranged the financing for them. In addition, Mr. and Mrs. Brown used some of their personal funds to replace the plates of the high school yearbook which had been destroyed in the fire.

Said one employee: "Congressman Brown won't admit it, but he's just about saved our town."

WHY? President Eisenhower said he was "greatly concerned" when the national manpower council of the Ford Foundation recently reported a serious shortage of physicists, engineers, doctors and teachers.

Our Hearts in June

In June I love the whole wide world . . . And all the flowers, too . . . But when it comes to human love . . . My heart belongs to you . . . In every ray of sunshine and . . . In every petal bright . . . I whisper my good morning and . . . I say a sweet good night . . . My lips are yours, and your soft eyes . . . Are all I want to see . . . And in your loving arms I hold . . . My every memory . . . What is the answer in your heart . . . Beneath the sun and moon? . . . Will you be mine forever, dear . . . This happy day in June? . . . Tell me the truth, whatever else . . . I may have heard or seen . . . Give me your heart and whisper now . . . The words you really mean.

A MAJORITY of the city's voters won't have a thing to do with the outcome of Tuesday's selection of a Councilman for the Eighth District, but it's a virtual certainty that the man who gets the nod will be seeking city-wide support at next year's regular municipal election.

Councilmen who get on the board via special elections to fill vacancies usually run for re-election. Mayor Lyman Sutter and Carl Fletcher are two present Councilmen who came in by winning special elections to fill vacancies on the Council. Both subsequently ran as incumbents and won handily over opponents.

Every man running in the Eighth District next Tuesday undoubtedly hopes, if he gets elected, to stay on the Council for several years. If he does that, he'll have to seek election in the spring of 1954.

On that occasion, he will first run for nomination in the district only, and if successful then will face a city-wide test in the general election. Long Beach's peculiar election system, which some praise and other criticize, calls for nomination by districts, (two nominees per district) and final election by the city as a whole. Special elections are held in the district represented, only.

Municipal election records indicate that incumbency is a powerful favorable factor. Thus it appears likely that Eighth District voters will be giving some one an inside track for Council election in 1954.

The voters in the Eighth District, numbering 19,098, represent nearly 14 per cent of the city's registration. If the registration were evenly divided among the nine Council districts, each would have a little over 11 per cent of the 138,957 registered voters.

LIGHT VOTE? How many of the Eighth District's 19,098 voters will ballot Tuesday is, of course, anybody's guess. Some think the fact there are 13 candidates pressing for support will bring out a sizable vote; others say that the multitude of candidates has had a frustrating effect on the registrants that reduces rather than increases the voting potential.

The fact that the figures indicate above-average registration of voters in the Eighth District may point to above-average voting Tuesday. But past special elections of Councilmen have ordinarily brought a rather feeble showing at the polls.

Embraced in the Eighth District are the areas known as North Long Beach, Wrigley Heights, California Heights and Bixby Knolls. The Union Pacific tracks cut across the District, and the area north of the tracks is classified as a part of North Long Beach.

EACH VOTE VITAL Of the 34 voting precincts, 10 lie north of the tracks. The registration there is 5603. The registration south of the tracks is 13,495.

While the Councilman chosen Tuesday will be one of nine, his ability, integrity and conscientiousness will be matters of significance to the entire city. Each councilman has both vote and influence, and each has specific duties which enhance his individual importance in city affairs. On issues in which the vote is split, a single vote may swing important decisions.

Hence the entire city will be vitally interested in the outcome of Tuesday's special election. No one questions that a great deal of potentially valuable councilmanic material is available to the Eighth District voters on that occasion.

L.A.C. SAYS:

those he considered servants or of little use to him. Sitting around the hotels at night, the old-timers used to talk about it and we observed that this type of man on the road had his counterpart by the hundreds in every town and city we made.

The local dowager was discussed. She who thought herself the social leader of the community. She was all graciousness with her equals and servile to anyone she thought her better. But she was a regular fishwife to salesgirls in stores, waitresses and those she considered servants. She was impossible when she went near her husband's business. One old-time-salesman who had been on the territory for many years was quite a philosopher. He said he was convinced that such people were discourteous to others fundamentally because of a lack of confidence. It was their way of trying to overcome an inferiority complex. In their attempt they developed a superiority complex. The two complexes in conflict brought about the very unpleasant personality.

Unfortunately, this sort of discourtesy is not confined to the dowager or people with money or social position. It is found in every stratum of our economy and society. The cruelest acts are often those of people in lowly positions toward others who work alongside them. Some show an almost sadistic attitude if given any authority over others. It is hard for any one stratum of our society to feel deeply sympathetic about the troubles of the stratum just below. We refer to income brackets as strata. We hear one family argue that another family must be poorly managed since it is unable to get by on a certain income, though at the same time the first family is constantly in debt on almost double the income.

It is probably fortunate that we are not engulfed in the worries of all those we can not help. If a man took on all the problems of those he would like to help he would break down under the unhappiness of the effort. But in each of us there is a tendency to look down on those who do not measure up to what we think we represent. It might help if we realized others are looking down upon us in the same spirit. If we could only see ourselves as others see us, most of us would make some changes. One of the first, and most important, changes would be in the way we treat others. We are reminded of the saying: "A little man never feels little and a big man never feels big." Just what you are usually shows up in how you treat others.—L. A. C.

TOWN MEETING

Disturbed

TO THE EDITOR: On Memorial Day, I attended the observance conducted by the United Veterans Council in the Auditorium. When it was concluded, mixed emotions of uncertainty, misgiving and doubt disturbed me. How different from services of the same nature that it has been my privilege to attend in various cities of our nation.

The talks were wonderful, and the spirit engendered by the divine men of Jewish, Protestant and Catholic faiths left nothing to be desired. The main address of the Marine major, "Stop, Look and Listen," was timely and right to the point. I never heard the "Star Spangled Banner" sung better and was thrilled by the young lady's rendition. The rest of the music was excellent, but whistled solos and earnest recitations as well as hand selections of popular war-time tunes are very inappropriate as part of the main memorial service. No one can criticize their use as measures to create atmosphere previous to the beginning of the service, but from that time on until its conclusion with "Taps," only dignified, beautiful memorial music should be used.

Picnic Project

TO THE EDITOR: I have been asked to try to organize an Anglo-American picnic or get-together of Anglo-Americans in Bixby Park. I have a scheme and with perhaps the help of the Sons of St. George and the Lord Kitchener Guild of the British Benevolent Society this could be done.

There are several hundred people here from different countries who would be made happy. I have met several. We have the states picnics at Bixby Park, and I believe there are Canadian picnics, too. So why not an Anglo-American picnic?

I have a list of the countries in England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland. If this is approved, I want the co-operation of others.

TO THE EDITOR: Should citizens should feel toward Gov. Warren the same as towards city officials who take long trips. That is—praise them all for going on trips; lament only the fact that they always come back. It'd be really nice if the trippers would just keep on going.

Claude Moss, News Feature Writer, Dies

Claude S. Moss, 73, of 330 W. Ocean Blvd., president of Claude Moss Features and lifetime newspaperman, died Saturday in a local hospital.

Son of a newspaper publisher of weeklies and dailies in Indiana, North Dakota, Tennessee, South Carolina, Illinois and California, Mr. Moss was an associate director of the National Press Association.

He wrote such columns as "Who's Who," "Keep Smiling," "People You Should Know," "Smiles," "Success Stories," "Interesting Americans," "Four Star Folks" and "Nix on the Mush."

Born in Riley, Ind., Mr. Moss attended Notre Dame. A member of Long Beach Elks Lodge No. 888, he had resided here for 14 years.

He is survived by two sons, Alton M. and Dr. Claude S. Moss; mother, Mrs. Callie Scott Horney; a brother, Dexter Moss, a sister, Mrs. Mary Dukes, and three grandchildren.

Services will be in Mottell's chapel at 11 a. m. Tuesday, with the local Elks officiating. Burial will be in Bogalusa, La.

Cal. Jeweler London-bound in Tiny Plane

SAN MATEO — (UP) A nonchalant 27-year-old jeweler took off calmly from the San Mateo Airport Saturday afternoon, heading for London in a tiny 90-horsepower monoplane.

Peter Gluckmann, probably the most casual aviator since Douglas "Wrong Way" Corrigan, stepped into his Luscombe 8E plane at 4 p. m., PDT, and started his flight to London and back "to see my parents."

He said his first stop would be in Bakersfield for fuel but was undecided and unconcerned about the first overnight stop.

The German-born Gluckmann checked the provisions in his blue and cream monoplane earlier and discovered he had forgotten his thermos of coffee.

So he climbed out of the plane and went back to get the coffee.

The blond expert watchmaker has been planning the trip to visit his parents for three years, ever since he learned to fly, and expresses surprise that anyone else is interested.

"Actually, this is simply the cheapest, best way for me to get to see my parents and my brother in England."

"I couldn't afford any other way," he explained.

Gluckmann will fly across the country to Goose Bay, Labrador. Then he will jump over to Greenland, a hop of 850 miles.

From Greenland to Iceland, a distance of 950 miles, will be the longest single flight of his trip.

But it is believed his will be the smallest plane ever to attempt the Atlantic crossing.

The only safety equipment the unperturbable flier will take for the ocean crossing is a one-man life raft and a two-way hand-operated radio.

Gluckmann, who recently received his U. S. citizenship, estimates the trip will cost him about $250 for gasoline.

"I hope to be back at my office in about five weeks," Gluckmann said.

Outstanding for its practical aspects more than for its frills is this bedroom provided for the Linebergers' son.

plan is an excellent one for families with young children. Now, when friends drop in for the evening, the children are happy to entertain themselves in the recreation room while the adults converse in the room adjoining.

THE RUMPUS ROOM opens by means of French doors to the outdoor patio sheltered on the north side of the house by means of a lofty grapestake fence. Out here is the ideal location for patio suppers and sheltered sun bathing.

Another door leads from the recreation room to the service porch which contains a half-bath. This is an immense work-saver for Mrs. Lineberger. When her children are ready to come indoors after a vigorous play, she can cope with the "clean-up" problem just a step inside the back door. The half-bath is equally accessible from the patio and the rumpus room.

The kitchen is unique with its all-over paneling (ceiling included) of knotty pine finished in a dull driftwood finish. Against this muted background, Mrs. Lineberger's fire engine red range is startling, to say the least!

lusty color of the stove and provides a gay dining site.

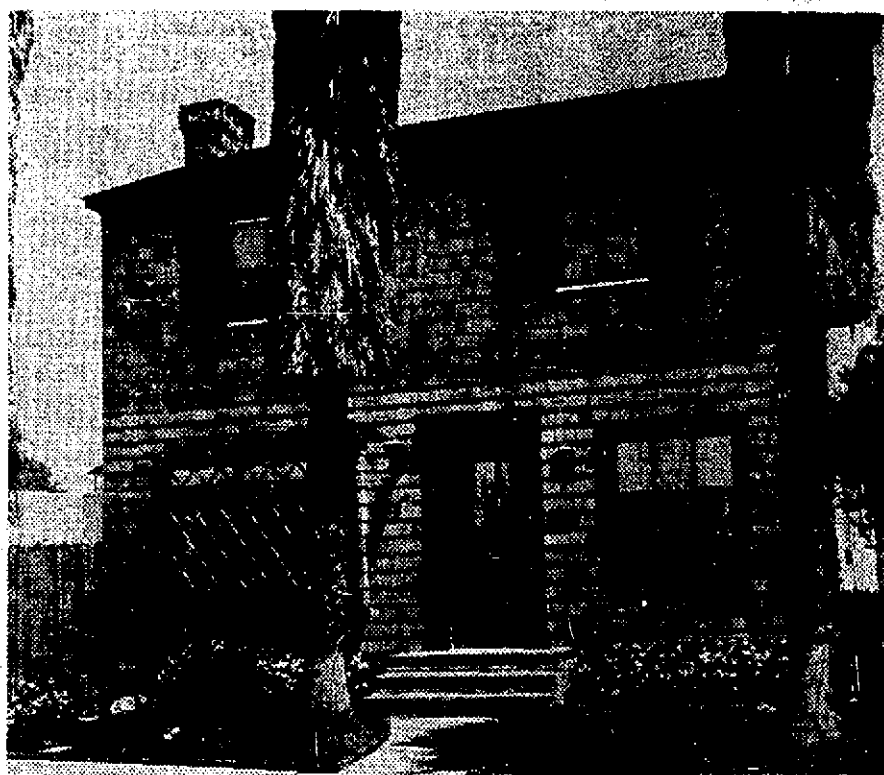

Curtains over the sink are fully fashioned of unbleached muslin ruffled in bright red cotton.

The bedroom presently serving as the master room features a color combination of pink, du-bonnet and gray. The deep wine bedspread is striking against the headboard padded in dusty pink. The bed itself is against a wall papered in a pattern employing a pink and deep wine motif against a ground of pearl gray.

The little Lineberger daughters share a bedroom that is femininely decorated in tones of pale green and ice cream pink. A handsome feature of this room is the high four-poster bed with its tufted spread.

The boy's room is typically masculine and devoid of frou-frou. The walls, which provide the distinct advantage of being virtually finger-print-proof, are paneled from floor to ceiling in combed pine.

Quaint and friendly-looking is the shingled exterior of the Richard Lineberger home. Upper story has 3 bedrooms.

BELLFLOWER.

AS THE charter boats and their sun-bronzed captains head out to the offshore fishing banks in search of the elusive albacore, fighting yellowtail and the boiling barracuda, they will be accompanied again this season by a dark-haired, blue-eyed woman skipper and her 46-foot boat, Weazel.

She is Lorraine Leigh, the only "lady captain" operating a charter boat in these waters as far as can be ascertained. Lorraine makes her home in Bellflower and navigates her craft from a berth in Newport Harbor. This will be her second season matching wits with the wily game fish.

Necessity, long known as the mother of invention, is also re-

Looking out to the sea, Mrs. Leigh speculates on the possibilities of the busy fishing days ahead.

ing morning. Then after only three hours sleep she drove to the customs house in San Pedro to fill out her application.

The rest of the long day went like this: A thorough physical examination, a 12-page written examination, no lunch, and an oral examination on technical subjects. Finally, ending an ordeal that has been known to reduce strong men to quaking wrecks, she was told that she had passed.

And with a neat 90 in machinery and '85 in rules of the road!

The very next day she took out her first charter party of 14 persons.

SO FAR she has had only one cancellation. The intended angler (a man) reneged when he learned the skipper was a member of the fair sex. She is familiar with the Catalina Channel, Horseshoe Kelp, The Flats,
and has made runs down the coast as far as Dana Point.
The largest fish brought to gaff
aboard the Weazel last season
was a 24-pound albacore.

She has proved equal to every emergency that has arisen. Lorraine repaired a burned out impeller on the Jabsco bilge pump
all by herself as an initiation
into the mysteries of mechanics.
When repairs were necessary
on other pieces of equipment
she drew diagrams of the faulty valve, pipe or hose and mailed them to Don. By carefully following his written instructions
she has been able to conquer
her difficulties and prove mistress of most of the boat's "in-nards."

The only thing that worries
her on the trips are sailboats.
Like Sunday drivers, they are prevalent on week ends and holidays and, also like Sunday
drivers, they are unpredictable.
This is no small worry to
powerboat skippers because they have the right of way in water traffic.

In winter months the Leigh family, which also includes two sons, Dennis, 11, and Randy, 7,
can be together more often.
They make numerous trips
from their home at 9700 Maple Ave. to adjacent snow-capped mountains where they indulge in their favorite sport, skiing,
at which they all excel.

True Friend and Watchdog

By Elanor Avery Price

IN ORDER to understand and appreciate the modern Cairn terrier, it is necessary to learn a little about the oldtime Cairn from the Isle of Syke. It is known that in spite of his petite size, he was a working dog of great courage and was used especially to bolt otter, foxes and various vermin from their hiding places among rocks and cliffs. His abilities made him very popular among those who wanted an all-weather hunter.

The Cairn terrier is distinctive in conformation, and his body gives the impression of being very active even though his legs are fairly short. Males weigh about 14 pounds and females average around 13 pounds. Males measure about nine and one-half inches tall at the shoulders. The shoulders are sloped, but the back is level. His head differs from other terriers in that it is short and broad, and the muzzle is quite pointed but not too heavy.

The Cairn's ears are short, erect and pointed, and his expressive eyes are large and dark. His little feet are heavily padded. For show he should have dark ears, muzzle, and tail.

This terrier has a double coat, soft and furry underneath with a harsh, sometimes slightly wavy outercoat. Silky, curly coats are ruled out. The fur can be clipped some to give him a tidy appearance, but he should never appear trimmed.

The Cairn makes a loving pet and an attractive pal and watchdog.

IF YOUR dog is suffering from the heat, here are several ways to help him. Change his drinking water several times daily, and give him an occasional ice cube to lick or chew. Wash his face and feet with fresh cold water.

Remember that the only way a dog can perspire is through the tongue, and he needs cool spots in which to lie.

IF YOUR watchdog sleeps heavily at night instead of guarding his home, it probably is due to the fact that he is being fed a hearty meal each evening. If he is fed in the morning, he usually sleeps most of the day and is alert at night. A heavy meal makes the dog inclined to be sleepy.

Signal Hill Goes to Polls on Tuesday

By THE LOOKOUT

Tuesday will be an important political day in this area. While Eighth District voters are choosing a Long Beach councilman, Signal Hill polls will be open for election of two councilmen and Republicans will be gathering in Los Angeles for a $100-a-plate dinner.

The Signal Hill election was called to fill vacancies caused by the recent recall of Mayor L. J. Tomlin and Councilman Lloyd S. Colson.

Running for the three-year post vacated by Tomlin will be Frank B. Vaughan, consulting engineer, and Robert H. Morrison, oil field truck service operator.

Candidates for the short term previously held by Colson are Harold V. Clark, oil company employee; Kenneth Schrank, former policeman, and Mrs. Reva D. Welch, wife of a Signal Hill policeman.

Another candidate, who filed for the short term, declared Saturday he is withdrawing. He is Laird Ashby, whose name will be on the ballot but who asked that his supporters cast their ballots for one of the other candidates "they deem worthy." Ashby expressed appreciation to those who had pledged their support to him.

HALL COMING

Southern California Republicans will get their first close-up look at Leonard Wood Hall, the new GOP national chairman, when he comes to speak at the fund-raising dinner at the Hollywood Palladium Tuesday evening. There will be a scattering of Long Beach-area Republicans on hand for the affair.

Hall is expected to discuss prospects for the 1954 elections.

HOSMER ON TV

Rep. Craig Hosmer of Long Beach and Rep. Norris Poulson, mayor-elect of Los Angeles, will appear on the TV program, "Washington Calling California," at 9:15 tonight over KECA-TV (channel 7).

Topics for discussion will include recent public housing developments, the Fallbrook water dispute, Colorado River controversy, and other issues before the interior affairs committee of which both congressmen are members.

DEMOC TO MEET

A meeting of the Co-ordinating Council of Democratic Clubs of the 18th Congressional District will be held Wednesday, 8 p. m., in Hughes Junior High School Auditorium. A report on location of a district headquarters will be made by Graydon Beeks, chairman of a headquarters committee. Bennett Jacobs will preside at the session, which is open to the public.

BOWLES CHOSEN

Herbert W. Bowles is new president of the East Long Beach Democratic Club. He was elected at a Thursday night meeting in the home of Mrs. Martha McLellan, 301 Grand Ave.

Other officers: Horace Lawson, vice president; Don Foltz, secretary; and Kay Fisher, treasurer.

Members of the executive board of the club were re-elected at the meeting. Lawson was chosen representative of the East Long Beach club on the executive council of the Democratic Co-ordinating Council, and other representatives on the council will be Bowles, Roy Shaw and Mrs. Helen Holub. Alternates are John Negley, Mrs. Prough and Frank Wigham. New officers will be installed July 2.

these worms and placed them under the tree. The tree renewed its lease on life and has borne over $300 worth of avocados in three years. The tree no longer has the fungus growth and it is full of large green leaves and blossoms.

Following their success with this tree the Bulleys began their work with hybrid worms in earnest.

Most earthworms lay one egg every 20 days with only one young in it. The hybrid worm will lay an egg every seven days. The eggs will hatch in about 21 days and each egg will contain as many as 20 young. The worms are bisexual. They have a life span of approximately 15 years and will begin laying eggs when 90 days old.

Mrs. Bulley displays vigorous avocado tree, once fungus-ridden, revived after worms were put in ground around it.

A GROWN WORM weighs about one ounce and a newborn is difficult to see with the naked eye. He is able to move an object 60 times his own weight. A million worms will produce a ton of castings a day.

It is these castings that so enrich the soil. If the earthworms are placed in hard-pan or adobe clay soil, they will in time, change it into loosely packed dirt, the most fertile of all soil. All the thin layer of the earth's top crust has passed through and will again pass through the intestinal canals of worms.

Roses grown in the Bulley's worm bed garden, covered with an alfalfa mulch, are consistent prize winners. Mrs. Bulley grows African violets in this worm soil and has produced some of the finest in Orange County. Some grown from seeds, took honors in the most recent flower show in Garden Grove.

Mrs. Bulley feeds oatmeal to the worms surrounding her violets. They are all potted and on a bed of sponge rock to keep them from mildewing.

When asked for an estimate of the worms capacity for reproducing, Mrs. Bulley stated, "If 1500 worms are placed in a bed, in one year, they will reproduce, if not destroyed by natural enemies, until there are 350,000 worms in this same area. The worms will survive if cut in half, or if any portion of the body is removed but they will not reproduce."

Club to Enter Fuchsia Show

Plans for the club's entry in the National Fuchsia Club Show at Knott's Berry Farm June 26-28 will be discussed by Carl A. Bjorkman, president, when the Long Beach branch, National Fuchsia Society of America, meets at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at 728 Elm Ave.

Carl Holm will speak on selection and final care and grooming of show fuchsias. Carl Edmond will give national board instructions. Mrs. Monroe Hubbell, program chairman, will present Tat Shinn, who will arrange garden flowers. Mrs. Carl Edmonds will be chairman of the social hour.

Red Star PLANT FOODS

Plants Must Eat, Too

By Bob Gilmore

GARDEN ornaments will grow vigorously only if there is sufficient food in the soil to satisfy their demands. Of all the nutrients used for increasing plant growth the most important are nitrogen, phosphorous and potash. The manner in which these various agents act is one of the most interesting stories in the plant world.

Nitrogen is one of the most important food factors and certainly the most dangerous. It increases susceptibility to disease, largely because it produces lush green growth that is extremely sensitive. It brings out the green coloring in foliage and that explains why fertilizers with a high nitrogen content are often used on lawns. Sulphate of ammonia is one example of this. However, lawns require more than just nitrogen and a well-balanced food will prove far better than one containing only nitrogen.

Nitrogen should be used very sparingly if at all during cold weather. It encourages succulent young growth which is highly sensitive to frost and cold weather.

An excess of nitrogen delays maturity, leads to a certain weakness of stem growth and may lower the quality of a vegetable crop. On the other hand, leaf crops such as lettuce, spinach and endive become more palatable and tender when the right percentage of nitrogen is applied.

THE VALUE of phosphorous is due to the fact that it encourages faster maturity, aids in root development and strengthens stem growth. Phosphorous is also believed to aid cell division. Commercial seed growers find it valuable for it helps to ripen the seed and tends to produce a higher yield and a more uniform seed crop.

While nitrogen may be dangerous to work with, especially during cold weather, phosphorous is relatively safe, even an excess of it causing practically no harm.

Potash is a sort of balancing agent between nitrogen and

phosphorous. It aids in the development of roots and is therefore essential for root crops; yet it tends to delay maturity. Potash should be used liberally in sandy soils which are usually deficient in this food factor.

A lack of potash causes an abnormal leaf color and in certain cases may lead to weak stems. Potash adds tone and vigor to most plants and the coloring of flowers is often improved by its use. It is linked up with the process of photosynthesis, being of great value in the formation of chlorophyll.

THERE are several types of plant food now available such as dry or liquid, simple or well-balanced and root feeding or leaf feeding, the latter being comparatively new. Sulphate of ammonia is a simple food in contrast with a rose food that would be a mixture of nitrogen, phosphorous, potash and probably several trace elements. Nitrogen is the only food agent in sulphate of ammonia. Superphosphate is an inorganic food as contrasted with bonemeal or bloodmeal which are considered organic, meaning they have been derived from living organisms.

Do not confuse soil conditioners with plant foods. Hydrated lime, for example, is not a food but simply a soil conditioner. It is used for purposes of neutralizing extreme acidity. It also aids in promoting air and moisture penetration. Gypsum corrects alkalinity but is not a food. Lime is another soil conditioner, not a plant food. It sweetens the soil by neutralizing acidity.

Tips on Gardening

GARDENING TIPS for the week ... Chrysanthemum cuttings that are started now require an open exposure and lots of water. It is advisable to keep them pinched back until about July, thus preventing their becoming woody before flowering time.

Hawaiian tree ferns will add a cooling effect to your garden. This ornamental is not too well known in this area but will do quite well here. In time the plants attain a height of from eight to 10 feet.

It is advisable, when watering African violets, to have the temperature of the water the same temperature as that of the room.

As the weather warms up you should set your lawn mower to cut the lawn at a greater height. Do not mow closely during the summer as the individual plants will suffer. The taller the grass the more shade is provided and this tends to cool the surface and to retard evaporation. Set the mower to cut at a height of about one and three-quarter inches during the summer months.

Roadster With a Bedroom

SPORT CAR BUILT FOR YAWNING

Sleepy Time Auto's Rustproof Plastic

By CHARLES NEISWENDER

In this era of sports cars, foreign and domestic, William G. Commons, Long Beach naval architect, had to do something extra special to design a sportier sport auto and put seven months into the development of the "Crusader."

Commons, whose hobby is working with Fibreglas, surpassed mass production sport cars in design by including in his custom Crusader a full-size bed.

The sleek auto weighs about one-third as much as popular American-made low price class automobiles, Commons said, although the frame was modified from a regular Ford.

THE NAVAL ARCHITECT, who is employed at Fellows and Stewart, Terminal Island shipbuilding firm, started working with the plastic immediately after World War II and found it so fascinating he gave up temporarily his career as a naval architect and began experimenting with plastic boats and furniture. After a few years as a full-time Fibreglas-fan, Commons returned to naval architecture, but kept working with the plastic as a hobby.

About then sport cars became a vogue, and Commons started to design a car for himself, basing the design on its adaptability to the frame of the low price class autos.

Most of the construction time was taken up in casting the moulds Commons reports, with about two months needed to modify the frame of his Ford and assembling the Crusader.

THE EXTRA SPECIAL BED is fashioned out of the back rest of the seat, which folds down, and the floor of the car in the rear section. Overall size of the bed is 55 inches by 6 1/2 feet.

Commons foresees a future where all autos will have plastic bodies, because the material is stronger and lighter than steel. Repairs (the Crusader designer the body without making a dent) would be cheaper and less frequent, Commons contends.

In Southern California, or other coastal areas, the plastic body is ideal, Commons states, because it can not rust nor deteriorate because of the salt air.

Also, there are no squeaks or rattles because the body is moulded in one piece.

Reds Hold Greeks

ATHENS, Greece — (AP) About 4000 Greek army officers and soldiers are still held by Greece's Iron Curtain neighbors. They were taken prisoner in the war against the Communist-led guerrillas. Foreign Minister, Stephanopoulos says efforts to obtain their release with co-operation of the Soviet government have failed.

Safety Group Sets Session

Harry L. Young, superintendent of safety and instruction for Pacific Electric Railway Co., will be guest speaker at a luncheon meeting of Long Beach Out-Port Activity Safety Advisory Council at noon Wednesday at Wilton Hotel. He will talk on safety in railroad freight operations.

Pacific Electric's safety conference motor coach, fitted as a mobile auditorium and motion picture theater, will be on display in a roped-off section of street in front of the hotel between 11 a. m. and 2 p. m.

A PE instructor will be on duty to explain how the company uses the coach in its safety program.

Water Show Scheduled in Pool at Villa

Pat McCormick, Long Beach's Olympic diving champ, will be featured in a water show June 14 at Park Estates Villa.

The show will mark opening of the villa built by Alexander Shultz, retired furniture-retailer, at 5280 El Prado in Park Estates, with Kenneth Wing as architect. The swimming program will be directed by Mrs. Evelyn DuPont of 1308 Ocean Blvd., Seal Beach, former Olympic swimming star. There will be no admission charges and spectators may donate as they wish, with proceeds going to the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund.

The show will include demonstrations by Capt. "Dutch" Miller and Long Beach lifeguards; Joan Willis, 17, AAU synchronized ballet star; Pacific Coast Club Aquabellies, and Mrs. DuPont's daughter Barbara, 7, district diving champion of her age group. The hour-long program will start at 7 p. m. in the new hotel pool.

Mrs. DuPont will also present a swimming show at 7 p. m. today at 2515 Oakmont Ave., Santa Ana. Proceeds will benefit Carolyn Van Sandt, handicapped Seal Beach child, and the Santa Ana Crippled Children Society.

The 4-H Club of Carmelita will benefit from a DuPont aqua show next Friday night at 12500 Alondra Ave., Artesia.

Marine Engineer Meeting Slated

Jack Folks, of the Federal Marine section of the General Electric Co., will speak on "Trends in Development of Marine Propulsion for Tankers and Dry Cargo Ships" at Thursday's meeting of the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers. The meeting will be at 7:30 p. m. at the University Club room, Lafayette Hotel.

Library Group Plans Discussion

"America and the World" will be the subject of the meeting of North Branch Library American Heritage Discussion Group scheduled for 7:45 p. m. Thursday at the library, 5571 Orange Ave. Mrs. Tess Rose and Nicholas Iyoyia will lead the discussion. The public is invited.

Small Fry Splash Ahead

'Spectre of Rose' Showing Booked

"Spectre of the Rose" will be shown Friday at 8 p. m. at Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd. The program is the last of a series presented by the Long Beach Public Library Film Service and the Municipal Art Department.

Judith Anderson, as the middle-aged ballerina, and Michael Chekhov are featured in the film, which was written and directed by Ben Hecht. The public is invited.

BEACH HAZARDS

Dark Glasses Can Save Husband Blackened Eye

By CHUCK CHEATHAM

Beach hazards can be overcome and a good time had by all, even married men, if they will follow the advice of experts such as Dr. L. D. Litwack, city health officer, and Capt. Dutch Miller, head lifeguard.

Beware of ultra violet rays, warns Dr. Litwack. They cause painful sunburn and irritate the sensitive cornea of the eyes.

Dark glasses that filter the rays protect the eyes of both men and women.

THERE'S A MUST

The dark glasses are an absolute must for the married man, experts agree.

For not only do they keep out the harmful rays but they allow the married man to closely inspect the latest in feminine bathing suits—undetected by his ever-loving bride.

If women fail to wear the glasses they are likely to end up with painfully irritated eyes.

TAKE IT EASY

The lifeguards try to protect bathers who overexpose their skins to the burning rays and advise anyone turning a painful pink to cover up. An hour a day at the beginning of the season is plenty, Miller said.

Among other don'ts emphasized by Miller and Litwack are: Don't go in the water immediately after eating.

Don't go in the water immediately after eating.

DON'T rush in the water when overheated.
DON'T overload life rafts (and watch out for the offshore breeze).
DON'T try to swim too far out to sea. Swim along the shoreline.

DON'T forget the dark glasses. Not only the wife but the bikini wearers' escort may inflict painful injuries.

Plastic Artificial Eyes
More natural in appearance than glass eyes, they are unaffected by extreme temperature changes and will not break or scratch as glass eyes do. They are most economical because they last many years longer.
Our laboratory facilities enable us to reshape and grind plastic eyes to provide a comfortable fit, natural in appearance, with maximum movement.

Sex Sets a Trap for a Man's Soul

By Lew Allison

JOE BAILEY was born early enough to take the full impact of the depression of the '30s—perhaps more tragically than most adults—and late enough to be yanked from the insecurity and frustration of a young citizen into military service in World War II.

Rhodes' 'Sheriff' in Pocket Format

The last novel by Eugene Manlove Rhodes, considered by some critics to be the finest writer of western fiction who ever lived, is now published in pocket-book format. Title of the book is "The Proud Sheriff" (Dell).

Other new Dell books (25 cents): "The Frightened Stiff," by Kelley Roos; "The Bahamas Murder Case," by Leslie Ford; "Behind the Crimson Blind," by Carter Dickson; and "Bats Fly at Dusk," by Erle Stanley Gardner, writing under the name of A. A. Fair.

Irving Stone's best-selling novel "Immortal Wife" — the story of Jessie Benton Fremont, wife of California's John Fremont—has just been published in pocket size by Permabooks (35 cents).

Other new Permabooks: "Spencer Brade, M.D." by Frank G. Slaughter; "Swing the Big-Eyed Rabbit," by John Pleasant McCoy; and "Front Office," by Herbert Lyons.

Charlemagne and the Dope Habit

Two of the better new historical novels are Mario Pei's "Swords of Anjou" (John Day, $3.50) and "Men Like Shadows" by Dorothy Charques (Coward-McCann, $3.75). Mr. Pei translates his interest in the legendary figure of Roland to a stirring story of how the events really worked out in the days of Charlemagne. Miss Charques uses the Third Crusade for the background of her lengthy novel.

Startling in contrast is "The Everlasting Arms" by Garth Hale (Dutton, $3). A minister of a run-down city church is confronted with the problem of his attractive young daughter becoming a dope addict. The author saves the reader the degrading experiences of the girl and presents what he thinks can be done to clear a city of such a menace. —E. G.

STAMPS-COINS

Large Stock - Low Prices
E. E. MORRISON (Stamp Shop)
1086 Pine Avenue

The depression destroyed his security of social class as it did his economic security. Disillusioned in adolescence, embittered by tragedies and a boy's warped sense of values, he is taken in Oakley Hall's ruthlessly frank novel of nearly 500 pages, "Corpus of Joe Bailey" (Viking Press, $4.50), through crises of school and college life; the tortures of a love that entangled him from boyhood; the tragedies of friendships betrayed; the sour cynicism of attachments of convenience. His imperfect marriage reaches a climax in which the destruction of his own being by his own folly can be prevented only by destruction of the false ideals that have shaped him.

Hall is a talented author who writes something in the traditions of Dreiser and Faulkner. "Corpus of Joe Bailey" can be highly praised for its craftsmanship. But Hall will never be a Dreiser, nor a Faulkner. Despite the fact that Joe Bailey, and the girl Con whom he loves so desperately, and Peter, his friend, an even more tragic figure, are entangled in much more critical traps than sex relationships, Hall devotes also the entire story to brutal conflicts of sex, leaving undeveloped elements of tremendous human drama much nearer to most of his readers.

Truman Memoirs

Former President Harry S. Truman's memoirs will be published in book form by Doubleday & Co. in 1955. Appearing in one or two volumes, it will contain the story of Mr. Truman's life, including his personal account of his history-packed years in the White House and the Capitol.

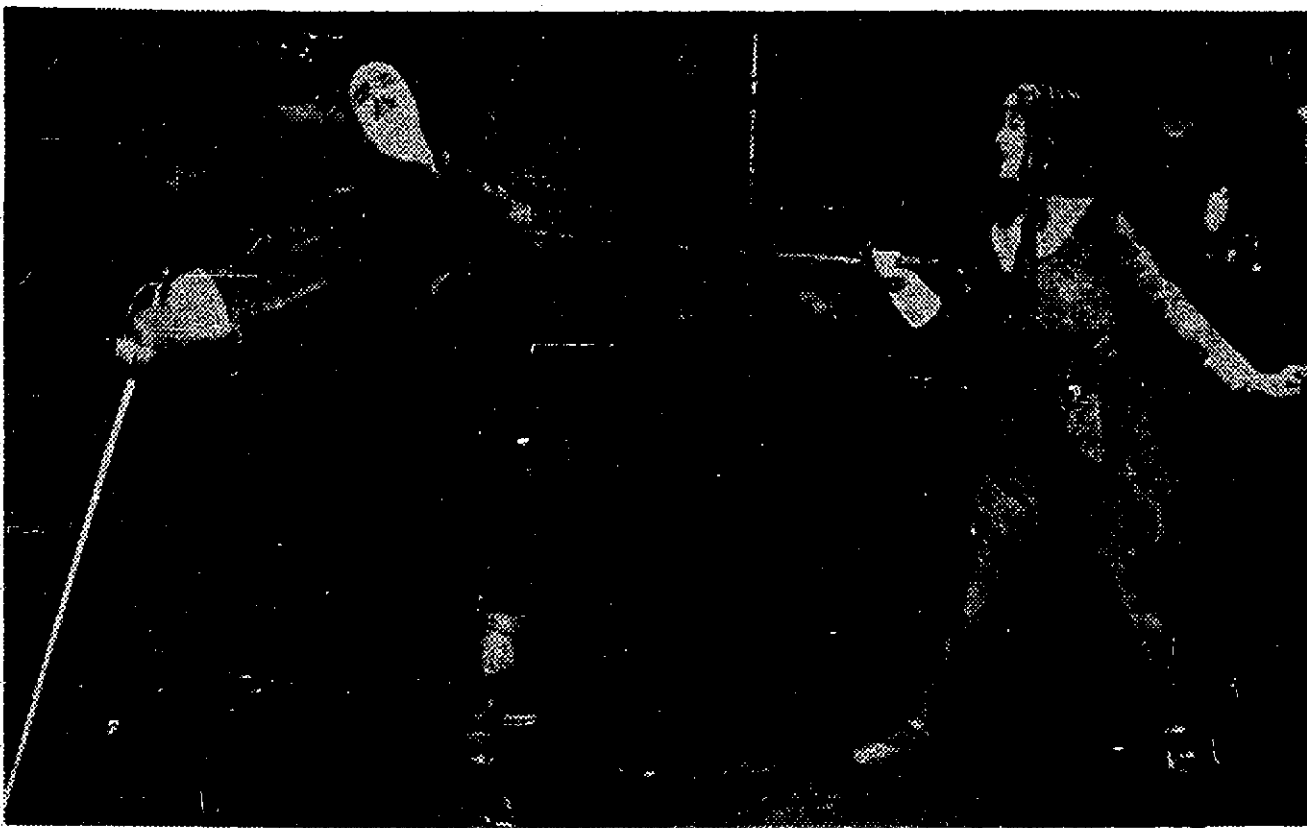

Publication of the book, said Doubleday officials, is by arrangement with Life magazine, which bought all publication rights to the Truman memoirs. They will be serialized in the magazine, it was stated.

Album for Stamps

Part II of Scott's International Album has arrived on the market. It covers the stamp-issuing period for all countries from the middle of 1949, where Part I ends, up to the beginning of 1952. For the United Nations it goes through 1952. For the U. S. it extends through the Service Women's 3-center. The new looseleaf album has 748 pages and can accommodate more than 20,000 stamps.

This new album is a far cry from the first Scott International which was published in 1876 and had less than 500 spaces for stamps.

RECORD ALBUM

Let's Watch Sunny Cut a Disk

By Elaine Hauck

LET'S GO to a recording session and see just how long it takes to cut one of those disks that you spin in three minutes. We'll follow Sunny Gale as she records "Send My Baby Back to Me" for RCA-Victor.

Henri Rene and a pickup band are on hand to back up Sunny. RCA recording director, Hy Grill, is at the controls with two recording engineers in the next booth. A sprinkling of unexplained hangers-on stand around, snapping fingers and looking important.

It's 2 p. m. and the studio begins to buzz with preliminary activity. The musicians are rehearsing; Rene dances around, gesturing to demonstrate the feeling he wants his men to get. Miss Gale is off to one side, singing to herself and the engineers are checking the things engineers check.

2:30—The four mikes are set and the delicate process of "balancing"—getting each section of the band at the right distance from the mike—begins. Grill works hard, especially with the rhythm section. "Back off, Billy," he tells the guitarist. "A little less on the cymbals, Jack," he yells to the drummer.

2:45—Miss Gale answers the call, "Sunny, on Mike" and the red light, signaling the tape is rolling, flashes on. "B 3 BB 1093, Take A" the engineer reads into his mike. They play this first run through and listen to it. "It sounds dead," wails Grill. "It sounds like an old dead fish," says Sunny and Rene agrees, "Something's Wrong."

3:15—They are working on the fourth run and nobody's satisfied. "It's still dragging," says Grill. "It's too fast," argues Sunny. They decide to split the difference and change the tempo as well as rearrange the band. Now they are ready for Take E. They play it back with all the musicians tapping their suede shoes. "Try it with a shuffle rhythm," somebody suggests. "Sunny, watch your Ps," the engineer says, "They're popping."

3:45—They run through with the new shuffle rhythm and decide that was just what it needed. Grill orders the final take. "That does it," exclaims Grill, "but, Sunny, the ending was weak. Let's do that last eight bars again, and Sunny—get mad!"

4:04 — Everyone happy and content with their efforts. Two hours and four minutes to do a side that will run a bit under three minutes. That's a record session.

TEN TOP TUNES — Percy Faith's "Song From Moulin Rouge" continues to be the number one disk on the local hit parade. Other most populars are: (2) "April in Portugal," Freddy Martin; (3) "Ruby," Richard Hayman; (4) "I'm Walking Behind You," Eddie Fisher; (5) "I Believe," Frankie Laine; (6) "Doggie in the Window," Patti Page; (7) "Anna," Sylvano Mangano; (8) "Seven Lonely Days," Georgia Gibbs; (9) "Your Cheatin' Heart," Joni James, and (10) "Pretend," Nat King Cole.

NEW FIELDS of interest open to listeners of the non-music recordings at the Long Beach Public Library. For example, Chaucer, "Canterbury Tales: The Nun's Priest's Tale" is read by Kemp Malone with the real Anglo-Saxon flavor; "Gertrude Stein Read by Gertrude Stein" gives a richness and color to her words that the eye doesn't receive from the printed page; "If I'm Elected" records the actual words of our Presidents and their opponents from 1892-1952 and includes a campaign song of the 19th Century; "Through Childhood to the Throne" is a timely anecdotal recording of high lights in the life of Queen Elizabeth II, and more dictation records will be of interest to those developing speed in shorthand. All but the last mentioned are lps.

Students and teachers influenced the reserve lists last week, with tops to Beethoven, "Symphony No. 9; Bizet, "Carmen"; Rimsky-Korsakov, "Scherzade," and "Tchaikovski, "Romeo and Juliet Overture."

For Sports Lovers

Three volumes for sports-minded readers cover three important sports. "Best Sport Stories 1953," edited by Irving T. Marsh and Edward Ehre (Dutton, $3.50), includes some of the best of photographs taken on the scenes by lucky cameramen. It's a book to cherish.

"Stop That Slice," by Joe Dante and Len Elliott (McGraw Hill, $2) is illustrated by Bill Crawford. A slice is a nightmare to a serious golfer, and if text and pictures can remedy it this book will.

One of the most definitive books on racing is "The Kentucky Derby Story," by Lamont Buchanan. Bill Corum does the foreword, and the pictures still show Twenty Grand to be the most beautiful animal that ever lived. Aristides was the first winner, and the volume brings the '52 champion Hill Gail, into the winner's circle.—G. L.

Plane Talk

By DON BRACKENBURY

(Don Brackenbury is on vacation. Instead of his usual column of news of local flying, Plane Talk today is a special article on aviation.)

IN LESS THAN one month from today—on July 3—the seventh annual All Woman Transcontinental Air Race will get under way from Lawrence, Mass. Four days later it will end at Long Beach Municipal Airport.

It is highly fitting that the race end in Long Beach, because local women fliers long have played a major role in the annual event for stock aircraft. It was first suggested by a Long Beach woman. Winners of the 1952 dash, from Orange County Airport, Santa Ana, to Teterboro, N. J., were two Long Beach women: Shirley Blocki, piloting a Cessna 140, with Martha Baechle as copilot.

WE ARE TICKLED to see the enthusiasm with which the Long Beach Junior and Senior Chambers of Commerce have agreed to help promote this event. Long Beach has always been prominent in aviation circles and in this, the 50th anniversary of powered flight, it is gratifying that the city has such an excellent opportunity to step forward into the aviation spotlight.

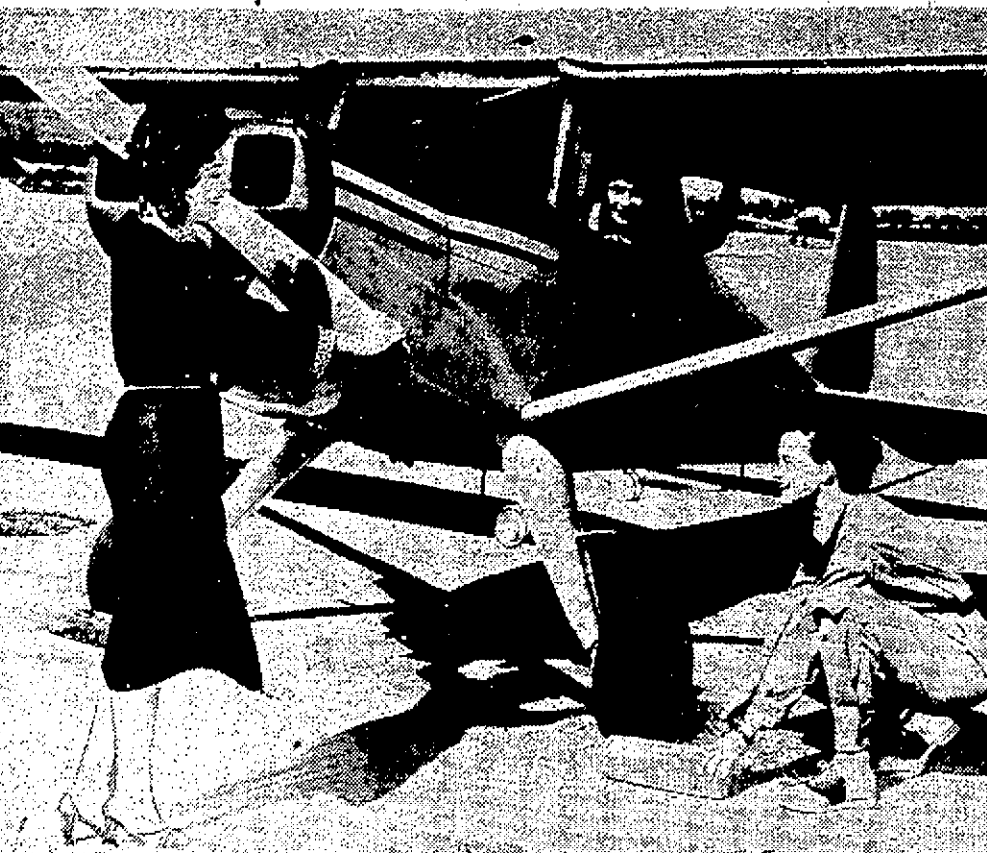

The purpose of this column is to give a few facts about the air race and about the Ninety-Nines, Inc., the international association of women pilots, which sponsors the annual race.

THE IDEA of the All Woman Transcontinental Air Race was first suggested by Long Beach's own Dianna Bixby. She owned an A-28 at that time and was looking around for places to go and records to break. This was in 1947. That same year, the Florida chapter of Ninety-Nines was staging an All-Woman Air Show in Tampa. Dianna suggested that a good way to get west coast women to attend would be to stage a west-to-east air race.

THE RACE WAS SET. Unfortunately, it was to start so early in the year that there wasn't time for many persons to make arrangements. On starting day, March 10, only one aircraft showed up at Palm Springs. But that one plane, an Ercoupe piloted by Carolyn West of La Canada with Barbara Medes of Corona del Mar as copilot, flew the course in 23 hours and 45 minutes. Compare this with last year's dash in which 40 aircraft took part.

ONLY WOMEN PILOTS may compete in the race. Aircraft

Revving Up for Air Race

must be limited to 300 horsepower. The planes can be flown only during daylight hours and only under VFR conditions.

Prior to the race, each type of aircraft is rated at a certain cruising speed. This engineering study this year was directed by John Loufek of Long Beach, Douglas Aircraft engineer and well-known soaring expert.

OBJECTIVES of the AWTAR are several, but two or three, we feel, are particularly worthy of mention:

"To bring to the attention of the general public that all commercial and private flying is safe and practical.

"To emphasize the fact that light planes used today most extensively in private aviation are safe in every respect and easily flown.

"To contribute, on behalf of the sponsoring Ninety-nines organization, to the status of private aviation, and to women in aviation, as well as to aviation in general."

FOR SOME REASON unknown to us (Plane Talk being a male), the women who fly this annual race object to the more common designation of it as the "Powder Puff Derby."

We always have felt this term was one of affection, not of any degree of masculine superiority. Furthermore, we feel that the term "Powder Puff Derby" is a catchy one, well suited to attract publicity.

However, this is neither here nor there, and we'll string along with the women.

CLIMAX OF THIS year's race will be a grand banquet in the Lafayette Hotel. All of the contestants will be present and the cash awards and trophies will be presented. This will be the evening of July 8.

Attendance at the banquet will, of course, be limited by the size of the banquet hall. But we urge everybody with an interest in aviation to be at Long Beach Municipal Airport, at least on Sunday, July 5, and on the following two days if possible to welcome the contestants as they land here.

'Magic' Power Tested

SECRET FORMULA developed by Dr. Ted T. Hooper for producing a fuel which he believes has revolutionary possibilities for industrial, transportation and military use is poured by the inventor into the "rig" tested for the first time in Bellflower. The chemical mixture is placed under air pressure from the tank at left and shot with a small amount of propane gas from the tank at the rear.

STEAM POWER comes out here from a 25-horsepower boiler operated by the new fuel.—[Staff photos.]

NEARLY FREE WHEELING auto travel will be possible with the new fuel, according to Hooper. He is shown adjusting a valve on the trunk tank of his auto in which he burns the fuel. Inventor Hooper claims magic formula used for round trip to New York cost $2.50.

'Super Fuel' Demonstrated in Bellflower

By BUD LEMBKE

A cross-country trip by auto from Long Beach to New York and back may cost less than a steak dinner if a new fuel demonstrated in Bellflower Friday has the revolutionary capabilities claimed for it by the inventor.

After working on his secret formula for using chemicals to produce a gas called danamichalene, Dr. Ted T. Hooper of Los Angeles believes he has it perfected to the point where the world will beat a path to his door. Danamichalene will be marketed under the trade name, Republic Miracle Gas.

A "Hooper rig" for producing the fuel was hooked for its first test to a 25-horsepower Francis boiler at the Francis Steam Generator Co. plant, 10202 E. Artesia St., Bellflower.

After watching "two cents worth" of the fuel keep the boiler steamed up for more than a hour, representatives of industrial firms which use boilers were inclined to agree that the "miracle gas" brand name is well-chosen. To fire the boiler with propane or butane gas for the same length of time would cost $1.44.

ROUND TRIP $2.50

"I drove from here to New York and back using danamichalene costing $2.50," says the inventor.

The car has standard propane-butane gas equipment plus a special valve adaptor for using the new fuel. A 26.6-gallon tank in the trunk supplied with a small amount of the secret formula material produces enough gas to drive 1400 miles, according to Hooper.

"I stop at gasoline stations for compressed air to re-generate the tank," he explains.

Hooper envisions fabulous uses for his fuel.

"A jet plane engine could be built to use danamichalene which would be only one-sixth as heavy as those employed at present," he states. "The fuel is non-explosive, making it safer than any fuel

Oil Industry Finds Radio Atoms Work Magic in Many Processes

By NEWT TODD

Atomic energy is the new magic wand of the oil industry.

Radioactive atoms are doing dozens of ingenious jobs, from finding oil to transporting and refining it, and improving oil products. They do some jobs never possible before. Already, the oil industry is the biggest industrial user of radio-atoms.

The U. S. Bureau of Mines is putting radio-iodine into water injected down wells to push oil through rocks to a nearby producing well. By measuring the "hot" iodine which comes up with the oil, it tells how fast the water is moving through the rock formations.

It is far cheaper than acetylene for operating a cutting torch and produces a hotter flame. When used to fire a boiler, or automobile, it leaves no carbon deposits and is far cheaper than gasoline or propane.

The fuel burns with no unpleasant odor.

"Chemical material used in the formula is found any place in the world in liberal amounts and is easily refined and transported. The chemical costs $135 per ton. Two pounds will operate a 25 horsepower boiler for three days."

TWO POUNDS OF FUEL

To generate gas in his portable "rig," Hooper pours two pounds of his formula, into a 75-gallon tank, mixes it with a small amount of water, places it under air pressure from a second tank and adds from a third tank one-fifth of an ounce of propane gas for every 275 cubic feet of danamichalene.

Hooper, a mechanical and chemical engineer with a doctor of philosophy degree, says he has turned down offers of "up to $4,000,000" for his invention.

The Republic Miracle Gas Corp. has been formed to market the gas by Hooper and associates Milton J. Stevens and Frank A. Hart. Engineer Alvin A. Olney, 4627 Pepperwood Ave., Lakewood, is in charge of installation for producing the gas.

and where it is going. With that knowledge the water injections can be made more efficient.

Geiger and other counters are helping find more oil.

Lowered down wells, the atomic detectors report the natural radioactivity of rock strata, to find types which usually hold oil. The counters can detect rock formations with relatively high hydrogen content, a harbinger of oil.

BOUNCING COUNTER

The radio-atoms can find holes in well casings in the black depths. Downwell, Inc., Tulsa, Okla., pours water containing radio-iodine down the well. The water is pumped out, and a Geiger counter lowered down. If there is a hole, lots of water seeped out the hole, and the rock there has lots of radio-activity, making the Geiger counter bounce.

Long Beach oil men report that X-rays spraying out from Radio-Cobalt-60 are used to see through pipes or pipe welds and detect any flaws in a pipeline as it is laid.

They also point out that different products or grades of oil can be pumped along the same pipeline, moving like a train of fluid boxcars. But at the destination, you must know when you've gotten all of one product, and are starting to get another.

By injecting radioactive anti-mony into the line just as the change of fluid is made, Geiger counters will give advance warning of the change, so the products can be pumped out separately.

GO-DEVILS TAGGED

Cobalt 60 also is used to "tag" go-devils or scrapers which may get stuck in pipelines. Atomic ray counters moved over the pipe tell you exactly where the scraper is lodged.

Radio-atoms are measuring the density of the all-important mud used in drilling wells. They promise to help detect leaks in pipelines. They're telling how fast piston rings or rubber tires wear down.

In catalytic cracking or refining radioactive zirconium measures the flow of pellets of a catalyst being blown around by air blast. Some beads are made radioactive. As they pass Geiger counters placed at intervals, the Geiger counters pulse. The time it takes for beads to pass two points tells the speed of flow.

Radium rays are telling how much liquid there is in sealed tanks containing hydrofluoric acid, a dangerously reactive and corrosive chemical used as a catalyst in making one blending agent for aviation gasoline.

Atomic energy cannot yet supply power to operate drills or other well machinery. That might come some day, but not for many years, according to the experts.

Children Aid Cancer Drive

Long Beach's 1953 Cancer Crusade was aided by six youngsters who gave a benefit performance for the American Cancer Society in the garage of Diane Duffin's home at 2913 E. Elkhorn.

Total proceeds, received by the Harbor Area office at 2563 N. Atlantic Ave., amounted to $450. With Diane acting as mistress of ceremonies, the project was conceived and executed solely by the children. Taking part were Merle Kvasnik and Ramona Trujillo, who danced and sang; Patricia Berthon, violin soloist; Danny Dempsey, stagehand, and Jack Dempsey, trumpet soloist.

Arrowheads Added to Museum's Collection

A collection of unusually well-preserved Indian artifacts, some dating back 10,000 years, is the latest accumulation of California

CHARLES F. BULLOCK
Arrowhead for Museum

Saturdays and Sundays, and 7 to 9 p. m. on Fridays.

Bullock, 66, has pursued archaeology as a hobby for years, accompanying expeditions in Mexico, Arizona and New Mexico. Gifted with an ability to find hidden places where ancient Indians built their villages, he gathered the California artifacts over a period of only eight years.

"I started searching local Indian ruins during the war when gas was rationed," explains Bullock. "Long trips were out, so I spent days out in the desert and along the seashore going over Indian campsites."

Bullock carefully uncovered the specimens using a paint brush and air from bellows to move soil and leave the treasures undamaged. The collection on display includes shell beads and stone awls evacuated from an Indian village at Malaga Cove, in the Palos Verdes hills.

His display also includes yellow, white and red ochre, found in an ancient village near Santa Barbara. The ochre was used by Indians to decorate themselves for tribal ceremonies.

Arrowheads believed to be 10,000 years old were excavated from Soda Lake, near the Mojave Desert community of Baker. The artifacts were left in a village which fronted the now dry lake when it was filled with water.

Bullock hopes that some day ruins of local Indian villages can be given the new Carbon 14 tests, which measure the radioactive charges in organic remains.

How to Be Picture-Safe

NOW AND THEN each and every one of us encounters something that is a once-in-a-lifetime situation. Some of these are, of course, more important than others, but the big and little ones are often occasions for picture taking.

And since the event or whatever may be isn't going to be repeated next week, or next month, or maybe even next year, you want to be sure that your picture is good.

The first thing you must do is to be certain your camera is in good working order and that you really know how to use it. Chances are good that it will work, and that you understand its workings. But I did want to mention this because of an experience a young woman I knew had last summer. She had been taking color transparencies with more than fair success for a couple of years. But when she went to Europe, for the trip that she had been looking forward to for years, she bought a new camera just the day before she sailed. She took almost 200 pictures but when she sent the film in for processing, all she got back was a series of blanks! There was something about the operation of the shutter on the new camera that she didn't understand!

I always advise my friends to

try out a new camera before they take it on a trip, or use it for any of the once-in-a-lifetime picture taking occasions.

Forgetting to remove lens cap, cock a shutter, pull a slide, insert a fresh flash bulb, and many other "little things" plague even the best cameramen in their worst moments. Attention to these small items, establishing a routine checkup to be performed each time before shooting a picture will save many a much-wanted snap. Routine will become habit and will be performed almost automatically after a while.

MISS JEAN SMITH, 941 Orange Ave., back from 22 months in Casablanca, has five reels of 8-mm. movies and a collection of 35-mm. slides of scenes in Tangier and Casablanca which she will show evenings to interested organizations without charge.

PRINT NIGHT will be observed by the Houghton Park

Camera Club at 8 p. m. Thursday in Houghton Park Clubhouse basement. Pictures of models in costume taken at the last meeting will be judged. Color slides will be shown by several members and plans discussed.

COMMUNITY CAMERA CLUB will meet at 8 p. m. Wednesday in Fellowship Hall, 14752 Jackson Ave., Midway City. . . . South Bay Camera Club will meet Wednesday at 8 p. m. in Room 105, Redondo Union High School, Redondo Beach.

Art Circles

By Vera Williams

Independent Press-Telegram Art Editor

KARL SEETHALER, president of the Long Beach Academy of Art, who was born near Vienna and is considered an authority on German art, will give a gallery talk at 4 p. m. today on the display of 60 postwar German color prints which will be shown through June 28 on the second floor of Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd. Seethaler will speak on the prints and on German expressionism in general. After the talk, he and Mrs. Seethaler will be honored at an informal reception, at which Samuel Heavenrich, municipal art director, and Mrs. Heavenrich will be hosts.

Chosen by the Carnegie Institute and circulated by Carnegie Institute and the American Federation of Arts, the show includes color lithographs, wood block prints and silk screen prints. Included is work by Willi Baumeister, Fritz Winter, Karl Roedel, H. A. Grieshaber and Georg Meistermann.

Also showing in the Art Center are the Long Beach Art Association spring juried show; prize-winning designs of Long Beach architects and a new Art Mart of paintings, sculpture, ceramics, enameled metal jewelry and textiles by Joseph Henry, Alice Estes, Pamela McDavid, Selma Schrut and Grace Dimmick.

The Art Center, free of charge, is open from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Tuesdays through Fridays; 1 to 6 p. m. Sundays; closed Saturdays and Mondays.

EIGHT WATER COLORS by Leta Hiles will be shown through June in the Long Beach branch office of the Los Angeles County Medical Association, 814 Pine Ave.

Shown are "Spring Flowers";

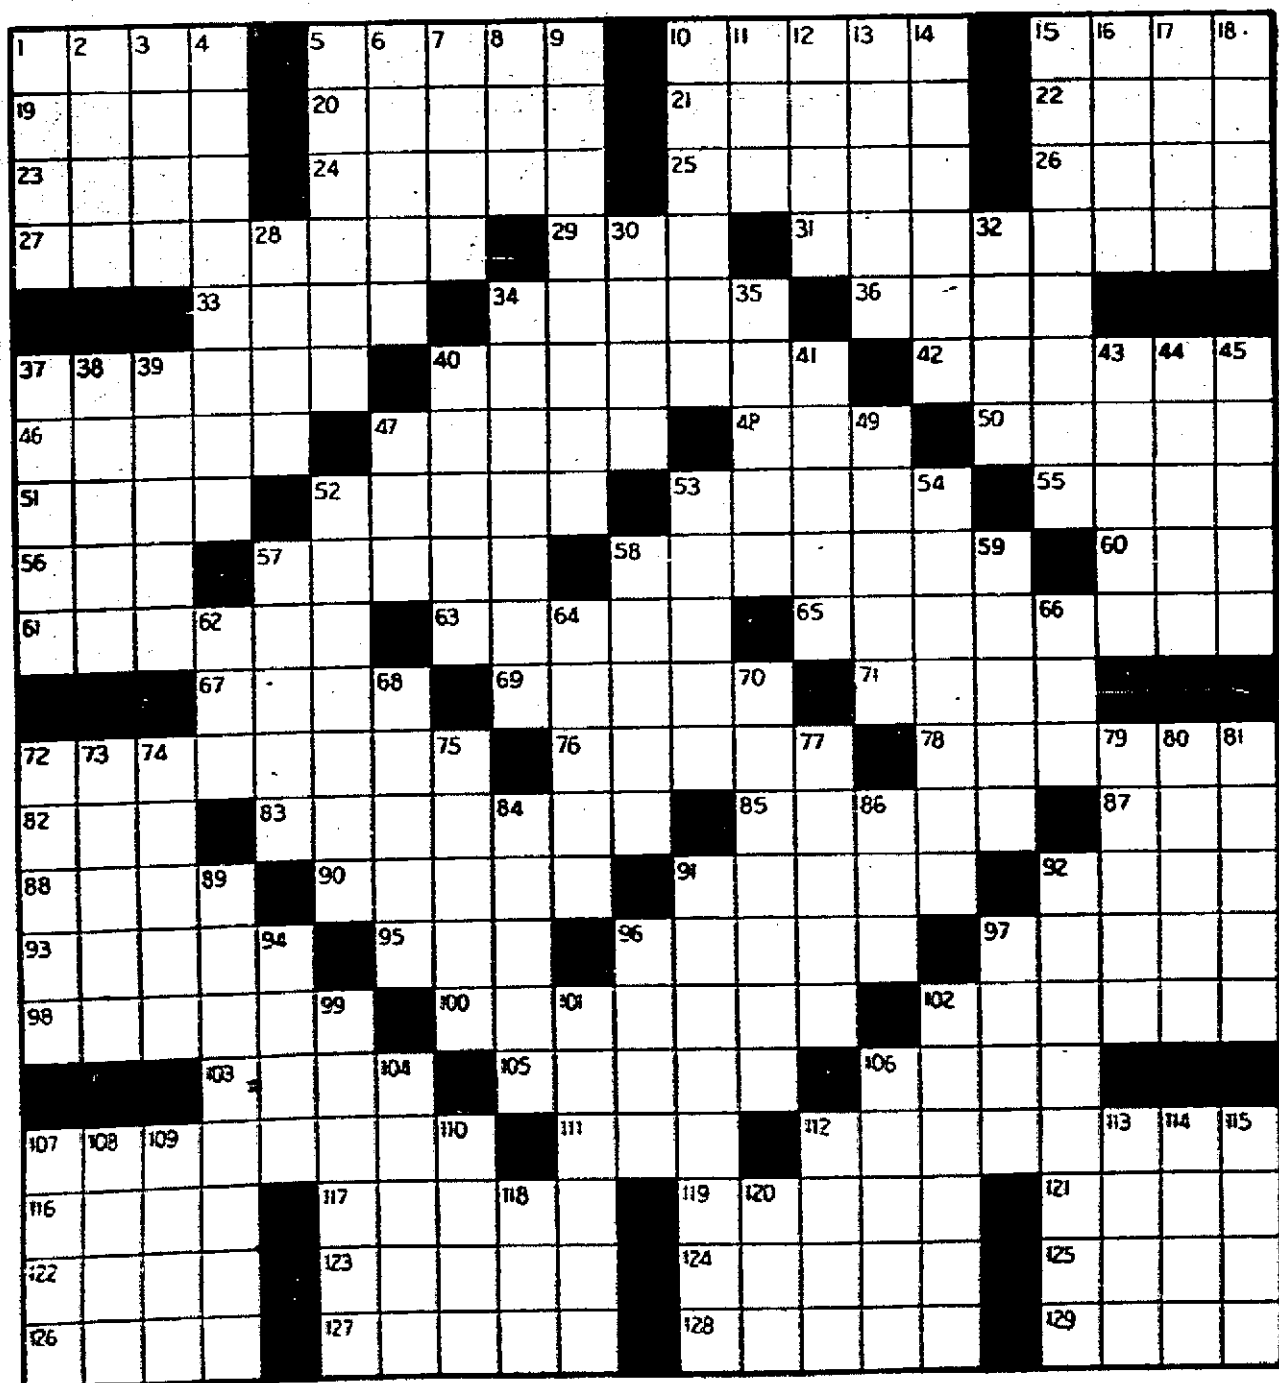

"Peter and Penny," a rooster and hen; "Cora," portrait; "Provincial," interior scene with antique furniture; a gray cat sleeping comfortably on an ottoman; "Lugo House," the famed Spanish country home of the Lugo family; "Country House," an English type home at the outskirts of Compton; "Sea Shells" and a semi-abstract.

TWENTY-EIGHT water colors, oils and etchings by members of the Spectrum Club, organization of men painters, will be shown through June in the Bellflower Art Association clubroom, 9302 Laurel Ave., Bellflower.

IN THE MAIN HALL of the Henry E. Huntington Library building, San Marino, portrait engravings of British sovereigns look down on an exhibition commemorating the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II. Extending the length of the room are great seals and signatures of Britain's kings and queen from the library's archives and a loan exhibit of 90 pieces of English silver. The adjacent room contains a collection of rare Anglican Books of Common Prayer completing the coronation exhibition.

Reich Orphan Lands in Arms of New Family

SEATTLE—UP. Little Charlotta Gehring, 7, walked down the steps of an airliner Saturday morning into the arms of her new family after a long flight from Germany. The pretty blonde orphan was an exciting birthday present for Timothy Williams, 8, her new brother.

Hardly able to wait for his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Heustin E. Williams, to greet their adopted daughter, he handed her a huge doll.

Charlotta, with small knowledge of English, fell back on the universal language; she smiled. The Williams family had planned to adopt an American orphan but learned it would take at least two years to get a child from an orphanage.

From a group of Seattle women who mend clothes to be sent abroad Mrs. Williams got in touch with Mrs. Robert C. Youngblood, wife of an American lieutenant colonel on duty in Germany.

Mrs. Youngblood, who distributes the clothes in a German orphanage, arranged the adoption. "I don't know if we'll have a real birthday party for Tommy," said Mrs. Williams. "It depends on how Charlotta feels after that long flight."

Timmy didn't seem to care. He had one arm around his new sister as they walked ahead of their parents toward the exit.

Dr. Ralph Bunche Singled Out for Probe, Rep. Powell Says

BALTIMORE—UP. Rep. Powell (D-N. Y.) said here Saturday that the House un-American Activities Committee is going to investigate Dr. Ralph Bunche, winner of the Nobel peace prize and a member of the United Nations staff.

The disclosure came as a shock to an audience of some 300 persons attending graduation exercises at Coppin State Teachers College for Negroes where the Harlem Democrat delivered the commencement address.

Congressman Powell paused in his prepared text to say: "I have some shocking news. The House un-American Activities Committee is going to investigate Dr. Ralph Bunche."

He then went on to say: "From Benedict Arnold to the Rosenbergs no Negro has ever been convicted of being disloyal."

Dr. Bunche, a Negro, gained international fame for mediating a truce between Palestine and Arab nations.

There was an audible gasp from the audience at Powell's words. He did not elaborate, and left for New York before reporters could contact him after the speech.

Reached at his New York home, Dr. Bunche said "I know nothing about it whatsoever. He (Congressman Powell) hasn't contacted me."

Powell made the remarks about

To Whom It May Concern: "For over 30 years I have been going from one doctor's office to another hoping to find someone to help me with my asthma and stomach condition. No one knows how much I had suffered until I came to Dr. Chan. Night after night I had to get up because I wasn't able to lie down to sleep. I was coughing and wheezing most of the night, besides my stomach was full of gas. After taking Dr. Chan's Natural Therapy for one week, I began to improve. Now, after five months of continuous treatment, my asthma and stomach troubles are just about over. I wish to recommend this treatment to anyone who is anxious to get well. I am sure that Dr. Chan will do all he can to help you as he has helped me." Signed: Mrs. Tina Smith.

Dear Dr. Chan: "The day I came to your office with my mother and brother, I was about to give up hope of getting rid of my asthma attacks. I spent hundreds of dollars for shots and pills, but got little or no results. After reading your advertisement, I tried you for my last resort and was thrilled to find that I responded wonderfully. After the first treatment, I was able to breathe normally and could sleep better for the first time in months. Now I am feeling fine and hoping others will benefit from my experience with Dr. Chan's Natural Method." Signed: Mrs. Vivian Murray.

L. B. Children Saved From Blaze

FIREMEN RESCUE 15-month-old Karen Mae Hatfield from a smoke-filled bedroom in a second-floor apartment in Cabrillo Homes Saturday evening while the child's parents wait anxiously below. A second child, 3-year-old Patrick Hatfield, was rescued by three men who formed a human pyramid to reach a window. Fire broke out while the mother, Mrs. Patricia Hatfield, 25, was visiting neighbors.

Dept. Reveals Red Book Firm Knight Signs Has $2 Million U. S. Business Bay Span Bill

WASHINGTON—(UP). The Four Continent Book Corp., registered distributor in this country of Russian and other foreign Communist publications, did more than $2,000,000 in business in the past five years, it was disclosed Saturday.

A little-noticed report by Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., on operations of the Foreign Agents Registration Act, showed that Four Continent's business volume since 1948 totaled $2,339,817.

This includes funds it received from Russia and other foreign countries to purchase books here and the profit it made on the sale of Soviet publications in this country.

Year-by-year, the volume was $810,994 in 1948; $470,416 in 1949; $376,607 in 1950; $509,259 in 1951 and $372,641 last year.

HIGHEST REPORTED
Justice Department officials said the totals are based on figures supplied by Four Continent itself. The five-year aggregate was the highest income reported by any foreign agent.

It was the first time the department has reported publicly the financial operations of agents of foreign countries and principals.

Purchasers, department experts said, include libraries, universities, individual scientists and even some government agencies. They said Four Continent is the major source of supply in this country for anyone who wants to buy a Russian book.

Four Continent is a New York corporation. Like any other American firm which represents a foreign agency here, it registers with the Justice Department in order to comply with the Foreign Agents Registration Act.

COMPLIED FULLY
Department experts said the company has complied fully with the act's provisions that it send the department copies of all publications it disseminates.

They said that most of the publications are scientific and artistic in nature and thus the company is the vehicle by which Russian experts in this country keep abreast of developments in the Soviet Union.

Brownell, in transmitting his report to Congress, listed the corporation as one of "four principal outlets for Communist political propaganda within the United States" by persons who are registered as foreign agents.

Jail Sentence Given Doctor for Falsifying

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — (AP). Thomas Aden Johnston, 41, has been sentenced to six months in jail for making false statements when applying for a job as a civilian medical doctor at Lackland Air Force Base.

Testimony showed Johnston has never received a degree in medicine. He had worked up to assistant chief of medical service at Lackland Hospital and was in charge of the out-patient clinic there.

During his trial this week, Johnston said he has performed all lines of surgery and has practiced medicine for 18 years. He claims that he once delivered quadruplets in a Kentucky mining town by lamplight.

Johnston's attorney says the "doctor" has letters from several Air Force captains and majors asserting that Johnston is capable and competent in medical duties.

He added that Johnston undoubtedly has become proficient as a medical man and physician without having a medical degree.

Video Set Production May Reach New High

NEW YORK — (AP). Television set production will reach an all time high in 1953 if it continues at the pace set so far this year.

HOBBIES ARE FUN—these two young girls found out Saturday when they dropped down to help open the Long Beach Hobby Show at Municipal Auditorium. ## L. B. State College Will Graduate 136 Candidates From Long Beach Graduating this June from Long Beach State College will be 136 residents of Long Beach while 48 will be receiving the degrees of Master of Arts.

More than 359 in all will graduate with bachelor's degrees and 146 will receive the master's degree.

Graduation exercises will be June 19, at 8 p. m., in Long Beach City College gymnasium on Carson St. in Lakewood. Last year 3500 persons crowded the building to see 352 bachelor's degrees and 97 master's degrees awarded.

Commencement speaker will be Dr. Rufus von Kleinsmid, chancellor of University of Southern California.

Reuben L. Anderson, minister of First Christian Church will conduct the baccalaureate service at his church, June 14, at 4 p. m.

Long Beach State College was founded in 1949 and is located in temporary quarters on its 320-acre site at Seventh St. and Bellflower Blvd.

On March 20 groundbreaking ceremonies started construction of more than $6,000,000 of new buildings. More than 2500 students are enrolled in the college, which will accept freshmen and sophomores next September for the first time. Previous to this the college has offered work only for the junior, the senior and the graduate student.

Candidates for graduation who live in Long Beach are:

Navy Chief Beaten to Death, Gal Attacked in Lover Lane

NORFOLK, Va.—(AP). A husky Navy chief was brutally beaten to death with a crowbar early Saturday and his feminine companion, who police said was raped, spent nearly 10 hours alone with the battered body before she was discovered in a semi-conscious state by three sailors on horseback.

Naval authorities identified the dead man as Chief Quartermaster Dean L. Kirkdorfer, 32, of Caspapolis, Mich., attached to the Norfolk naval air station.

Police said the woman, Miss Carmela Cravedi, distraught and badly bruised when she was found about noon—described the assailant only vaguely.

Her condition was reported satisfactory in a local hospital tonight.

Three sailors riding rented horses discovered a car with Kirkdorfer's battered body and Miss Cravedi slumped over the wheel on a lonely dirt road in nearby Princess Anne County.

"On the basis of what we know so far," a state police investigator said, "it would appear to be the work of a sex maniac."

Police said the woman's party, incoherent story disclosed that she and Kirkdorfer drove down the "dirt road" by mistake while looking for a place to get a cup of coffee.

Founder of School Wins Diploma After Struggle Against Big Odds

By JAMES BREZINA

More than half a century ago in Valparaiso, Chile, an 18-month-old child was stricken with polio and suffered paralysis of the lower limbs. The child was the daughter of John Francis Fowler, vice president of W. R. Grace & Co., a steamship line, and Marie K. Fowler, an artist.

That child today is Mrs. Margaret Fowler Bovee, 54-year-old school teacher and resident of Balboa Island, who was determined she was not going to be a shut-in despite her twisted body. Through treatment and perseverance Mrs. Bovee learned to swim, to drive her own car, to walk without the aid of crutches and braces.

She was also determined to get an education. So much so that on Friday she will be graduated from the Long Beach State College.

'NEVER QUIT'

Recalling the years of struggle, hardships, obstacles and pain Mrs. Bovee says: "I almost gave up several times but something drove me on to my goal. Maybe it was stubbornness, perhaps it was determination but I never quit."

Because of the nature of her father's occupation she became a world traveler at an early age, visiting much of South America, Europe, Asia and the U. S.

Following graduation from the Agontz School, Pennsylvania, she attended Connecticut College; then spent five years in Europe studying languages and music at the Alliance Francaise and The Sorbonne, Paris, child psychology and education at the University of London.

Upon return to this country Mrs. Bovee opened her own music studio in New York City. A few years later following her marriage to John Bovee, a business executive, she moved to California.

TWO TOWHEADS

She was determined to become a mother as well as a wife. Several of her children died at birth but two lived. They are John and Michael, two towheaded healthy youngsters, 12 and 9 years of age.

In 1945 Mrs. Bovee began her career in education as a kindergarten teacher at Campbell Hall, North Hollywood. The same year she turned her home, atop a five-acre knoll at 5461 Louise Ave., Encino, into a school.

When asked about this novel departure in education Mrs. Bovee confided: "For many years I had dreamed of establishing an unusual school where children would be given a basic education in the arts—music, dancing and painting—as well as the three R's. I wanted children to have the things that were denied me."

"My realization of a lifelong vision was further helped into being by many parents who felt education of today was largely a progressive education 'gone haywire' and who believed children required a more fundamental type of instruction."

130 ENROLLED

Mrs. Bovee named the school Egremont in honor of her father's birthplace, Egremont, England. The school started with 13 children. Today it has an enrollment of 130 in kindergarten and grades one to six. It has a staff of nine teachers and a physical education director. Recognized by the California State Welfare Board, Egremont is a success.

In addition to her college classwork and direction of Egremont, Mrs. Bovee maintains her residence on Balboa Island, serves as den mother of Cub Scouts, Pack 81, Balboa, teaches Sunday School classes at the St. James Church, Lido Isle, and is an active member of the Newport Beach, California PTA.

Her hobbies? Children! At the graduation exercises at Long Beach State College Mrs. Bovee will be awarded the degree of Bachelor of Arts. A degree in determination would be more fitting.

Foreign Students Grouped in Farewell Meeting Here

More than 150 foreign students attending colleges in Southern California under sponsorship of Rotary Clubs of District 162 will be off for summer vacations soon.

Students from this area, organized into the Orange County Council Chapter, Visiting International Students Assn., held their final meeting at the Long Beach Rotary Club offices in the Pacific Coast Club Saturday.

The student program is separate from that conducted by Rotary International.

Amateur Photos

Brinkus, Bouchey Victims in Semis

By BOB HALL

It's an all-Montebello final for the 28th annual Long Beach city open amateur golf championship at the Municipal links at Recreation Park today, climaxing three week ends of action that has seen nearly 300 of the Southland's golfers dishing up most sensational golf.

All-Star Tilt

Start Vote Friday

CHICAGO—(P). The nation's baseball fans will begin voting this week to decide the starting National and American League line-ups for the 20th annual All-Star game in Cincinnati July 14.

Some 300 newspapers and radio stations will serve as voting headquarters. Last year 3,991,284 ballots were cast.

The voting will begin Friday and continue until midnight July 3.

Hollywood Outslugs Suds, 11-6

HOLLYWOOD—(P). Although out of the running for the Pacific Coast League title, Hollywood's Stars set back Seattle 11 to 6 Saturday in a free-swinging Pacific Coast League game that saw five flingers in action.

The heavy-hitting Rainiers got 14 safeties to 13 for their opponents.

nonits, but were scoreless until the seventh frame.

Joe Muir had things well under control for the Stars until Ray Orteig hammered out his 12th homer in the seventh. Then as the Rainiers piled up counters in the closing innings, Muir was lifted in the ninth, although credited with the win. Red Lynn succeeded him.

The Stars got away fast, scoring two runs in the opening frame on Dale Long's 12th homer.

Monty Basgall, who had walked, trotted in ahead of him.

Two doubles and a single produced a couple more in the third, as Bill Evans was lifted for Jim Suecheki, who halted the onslaught.

After both sides swung through three scoreless innings, Orteig popped his homer. Hollywood came back with three on a homer by Basgall and a bases-full single by Bob Bragan.

Seattle tallied two in the eighth, on three hits and an error. Suecheki gave way to Steve Nagy.

Preliminary Plans Drawn for Park

Sports Editor

A preliminary sketch of the proposed 55,000-seat stadium in the Dominguez area which would be suitable for major league baseball and other headline sports, has been drawn for the Recreation Commission by J. H. Davies, consulting engineer.

Milt Arthur, president of the Recreation Commission, last week requested the city council to place on ballot in a special election next October a proposal authorizing the expenditure of $4,500,000 from the public improvement fund (ride-land oil money) for the stadium.

The stadium, complete with parking facilities for several thousand automobiles, would be built on approximately 80 of the 260 acres which voters last April 8 authorized the city to acquire for park development.

The sketch shows the site of the ball park as well as the general plan for the development of the 260 acres.

Also pictured is Davies' idea of how the ball park might look as well as a map showing the great network of freeways which will feed into the area in which the stadium would be built.

The sketch reveals facilities for 10,000 cars in huge areas surrounding the stadium on three sides as well as an auxiliary parking lot just to the north which would handle 2000 more automobiles.

There is property just west of the park that undoubtedly could be utilized for parking in the event a major league baseball team was brought west to play in the stadium.

The map is complete with estimates of the time it will take to reach the stadium from various parts of Southern California via the high speed freeways which are being rushed to completion.

For instance, the estimate from points in and around the downtown area of Los Angeles is 25 minutes... with some transportation experts declaring it would be possible to reach the park from the Statler Hotel in only 15 minutes.

The Santa Monica and Pasadena areas are only 25 minutes away, Inglewood 20 minutes, Santa Ana 25 minutes... and San Diego two hours or less.

In addition to the ball park, such other recreation facilities are planned as a swimming pool, tennis courts, golf driving range, lawn bowling greens, children's playground and picnic grounds with bar-b-que pits.

The sketch also gives a clearer picture of the location of the stadium. The site is just west of

Davis Smashes Three Homers in Angel Romp

SAN DIEGO—(P). Paced by Tod Davis, who hit three straight home runs and batted in four tallies, Los Angeles defeated San Diego, 12-2, in a Pacific Coast League game here Saturday. Cal McLish, who chalked up his sixth mound victory, held the Padres scoreless until the sixth inning when they tallied their two runs.

Santee Eyes 4-Min. Mile

Wes Santee, Kansas' sensational miler, was highly elated over breaking Gunder Haegg's American mile mark of 4:05.3 Friday night at Compton with his 4:02.4.

When questioned about a possible four-minute mile, the likeable 21-year-old Kansan simply stated, "We are getting closer."

Santee's track career may be interrupted shortly. He is due to report for summer training with the Marine Corps at Quantico, Va., soon.

Santee also said, "I came out to California to win the race but I didn't expect to run it this fast. We figured on about 4:04 or thereabouts."

"It was a tough way to run a 4-2 mile," Santee said, referring to the slow pace carved out by Gaston Reiff and Denis Johansson.

Kill the Ump!

Fitzsimmons Millers Manager

NEW YORK—(P). New York Giant Coach Freddie Fitzsimmons Saturday was named manager of the Minneapolis Millers of the American Association, replacing Frank (Chick) Genovese.

President Horace Stoneham of the Giants made clear, however, that Fitzsimmons' new job was only a temporary one and that he would be back as coach of the Giants in 1934.

Genovese, who replaced Tommy Heath as the Minneapolis manager at the start of the 1932 season, will remain in the Giants organization.

Davis Misses World Record

ABILENE, Tex.—(P). Walter Davis, Olympic high jump champion, missed the world's record by a sixteenth of an inch Saturday as he leaped 6 feet, 10 15/16 inches in an exhibition that featured the national intercollegiate (NAIA) track and field meet.

The bar was at 6 feet, 11 1/2 inches when he cleared it and that was a quarter of an inch better than the world's record. But after the meet was over the take-off area was measured and found to be 5/16 of an inch too high. So officially, his jump was 6 feet, 10 15/16 inches.

The world's record is 6 feet, 11 inches set by Les Steers of Oregon in 1941.

Previously Charles Holding of East Texas State had leaped 6 feet, 9 3/4 inches in winning the NAIA high jump. It bettered his own NAIA record of 6 feet, 6 inches.

Another highlight of the meet was a throw of 164 feet, 11 1/2 inches in the discus by Palmer Retzlaff of South Dakota State.

Redlegs Release Nevel to Buffalo

PITTSBURGH—(P). The Cincinnati Redlegs Saturday released Pitcher Ernie Nevel outright to Buffalo of the International League.

The former Yankee hurler appeared in only 10 innings for the Redlegs this season, and has an 0-0 record.

Stanley Attracts Gallery

Once Over Lightly

by DAVE LEWIS

Before giving backers of the proposed 55,000-seat stadium for Long Beach a chance to present the facts behind such an ambitious project... many local citizens as well as some uninformed but nevertheless outspoken sports writers in Los Angeles already have begun sniping at the ball park.

The big squawk, it seems, dwindles down to the belief that it is ridiculous for anyone to even dare presume that a major league team could be brought here to play in the park.

Our answer is that it is ridiculous in view of certain facts for shortsighted people to believe such an eventuality is possible.

Strong arguments will be advanced by backers of the stadium before it ever comes to a vote in October. And we at this time suggest that the critics hold off drawing any conclusions until they are in full possession of the facts.

WHY ISN'T IT possible to have major league baseball in Long Beach's own backyard?

We mustn't think of a major league team as a Long Beach club or even a Los Angeles club... but one that belongs to Southern California. Any sports promotion must draw upon the patronage of people from all parts of the Southland to make the venture a success.

Long Beach people by the thousands go to Los Angeles for various sports events and other types of entertainment. So why can't people in L. A. come to see a major league baseball game in the Long Beach area especially when it won't take them any more time to reach the local park by fast freeways than it does at the present time to reach Wrigley Field or Gilmore Field.

People in Los Angeles don't mind going to the horse races at Santa Anita in Arcadia, Hollywood Park in Inglewood or even Del Mar and Caliente... or to the beaches, including our own, for picnics and surf bathing.

A few miles won't keep anyone home if the attraction is good enough and the facilities in which it is held are adequate to handle the attendance.

Actually the site of the proposed stadium is ideally situated for more than two-thirds of the population in the greater Los Angeles-Long Beach area and Orange County.

WHO ARE THE baseball fans... the ones who regularly attend games? The average person like you and me, not the more wealthy class of people in Beverly Hills, West Los Angeles and certain parts of Hollywood and San Fernando Valley. These people have too many other interests to detract from regular attendance at ball games. They are not the patrons who will support a big league team, according to a former major league official.

Those who have spent a lifetime in the entertainment business have placed their stamp of approval on the location of the park with this in mind, because the Long Beach site would be in the center of the area which holds the largest amount of potential patrons.

There is no available park in Southern California capable of holding a major league team... and there are no other prospects of one being built.

It is a foregone conclusion that private capital never will be used to finance a sports stadium costing several million dollars... except for a race track with pari-mutuel wagering.

The Los Angeles Coliseum is impractical for baseball. Even the Coliseum Commission admits that. Gilmore Field is being torn down in 1955 to make way for more television studios.

AND IT NOT ONLY would be extremely costly to condemn surrounding property and then renovate and enlarge Wrigley Field... but there still would be a serious parking problem that would discourage attendance. There are facilities at present for the off-street parking of only 700 cars. Parking is an ever-growing problem in Southern California.

In the East the public transportation systems alleviate this condition. However, in Southern California the average person drives to his destination.

For instance, Hollywood Park accommodated 61,215 fans on Memorial Day... a crowd not much larger than could be expected for outstanding baseball games... the Yankees, Indians, Dodgers, Giants or Cardinals into Southern California.

And on Memorial Day when Hollywood Park had the above number of fans... the track parked a record total of 28,251 automobiles in its huge parking areas, which are the largest in the world.

That is proof alone that any ball-park featuring major league baseball in Southern California must first whip the parking problem.

WHO ELSE BUT Long Beach with its oil money could finance a park of that size without going into debt?

Los Angeles citizens recently voted down a convention hall and sports arena. Would they turn around and vote bonds for a ball park that couldn't pay itself off nearly as quickly as the project that was defeated?

That is why the attitude of some Los Angeles writers is a bit strange... especially since the very ones who have long campaigned for major league baseball in Long Beach.

Gil Takes Cake

BROOKLYN'S GIL HODGES rounds out a big day Saturday by taking a big bite of cake given him by Ebbets Field fans after he belted a three-run ninth-inning homer for 5-4 Bum victory over St. Louis. Hodges also homered in second inning. (UP Telephoto.)

First Shutout

Garcia Limits A's to Five Hits in Sixth Win

CLEVELAND—(UP). Big Mike Garcia fired his first shutout of the season Saturday and scored his sixth victory as he blanked the Philadelphia Athletics, 2 to 0, for Cleveland's seventh victory in nine games.

The start of the game was delayed 45 minutes by a cloudburst.

Garcia gave up only five hits as he beat Harry Byrd for the Indians' second straight win in the series. Byrd allowed eight of Cleveland's nine hits in seven innings, including Bob Avila's fourth home run of the year. It was Byrd's sixth loss.

Avila hit his home run into the leftfield stands in the first inning to open the scoring. The Indians got their other run in the third on a single by Joe Tipton, a double by Dale Mitchell and Larry Doby's long fly.

Best Philadelphia chance of the game came in the eighth after Ed McChee and Joe Astroth opened with singles. Garcia retired the next three hitters without any trouble.

Byrd pitched himself out of a serious jam in the sixth when the Indians filled the bases with nobody out. He struck out Bill Glynn and made George Strickland hit into a double play.

Hodges' Clout Trips Cards

Bums Win in Ninth, Grab Lead

BROOKLYN—(UP). Gil Hodges, who only two weeks ago was benched for weak hitting, hit his second home run of the game with two men on base in the last of the ninth Saturday to give the Dodgers a 5-4 victory over the Cardinals.

The win and Milwaukee's loss to Philadelphia gave Brooklyn the National League lead.

The second blast, Hodges' sixth of the season, also caused Cardinal Catcher Del Rice and Shortstop Solly Hemus to rush in fury at plate umpire Bill Engeln. The Cards had protested that Stu Miller's previous pitch to Hodges should have been called a third strike. Rice kicked dirt high onto Engeln's chest while the Dodger runners jubilantly circled the bases and Hemus raced after Engeln as he walked along the first base foul line toward the umpire's quarters.

HEMUS RESTRAINED

Manager Eddie Stanky caught up to Hemus near first base and forcibly pulled the angry shortstop away from Engeln.

Until the ninth, Miller seemed headed for his first victory of the season. He had been touched for Hodges' first home run in the second inning and another run in the fourth, but had not yielded a hit from the fifth through the eighth innings.

Jackie Robinson, however, led off the ninth with a single and Roy Campanella hit what looked like a double play grounder to Hemus, which took a bad hop over the shortstop's head into left field. Hodges then hit his climactic homer.

PODRES CHASED

The Cards put together four hits and two walks to rout lefty Johnny Podres in the fourth inning and added their fourth run off Jim Hughes on three singles in the fifth inning. Enos Slaughter's two-run double was the big blow that knocked out Podres in the fourth.

Roberts' Three-Hitter Knocks Milwaukee From NL Lead

PHILADELPHIA—(UP). Robin Roberts, the Philadelphia Phillies' big fireball right-hander, won his ninth victory of the season and the 100th of his major league career Saturday as he set back Milwaukee with three hits in a 6-2 victory that tumbled the Braves out of first place.

Milwaukee's defeat, coupled with a 5-4 Brooklyn triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals in Flatbush, dropped them into second place, one-half game behind the Dodgers.

Roberts, the first Phillies pitcher since Grover Cleveland Alexander to win 100 games, turned in five innings of flawless pitching as he retired the first 15 batters to face him with only three balls hit out of the infield. During the five-inning stretch only one batter went to a 3-2 count as he breezed by the Braves with a total of 41 pitches and Jim Bruton went down on strikes three times.

The spell was broken in the sixth when Jack Dittmer smashed a low line drive which Jack Lohrke dived for and knocked down. He was unable to field it in time and it went for a hit.

Harry Hanebrink, pinch-batting for the ninth time this season, collected his first major league hit when he whaled a prodigious homer over the center-field scoreboard for the losers' two runs. Dittmer singled in the eighth for the Braves' other hit.

Roberts pitched his 21st complete game in a row dating back to last year as he won the big century triumph against 60 losses since he came to the Phils in 1948. His log today included six strikeouts and no walks.

Cryer Wins Fast Half-Mile

PELHAM MANOR, N. Y.—(UP). Former Illinois Ace Henry Cryer, now representing Camp Pickett, Va., turned in a record 1:53.3 clocking for the 880-yard handicap in the 157th running of the New York Athletic Club Games at Traverse Island Saturday.

The former meet record of 1:53.4 had stood since the late Mel Sheppard established the mark in 1906. Cryer finished eight yards in front of William Tull of the New York Pioneer Club, who had a nine yard advantage.

Fred Dwyer of the NYAC and Villanova captured the one mile scratch event in 4:11.5 ahead of Charley Capozzoli of Georgetown and Warren Dretzel of Camp Pickett.

Olympic champion Horace Ashenfelter made a runaway of the two-mile steeplechase scratch event in 10:20.9.

Martin Engel of the Pioneer Club tossed the 16-pound hammer 187 feet 4 1/2 inches—the best effort in the U. S. in three years and only 2 feet 2 inches under the American record held by Pat Ryan since 1913.

Bill Donegan of Yale and Bob Owen and Charley Stevenson of the NYAC wound up in a three-way tie for pole vault honors at 12 feet 10 inches.

Some 5500 pleased fans watched Kim chase Barao through the first round and stagger the Californian at the bell with a left and right to the body.

Fleet Khal Captures Vanity

Wins Over A Glean in Great Duel

By DAVE LEWIS

HOLLYWOOD PARK — Calumet Farm's dominance in California stakes races came to an abrupt halt here Saturday when one of the pride and joys of the nation's No. 1 racing stable, A Glean, was vanquished by the slim margin of a neck by Rex Ellsworth's fleet Khal, in the $25,000-added Vanity Handicap for fillies and mares.

The two leaders left the rest of the field far behind in the mile and one-sixteenth stake as they locked in a spectacular stretch duel before 44,570 fans. . . . Spanish Cream in third place lagging seven lengths behind. Then came On Balance, Miss Traffic, Season's Best and Fortune Teller. Time of the race was 1:42 2/5.

Fleet Khal, coupled with Season's Best, paid $10.90, $3.40 and $2.40 across the board; A Glean, the 4-5 favorite, kicked back $2.70 and $2.20, while Spanish Cream's show price was $2.50.

It was strictly a two-horse race, although a couple of others figured in the going for a while, mainly the pacesetter—Fortune Teller.

Fortune Teller jumped into a big lead at the break . . . drawing out to four lengths as she zipped around the clubhouse and into the backstretch before the rest of the field began to close in on her.

Fleet Khal and A Glean, laying in third and fourth positions heading into the backstretch, moved together down the backside and finally overhauled Fortune Teller halfway around the far turn.

Once disposing of the tiring pacesetter, that left just the two of them to fight it out between themselves.

It looked as if A Glean was ready to go on and tug up still another stakes win for the Devil's red silks when she headed Fleet Khal momentarily as they started to make the turn into the stretch with a quarter of a mile to go.

But with a sudden surge, Fleet Khal regained the lead by a head as they hit the top of the stretch and then pulled out to almost a length lead as they whipped past the eighth pole before A Glean came on again.

From there on in it was a bitter and sensational duel with Fleet Khal gamely hanging on . . . and A Glean with Willie Shoemaker in the irons cutting down her lead inch by inch. But when they flashed under the wire the Ellsworth filly was still a neck in front.

John Burton, the young apprentice who needs only one more winner to become a full-fledged journeyman, turned in one of his finest rides to date aboard the victor.

After the race he said that Fleet Khal is the best filly he's ever ridden. "She began to get tired in the stretch, but she's so game and has such a big heart that she just won't let a shoe-maker go by," he stated.

Shoemaker revealed he didn't have an excuse in the world to offer.

Post Card in Neck Victory

STANTON, Del. — (UP). Post Card, an 8 to 1 shot owned by Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords, showed surprising speed and courage in the stretch as he turned back favored To Market by a neck Saturday in the $20,000 Brandywine Handicap at Delaware Park.

The race lost some of its interest when Royal Vale was scratched.

hall are now knitting the proposal that Long Beach build a park which would serve all of Southern California.

That is like cutting off your nose to spite your face.

Meanwhile, the Pacific Coast League is "dying on the vine" and it appears that the loop in its present form is doomed.

Los Angeles is ready for major league ball . . . and the majors are eager to make the move West.

In fact, as we have pointed out before, it would have come in 1942, but for the war.

American League owners would have approved the transfer of the Browns to Baltimore this season if it hadn't been fostered by the heartily disliked Bill Veeh, whom they would like to get rid of.

Baltimore's International League club drew only 153,828 fans last year with about the same brand of baseball offered in the PCL . . . while Los Angeles in the first nine weeks of the current season has lured 153,203 customers through the turnstiles at home—an increase of 30.8 per cent over attendance in the same period last year.

Los Angeles' total attendance for the '52 season was 359,161 despite the fact the Angels finished in sixth place!

Those who have had major league connections believe a team like the Yankees alone could draw almost a half-million people in the 11 games they would play in Southern California in a single season.

This figure undoubtedly will be disputed, but it is based on the tremendous attendance this season in Milwaukee, now home of the Braves.

There is no doubt but what major league baseball potentially has more than triple the drawing power of the PCL.

Major league baseball in Long Beach is not such a remote possibility as it may sound.

Give the situation a little time to develop before condemning the idea!

Pinza Wins Derby Race

EPSOM, Eng.—(UP). Sir Gordon Richards wiped out 27 years of ironic frustration in one pounding dash up the home stretch Saturday when he finally won the Epsom Derby after nearly three decades of failure.

But he had to beat the queen's own horse to do it.

Sir Gordon steered the 5 to 1 shot Pinza to a four-length victory over the queen's Aureole in a stirring stretch drive before half a million Britons. The queen herself leaped up and down in feverish excitement in the royal box, and then slumped disconsolately to her seat when Pinza pulled away to triumph in the final few yards.

Longshot Pink Horse finished third, with the Aga Khan's Shikampur fourth.

Grecian Queen Nips Sabelle in 37th Oaks

NEW YORK — (UP). Grecian Queen scored a nose decision over Sabelle in the 37th running of the Coaching Club American Oaks at Belmont Park Saturday as favored Cerise Reine finished fourth.

C. V. Whitney's Ming Yellow was third, followed by Cerise Reine, who ran out of speed at the top of the stretch.

Eric Guerin rode the winner for Mrs. Ben F. Whitaker and bootied Grecian Queen home in 2:18 3/5.

Grecian Queen had enough early foot to be up with the leaders when the field of 10 three-year-old fillies came out of the chute onto the backstretch. In that long, straight run, Mac Bea set the pace with Cerise Reine close behind. Rounding the big bend, Doug Dodson moved to the front with Cerise Reine and Grecian Queen came up at the same time.

The three horses—Mac Bea, Grecian Queen and Cerise Reine—were spread across the track almost head-and-head. But on the straightaway, Grecian Queen began to move clear. She had Cerise Reine and Mac Bea well beaten, but from far back in the field, Sabelle had started to run. Slow-

Arcaro, 3 Fellow Horsemen Reveal Golf-Course Project

By EDDIE MORIARTY

Eddie Arcaro is adding more feathers to his already well-padded California nest.

It was exclusively learned Saturday that "Heady Eddie" is one of a group of horsemen who are straying from their usual field to organize and construct what they believe will be one of the finest golf courses in Southern California.

Other members of the group include Johnny Longden, W. W. (Tiny) Naylor, and "Bones" LeBoyne, long-time agent for Arcaro.

The course will be located in the Riverside area, close to the Naylor and Longden ranches, and is expected to be an 18-hole layout open to the public.

Eddie is expected to fly here Saturday night from New York, after he rides in the Belmont Stakes, to confer with his new associates on the pending deal.

IN WINNING Saturday's Van-

Native Dancer to Face Small Field in Belmont

NEW YORK — (UP). The 85th running of the Belmont, second oldest stakes race in the United States, will be held next Saturday and you can bet the family jewels that many a critical eye will be on a grey colt named Native Dancer.

The great race horses of this country have won the Belmont since it was first raced over the old Jerome Park course in the Bronx in 1867.

TEST OF STAMINA

Its distance of a mile and one-half is the true distance of the English Derby—a test of stamina as well as speed in a thoroughbred.

Ruthless, a filly carrying the scarlet silks of Francis Morris, won the first Belmont Stakes, and was the best three-year-old of 1867. Nowadays as then a Belmont victory is almost a "must" to get consideration as the sophomore champion.

Alfred Vanderbilt's Native Dancer, unbeaten in all his starts at two and three years until he was upset by a narrow margin in the Kentucky Derby last month by Dark Star, still can prove he's an extra special sort of thoroughbred. After all, he's won 13 of his 14 races.

He won the Preakness at Pimlico three weeks after the Derby, but had a tough time before beating out Jamie K. by a neck.

BELMONT ON TV

Now the Dancer comes to the Belmont with the horse people and the plain racing fan wondering if the Vanderbilt flyer hadn't been somewhat overestimated. Television brought the Derby and Preakness into homes, taverns, restaurants and other places, so his crowd appeal has gone to far corners of the country. He'll be on the TV screens and radio again in the Belmont (CBS), 1 p. m., P. d. t.

Thumbing through the list of Belmont winners since 1920 produces the names of Man O' War (1920), Whirlaway (1941), Count Fleet (1943) and Citation (1948). Other famous horses have won the race, but these will be sufficient to provide some arguments in the case of Native Dancer.

Perhaps only three or four colts will oppose the Dancer Saturday.

McShain Gets Aud Mat Main

For the first time this year, Dangerous Danny McShain will appear in the main event of the Thursday night wrestling show at Municipal Auditorium. McShain is the present junior heavyweight champion of the world.

He will meet an old foe, Billy Varga, former junior heavyweight champ, in the two out of three falls, one-hour time limit, headliner.

Supporting the main event, crooner Sando Szabo will return to the Aud to clash with Hollywood actor and wrestler Krippler, Karl Davis in the semi. They'll wrestle two out of three falls, with a 45-minute time limit. Szabo overpowered Sock-eye MacDonald in two straight falls last week, and the second fall took only 39 seconds, which is believed to be an all-time record.

Ali Pasha, cobra hold threat, and Warren Bockwinkle, former Canadian heavyweight titleholder, will go to grips in the "Special." Handsome Al Kuley, noted for his clean, scientific style of wrestling, will meet Tony Morrell, pride of the Wilmington dockworkers, in the opener at 8:30.

Shades of Gilbert-Garbo

HOLLYWOOD'S newest romantic idol, Fernando Lamas, and beautiful Arlene Dahl co-star in Pine-Thomas' "Sangaree," Paramount's three-dimension Technicolor picture. "Sangaree" was adapted for the screen from the best-selling novel of the same name. The Dahl-Lamas romance is the hottest new in Hollywood.

CAT IN CAST

'Bell, Book and Candle' Due at Community Playhouse

All the charm and romantic excitement of modern-day witchcraft will be demonstrated Friday evening when "Bell, Book and Candle," a smash comedy hit on Broadway with Lili Palmer and Rex Harrison in the starring roles, is premired by an all-star

Long Beach Community Players' cast in the center-stage theater at 5021 E. Anaheim St.

Pat Brown, a newcomer to the Playhouse but who has done professional work on the stage and in television in the east, will enact the role played by Miss Palmer on Broadway—that of the very attractive young witch who knows how to work a charm on a man.

In the romantic lead will be Patrick Phelan, who went from the Playhouse to the movies. Now a practicing attorney in Long Beach, Phelan has been absent from the Playhouse stage 11 years for motion picture work, Army service, and the study of law.

Others in the cast announced by Director Herbert Yenne are Sybil Reed in the role of the aunt; Paul Lorenz, last seen in "Gentleman from Athens," and Robert Martineau, a skilled radio actor. And then there is Pyewackett, the cat, who knows about witches, too.

A second performance will be given Saturday evening following Friday's opening, and the play will run each Thursday, Friday and Saturday evening thereafter through July 18. The curtain goes up at 8:30 o'clock.

Spillane Leaves Hollywood Agog

HOLLYWOOD—(AP). It's hard for a character to come to Hollywood and make an impression. The town's too full of them already.

But Mickey Spillane, the fabulous mystery story writer, blew in and out and still has the town talking. The self-styled "Marion Brando of Literature" was out here to look over the filming of his "I, the Jury."

He has written seven books, all gory with sadism and sex, and sales are past 60,000,000 copies. How does he do it?

"The first thing you must do," he expounds, "is to have a title with a personal pronoun and punctuation."

He also says you must know what the public wants to buy.

"If the public were buying Thomas Wolfe, I could write like Thomas Wolfe, only ten times better. But the public buys Mike Hammer (the hero of his novels), so I give them Mike Hammer."

Spillane is generally panned by the literary critics.

"I'm the only author my publisher is ashamed of," says Mickey, "because I lack prestige. Also when I come in the office, I never ask for the book reviews—only the sales figures."

Geraldine Page Refuses to Pose for 'Cheesecake'

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD — (AP). New Broadway star Geraldine Page, in movietown for her first picture, firmly served notice today she's an "actress type" who frankly admits her age, says she's not pretty and refuses to do glamour cheesecake.

Miss Page, the first stage discovery in years of the Katharine Cornell-Helen Hayes school, showed up for her movie debut in a crew cut, glasses and no make-up.

This startled the starmakers of the celluloid city, who are more accustomed to imports of the plunging neckline and vacant stare variety.

Miss Page refused to pull her skirt above her knees for photographers and said she was 28, "although I was advised to say 24, as everybody'll add a couple of years, anyway."

"What is the point of cheesecake?" shrugged the lanky blonde, who has a vague, pixie manner like a character from a Tennessee Williams play.

"People are sick to death of it; they are sick to death of it!"

"It's something I couldn't compete with. I am not that kind of a personality. I am an actress type. Cheesecake is for girls with good looks. I can compete with anybody on a basis of acting—I'm conceited about that."

"But I'm quite aware of my limitations as a pretty-pretty girl. That never distresses me."

Miss Page, daughter of a Chicago doctor, struggled for five years in New York as a hat check girl, clerk in a thread factory, model in a negligee factory and book store salesgirl before she won fame in a little theater version of "Summer and Smoke."

Major studios pelted her with contracts, she said, but "I didn't want to be under any contract. If I was going to do movies, I wanted to do good ones."

Finally agent-producer Charles Feldman wooed her with a contract that allows her to return to New York for plays. Her first film is "Hondo," opposite John Wayne, a Wayne-Fellows production for Warner Studio.

Studio Craft Unions Closed, Book Shows

HOLLYWOOD—(AP). Mervyn Leroy makes a startling but true statement in his new book, "It Takes More Than Talent."

Leroy says it is easier to become a movie star than it is a bricklayer in the studios. He's so right. The movies are probably one of the most unionized of all industries. Membership is closed in such craft unions as bricklayers, carpenters, still photographers and many others. The current work shortage makes that necessary.

"But if you have that certain something that movie producers are always looking for," comments Leroy, "we'll get you in the Screen Actors Guild."

NASH JEWELRY CO., located on northwest corner of Pine Ave. and Broadway Saturday announced plans for a major remodeling project. The Modernization pictured here has been allotted $200,000 by the company, which revealed signing of a new 10-year lease.

Nash Jewelry Maps Plans for $200,000 Remodeling

Nash Jewelry Co., northwest corner of Pine Ave. and Broadway, has signed a new 10-year lease and will immediately launch a $200,000 remodeling and fixture program. This amount includes the combined minimum lease rentals.

The joint announcement was made Saturday by Leslie Landau of the Landau Investment Co. and David Trattner, president of Nash Jewelers. The company owns part of the property to be modernized.

Herman Sims of the Herman Sims Co., Beverly Hills real estate brokers, negotiated the original lease in 1940 as well as the new transaction.

Architects I. Herman Kanner and Robert J. Mayer have prepared the plans for the extensive interior and exterior modernization program.

"We have a great deal of faith in the future of Long Beach and are remodeling our store in keeping with the community's constant growth," declared Saul Schissel, manager of Nash's for the past 18 years.

"We'll continue to give our customers the most for their money as well as the best parking facilities and credit courtesies," Schissel added.

DICKSON—Grace Dickson, 64, of 229 W. Sixth St. died Tuesday in her home. A native of New York City, she came to Long Beach two months ago. She is survived by one brother, Dr. Adrian E. Clark, San Diego. Service and interment were held in San Diego. Patterson & Snively Mortuary was in charge of local arrangements.

He's Done Something for Himself!

Only a few short minutes ago, the man you see in the picture above was handed the golden keys to his 1953 Cadillac—and now he's off on that first delightful journey behind the wheel.

And as he leans back against the deep, soft cushion, and looks out over that proud hood into the roadway beyond... well, he knows he's done something for himself!

He knows it just from the way he feels there in the driver's seat—rested, relaxed, and at peace with the world... completely confident that he has made the wisest possible choice of a motor car.

He senses it in the marvelous way the car handles and drives... so effortless and smooth and quiet that it's a joy and an inspiration just to hold the wheel in his hands.

And he knows it, too, from the feeling of pride and satisfaction he enjoys as he looks forward to the delight of his family and the approval of his acquaintances and friends.

And how the miles and the years will bear him out in his conviction!

Let him arrive at a distinguished hotel... or an exclusive club... and he will find that his Cadillac constitutes the perfect "letter of introduction."

In fact, let him travel wherever he will in this broad land of ours... and he will find his Cadillac a trustworthy and unfailing companion, an inspiration to own and drive, a valued contributor to a magnificent way of life.

Yes, you're looking at a man who's done something wonderful for himself—wonderful beyond even his fondest dreams.

And if you think it's time you did something for yourself, then we suggest you come in and see us.

Let's make it "Cadillac time" for you!

VACATION BOOKS

Good News for Slow Readers

Books may be borrowed from the public library for the entire vacation period instead of two weeks, beginning at once, Mrs. Julia LeBaron, chief of the public library's circulation department, announced Saturday.

Under the library's vacation loan privilege, any registered borrower may take 10 books for the period from now until Oct. 1. The library, however, reserves the right to issue certain popular books or school texts for shorter periods, Mrs. LeBaron said.

To keep the records straight, borrowers are requested to indicate whenever books are to be charged as vacation loan instead of the regular two-week period.

WITH NEW OPERATION

Navy Surgeon Saves Arms; Legs for Marine Wounded

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN
WITH THE U. S. FIRST MARINE DIVISION IN KOREA

(AP) A boyish-looking Navy surgeon, using a spectacular new operation to reduce amputations by two-thirds, has made front-line medical history with the Marines. Scores of Leathernecks are walking again, using arms and hands normally, who might otherwise be experimenting with artificial limbs. Lt. Frank C. Spencer, 27, of Haskell, Texas, is credited with saving them through use of arterial graft surgery. A severed blood vessel is repaired by sewing a piece of undamaged artery to each end of the damaged blood vessel. These come from "artery banks"—stocked from limbs so badly mangled amputation was essential.

DOES OTHER JOBS

Spencer does other lifesaving jobs just as well. In a dramatic case a few weeks ago, he saved the life of a Korean sergeant by massaging his heart, after it stopped beating for 90 seconds.

Spencer, whose close-cropped crew haircut makes him look even younger than his years, performed more than 80 arterial graft operations with the First Marines. The division was recently withdrawn to the rear after 33 months of front-line duty. In more than 65 cases the arm or leg of the wounded man has been saved.

His fame has spread all across the front, but he modestly credits colleagues and the swift evacuation of wounded by helicopter to frontline hospitals with his success.

CHIEF SURGEON

Spencer is chief surgeon of Easy Medical Company of the First Marine Division. It is one of three such outfits manned by Navy doctors and enlisted corpsmen on the Marine sector.

The arterial repair operation is new to the Korean war. It was started last August.

repair blood vessels of wounded men at or near the front.

In the past four years, Spencer said, the arterial graft program was developed in the U. S. largely to save so-called blue-babies. He worked under Dr. Alfred Blalock at Johns Hopkins University, a pioneer in blue-baby technique.

DESCRIBES METHOD

Here, in Spencer's words, is a description of the operation:

"When an artery is wounded, the missile destroys a section of it. What is needed is a tube to reconnect the two ends—to bridge the gap resulting from damage to the blood vessel.

"The arterial grafts are sewed in place with very small stitches so that the connection will be watertight to let the blood pass through. The operation takes from two to four hours.

"Complete recovery is expected in about one month and usually the patient is walking in about three weeks after surgery."

In the First Marine Division virtually all of this type of surgery is done by Spencer and a colleague, Navy doctor Ray V. Grew of Portland, Ore.

The Army is undertaking a similar arterial graft program in Korea under the direction of Col. Carl W. Hughes, blood vessel consultant at Walter Reed Hospital, Washington.

HARBOR LIGHTS

Air Map of Subsidence Considered

(Independent-Press-Telegram Harbor Reporter)

THE CITY is considering taking to the air to obtain horizontal and vertical earth shift data. The proposal is to make the air study in conjunction with a tri-governmental study tentatively scheduled to begin Aug. 18.

Area to be studied by Long Beach, Los Angeles and the county is between Caffey St. in San Pedro and the Los Angeles-Orange County line south of an imaginary line running from Dominguez through Signal Hill.

First phase of the program in Long Beach will be to run levels on the ground south of Anaheim St. between Ford Ave. and the Villa Riviera Hotel.

THE PROPOSAL to make the subsidence and horizontal earth movement study from the air came from the engineering firm of J. H. Davies & Associates. Cost: $68,000, to be split between the city and harbor department.

"Conventional field survey methods are not the solution, considering the large metropolitan area involved," said Davies. "The key to the solution is photogrammetry, the science of obtaining measurement from photographs."

Application of photogrammetry to earth shift studies is the "baby" of William Cook, of the Davies firm. "It is the first application of photogrammetry to the study of earth shifts," he said. Previously the method has been used in making contour maps. By comparing up to date photographs with photographs taken at an earlier period, the amount of subsidence and horizontal earth movement can be computed.

THE AERIAL STUDY does not do away with the necessity for fixing control marks by the regular procedure of running levels on the surface, according to Charles Vickers, assistant harbor engineer. The department will fix some 400 points through regular method to assure greater accuracy of the aerial survey findings. By this means land shift between the fixed points can be accurately determined and the entire surface measured, rather than at specific points.

Cook said the method is accurate to approximately 0.5 foot. Cook proposes that the aerial survey cover the area from Reeves Field on the west, to Seal Beach on the east, Pacific Coast Hwy. on the north and the Bates grid line 5000 North on the south (an imaginary east-west line running through the city of Seal Beach). This is the area for which aerial photographs taken in 1937 and 1940 are available.

IN OUTLINING his proposal for the photogrammetric study, Davies said the following advantages would be obtained:

"1. Direct vertical and horizontal data in areas otherwise unavailable would be obtained.

"2. The aerial survey (of a given area) could be completed in a matter of minutes, thereby practically eliminating any error that might be introduced by surface motion during the survey period, as does occur in the case of conventional field procedures.

"3. Photogrammetric analysis provides the desired survey information in much less time than normally required."

Harbor Department spokesmen said it would normally require about two years to complete the study that would take about two weeks by the use of photogrammetry.

C of C Men to Seek Route 6 Conclave for L. B. Next Year

Local representatives of the Chamber of Commerce will put in a bid to hold the 1954 meeting of the U. S. Route 6 Association in Long Beach when they attend this year's get-together Monday and Tuesday in Ely, Nev.

Two carloads of the chamber men, headed by vice president Lloyd Leedom, will trek to the meeting. The association was formed to promote Route 6, longest in the country, which runs from Provincetown, Mass., to Long Beach.

The chamber's tourist department is concerned this year with bringing additional volume to Long Beach over all routes entering this area. Members, while in Ely, will serve on various committees concentrating on the development of additional tourist traffic on U. S. 6.

Area to be studied by Long Beach, Los Angeles and the county is between Caffey St. in San Pedro and the Los Angeles-Orange County line south of an imaginary line running from Dominguez through Signal Hill.

First phase of the program in Long Beach will be to run levels on the ground south of Anaheim St. between Ford Ave. and the Villa Riviera Hotel.

THE PROPOSAL to make the subsidence and horizontal earth movement study from the air came from the engineering firm of J. H. Davies & Associates. Cost: $68,000, to be split between the city and harbor department.

"Conventional field survey methods are not the solution, considering the large metropolitan area involved," said Davies. "The key to the solution is photogrammetry, the science of obtaining measurement from photographs."

Application of photogrammetry to earth shift studies is the "baby" of William Cook, of the Davies firm. "It is the first application of photogrammetry to the study of earth shifts," he said. Previously the method has been used in making contour maps. By comparing up to date photographs with photographs taken at an earlier period, the amount of subsidence and horizontal earth movement can be computed.

THE AERIAL STUDY does not do away with the necessity for fixing control marks by the regular procedure of running levels on the surface, according to Charles Vickers, assistant harbor engineer. The department will fix some 400 points through regular method to assure greater accuracy of the aerial survey findings. By this means land shift between the fixed points can be accurately determined and the entire surface measured, rather than at specific points.

Cook said the method is accurate to approximately 0.5 foot. Cook proposes that the aerial survey cover the area from Reeves Field on the west, to Seal Beach on the east, Pacific Coast Hwy. on the north and the Bates grid line 5000 North on the south (an imaginary east-west line running through the city of Seal Beach). This is the area for which aerial photographs taken in 1937 and 1940 are available.

IN OUTLINING his proposal for the photogrammetric study, Davies said the following advantages would be obtained:

"1. Direct vertical and horizontal data in areas otherwise unavailable would be obtained.

"2. The aerial survey (of a given area) could be completed in a matter of minutes, thereby practically eliminating any error that might be introduced by surface motion during the survey period, as does occur in the case of conventional field procedures.

"3. Photogrammetric analysis provides the desired survey information in much less time than normally required."

Harbor Department spokesmen said it would normally require about two years to complete the study that would take about two weeks by the use of photogrammetry.

C of C Men to Seek Route 6 Conclave for L. B. Next Year

Local representatives of the Chamber of Commerce will put in a bid to hold the 1954 meeting of the U. S. Route 6 Association in Long Beach when they attend this year's get-together Monday and Tuesday in Ely, Nev.

Two carloads of the chamber men, headed by vice president Lloyd Leedom, will trek to the meeting. The association was formed to promote Route 6, longest in the country, which runs from Provincetown, Mass., to Long Beach.

The chamber's tourist department is concerned this year with bringing additional volume to Long Beach over all routes entering this area. Members, while in Ely, will serve on various committees concentrating on the development of additional tourist traffic on U. S. 6.

New Tract to Be Previewed in Lakewood

Lakewood Rancho Estates situated on the corner of Spring St. and Studebaker Rd. in Lakewood will soon be open to the public with a furnished model home on view, it was announced today by Ross W. Cortese, builder.

Walker & Lee, sales agents, report that advanced sales have already started due to the great interest in this development which features the "Californian," an all-new, architect-designed, contemporary ranch-style home. Designed by Cliff May and Chris Choate, well-known Southland architects, the "Californian" features wide overhangs, floor-to-ceiling windows and indoor-outdoor planning.

These moderately priced three-bedroom, two full bath dwellings also offer a new freedom of kitchen with built-in Western Holly automatic gas ranges, garbage disposals, built-in breakfast nooks, AMCO genuine Formica fully-formed sink tops, and solid birch kitchen cabinets with sliding doors. Among the other features are automatic forced air heating, exposed beam ceilings, fireplaces, natural wood paneling in the living room, double garages, private patios, rear living rooms, insulated ceilings, translucent glass panels, redwood exteriors and varied setbacks for privacy.

The "Californian" can be bought by veterans and non-veterans for $11,200 with low down payments. All improvements will be in and paid for, including sewers, and the builder announced that Lakewood Rancho Estates will be supplied with Long Beach City water.

To reach Lakewood Rancho and the Cliff May house, drive south on Lakewood Blvd. or Bellflower Blvd. to Spring St. Turn left and proceed to Studebaker Rd. Coming from Long Beach drive north on Cherry to Spring St. and then east on Spring to Studebaker Rd. and the tract.

Will Build Ranch Home on L. B. Lot

"If you own a reasonable lot, we will build a charming two-bedroom California ranch home at a firm, honest and complete price of $5990," according to Realtor Rex L. Hodges. No down payment is necessary — nominal escrow costs, water meter and bank charges are not included. Model home is now open at 209 South St., near Dairy St., North Long Beach.

The following extras are standard equipment in the dwelling:

Fete 50 Years of Tuna Canning in L. B. Tuesday

The 100-millionth case of tuna canned in California will be unveiled at a meeting of state and industry leaders at the Pacific Coast Club here Tuesday noon.

Plans for observance of the 50th anniversary of California's tuna canning industry during the year will be revealed at the luncheon meeting.

Speakers will include Gilbert Van Camp Sr., representing the California Fish Cannery Association; Albert Vignola Jr., president, Tuna Research Foundation; John J. Real, manager, Fishermen's Cooperative Association; Harold Carey, manager, American Tuna-boat Association; C. W. Roberts, vice president, American Can Co., and Neil Petree, president, California State Chamber of Commerce.

Max J. Gorbey, president of the California Fish Cannery Association, will be chairman of the meeting, and Albert G. Davis, president of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, will welcome the guests.

Economists for American Can Co., host at the "kick-off" luncheon, report that California's tuna-canning industry increased its pack from 700 cases in 1903 to more than 8,000,000 cases valued at $99,000,000 last year. The cans for the 100,000,000th jubilee case were made at Canco's Wilmington factory a few days ago.

Along REALTY ROW

By NEWT TODD... Realty and Building Editor

Here's a list of "Do Nots" which you should carefully observe if you're a construction loan applicant. If the requested loan is to be made, the deed of trust or mortgage must be superior in lien to any mechanics' liens which might arise out of the construction of the proposed improvement.

No loan can be made if you fail to observe these rules, or if your building contractor or anyone acting for you fails to observe them:

1. Do not begin removing or demolishing any building or buildings on the property.
2. Do not start to build or demolish retaining walls, fences, etc.
3. Do not install water meters on the property.
4. Do not permit pole or meter for power service to be installed.
5. Do not begin grading, or setting any stakes for grading, or removing any debris from the property.
6. Do not have any material or equipment which is to be used in the construction of the improvements delivered to the property or adjacent property, or placed in streets or alleys.
7. Do not drill test holes for the foundation.
8. Do not outline the foundations—even with temporary stakes.
9. Do not remove (or plant) any trees or shrubs or even weeds.
10. In brief, do not have work of any kind done on the property until the deed of trust or mortgage has been recorded and you have been notified to proceed.

You should caution your contractor on all of these 10 "Do Nots." An inspector for the lender or title company checks up on the observance of all these "Do Nots" before recordation.

The Long Beach Board of Realtors has gone on record with the City Council as opposing any type of city housing or extension of federal housing controls in this city at this time, due to the large amount of vacancies.

The following have become members of the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers:

Louis T. Vogel, Newport Beach;

Morris H. Seville, Norwalk, and John J. Kuhl, Redondo Beach.

Los Angeles County's newest industries include the following:

TELLS OF OUR KEY TO SURVIVAL—Air power is our key to survival against communism was the subject of Maj. Speed Chandler's, district manager of Kaiser-Frazer, talk before an American Legion gathering recently.

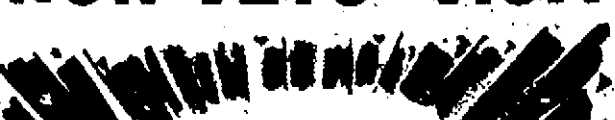

Major Chandler, now retired from the Air Force, is a veteran of both World War I and World War II and is one of the few men who can lay claim to having flown everything from Jennys to jets. Although he is retired from the Air Force, Maj. Chandler continues to fly as much as possible and is constantly taking refresher courses and special assignments under the auspices of the Air Force.

Maj. Chandler's interest in flying started back in 1911, when as a small child he had his first airplane ride and attained the magnificent altitude of 500 feet and since that day he has had trouble keeping his feet on the ground.

During his early days of flying with Army, he became close friends with other pioneers and advocates of air power such as General Billy Mitchell, Roscoe Turner, Jimmy Doolittle and Admiral Richard Byrd.

Highlights of his talk were his predictions, which are substantiated by many other Air Force officials. If we are attacked by Russia, it will be from the north over the Arctic. Even with a substantial number of the latest type interceptor planes equipped with the finest radar gun aiming devices, the chances are very likely that some of the Russian bombers could get through to their targets. Therefore, he further stated, we must have a strong strategic Air Force so that we could strike back with our atomic weapons at the bases in Russia where these raids originated.

Dr. Wanous to Address Managers

Dr. S. J. Wanous, professor in business education and office management, University of California, Los Angeles will talk on "Office Manager's Responsibility in Training Office Help" at the regular monthly meeting of the Long Beach Chapter of the National Office Management Association Tuesday, at 3:15 p.m. in the Lafayette Hotel Supper Room.

It is a joint meeting with the Los Angeles chapter.

Dr. Wanous in addition to his educational activities has been a practical office manager in business management and business correspondence for various Southern California companies.

This is education night. The presentation of four national business entrance test scholarship certificates and scholarship awards will be made to the following high school students:

Jane N. Williams, Polytechnic High School, typing; Dorothy Lund, Polytechnic High School, stenographic; Jack L. Melton, Polytechnic High School, bookkeeping; Dixie Lee Jones, Jordan High School, general office clerical.

These four made the highest scores of those who participated in the three regular tests which were given in December, 1952, March, 1953, and May, 1953, to the city high school students.

The new officers for the 1953-1954 year start their term: Lloyd Stanley, president, will preside at the meeting with Sam Roberts, vice president, acting as program chairman.

L. Plaza Show Popular

More than 1000 visitors a day are turning out to inspect the Lakewood Plaza Home Show, consisting of eight newly furnished model dwellings in that development's new "Non-Vet" unit on Spring St., a half mile east of Bellflower Blvd. in the Lakewood district.

The model homes represent half of the 16 elevations available. Embracing a wide range of styles, the models are the "Willowbrook Farm," "Colonial Cottage," "Lido Isle," "Mayfair House," "Malibu Modern," "Cambridge Cottage," "Stone Canyon Farm" and "Whitfield House." Open daily and Sunday from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m., the model homes are furnished throughout by Aaron Schultz.

Homes in Lakewood Plaza have three bedrooms or two bedrooms and a den, with a two-car garage. Priced at $9950 each, the houses are available on the same terms to nonveterans and veterans. Monthly payments are $51.88 a month for principal, interest and FHA mortgage insurance. Small down payments prevail. It was noted by E. (Billy) Hamburg, general sales agent.

Homes in the current unit boast Aldon's newest "luxurized" feature, the all-purpose "Convertable," which is convertible into a dining nook, breakfast bar, buffet, desk, game table and work table. It seats six. Table and seats are upholstered in permanent finish plastic. It was designed by Aldon, and is built exclusively by the Plyline Manufacturing Co.

Living rooms have one or two walls paneled fully in ash or Philippine mahogany, and another wall of glass overlooking the garden area.

'Non-Vet Unit'

THIS IS one of the 16 exterior styles being offered in Lakewood Plaza "Non-Vet" unit on Spring St. a half-mile east of Bellflower Blvd. in the Lakewood district. It has three bedrooms.

Fast-Growing Lakewood

NOW AVAILABLE is one of these new homes at Carson Park Mutual Homes in fast-growing Lakewood. Builders announced that there are 21 different home styles available along with seven basic floor plans.

Vets Favor Tract

Under FHA-approved home-financing plan, veterans can purchase any two-bedroom home for $295 down and any three-bedroom home for $495 down at Carson Park Mutual Homes.

Carson Park officials also announce non-veterans are thronging the development sales office at 6741 E. Carson St. to take advantage of the price structure which is so advantageous to those who wish to buy a home but do not have the benefits of G. I. loans. Continuing this week end, non-veterans will be able to buy any two or three-bedroom home at Carson Park for $895 down. Buyers have seven basic models and 21 attractive exteriors from which to choose. All architect-designed, the homes are built along traffic-engineered streets on large double garages, inlaid kitchen linoleum.

developers at no additional cost to buyers, it was explained. Some 16,000 homes in which approximately 60,000 persons are now living have been built in the area by the builders of Carson Park.

Constructed under continuous FHA inspection, the homes feature built-in waste pulverizers, large living rooms with picture windows, separate dining rooms, steel sash windows, slab doors throughout, entryways, patios, cedar shingle roofs, electric bath-room heaters, stall showers, room heaters, stall showers, traffic-engineered streets on large double garages, inlaid kitchen linoleum.

New House Needs Break-In Period

By NEWT TODD

When a new Navy ship is launched, its first trip is termed a shakedown cruise. A new house is much like a ship—it needs a shakedown cruise too, a breaking-in period during which it settles down to the business of being a home.

Take the foundation walls for instance. If there is a foundation of poured concrete, it is important to remember that concrete expands with summer heat, contracts with winter cold. This, plus the natural shrinkage that takes place when concrete sets, inevitably causes some cracking.

The effect of weather on concrete walks and driveways is even more severe. Exterior concrete work is subject to much pushing, pulling, and twisting. Sometimes bad weather can change the course of surface drainage. With warmer weather, the slab generally returns to its normal position, although cracks may have developed.

The structural lumber in a house includes the joists, studding, rafters and beams. These members have all been selected of sizes and grade that provide a large factor of safety over and beyond that which is necessary to carry the load for which they are intended. But shrinkage is inevitable.

Shrinkage, which occurs even in kiln-dried wood, can be minimized by keeping the heat at a reasonable 70 F., particularly during the first year, instead of running a very high temperature which will dry the house out too quickly.

Since the plaster or wallboard in the home is placed over wood, it is subject to various reactions due to atmospheric conditions. The average homeowner thinks that cracks in plaster represent defects in the home. This is not true.

In the case of a binding door, one should be patient (unless the door jams badly)—and not too quick to plane. Wait for dry weather when the door has dried to normal.

The builder, in supplying a properly manufactured door, has done everything possible to insure that it is a good door. Twisting or warping are beyond his control and can happen to any door. Cracks at joints can be filled readily and when the house is redecorated there is no difficulty in covering them so that they are no longer noticeable.

Another effect of wood shrinkage will often be noticed in the bathroom—a separation between the tub and wall tile and between the floor tile and the tub. This may easily be remedied by filling the crack, after maximum separation has taken place, with white cement inexpensively procured at any hardware store.

The hardwood floors in a home are good kiln-dried wood but will shrink some and cause the joints between the board to separate. With wood floors it is well to keep in mind to never clean them with soap and water, as both the finish and the wood will be injured. Sometimes, the floor may even buckle.

Dry cleaning of floors with one of the new waterless, wax-base cleaners is the modern way to preserve their natural beauty.

Immediately upon taking title to a home one should learn everything possible about the heating system from the builder and from instruction booklets from the heating equipment manufacturer.

Automatic heating systems customarily provide for free servicing for a fixed period of time in a new house. Later, most homeowners find that such servicing can be arranged on an annual and normal fee basis with a contractor.

The roof of the house should last for many years. With every roof it is important that the downspouts be kept clear and unobstructed by tree limbs, leaves, balls and toys.

Care should be exercised when anyone is walking on the roof so as not to do any damage. This is particularly true in the matter of placing a radio or television aerial. Careless installation of an aerial will often be the cause of a serious roof leak.

As the earth around the house becomes compacted, depressions will appear, particularly where there has been a trench or at the house against the foundation. These places must be kept filled with dirt so that water will not collect in them, causing dampness in the basement.

The grounds around the house should be graded so that the earth slopes away from the building. If flower beds are planned near the house, the earth next to the foundation should not be disturbed.

A Letter To All Cal-Vets...

A RECENT INTERVIEW with Arthur Dinel disclosed over 50,000 local women wear distinctive styles from Dinel's, 505 E. Ocean Blvd. The new Dinel's has served Long Beach women a year and a half at this location. Dinel confided, "one problem confronting the store is the working girls' hesitance to enter, fearing the fine merchandise is above their budget." Although the store is beautifully designed . . . the apparel of finest quality, you will find charming originals in dresses priced from 17.95 and a complete line of women's wear, including millinery at moderate as well as more expensive prices. Visit the "New Dinel's" soon . . . see what you've missed. Convenient 90-day budget terms.

SHOWN HERE is Adair's newest store at 900 East Seventh St. Known as "Adair's Bargain Island," it occupies a wedge-shaped piece of ground bounded by Alamitos Ave., California Ave. and Seventh St. Both floors of the building are filled with new appliances and television. The used appliance and service shop is in the rear. At this location, Adair's have a complete rebuilding service department for washing machines, refrigerators, ranges, sewing machines, radio and television. Here, also, they have built up a stock of used replacement parts for almost all makes of washers, regardless of age. Parking on or around "Adair's Bargain Island" is no problem. The original Adair's store is at 634 Pine Ave. Owned by R. F. Adair, the store's slogan is "It DOES make a difference where you buy!"

MRS. BETTY GREER, of 3161 Bellflower Blvd. and Wes Kight, general appliance salesman for Baker's, go over the fine points of the new O'Keefe & Merritt gas range. Mrs. Greer verifies the fact that a 27-pound turkey will go into the big oversize oven with lots of room to spare and "I never knew there were so many uses for the steel griddle, and the chrome top is so easy to keep clean." Wes Kight also stresses the low complete price, delivered and installed in your home for only $189.95, and we'll also give you a liberal trade-in allowance on your old range and, of course, no down payment. Terms of only $8.50 per month. See all models of the O'Keefe & Merritt ranges at Baker's, 702 American Ave. in Long Beach. Open evenings until 9 P. M.

MRS. G. BURGHARDT and daughter, Gloria, are shown seated at their grand piano at 1260 E. 57th St., which was refinished by Glenn's Piano Shop at $155 Long Beach Blvd. At Glenn's Piano Shop you will find complete facilities to refinish and restyle your piano. A shop completely staffed by piano and cabinet experts to give you the finest workmanship in Southern California. Another feature for your convenience is the easy terms that Glenn's Piano Shop will extend to you. While you are looking around stop in, and see the largest selection of new and used pianos in Long Beach. Famous names such as Jannsen (piano-organ combination), Winter, Hallett & Davis and many, many others.

AN ELECTRONIC CONTROL console with a capacity of over 10,000 switching combinations is a feature of the recently refurbished Sound Studio of Scott Radio Supply, Inc. Here, in perfect comfort and a pleasing atmosphere simulating the home living room, one can see, hear, and compare leading makes of home music reproducing equipment—radio tuners, high fidelity amplifiers and speakers, and the latest in record players. No newcomer to radio-electronics, this 24-year-old Long Beach enterprise in 1948 opened one of the first sound studios in the country devoted exclusively to the demonstration of home and professional electronic sound equipment. In the photo, Sound Department Manager Ed Wentworth demonstrates for Nancy Primeaux, Scott's is located in their own 2-story building at 266 Alamitos Ave.

HERE IN THE relaxed atmosphere of Penn-Hodges Belmont Shore Furniture Store are Mr. Penn of Penn-Hodges Furniture and Mrs. Margo Black working out a co-ordinated color scheme in Penn-Hodges newly expanded Daylite Carpet Department. This new carpet room is just the start in a complete expansion and remodeling program, designed to take care of the ever-increasing volume and to better facilitate the selection of home furnishings. Featured in the new Daylite Carpet Department are hundreds of patterns, most of them available in all widths from the looms of Bigelow and Gulistan Mills. Penn-Hodges is located at 5316 East Second St., Belmont Shore.

VISITING DOOLEY'S Paint Department, 5075 Long Beach Blvd., the roving photographer found Rupert R. Babcock explaining to Vera Wilson what she will need to finish her redecorating. At Dooley's you will find everything that you will need in paints and paint supplies. To assure you of ample supplies in all types of paint another carload has just been delivered. You will find a greater savings when you buy at Dooley's because Dooley sells for less.

GRADUATION EXERCISES of the Long Beach Nurses Institute class of 75 graduate nurses was held in the Corinthian Room, Town Hall. Many graduates have returned to serve their Southern California communities. Local graduates included 55 from Long Beach, one Artesia, three Compton, three Norwalk, six Paramount and two Bellflower. Mr. Sharp Dumayne, Director of the Nurses Institute, introduced the speakers, he said, "We are exceedingly proud of our graduating class. Their services are desperately needed nationwide." Invocation by Rev. Emerson G. Hangen, First Congregational Church, who spoke on "Nurses Serving the Community." Jeanette Miller, soloist, rendered semi-classical melodies. Addresses were by Dr. Richard Schug, senior surgeon St. Mary's Hospital and chief surgeon at Boyd Clinic, and Councilman Max Livoni. New classes are now forming.

SOLID BLACK COCKER SPANIEL, Viking's Sandra, has a "CD" attached to her name—which means "companion dog." It also means the intelligent little dog has successfully passed an obedience test three times with a qualifying score. Explaining the high jump exercise to Sandra is owner Mrs. Thomas Cook of 2851 Cedar Ave. One of the world's largest dog shows, June 20-21 in Long Beach Municipal Auditorium, more than 2000 entries are expected to be registered by tomorrow noon.

READY TO HEED command of his little mistress, Janice Thompson of Long Beach, to hurdle the broad jumps, is boxer Maedchen von Dietz. Youngsters, as well as adults, learn how to properly train their dogs under guidance of instructors in the Lakewood Obedience Club. Organized only last December, the club now boasts 100 members and will be responsible for many of the specially-trained dogs entered in the Harbor Cities show from this area June 20-21 in Municipal Auditorium.

SCORES OF HIGHLY-TRAINED pedigreed dogs will compete for honors in obedience trials at the 18th annual Harbor Cities Kennel Club all-breed dog show, June 20-21, at Municipal Auditorium. One of the most popular attractions at the canine classic, the trials demonstrate how blueblooded dogs learn to obey commands of their owners-trainers. Practicing a "heel without leash" exercise is collie Laird of Ross Manor, or "Laddie," as his mistress, Mrs. Harry Ross of Seal Beach, calls him.

LONG BEACH 12, CALIF., SUNDAY, JUNE 7, 1953

CLIMBING HIGH ON the ladder of national popularity, though a comparative newcomer to the American Kennel Club is the gray, sleek-looking weimaraner, Silver Von Iba, owned by Mrs. Thelma Perreault of Long Beach, will vie for blue ribbons and trophies valued in excess of $10,000 at the Harbor Cities event next week end.

ONE OF THE FAVORITES of the dog show and one of the largest is the St. Bernard. Reading the obedience trial rules to Komet's Millie Von Lutz is owner Mrs. Allan Ross of Long Beach. Mrs. Ross' husband will officiate as veterinarian at the show. A judging slate consisting of 18 of the nation's experts will preside over the rings, five of them casting their votes for obedience-trained dogs only.

Foreign Ports Beckon Localites; Bon Voyage Courtesies Multiply

By BETTY CAREY
Independent Women's Editor

It's to be three months in Europe for John and Vivian Davis this summer, and their trip is proving to be the incentive for various pleasant bon voyage parties. On Wednesday eve Loraine and Earl Miller were at home to 100 friends from 5 to 7 honoring the Davises, and yesterday Mildred Shank entertained at a surprise breakfast at the Virginia Country Club for members of Vivian's family.

Assisting the Millers were Laura Mae and Henry Dunn, Haldie and Frank Hertzog, Mildred and Carl Shank, Betsy and George Taubman, Marian and John Pahl of Los Angeles as well as Mary and Bill McMullen and Katie and Carter Boswell.

Roses from the Millers' ranch, Burns Brae, were used in profusion throughout their lovely home, and rosely roses combined with blue delphinium centered the table. Vivian wore a white butterfly orchid corsage and the feminine assistants wore roses.

Highlights of the evening came when Mildred Shank sat down at the piano, and later Joe Riddick played while his wife, Elsie, sang some tunes of farewell with witty lyrics penned for the occasion.

Then yesterday Vivian innocently believed that she was was going on a shopping excursion with Mildred and instead found numerous of her family members waiting to greet her at the VCC. A miniature passenger ship filled with gardenias centered the table and a birthday cake all done up with French flags (the Davises sail on the Liberte) added a sprightly touch. The birthdays of Vivian and her sisters, Helen Summy, and Lorine Douglas, were thus noted. Going away gifts were presented to the honoree.

Others joining in the surprise were Vivian's mother, Sara Klene; her daughter, Mary McMullen; and Elsie Riddick, Marjorie Davis, Pauline Chambers, and Clara Sheek.

Fulfilling the two-fold purpose of hall and farewell will be the buffet supper hosted by Flo and Harry Newton on Wednesday in their Miraleste home. Welcomed home will be Jane and Chester Hosmer who have spent the past three months in South America, and au revoirs will be said to Rose Amar who is leaving for a summer in Guatemala.

After dining guests will have an opportunity to see pictures taken by the Newtons while traveling in Guatemala. Seeing Central America vicariously will be Dorothy and Logan Good-knight, Mary and Ted Miles, Bess and Elol Amar, Alice Haylett, Tess and Francis Heusel, Ina and Jay Reed, Myrie and Fred Clarke, Flo and John Brooks, Marian and Bob Riner, the John Montagues and Capt. and Mrs. B. O. Wells of Glendale.

Sashaying over to Ruth Aldays for luncheon and cards next Friday will be Marie Hight, Mabel Cobb, Dorothy Seal, Wayne Osborne, Lora Mannex, Ina Reed, Myrl Clarke and Marjorie Gaskell.

For the purpose of christening their new playroom Rod and Cal Strong have given the second of a series of cocktail buffet parties. Invited last night were June and Neil Fox down from Pasadena, Pat and "Van" Van de Water, Baba and Bill Graham, Bobbie and Greer Thompson, Betty and Bill Barbee, Helen and Joe Mattson, Mickey and John McWhinney from Lido Isle and Margaret and Barrie Stimson.

Guests at the Strongs' last week were Frances and Henry Clock, Dorothy and Eldredge Combs, Clara and Andy Andrews, Elizabeth and Emmett Sullivan, Jo and Orv Hastings, Jean and Gil Karste and Hil-dreth and Walter von Klein-Smit.

Early this morning Lorraine Hoskins waved goodbye to family and friends at the airport as she began a summer of travel abroad. Before departing by air for Switzerland the end of the week, Lorraine will spend a few days in New York visiting friends and shopping. Included in her itinerary are visits to France, Italy and Egypt. She later looks forward to touring Norway and Sweden.

Bradley Wayne and Deborah Wynne Schultz welcomed their new brother home from Seaside Hospital on Monday where he weighed in on May 25 at six pounds, 12 ounces. The young man's name is Gary David and his fond parents are Lorraine and Stanley Schultz of 5157 Los Flores.

It's "destination Europe" for Mae and Art Holtz who leave July 1 for several months abroad and with this in mind friends are dreaming up numerous farewell parties. B a b a and Bill Graham will entertain at cocktails and dinner on Wednesday for the honored pair with guests being Ellie and Frank Person, Marie and Roy McCullough, Mil and Bill Woodard, Mickey and John McWhinney and Pat and "Van" Van de Water.

Nancy Ridgeway Engrossed in Gay Whirl Before Wedding

Now that June is at hand and her wedding date, the 27th of June is just a few short weeks away; pretty Nancy Ridgeway is caught up in a whirl of parties, showers and trousseau shopping.

On Saturday she was the honoree at a charming garden luncheon at the home of Mrs. Don Murphy, 4100 Locust Ave., where Mmes. Ansel Olson and Sam McKee were cohostesses. A group gift of china in Nancy's Lenox pattern was presented to her. The decorative motif was carried out in tones of rose and blue.

Guests invited were the honoree's mother, Mrs. Virgil Ridgeway; Mrs. Grace Wiggins, mother of the future bridegroom, Wayne Albert Wiggins; and Mmes. Eldon Bassett, Gordon Brown, Arthur Buell, Robert Bult, John Dorsey, Walter Furie, Houston Fairley, Harry Gibbons, David Gorman, Vern Garten, Walter Groshong, John Grimes, Calvin Garverick, Adri-an Hubbell, Gail Hudson.

Others were Mmes. Charles Hoeltzel, J. Roscoe Howell, Francis J. Heusel, Elmore Jones, Stillman M. Lovern, Charles List, Herbert Murphy, Harold Morris, Oliver Nees, Cecil Ridgeway, Virgil Rothwell, Duane Rodman, Herbert Shannon, Mul-ford Smith, Carol Scott, Maurice Sawyer, Earl Todd, Floyd Todd, Fred Tucker, Frank Weid, J. Stowe Carney, Naomi Soder-berg, T. R. Swensen; Misses Louise Bellatti, and Linda Lov-en, Andrea Todd, Donna Mur-phy, Long Beach; Mmes. John Wehrly, Santa Ana; W. B. French, Los Angeles, and Wal-ter Dabney, Huntington Beach.

Symbolic of Courtesies for June Bride Is Tea in Chace Home This Afternoon

The young and old alike look forward to the month of June. It's the time when the gardens are in full bloom and the patios never looked lovelier, when families gather for barbecues and picnics after the kiddies have said their last goodbyes to their teachers, when fishermen pour over maps of the northwest lake region and mothers brace themselves against the onrush all hours of the day by their children and the neighbors, young ones to the refrigerator.

But most of all, the month of June is the time for romance. Down through the centuries young girls have recited their marriage vows in this glorious month and friends and relatives have joined in the joyous occasions by entertaining for the brides-elect, showering them with useful gifts for their future homes.

One of the popular young brides-elect, who has set her wedding date for June 28, is Merle Winslow, daughter of the Clyde Winslows. She will wed Thomas Frank Baeyens in California Heights Methodist Church. This afternoon between 2 and 4 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burton W. Chace, 4160 Country Club Dr., more than 150 friends of the attractive bride-elect will gather for tea and to present her with a group gift.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Chace, Mrs. William H. Sippel and Mrs. Peter Lee Baeyens.

Presiding at the silver urns will be Mmes. Paul Cabins Sr., Jessie Diver, James J. Hughes and W. F. Kinsey. The tea table will be graced by an oblong arrangement of white gladioli and delphinium while an all-white theme will be carried out in other rooms of the home.

Others assisting during the afternoon will be Mrs. B. F. Woodland, Misses Paula and Coni Chace, Louise Cameron, Barbara Connell, Phyllis Henderson, Sharon McGill, Donna and Willene Mussetter and Corlene Munson.

One of World's Largest Dog Shows to Open Here June 20

Long Beach will soon again be headquarters for the finest of American dogdom. The occasion will be the 18th annual Harbor Cities Kennel Club all-breed dog show and obedience trial, June 20-21, at the Municipal Auditorium.

One of the world's largest such events, it is expected that more than 2000 blueblooded dogs will be registered for the canine classic when the entry deadline is reached tomorrow (Monday) noon. Last year's show attracted 2042 dogs from nearly every state in the nation and several foreign countries, according to David H. Upright, Harbor Cities club president.

Eighteen American Kennel Club judges will cast their votes for the contestants. Task of selecting Best Dog in Show has been assigned to Anton B. Korbel of Belmont, Calif.

Among the out-of-state judges coming here to preside at the show are such names as Mrs. Lancaster Andrews, Westbury, N. Y., Mrs. James A. Cole, New York, N. Y.; Mrs. Leona Dengler, Grand Rapids, Mich., and Mrs. Lewis G. Spence, Dallas, Texas.

Fourteen specialty shows will be held in conjunction with the Harbor Cities show with each of these sponsored by a specialty dog club. Brilliant decorative motifs to carry out the breeds they represent will mark these benching facilities throughout the exhibition area, both inside the Auditorium and on its surrounding grounds.

Hundreds of trophies valued in excess of $10,000—the west's richest prize list—will be awarded winners. The traditional and coveted Louis Upright Memorial Trophy will be awarded Best Dog in Show.

Surprise on Silver Year

A surprise party for Jan and Al Refsnider last week on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary was shared not only by their friends, but by their three-week-old daughter, Jane Alice. Another daughter, Mrs. John Rucker, was hostess at her home and was assisted by the Refsnider's other daughters, Judy and Janice, and their grandson Richard.

There was a silver cake and gifts of silver for the happy pair. Sharing the courtesy were Messrs. and Mmes. John Rucker, Doug Bartlett, Gary Cottrell, Hugh Walkington, Harry Davis, C. L. Davis of Long Beach, the Bob Simmonds of Los Angeles, Mrs. Velma Kin-cade, Mrs. Nellie Gates and daughter, Mary Lou Edwards, and J. D. Warner.

Shirley Buffum Robinson Radiant Bride of Cecil Carlyle Larson

Daughter of one of the Southland's most distinguished families, Miss Shirley Loreen Robinson, became the lovely bride of Cecil Carlyle Larson at 8 o'clock Saturday evening in Westwood Hills Community Methodist Church in Los Angeles, which her late father, John Wesley Robinson, established.

For the formal ceremony, attended by a multitude of Southland friends, the bride, daughter of Mrs. John Wesley Robinson of 2205 E. First St., Long Beach, was regally gowned in a cloud of candlelight tulle over taffeta. The bouffant skirt, over imported Brussels lace, cascaded into a cathedral-length train and a crown of lace and seed pearls held her illusion veil. She carried a teardrop bouquet of lilies of the valley and white orchids.

E. E. Buffum of Long Beach, grandfather of the bride, gave her in marriage. Performing the impressive ceremony were Dr. Ray W. Ragsdale and Rev. Leo C. Kline.

Wearing apple blossom rose tulle and taffeta gowns and tiny coronets were Miss Anita Robinson, sister of the bride, maid of honor, and Mrs. John Eldridge Stearns Dockweiler, matron of honor. Bridesmaids Misses Frances Reynolds, Susan Peyton, Jina Neal and Susan Rockwell, were in apple blossom green tulle and taffeta gowns. Susan Jane Larson, niece of the bridegroom, wearing white organdy dotted with tiny roses, dropped rose petals in the path of the beautiful bride as she walked to the altar.

Miles Blackwell Larson attended his brother as best man. The many guests were seated prior to the service by John Wesley Robinson III, Robert Buffum Robinson, brothers of the bride; Frederick Haverly Larson, Kelvin Keene Larson, brothers of the bridegroom, and Stanley Johnson. Assisting ushers were Ronald Jacobson, Richard Larsen and Peter Burger.

The reception took place in the church courtyard where the happy pair cut the first piece of a five-tiered cake. Later, the immediate families, bridal party, pastors and their wives, were entertained at the Bel-Air Hotel at a smaller reception. Large arrangements of white peonies graced the reception room.

Mr. and Mrs. Larson will board the Lurline for a three-week vacation in Hawaii and after returning will build their new home in Huntington Palisades.

The former Miss Robinson is a junior at UCLA, a member of Chimes and Kappa Kappa Gamma. Her maternal grandparents are the E. E. Buffums of Long Beach, and her paternal grandparents are Mrs. J. Wesley Robinson of Berkeley and the late Rev. Robinson. She is a third generation Californian. One of her forbears donated the land for College of the Pacific at Stockton and another was an early governor of the state.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Victor Larson of Pacific Palisades and Colorado, is a graduate of Mesa College, Colo., and of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. He served in the Air Force until 1950 and also attended UCLA where he was a member of Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity.

GOP Council Announces Date of Annual Fashion Benefit

By RUTH REECE
Press-Telegram Club Editor

Coffee, clothes, and international affairs? Is it just coincidence that Brazil announced this week an increase in the coffee production at the same time that Mrs. Logan H. Goodknight led off a series of coffee hours which will take place during the months of June and July, when the Long Beach Council of Republican Women will not be meeting in regular session?

Subject for discussion? Clothes, of course. Ticket captains met at Mrs. Goodknight's home Friday at 10 a. m. to discuss the annual fashion revue sponsored by this club. The event will take place Sept. 24 on the lawn of the Lakewood Country Club, and this year will start with a coffee hour at 11 a. m., with the show to follow at 12:30 p. m.

Fashions from Schick's will be featured. Mrs. Grace Schick and Maureen Benedict plan to leave by plane Tuesday for New York City to buy fall attire especially for this show, which always is one of the society events to open the autumn season.

Invited to the Friday morning meeting at Mrs. Goodknight's home, 42 La Linda Dr., were Mmes. Donald Spring, William Rosenlof and W. J. Gillis, representing the junior auxiliary of the council; Mrs. Myrl Cypher, representing the evening division; and the following members: Mmes. Lyman B. Sutter, H. N. Pierson, H. A. Zeldorf, George Christen, Francis B. Settle, R. M. Brougher, Glen Purvine, R. D. Hansen, Charles Van de Water Sr., Tell Tuffi, John Lee Elwell, H. O. Christianson.

Also Mmes. Lewis Reese, L. H. Brightman, Frank Richey, W. T. Stine, H. P. Dunlop, Leslie Smith, Frank J. Hardesty, Gladys O'Donnell, J. R. Grizzle, Ralph Bowdle, Arthur P. Addison, L. W. O'Bryan, and Floyd Muchmore.

Soroptimist

Mrs. Walter Shinnerer will be installed as president of the Soroptimist Club of Long Beach at the annual installation banquet Thursday at Lakewood Country Club. Mrs. Sally Phelan, outgoing president, will preside and Dr. Dorothy Hewitt will be installing officer. Also to be inducted will be officers of the United States, with a discussion period to follow. One will represent the liberal and the other the conservative viewpoint. Both are professors at Long Beach State College and both have taught abroad.

Reservations may be made with Mmes. Yunker or William Rosenlof. Mrs. Donald C. Spring, chairman of the junior auxiliary, announces that there will be no study session during July, August or September, but will have its workshop meeting at 10 a. m. Wednesday in Municipal Art Center, with Mrs. James A. Worsham presiding. The club will hear articles brought in for criticism, and at 11:30 a. m., Mrs. Ruth Andrews will be the leader for the short stories.

Mrs. Mary Campbell, poetry director, will discuss the light verse contest, awards in which were given to Mmes. Elizabeth Moore Tracy, Ella Heatly and Georgia Buckingham. In the short story contest, awards were made by the prose director, Mrs. Helen Gillum, and the contest judge, Mrs. Buckingham, to Mmes. Enola Chamberlain, Mrs. Santa Maria and Mae Herscher.

Al Williams of the city attorney's office, will speak on the "Accomplishments of the Eisenhower Administration to Date" at a meeting of the Young Republicans at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Officers and Executives Town Club.

The meeting will be open to the public, as usual, and all interested persons are invited, according to the Young Republicans' president, Ormond Vander Schaefer.

The current membership drive is now pushing over the 100 mark. The chairman, Harold Geyer, will be on hand to answer questions and to explain the merits and objectives of the local GOP group.

Junior Auxiliary to the Long Beach Council of Republican Women will hold its next study session at 12:30 p. m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Monroe Yunker, program chairman, at 1540 Ramallo Ave.

Two speakers, Drs. Ryland Madison and Richard Wilde, will discuss the foreign policy of the United States, with a discussion period to follow. One will represent the liberal and the other the conservative viewpoint. Both are professors at Long Beach State College and both have taught abroad.

Reservations may be made with Mmes. Yunker or William Rosenlof. Mrs. Donald C. Spring, chairman of the junior auxiliary, announces that there will be no study session during July, August or September, but will be resumed in October. Hostesses assisting Mrs. Yunker will be Mmes. Lyle C. Otterman, Harold E. Willhoit, and P. I. Wilsey Jr.

Mrs. Charles F. Van de Water of 4130 Chestnut Ave., will be hostess Tuesday to members and guests of Gaviota Chapter, Daughters of American Revolution at a 12:30 garden luncheon.

Assisting will be Mrs. Fred C. Murphey, chairman, and Mmes. Rupert McCook, James W. Bratton, Jean Brown, R. H. Clock, Donald Morgan, LeRoy Leatart, Helen Moore, Martha Stewart, R. R. Campbell, S. H. Wells, Helen Starr and Miss Marie Preston.

Appearing on the afternoon program will be Mrs. J. W. Cobler, flag chairman and Mrs. E. J. Weller who will give an account of her recent attendance at the Continental Congress in Washington, to which she was a delegate from the chapter. Mrs. Arthur S. Phillips, retiring regent, will preside at the meeting.

Window Shopping With Susan

HAPPY AND RADIANT is the June bride who chooses a candlelight Chantilly lace and tulle over satin wedding gown for her vow exchange. An original design by Sophia Bowden of New York, the gown is complemented by a sweetheart-shaped tiara of lace over satin, pearl trimmed. For that perfect little honeymoon dress is the one sketched on right of sculptured white cotton, sizes 10 to 16. Highly styled, the boat-shaped neck features eyelet lace interwoven with a tiny red tie, and soft pleats adorn the front skirt.

(For the name of the store showing these actual styles, phone Susan at 70-5951 from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday, or write Susan, Dept. A, Independent-Press-Telegram enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope).

Tri-Delta Tea Fetes Benefit Patronesses

The hospitality committee of Southern California Council of Delta Delta Delta honored patronesses of the organization's annual Christmas benefit at a "gold tea" a few days ago at the USC chapter house.

Attending from Long Beach were Mmes. Henry Viels, William Lightenberg and Stanleigh Lerler, members of the Long Beach Alliance Hospital Committee.

Mrs. John Rodgers, general chairman of the benefit, outlined briefly plans for the party next December.

During the past six years the Tri-Delta benefit has netted $6000, which has been given to the Children's Hospital for research on children's diseases.

Members of the Long Beach Alliance of Tri-Delta will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. K. Stowe, 253 Nieto Ave.

AMONG CAREER WOMEN

Helen Smith Receives Gavel From Local Insurance Group

By ANNE GILCHRIST

Thursday night was a gala one for Insurance Women's Club of Long Beach for it was on that evening that they held formal installation dinner meeting for their new officers in the Supper Room of the Lafayette Hotel. Installed as president was Mrs. Helen Smith (with Lloyd Smith Agency). Louise Campbell, regional director for Insurance Women, served as installing officer.

Serving with Mrs. Smith for the ensuing club year will be Jane Ann Campbell (Hattery and Bramble), vice president; Margaret Humphreys (Loyalty Group), recording secretary; Phyllis Warner (Burnham-List), corresponding secretary; Gloria Pieplow (John Kelly Insurance), treasurer; Jerry Bremer (Grand-Hillary), auditor. Those installed as directors were Ennis Mae Kirby, Katherine Kinney, Winnifred Benson, Connie Winkler, and Marie Eckles.

Decorations for the evening included a large triangle, the club's emblem, mounted in flowers and holding individual nosegays. As Mrs. Campbell installed each officer she presented her with one of the corsages from the triangle.

Retiring president, Marguerite Otto, was presented with her past president's pin, a specially prepared scrapbook recording the history of her year in office, and was gaily initiated into the ex-presidents group, "Helpful Exes."

Many special guests were present from several of the Insurance Women's Clubs of Southern California.

Altrusa Club will be hostess tomorrow night at an informal "Fun Night" party to be held at the home of member, Dr. Ethel West, 4432 Whitewood Ave., in Lakewood. The party, a get-acquainted affair for members, their husbands, and friends, will be from 8 to 11 p. m. and the hours will be gaily spent in conversation, competing in festive patio games, and around the punch bowl. The string quartette from the Long Beach City College will provide music throughout the evening. Wilma Hastings, Dr. West, Helen Smith, ways and means chairman, and Mary Lou Zehms, program chairman, are in charge of the affair.

At recent installation ceremonies of the Manuela Nieto Business and Professional Women's Club, held in the Woodruff Community Church, Alice Belknap (associated with Beryl Linville, Realtor) was installed as president for the 1933-34 club year. Ann Johnson Rogers, of Margaret Ives B. & P.W., served as installation officer and, in addition to the president, seated Mary Pierson (Globe Slicing Machine Co.), vice president; Elizabeth Derry (Hughes Junior High), corresponding secretary; Pat Freeman (People's Bank), treasurer; Marian Myers (fashion designer), recording secretary.

Spring Theme at Tea Today in Walter Crawford Home

This afternoon the Long Beach Philharmonic Juniors' annual spring installation and Mother-Daughter Tea will be given at the home of Mrs. Walter Crawford, 3401 E. Ocean Blvd., sponsor of the group, with Mrs. Latham Brightman entertaining. Mrs. John Harris will install the officers, presenting each new incoming officer with a corsage of white carnations from baskets of spring flowers.

New officers are Dorill Jones, president; Joanne Carverick, vice president; Marceta Hart, recording secretary; Dorothy Allgrim, corresponding secretary, and Nancy Nettelman, treasurer. The buffet table will be centered with red carnations, carrying out the spring motif for the event. Connie Lu Borg will provide background music for the installation, assisted by Ann Traifert and Louise Tripomy. Maycee Brightman, past president of the organization, will present the program for the afternoon. Honored guests of the group will be Dr. and Mrs. John Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Nicolas Furjanick and Miss Ruth Grant.

Mrs. Calvin Lauer has assisted Mrs. Walter Crawford as sponsor of the group for the past season. This event will close the 1952-53 season of the Long Beach Junior Philharmonic Association.

Two DAR Chapters Announce Luncheons

Mrs. Russell E. Wyatt will be installed as regent of Los Cerritos Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at a luncheon meeting Tuesday in Lafayette Hotel. Installing officer will be Mrs. William M. Miller, past regent.

Other new officers to be inducted are Mrs. Charles S. Howe, vice regent; Mrs. M. Irene Anderson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Clifford Shepherd, recording secretary; Mrs. L. J. Smith, historian; Mrs. Arthur Enders, registrar; Mrs. Clarence Kelly, treasurer, and Mrs. W. F. Robinson, chaplain.

Miss Margaret Wyatt, good citizenship chairman for the junior high school good citizenship awards, presented medals to Jimmie Fukumoto of William Logan Stevens Jr. High School; Dianne Delaverga of Washington Junior High School, and Janet Alice Dorrans of Hughes Jr. High School. The awards were made at a recent luncheon of the chapter.

Mrs. Robert S. MacGregor, retiring regent, recently announced that Los Cerritos chapter received honorable mention for its work in national defense under the chairmanship of Miss Wyatt and that the chapter had received word from Mrs. Ruth Apperson Rous, state regent of the DAR, that a new committee had been established by the national DAR with Mrs. Robert MacGregor appointed as state chairman. The new committee will be known as the Honor Roll Committee.

A patio luncheon at the home of Mrs. R. N. Clingan, 3419 Chatwin Ave., for members of Long Beach chapter, DAR, is set for noon Tuesday. It will mark the close of the year's activities for the chapter. Miss Laura Moore, regent, will name her committees for the ensuing year, and after a brief business session, the afternoon will be devoted to bridge and canasta. Reservations are to be made with Mmes. Martin T. Cronin or Glen Taylor.

Newlyweds Residing Here

Newlyweds in this city are Mr. and Mrs. John B. Ghio, who were married in the First Congregational Church with Rev. Isaac McRae officiating.

The bride, the former Miss Alberta H. Blackman, was attired in white nylon net and lace over satin with a fingertip veil which fell from a crown set with seed pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses with white nylon streamers.

Miss Zana Redder, attended the bride as maid of honor. Joanna Oswald served as bridesmaid. Attending the bridegroom as best man was Frank Acalin. Ushers were Noel Tamburish and Fred Oswald. The ceremony was followed by a reception in the church parlor.

Both the young persons have attended San Pedro High. The bride also attended UCLA. They will reside at 1731 Chestnut Ave.

Noreli Branstetter Now Mrs. D. G. Brown

Lovely in her white nylon and Chantilly lace gown was the former Miss Noreli Branstetter when she repeated marriage vows with Donald George in an afternoon ceremony in May at Our Saviour's Lutheran Church.

The attractive bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Porter B. Branstetter of 3852 Charmagne Ave., completed her bridal attire by wearing an illusion veil which fell from a pearl crown and carried three white orchids on a white Bible.

Beverly Volkman of Milwaukee, Wis., and Larry Nelson were the couple's only attendants. Frank Kubie and Nicholas Drach seated the 135 guests prior to the vow exchange. Mr. Branstetter gave his daughter in marriage.

A reception followed the ceremony at the church and then a small supper party was given in the Branstetter home. After honeymooning at Lake Tahoe and San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Brown are at home to their friends at 219 Nieto Ave.

Mrs. Brown is a graduate of North Hollywood High and attended Brigham Young University and Colorado A. & M. She has been a member of Singers' Workshop of Long Beach. Her husband, son of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Brown of Oakland, is a graduate of the University of Illinois with a degree in aeronautical engineering.

The prospective bridegroom is now serving in the Army as an aerial photographer. The couple will reside in Long Beach.

Joan Fries Is Lovely in White Satin Wedding Gown

The former Miss Joan Mary Fries, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fries of 1361 Taper St., became the bride of William Visser of Norwalk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jan Visser of Langaraan, Holland, in an impressive morning service May 30 in St. Lucy's Catholic Church.

The bride was attractively gowned in white slipper satin styled with sweetheart neckline and trimmed with seed pearls. The skirt extended into a cathedral-length train. A pearl head-dress held her veil of illusion and she carried an arm bouquet of white orchids, lilies of the valley and stephanotis.

In the bridal entourage were flower girls Connie Jo Dow and Deanna Droogh; Mrs. Jack Dow, sister of the bride, matron of honor; Theodore Visser, best man, and Mike Suak, usher. A reception was given in the parish hall, after which the pair left on a wedding trip to the Bay area. After June 10 they will reside at 4497 Banner Dr.

The new Mrs. Visser is a graduate of St. Anthony's High and both she and her husband are members of Scots Club. Her husband was educated in Holland.

Gift Shower for New Bride

Mrs. Merrill Madden, the former Mary Ellen Newman, was honored at a bridal shower recently in the John Barnes residence, 919 Orange Ave., when hostesses were Mrs. Barnes and her daughters, Mmes. Charles Bever, Martin Bratti, Robert Dickinson and Miss Thelma Barnes. Mrs. E. A. Bergan and Mrs. John Barnes presided at the tea table.

Guests included Mmes. Betty Aten, C. C. Campbell, Ruth Funk, Ruth Foley, Dona Foss, Adalide McClellan, Florence Kinder, E. A. Bergan, Frank Barnes, Lloyd Barnes, Ora Bever, Earl Dickinson and Miss Josephine Blough.

A HONEYMOON in Carmel Valley followed the wedding ceremony uniting Miss Noel (Nonie) Kathleen Fraters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Fraters of Berkeley, and Ens. James Donald Murray, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Gordon Murray of Long Beach. They were married at St. Mary Magdalene Church, Berkeley. Ens. Murray, a graduate of UC, Berkeley, is attending electronics school at Treasure Island.

Sunbonnet decorated invitations to the Medical Auxiliary's "Country Capers" party have been mailed to members and their husbands. The informal fete will be Saturday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Phil Hansen, 3826 Woodruff Ave.

Mrs. Chester Laubscher, ways and means chairman, and her committee are in charge of the event, which will feature a cake and coffee booth and a white elephant booth.

The party will begin at 5 p. m. with horseshoe pitching and other outdoor games. Cards will be played, and Jimmy Whitmore's orchestra will provide music for dancing.

Proceeds will be used for the auxiliary's working fund.

Pre-Nuptial Party for Mary Wright

The prenuptial whirl has begun for Mary Emma Wright who will become the bride of Al Wright on July 11. Mrs. Richard Hatfield of Downey entertained in her home with Mrs. Edward Hemmerling and Miss Ruth Shirsishi at a personal shower for Miss Wright. Many of the guests were the bride-elect's Alpha Theta Phi Sorority sisters from University of Redlands.

Sweetheart roses were used in profusion throughout the home for the occasion. Guests were Mrs. A. E. Wright of Yucaipa, mother of the bride-elect; Mrs. A. R. Wright, mother of the bridegroom-elect; Mrs. Gordon Silkwood of San Diego, his sister; Mmes. Bruce Woods, Stan Weaver; Misses Betty Lynn and Barbara Brent, all of Long Beach; Mmes. Don Kim, Jerry Shigaki, and Walt Gleckler and Miss Laura Long, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Charles Reiger, Redlands; Mrs. Edward Franzen, Huntington Park; Mrs. Fred Coats, Alhambra; Mrs. Duane Danielson, Norwalk; Mrs. Charles Mann, Arcadia; Miss Margie Stentz, San Gabriel, and from Whittier, Misses Jackie Ullman, Barbara Coombs, Frances Powell and Barbara Blake.

Emblem Club

Emblem Club will meet for sewing Tuesday at the home of Goldie Pennick, 3914 E. Fifth St., Mrs. Caroline Astley, chairman. A luncheon and canasta party is set for noon Thursday at Linden Hall to which the public is invited. Co-chairmen are Helen Green and Ellen Breanahan. Hostesses are Dee Wilson, Clarissa Odette, Jessie Locust and Helen Smith.

Mrs. Patrick Lyon

installation, Mrs. Grover Seguire Jr., outgoing president of the junior club, conducted a business session when reports were made by outgoing officers. For her last program of the year, Mrs. Marshall Keller presented a delightful musical interlude by the "Balladiers," a singing group composed of eight young men from Santa Ana.

The clubhouse was decorated with potted palm trees and arrangements of ivy and varicolored snapdragons. Mmes. Leland Pearce, Gray Hubbard and Grover Seguire Jr. were in charge of the decorations. Refreshments, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Alvin Haas, were served after the installation, with Mmes. Lyon, Tom Watson and J. Leonard Montague pouring at the coffee tables. Approximately 25 members of the senior club and their guests were welcomed.

Hostess

Mrs. Frank J. Halicus, outgoing chairman of Group X of Ebells Club, entertained her officers at a luncheon in her home. She presented each one with a gold glove holder.

OUR CHILDREN

Pupils, Though Bright, Need Tutoring in Missed Subjects

By ANGELO PATRI

If a bright child is allowed to omit certain classes in which, during ordinary school routine, he would have spent a term, he should be tutored in the fundamentals of the subjects. If this is not done the boy will be weak permanently in those lessons. As he progresses through the schools, this will cause him trouble and give his teachers a difficult time. Such "skipping" as is usually done is regrettable for the pupils, and hard on the teachers.

WCC Announces Group Sessions

The following groups of Woman's City Club will meet this week as follows:

Group Nine, noon luncheon Wednesday, at home of Mrs. C. H. Richwine, 3032 Vista St.; hostesses, Mmes. Frank E. Lyman and James P. Manning. Group 20, noon Wednesday; covered dish luncheon in Colonial Hall.

Group 17, noon Tuesday, covered dish luncheon; hostesses, Mmes. Mattie Parker, Ruth Manchester, Lela Ziegfried, and Anna Brunk.

Laurelmae, noon Thursday, luncheon at home of Mrs. Alice Bartlett, 3025 T. Second St., assisted by Mmes. Zela Lane. Group 13, noon Wednesday, luncheon at home of Mrs. V. H. Barden, 3348 E. First St.; co-hostesses, Mmes. Arthur Hesse and Marble Wells.

Group 14, noon Wednesday, individual luncheon—no hostess. Town Hall.

Executive board, Friday, home of Mrs. John Lynch, 650 Loma Ave.

Association with other children, participation in their conversation and their activities, is important to the growth of any child. The deprivation of such contacts will affect the future usefulness and happiness of a child.

Children are intended to grow slowly, through experience and by the example and the instruction of the parents and teachers. Praise of precocity is often in contradiction of child nature and is likely to be harmful.

Brunch for Miss Bristol

A brunch this morning at Balboa Bay Club will fete Miss Beverly Bristol, bride-elect of John D. Henderson. Hostess will be Miss Diane Gump. All white spring flowers and white satin streamers, tied with wedding bells, will extend the length of the long table.

Places will be marked for Mmes. Albert H. Bristol, Thomas Buys, John Krick, Mons Nelson, Thomas Sturges; Misses Nancy Green, Mary Myers, Peggy Maxwell, Elouise Larson, Betty Oberstar, Nancy Ridgeway, Janet Hart, Barbara Johnston, Virginia Abell, Coni Chace, Nancy Prior and Maril Wonsley.

After Adventure-Packed Life, Mrs. Barrows Just Relaxing

By SUE ROBERGE

Mrs. Marian Barrows wants to relax for awhile. As a visitor to Long Beach in the home of Mrs. Lorraine Ruprecht, 218½ Belmont Ave., she's doing just that with scarcely a thought of the future.

It isn't that the visitor shies away from excitement.

During the last decade she has lived in a rice paddy only a mud flat or two separated from 7000 Japanese war prisoners, barely escaped airplane crashes three different times, done on-the-spot research on war atrocities, helped in the grim task of recovering bodies of American Marines killed in World War II—and, last July, was an eye-witness of the earthquake that jolted terror and destruction through Tehachapi where she was an official at the women's prison.

Mrs. Barrow's long journey of adventure, danger and harsh reality began quietly just before the war in a Washington office building. She was attached to the information service of the Office of the President.

"We were getting the hot news," she says. "It was a good vantage point from which to watch the war boil up."

After Pearl Harbor, she worked for a while in the Office of War Information, and in the spring of 1942 she began training as one of the first women field directors of the Red Cross. She was the second woman named full field director in the South Pacific by the Red Cross.

When the Philippines were liberated in early spring, 1945, Mrs. Barrows was sent there as a Red Cross field director at the 29th Replacement Depot at Alabang, 22 miles inland from Manila.

"There I lived in a rice paddy. The women's compound had been a Japanese camp. Life was as raw as it possibly could be."

Mrs. Barrows remembers rats and cobras all around the encampment and "the horrible metallic shrieks of the prisoners" when the cobras got too near.

After living a year in her Alabang rice paddy, Mrs. Barrows moved on to Tokyo to do research for the War Department.

Still in the Army khakis she had worn in the Philippines, she island-hopped the South Pacific—Iwo Jima, Okinawa, Guam—retracing the sites of battles while the scars were still fresh.

She and other researchers were trying to find out the best ways of identifying and burying the dead Marines.

The War Department also sent Mrs. Barrows to Saipan and back to the Philippines to gather information on war crimes for the subsequent trials in Tokyo.

She also went to Hiroshima. "The first time I saw the crater was in a heavy mist with the wind blowing," recalls Mrs. Barrows. "It was a vast space of desolation with a very curious appearance—like unglazed pottery. There were a few charcoaled trees around the edges, but nothing in the crater. It looked like something coming up from hell."

All of Mrs. Barrows' travels in the South Pacific were by airplane. Twice planes she was riding on had to make emergency landings, and on her way back to the states aboard a C-54 she was in an "emergency crash" at Iwo Jima.

"There was nothing comfortable about those Army planes," says Mrs. Barrows. "The women always rode near the cockpit because the tail rattled so. The first time I was back on a commercial plane in the states, without thinking I headed straight for the cockpit."

Since giving up her Army khakis in 1949, Mrs. Barrows has been mainly interested in prison work. She was a supervisor counselor at Tehachapi from June, 1951, until the earthquake, and continued at the new women's prison at Corona until last April.

After the earthquake demolished the Tehachapi prison early that July morning, Mrs. Barrows was amazed at the "sense of honor so evident among the inmates."

"There was an emergency and the girls stood up to it."

The first night everyone slept on the ground, and the next day began the building of the tent city where the women could be housed until they were moved to Corona five weeks later.

Being most interested in what happens to the women when they come out of prison, she has this to say to those who have always been "on the outside":

"Everyone should realize that the girls come out with the handicap of a record and a number. We can all help these girls adjust to community life and make them feel accepted. But it takes a great deal of patience. The feeling of doing something for your fellow man in helping even one girl become a good citizen is worth all the effort."

"People are often afraid of the ex-con. Remember that the girl is afraid also of going out into a hostile atmosphere."

Hawaiian Supper Gay Event

To cap the climax of an unusually successful year, the junior group of University Women's Club held its annual spring social gathering in the attractive home of Mrs. William Hjorth, 3746 Cedar Ave. This year it took the form of an outdoor supper, served Hawaiian style, with guests seated on cushions on the ground and with the menu featuring traditional Hawaiian dishes.

Husbands of members were honor guests. After dinner, various activities were provided, including volleyball and, later, dancing in the den and patio and bridge and canasta.

Credit for the success of the affair goes to Mrs. Hjorth, who has served as chairman of the group for the 1952-53 season; also to Mrs. Charles Howe, social chairman for the group; to Mrs. Lawrence Stewart, reservations, and to Mrs. Herbert Bowerman, in charge of the bridge games.

Ten-Teens Dance

Members of Ten-Teens, invitational dance group for tenth graders, held its final dance last night in Town Hall. The ballroom was colorfully decorated with balloons, confetti, and spring flowers. Mrs. Monroe H. Hubbell was in charge of arrangements, assisted by the following patronesses, Misses Robert Seares, J. S. Henderson, Frank James, J. W. Robbins, W. B. Rowley, C. V. Jackson, M. F. Lourtie, Leon De Smith, L. H. Foust, Wenzel Fabera, Col. Craig, P. H. Akersborg and S. F. Cochran.

School Menus

List Dishes at Cafeterias

The following menus will be served in Long Beach elementary schools in the week of June 8-12:

MONDAY: Italian spaghetti, buttered peas, fruit cup, toasted French bread, milk.

TUESDAY: Chopped steak on mashed potatoes, frozen mixed vegetables, celery sticks with cheese wedge, ½ whole wheat sandwich, milk.

WEDNESDAY: Beef-ricer casserole, buttered beets, jello with diced fruit, ½ peanut butter sandwich, milk.

THURSDAY: Turkey pie with biscuit topping, cut green beans, quartered orange, gaiety cookie, milk.

WEDNESDAY: Beef-ricer casserole, fresh carrots, pineapple and cottage cheese salad, ½ whole wheat sandwich, milk.

THURSDAY: Turkey pie with biscuit topping, frozen spinach, molded cranberry and orange salad, gaiety cookie, milk.

FRIDAY: Cheese enchiladas or baked fillet of cod, garden salad with egg garnish, and French dressing, fruit cup, ½ whole wheat sandwich, milk.

Soup sells for 12¢, the main hot dish 12¢, vegetables 7¢, vegetable salad 12¢, fruit salads 15¢, plain cottage cheese 10¢, sandwich 15¢, all desserts 10¢. Milk, orange juice, fruit and ice cream are sold every day.

Naval Station Plans Picnic

Annual Naval Station picnic, co-sponsored by the U. S. Naval Station Civilian Welfare and Recreation Association and the Civilian Cafeteria Association, will be given Sunday, June 14, at Recreation Park.

The picnic will start at 1 p. m. with a softball game, and beginning at 2 p. m. there will be games for adults as well as children. Prizes will be awarded to winners of the various contests, and there will be entertainment by the Ben & Sally Studio. A large deep freeze will be given away as a door award.

Free lunch will be served from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. to all members of the association and their families upon presentation of their membership card. A king and queen of the Naval Station will be crowned at the picnic after being chosen by popular vote by the employees of the station before the picnic.

Wives of Navy Doctors Travel to Laguna Beach Wednesday

By VIRGINIA NEWTON

It's Anchors Aweigh for the members of that popular club, Wives of Navy Doctors, for their next get-together will be a short jaunt away from the home base. Members are reminded that they will journey to Laguna Beach Wednesday to gather at 11:45 at Victor Hugo for their June bride's luncheon party. Joining them will be the Doctors' Wives Club from Corona Naval Hospital.

Reservations and requests for transportation should be called in to Mrs. Fred Rohow of 2135 Bermuda St., by tomorrow noon. This is a no-host party and everyone is urged to be present for a gay afternoon.

Hate to tell you, but those nice folks, Comdr. and Mrs. David Nash and three children, left for Coronado and new residence there last Friday.

Mrs. G. E. Griggs will be hostess to the wives of officers attached to the USS Manchester Tuesday at a farewell party in Officers Club, Allen Center.

Wednesday the wives of officers attached to the USS Menard had the first of a series of monthly luncheon parties at Officers Club, Allen Center.

Lt. Comdr. John S. Alexandria, commanding officer of the USS Thompson, was host an evening last week to a group of executives from Columbia Picture Studio at a buffet supper aboard the ship.

Wives of officers attached to the mine sweepers based here will gather June 17 at the Officers Club, Allen Center, for luncheon. Hostesses will be Mrs. H. Roelfsen and Mrs. R. Barton.

New arrivals and new home owners here are Maj. and Mrs. George R. Burke of 1041 Ori-zaba Ave. and small daughter, Mrs. Burke is anxious that any Marine officer's wife interested in forming a Marine Officers Wives Bridge Club contact her.

Expected home this month from Stanford is Navy Cadet John L. Kelly Jr., who is with the naval ROTC unit at the university. He'll be home about the time his sister Fern, who's a former private in Air Force, graduates from Dental Assistants School. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Kelly of 4225 Myrtle Ave.

Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. W. A. Pace and children have had at their house guest from New Orleans, Lt. Franklin Jones, USMC, who is now stationed temporarily at Camp Pendleton.

Hear that Maj. W. W. Day, USMC, got home safely from Korea after many months there. He and Mrs. Day and daughter, of this city, are on their way to Camp Lejeune.

It's "moving daze" at the Griggs household now and Mrs. Griggs and the two children are busy getting ready to leave with Capt. Griggs for two months in Washington, D. C.; and from there they'll be South America bound; destination Brazil!

Capt. G. E. Griggs is being relieved as commanding officer of the USS Manchester and is expected home shortly.

Comdr. and Mrs. Steve Balaban are jubilant over the arrival of a baby boy (after two girls on two previous trips from the store.)

New president of the Coast Guard Officers Wives Club, Mrs. E. A. Poulter, announced that the club will adjourn until next October. During the summer months the group will hold informal luncheon and bridge parties on the date that usually is reserved for the club meeting.

At the closing meeting recently the following new officers were installed by Mrs. W. J. Edwards: President, Mrs. E. A.

Watch Small Cards to Win

Most players pay careful attention to the aces, kings, and queens, but only the fine player is careful about the lower cards. In today's hand the contract depended on correct manipulation of an eight and a seven.

North's free raise to two spades to today's hand is not recommended. A free raise should show real value, and in this case North's hand was on the trashy side. South can not be blamed for jumping to game after North had indicated strength with his raise.

West opened the king of clubs and continued the suit, whereupon South ruffed. Declarer drew two rounds of trumps with the ace and king and hopefully led a low heart towards dummy's queen. He hoped to find the hearts breaking 3-3, with the jack in the East hand.

When dummy put up the queen of hearts, East won with the ace. East returned a low diamond, and South played low, hoping that the opponents would be unable to force out his ace on the next round. West won with the king of diamonds and returned the suit, and South was disappointed.

when East was able to play the 10 of diamonds and thus force out the ace.

Now everything depended on the hearts. South had already lost three tricks and had to win three heart tricks in order to discard the last losing diamond from dummy.

Declarer entered dummy by leading the nine of spades to dummy's 10 and returned the eight of hearts. East naturally played low, and South finessed the 10 of hearts. When West dropped the nine of hearts, South led his last trump to dummy's queen and returned the six of hearts. This enabled him to win a finesse with the seven of hearts and cash the king of hearts to discard the last diamond from dummy.

South would have lost his contract if he had failed to play the eight of hearts on the second round of that suit. He had to be able to win the third heart trick with the seven in his own hand, which would be impossible if dummy still held the eight of hearts.

Lakewood Club

Lakewood Women's Club has scheduled two group meetings. The craft and sewing will meet June 18 at 8 p. m. with Mrs. J. E. Gill, 5564 Carita, and the afternoon bridge will meet at 1 p. m. June 9 with Mrs. Guber Hickman, 4803 Levelside.

Others include Mrs. John B. Thomas, guard; Mrs. Floyd Hammond and Mrs. Ida Baker, trustees; Mrs. Marshall Fox, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Stanley L. Deal, marshal; Mrs. Wilber Douglas, musician; Mrs. J. Davis, flag bearer; Mrs. Edward C. Shelley, historian; Mrs. H. Montgomery, parliamentarian; Mrs. Elmer P. Malmberg, publicity; Mrs. H. M. ### Civic Leader Proudful in Work as YMCA Executive

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

He's affectionately known as Mr. "Mac" . . . the possessor of an infectious, bubbling laugh. Thus we introduce to you our Chef of the Week, George F. McLean, executive secretary Armed Services YMCA.

Our "chef" considers his life full, and very pleasant. It reads like this: Born in Evanston, Ill.; it took an earthquake to bring him to California. His Dad, a contractor, brought the family to San Francisco in 1906. Mr. "Mac" attended San Francisco Bible College and after taking some special work at UC, found himself right in the middle of World War I. He spent 18 months of that in France, serving with the Headquarters Staff of the 49th Division.

It was in France, while helping in a "Y" Hut, that he received the inspiration for his present vocation. He applied for service, was accepted, and commissioned to serve with the Army of Occupation in Germany. Then fate tricked him, and before his discharge came through, his outfit was ordered home. He found himself in San Francisco with a job in Germany. The War Work Council there wholeheartedly approved his credentials, however, and he was assigned to Service Club, later becoming identified with the "Y" of San Francisco, where he served 23 years.

By this time, World War II had set in and our "chef" found himself right in the middle of USO work. He spent three years opening new USO Clubs in California and Arizona. The year '44 brought him to the position of executive secretary of the Long Beach Armed Services YMCA, where more than 6,000,000 men in uniform have been serviced since that time. A Rotarian, he is secretary of the Long Beach Ministerial Union, president of the board of trustees of First Presbyterian Church and is active in a variety of small jobs in community and "Y" circles. His hobby is his workshop, building his avocation, and he's extremely fussy about the whole operation. Most of his cooking is done in his own fireplace and barbecue pit which he accumulated himself. His recipe is Chili-Mac.

TODAY Mr. and Mrs. Cleatus Jones of 7037 Lime Ave. are announcing the betrothal of their daughter, Kay Frances Hanna, to James Wesley Lethers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lethers, 2310 Magnolia Ave. No date has been set for the wedding. The bride attended Jordan High and LBCC. Her fiancé is serving in the Air Force, stationed in Munich, Germany. He attended Poly High and LBCC.

SALLY CARR announced her engagement at Alpha Xi Delta chapter house at UC, Berkeley, Monday evening. Her fiancé is Ronald Bruce Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Parker of Hollywood. The bride-elect, who was graduated from Wilson High, is the daughter of Mrs. Monta D. Carr, 258-A Corona Ave., and the late Gordon S. Carr. The future bridegroom was graduated from UC, where he majored in geology.

Librarian Club Speaker

Mrs. Alice Dulin, new president of Alamitos Library Association, presided at a meeting of the group, together with her new corps of officers. High light of the day was a talk by Edwin Castagna, city librarian, who discussed Long Beach libraries. He spoke of the many facilities provided for the need and entertainment of the public, other than books, such as records, pictures, group discussions on history, world affairs, both ancient and modern, and emphasized the fact that Long Beach is one of the most advanced in the nation along these lines.

He also spoke of the need for larger buildings, pointing out that the present ones are inadequate to accommodate the staff and patrons because of the rapid increase in population. The motion picture, "The Library Story," was shown in connection with his remarks. Hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. Raymond Duffas and her committee: Mrs. F. W. Hunt, Arthur Scott and Charles Spangler.

Luncheon Date

Mrs. Cleo Hazard and Mrs. Emmaetta Hazard joined with Mrs. Roland Hazard, from Corona in a luncheon date at Knotts Berry Farm last Thursday, in the Indian Room.

Buffet Supper

A birthday buffet supper recently honored Mrs. H. A. Kuns when Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Lyons and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Shubert entertained in their home at 1990 Chestnut Ave.

The guest of honor was given gifts by the guests and cut a special birthday cake. Feting her were Messrs. and Mrs. J. L. Metzger, Robert Oylo, Richard Dilday and William Smith of Ventura. Also Mrs. Abbie Dominic, Evelyn Kingsbury and Noble Dilday and Mr. Kuns.

God holds the reins

... a deacon tells cowboys

SARASOTA, Fla.
THE BEE RIDGE Baptist Church here has found a way to get cowboys to attend services. Deacon Bert Platt (see below) preaches to them—on horseback!

"You won't get those fellows to church," he was told. "Maybe not," he said, "but I'll get the Church to them!"

Sending out announcements of the Cattlemen's Sunday School Class, he reported: "You won't even have to dismount!"

Riders from surrounding ranches came to hear him teach—in their own language. Sample:

- "God guides us, just as we guide our horses.
- "Our reins are in His hands.
- "Some of us are obstinate and balky. But trust God. He'll guide you."

Now, some of the cowboys are even coming to services inside the church. ■

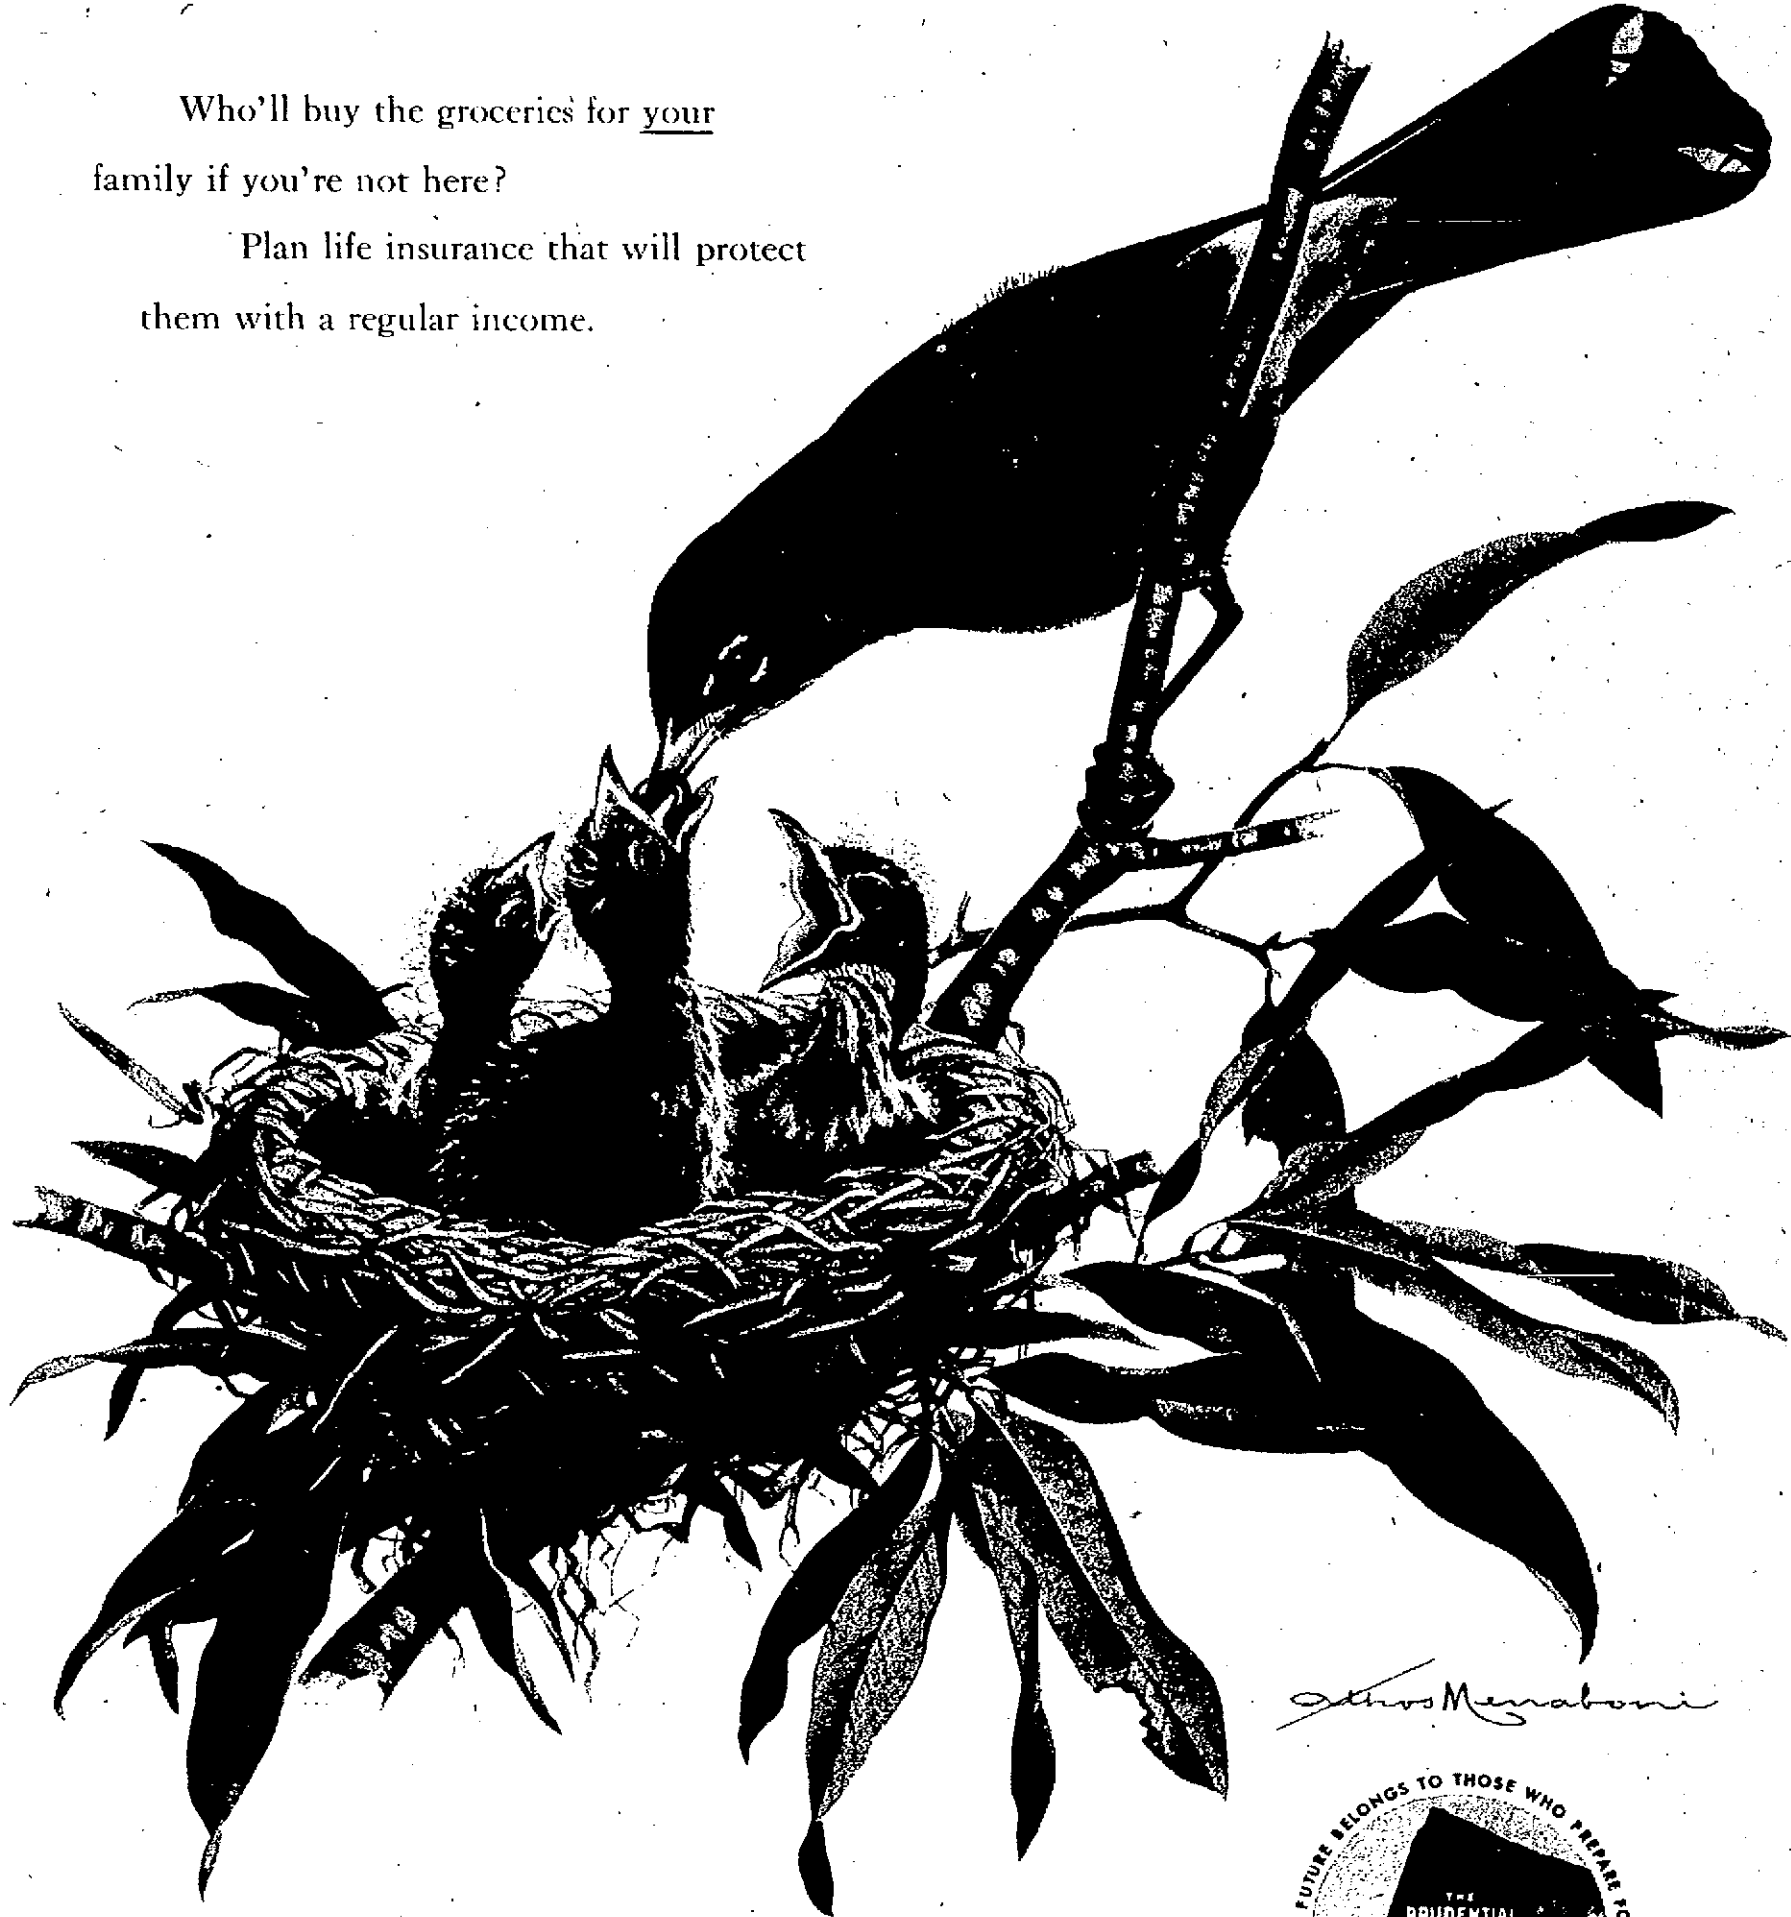

Sitting astride his horse, Sunday School teacher Bert Platt interprets the Scriptures for his "pupils" in church yard. Some come from 30 miles away.

GRANDMA AND DOLL: Mrs. Spitz cuddles one of "little people"—a Turkish doll.

She Had No Doll

NEW YORK CITY.

ONE DAY a grandmother set out to make a gift for her little granddaughter and wound up with a career.

Mrs. Selma Spitz, 54, is the grandmother. When she was a little girl she had no doll.

"As one of seven children, five of whom were boys, I was always too busy helping with household chores to own one," she says.

"Then when my own two children were born, they were boys. That again meant no dolls!"

But with the arrival of a granddaughter two years ago, Mrs. Spitz at last had her chance to dress a doll—and she decided to do something very special. She would dress sixteen of them as a present for her granddaughter—one for each of 16 countries which she thought had the most interesting costumes.

"I bought the dolls and made national costumes for each of them," she says.

How Many Petticoats?

"I began weeks of research in the public library. I had to learn a lot. I had to know what kind of headdress a Greek bride wears and how many petticoats a Dutch girl wears."

Mrs. Spitz' "International set" was beautiful when completed. Her granddaughter was charmed. So was a toy manufacturer who saw them and asked Mrs. Spitz to copy them for his line.*

Now, kits containing a doll and a dress pattern for any one of 64 foreign costumes Mrs. Spitz created are available. (Youngsters learn history and geography while they sew!)

"I hope," she says, "even grown-ups will feel a little closer to people in far-off lands when they meet one of my dolls!"

on parade: Wedding happy

(Here's how two Chicago youngsters acted after hearing about June weddings. For adult wedding kisses, see page 16)

"Pretend we're walking down the aisle," say Robin Galter, 6, and Kurt Hellwig, 7.

Trying to look dewy-eyed, Robin lets Kurt kiss her on cheek as she clutches bouquet.

Science throws new light on THE "MEAT" OF FRESH ORANGES!

The walls of the juice sacs and segments as well as the juice of the orange are remarkably rich in health factors.

HEALTH FACTORS FOUND IN THE "MEAT" OF FRESH ORANGES (in walls of the segments and juice sacs)

PROTOPECTINS

Help prevent many digestive ills and upsets in both adults and children. Aid regularity. Improve digestion, so you get more good from the food you eat.

INOSITOL (of the B vitamins)

One of the lipotropic substances credited with protecting the liver from harmful fatty deposits. Similar deposits are associated with hardening of the arteries and other degenerative diseases.

BIOFLAVONOIDS

Research indicates the bioflavonoids strengthen the tiny blood vessels of the body—help them keep elastic and youthful in their function.

PRO-VITAMIN A

Pro-vitamin A is changed in the body to vitamin A, which is necessary for children's growth and important for normal vision and healthy skin.

Oranges are rich in all four of these factors. The peeled whole orange contains 10 times as much protopectin and bioflavonoids, 3 to 6 times as much pro-vitamin A, and up to twice as much inositol as the strained juice alone.

The Protopectins—recently introduced to the public—and 3 other remarkable health factors in oranges are supplied largely by the "meat" of the fruit. Here's what they do for you... important new reasons to EAT oranges daily.

To Peel an Orange—Score skin in sixths. Strip off, leaving white material that clings naturally.

Eat an orange a day, nutritionists now advise

Orange juice, long famous for its vitamin C and other essentials, is a wise and delightful health habit. But nutritionists now point out that when the fruit is eaten whole, all the vitamin C is obtained and the other factors as well.

Among the eating fruits you give your family, don't fail to include fresh oranges. See that each member of the family eats at least one orange a day.

Keep a bowlful of Sunkist Oranges handy for snack-time and bedtime eating. Include one in every lunch box. Sunkist Oranges are tree-fresh, hand-selected. They are the finest grown anywhere in the world.

It's Her Toughest

But Babe Zaharias will win this one, too,

BLASTING OUT . . .

This is Mildred Babe Zaharias, great golf form. Here she's blasting out of a sand trap one of many shots for which she is famous.
The Babe is known among golfers as a rugged competitor who has won 100 trophies.

JUST A FEW weeks ago, Babe Didrikson Zaharias played some of the greatest golf I have ever seen.

It was in her home town of Beaumont, Texas. She beat Louise Suggs by one stroke and me by two. After her victory, she told me she would meet us all again at Phoenix, the next stop on the women's tour.

• "I want to drop in for a physical check-up first," she smiled.
"Guess I need one."

Not even then did she realize how desperately she required attention, for she was operated on almost immediately. And now she is faced with the greatest competition of her life, a fight against cancer.

I think that she will make it.

I know her best through having seen her in so many tournaments, and I've opposed her many times myself. The Babe's stamina and power on a course have been almost incredible.

I've seen her whack a ball nearly 300 yards—a shot any top professional would be proud of. But besides her almost unbelievable strength, she is a wonderful chipper, good with a wedge and a master in getting out of sand traps.

Even Baseball

BABE JUST has natural ability in everything! Everybody knows how she won Olympic track and field titles back in 1932. Later, she was one of the world's best basketball players. And she was even outstanding in baseball.

Once she was hitting golf balls in an exhibition before a baseball game at Yankee Stadium.

She didn't think this was enough for the customers, so she asked if she could join the infield practice. She whirled around expertly at third.

But she wasn't through even then. She stepped into the pitcher's box and tried to strike out Joe DiMaggio! She didn't, but Joe had to look alive to hit her pitches.

Fred Corcoran, who is tournament manager of the Ladies' P.G.A. and a leading sports authority, remembers sitting in a box with her before a Boston Red Sox double-header. She and Ted Williams exchanged ideas on hitting. Williams got six straight hits that day and barely missed a seventh.

• "Gosh," said the Babe in disappointment. Williams had managed one of the most amazing feats in baseball, but it just wasn't perfection as far as Babe was concerned!

The Babe can do anything—and will, I am sure, again.

Asks No Favors

SHE PLAYS the piano, the harmonica and almost any other instrument; cooks well enough to please her husband, the former wrestler, George Zaharias; is a marvelous ballroom dancer and once won a high school contest as a typist.

My friendship with her stems from golf. I met her at St. Augustine, Fla., in 1936 and I got to know her well both as a remarkable woman and as the grittiest golfer I have ever seen.

She asks no quarter. When Babe and I met in the second 18-hole play-off of the Weathervane cross-country championship in 1951, someone suggested that we split the $5,000 first prize and merely compete for the title.

"No," said the Babe immediately. "It's against my principles."

Sponsor Alvin Handmacher was so impressed that he immediately chipped in to give $2,500 to the loser anyway.

I happened to win that match, but I think the fact that Babe hadn't taken a practice round may have had something to do with it.

Her winning three golf

"world championships" at the Tam O'Shanter Club in Chicago and her streak of a dozen straight in amateur tournaments made her tops. Then she was the first woman ever to hold the American and British amateur titles in one year.

She has a rare sense of humor. When I won the 1951 Weathervane, she bowed on the 18th hole and salaamed after the final putt.

'I Pray ...'

JUST AS SHE rallied in her golf, so I pray that she will gain rapidly as a convalescent. In one famous tournament, she registered a miserable 83 in the first round. But the next day she needed an eight-foot putt on the final hole for a 65, which would have tied the all-time pro record for this particular Texas course. She missed, had a measly 66.

• The Babe and George Zaharias are a happy couple. George knows golf and he would not hesitate to offer the Babe some pointers on the practice tees. But not on the course. Out there, she has the concentration of a Ben Hogan, who made a big comeback himself after his bad auto accident.

But George often follows the Babe around the course, smoking a cigar.

"He does that," cracked the Babe once, "just to show me how the wind blows."

WAVING two guns, Babe accepts 1,000 silver dollars from Abe Schiller, Las Vegas club operator. The money will go to hospital in Beaumont where she was treated.

New Hope for Sleepless Millions

No Drugs... No Sedatives!

LATEST MEDICAL FINDINGS REVEALED ... If you have trouble sleeping—here's news that promises more refreshing sleep tonight, a brighter day tomorrow.

Recent medical studies indicate that a vital substance in your bloodstream may have a lot to do with how well you sleep. This substance, known medically as blood sugar, is an important source of nourishment for the brain.

At bedtime, and especially during the long nighttime hours without food, your supply of blood sugar may become seriously lowered. Thus, your brain and nervous system may suffer from insufficient "sleep food." You may feel too nervous to go to sleep... too restless to sleep well.

How you can help your body get needed "sleep food"

Drugs or sleeping pills can't supply "sleep food." And sweet, sugary foods and drinks provide only a quick jet of sugar that is too quickly burned up. But here is a way—a delicious, drugless way—to help your body get needed "sleep food." This sleep-aid is a POSTUM "NIGHTCAP"—a delicious drink made with Instant Postum and hot milk, taken shortly before retiring.

Your Postum "Nightcap" is good-tasting and safe—contains no drugs to harm you. Moreover, your Postum milk drink gives you easily digested nourishment that is slowly converted into blood sugar.

Thus, it helps assure the slow, steady flow of vital "sleep food" to your brain. That's why a Postum "Nightcap" helps you get refreshing sleep—the kind that leaves you rested, looking and feeling like new!

So safe, so easy—try it!

Every night before you retire, fix yourself a Postum "Nightcap." It's easy—add a rounded teaspoon of Instant Postum to a cup of hot milk, and stir. Try this for just 10 days. Then see if you aren't sleeping better—feeling fresher—looking like a new person! Get Instant Postum now, and start the 10-day test tonight!

Are Postum "Nightcaps" really effective?

Doctors have always known that a warm milk drink is an effective aid to sleep. The recent blood sugar studies offer additional reason why. As your own doctor can tell you, the Postum "Nightcap" is ideal: a warm, relaxing drink that tastes good... and Postum contains no caffeine, no drugs of any kind.

MERCURY, Nevada.

I DROVE OUT of Las Vegas one evening a couple of weeks ago.

If you've ever been to Las Vegas, you know what it's like—glittering lights, gambling halls filled with smoke, muffled sounds of people "pleading" with dice, cards and the little ball that pops around the roulette wheel.

It goes on all day—and all night. They line up, sometimes six or seven deep, waiting to get at the tables.

There's always music and the best Broadway and Hollywood entertainment money can buy.

This is America at its most frivolous—at its gaudiest.

But my car left all that behind as we started driving up into the fringe of the Mohave Desert. When you've driven a little while, you look out and see a lot—of nothing.

The road seems to stretch forever into a bleak and desolate wasteland.

Even the surrounding mountains, made by angry volcanos tens of thousands of years ago, are barren.

"If there's a good rain in the spring," I was told, "flowers in many soft colors come out in the desert."

But last spring there was no rain. So now even the cactus, some of it shaped like old, tired scarecrows, seemed thirsty.

Wear Old Clothes

WE PASSED a sign that said "Death Valley" was up ahead. That's the hottest place in the United States, they say.

But they're wrong.

I was going to the "hottest" place in the United States—and in the world.

It's called Mercury. It isn't a city, as you and I know cities. It's a small group of buildings out in the middle of nothing.

You could pass Mercury in a little sandstorm and not even know it's there. The buildings have just been painted, but that doesn't make any difference.

It blends into the desert.

They say it's best to wear old clothes in Mercury, because sand gets in everything—your hair, your mouth, your eyes.

Yet, in the middle of this vast, sandy deso-

He's wearing a suit for a "hot" job ...

LIEUT. RAYMOND S. LANDON, JR. models the outfit worn by on-site monitors. They go in toward "ground zero" after atom blast. He wears Army cap, goggles, breathing device, coveralls—taped over the buttonholes, gloves taped to sleeves and "booties," taped to pants legs. That's a "film badge" (over right pocket). He carries "dosimeter" and instrument to tell him how "hot" it is.

experts are discovering new ways to protect you

—By ROBERT P. GOLDMAN

lation, just 70 miles from gaudy Las Vegas, great pioneering work is being done.

It's work that may spell the difference between life and death—to you—whether you live in San Diego, Boston or out in the middle of Nebraska.

Mercury is the base, camp for the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada Proving Grounds. Here, military, scientific and civil defense experts are working for you, Mr. & Mrs. J. Q. Public.

And inside the heavily guarded proving grounds is an organization called "Radsafe" (short for radiological safety).

To Protect You

YOU PROBABLY HAVEN'T read about Radsafe before. This is one of the first published reports about it.

But from its work, civil defense experts are learning new facts vital to every American. They are learning the secrets of radiation, the invisible—possibly deadly—"hot" rays given off by the atom bomb.

What has civil defense actually learned from the recent series of atom tests here?

Working with the "real thing," they've learned how to protect you and your family from dangerous doses of radiation from an enemy atom bomb attack.

But they've learned a lot of other facts, too—facts that would be important in day-in-day-out living in an atom bombed town.

These include:

1—How to find people who get harmful radioactive ("hot") doses after a bombing.

2—How to determine which city blocks, stores, buildings and factories are safe to walk into after a bombing.

3—How to "decontaminate" (get the "hot" dust off) people, cars, things you touch and come in daily contact with.

4—How to handle clothing exposed to the dangerous radioactive rays. How to wash it so you can wear it again.

Just figuring out where people should walk in a bombed town, whether they should smoke, scratch their heads, take off their shoes—all this is practically a science in itself.

Civil defense has discovered:

► If a bomb were dropped and it was windy, some people would probably get "hot" dust in their hair. So it wouldn't be wise to run your fingers through your hair.

► Fingernails are natural traps for "hot" dust. Putting a cigarette in your mouth would be risky. You'd be exposing your nose and mouth to the dust.

► In an attack, civil defense would have to set up road blocks, clear certain areas, "monitor" buildings for radiation.

They're learning how to do just that—for your maximum safety.

What about the people who get radioactive dust on their shoes—in their pockets, and in their hair?

The 'Hot' Dump

CIVIL DEFENSE is learning that some buildings in a bombed city would have to have "hot" and "cold" doors.

People exposed to radiation would be allowed in the "hot" door only. They would be decontaminated (cleaned from head to toe) and then would leave via the "cold" door.

What if a bomb left "hot stuff" in front of important buildings?

It's likely that contaminated topsoil around the building would have to be cleared away, and put in a "hot" dump. Again, civil defense is learning how to do this the quickest way.

Robert Lee Corsbie, whose title is Director of Civil Effects for the test group here at Mercury, puts it this way:

"Civil defense people here are learning what the radiation problem would be like in their home towns if they ever had to face it."

A 'Dry Run'

IN A SENSE, it's preparation for a real attack, a "dry run" that represents a big milestone in U. S. civil defense planning.

But while civil defense works with Radsafe, to get facts, there are other sides to Radsafe's operation that could affect you.

The Air Force is a vital cog in the Radsafe setup—and it is learning how it could be more effective in the face of an atom attack.

Lieut. Col. Paul H. Fackler, from nearby Indian Springs Air Force Base, controls all aircraft in the restricted air space over the proving grounds during AEC tests. He says:

The tests here have provided valuable information on how to keep airmen and planes safe from radioactive dangers.

As part of this, the Air Force has learned how to decontaminate planes on a mass production basis. (They have even tested all the standard soaps you use in your kitchen.)

The Air Force has also learned how to get their planes ready to take off with the least possible delay.

They stay until it gets too 'hot'...

AIRMEN check a wingtip "sniffer" for radiation. Sniffer "collects" radioactive particles in the air after a blast. They are then studied by AEC scientists.

THEY'VE ALSO learned how to protect jet pilots and planes which have to fly in and around atomic clouds. (And they've learned that "hot" dust is whooshed through a jet engine too quickly to damage it.)

Again, that's only part of the heretofore untold Radsafe story. Radsafe is an astounding operation itself. The man in direct charge is lanky, straight-as-an-arrow Lieut. Col. Tom D. Collison.

Radsafe, he explains, is divided into three parts: "on-site," "off-site," and airborne. Generally, its job is to find out how "hot" things are after an atomic blast.

Let's take a look at what Radsafe does—through the eyes of an on-site "monitor."

Baby-faced, shy Lieut. Raymond S. Landon, Jr., 23, of Binghamton, N. Y., (see picture) pulls his goggles down over his eyes a few minutes before the blast. He wears the goggles—plus a homemade "man from Mars" outfit to protect him from "hot" dust.

Suddenly, after the "shot," he leaps into a truck and starts rolling toward the invisible gamma ray radiation.

Overhead, planes roar toward the blooming mushroom cloud. The jets whine up high, but a little helicopter putt-putts just a few feet over the ground, so close it seems you could reach out and touch it. (A radio-controlled pilotless "drone" crashed in one test.)

The Team Worked

OUT BEYOND the test site itself, Radsafe men (unseen by Lieut. Landon) wait to take precise readings on radioactive stuff that falls out of the air.

Meanwhile, Lieut. Landon, moving in closer to "ground zero," works feverishly reading his instruments. The dials tell him just how "hot" the area is.

► He may stay in the radioactive "sea" just a few minutes. He may stay longer. It all depends on how big a dose of radioactivity he himself is getting.

As he reads the dials, the numbers are radioed to a central control point. The report is fast. It may be only a few words.

Lieut. Landon hops out of the truck at certain predetermined points, takes a reading, shouts the number and hops back in the truck.

Sometimes these on-site monitors go in as close as a few hundred yards from ground zero. They start from a few miles out.

If things get too hot, (they can tell by special "dosimeters" they carry) they're supposed to roar out of the area in high gear. And a good many have.

In a recent test, Corsbie himself went in with on-site monitors to inspect a house which had been "clobbered" by the shot. He read his dosimeter and discovered he'd better get out in a hurry. So he did. (Like other on-site Radsafe men, Corsbie needed a couple of showers to decontaminate himself. His clothes, of course, had to be washed, thoroughly.)

No Radsafe men, on-site, off-site or in the air, have ever got a dangerous dose—but one man had so much hot dust in his eyebrows he had to have them shaved off!

And no one within a 200-mile radius of the test site, Radsafe's "jurisdiction," has ever got a harmful dose.

Specifically, this is Radsafe's job:

1—To protect test personnel (scientists and others) from radiological dangers.

2—To get radiological information within a 200-mile radius of the test site and recommend protective measures if necessary.

3—To escort test parties into the area, so they may safely recover their experimental animals and scientific instruments.

That's why Lieut. Landon was in the immediate test area finding out how "hot" it was. And that's why other Radsafe men work around the site and over it—up in the sky.

They report by radio just what the radiological situation is after a blast. They provide the basic storehouse of information about "hot" stuff.

► Radsafe is made up of 250 Army, Navy and Air Force experts, highly trained in radiological safety. In addition, there are scientists from the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory.

Also participating are experts from the U. S. Public Health Service (and civil defense).

Radsafe is well coordinated. It has to be.

It's men are learning about atomic radiation —by getting up to their necks in it.

THIS IS how Lieut. Landon "reads" his "dosimeter" when he's in the "hot" area.

FILM BADGE: It provides still another way to measure radioactivity after an atom test.

BOOTIES are monitored to learn how much radioactive dust they've picked up.

Iron faster, easier with LINIT starch!

Amazing "Deep-Starching" Action Does It! Gives That Like-New Look to Cottons, Restores Beauty-Finish, Too!

ONLY LINIT makes a thin fluid starch that gets deep down into fabrics...coats each fibre evenly...That's why your iron glides so smoothly, easily!

Today, women all over America are switching to wonderful Linit Starch—and no wonder. They've discovered that Linit is the only starch with remarkable "deep-starching" action that gives better results and easier ironing.

What's more, it's so easy to make Linit...no fuss, no cooking at all. Follow the simple directions on the packages for wonderful results only Linit can give...easier ironing and "like-new" beauty-finish.

IRON WITH EASE!

It's simply amazing how much easier ironing is when you starch with Linit. No thick-and-thin starchy patches, but a smooth even finish...no unsightly white spots. Your iron simply flies!

Clothes stay cleaner

The protective finish given by Linit Starch resists soiling...helps to keep cottons fresh and dainty. Dresses and blouses look as crisp and pretty as the day you bought them! Linit Starch helps to seal the surface against dirt so that the next washing is easier.

How deep-starching action works

You don't want a starch that's lazy...one that does just a surface job, a thick starch that coats only the top of the fabric. Protect all the fabric with deep-starching Linit...its thin fluid mixture gets down into, not onto, the fabric...coats each fibre smoothly, evenly.

Only Linit has this deep-starching action that makes ironing easier...gives cottons that "like-new" look.

Starch your children's dresses and playsuits with Linit—and see how much fresher and newer they look. And see how they resist dirt, after Linit's amazing "deep-starching" action.

Next time you shop pick up a package of Linit Starch...try it soon, for an easier Monday!

Linit gives the new cottons that linen-like beauty-finish!

Linit makes a thin fluid mixture especially processed to give wonderful results with all cottons (see easy directions on package). This even holds true for the brand-new cottons made with special finishes—new weights and weaves—rich colors and patterns—interesting new textured surfaces. Yes, even the new cottons have a marvelous linen-like luxury finish when you starch with Linit.

How to make summertime cottons look fresher, cleaner, newer!

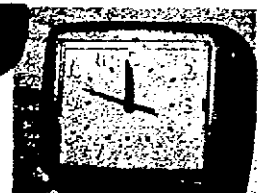

In summer, windows let in dust and dirt and what this does to curtains, only housewives know. So next time you wash curtains, starch with Linit and see the difference! See how much fresher, crisper your curtains turn out; how much easier to iron. See how they resist dirt after Linit's amazing "deep-starching" action; how much cleaner, newer they look!

Miracle Power

You can't argue with facts. Wetmore Hodges & Associates, independent laboratory, road tested two engines—one with Miracle Power, one without.

One of many benefits of Miracle Power proved by this test is its capacity to lubricate upper cylinders. Oil alone won't lubricate here because temperatures may reach up to 1400° and oil burns at 550°. But Miracle Power, a blend of petroleum super lubricants including colloidal synthetic graphite in suspension, withstands far greater heat. That's why the Miracle Power test engine had only half as much bore wear as the engine without Miracle Power.

Other results: After 33,703 miles, the Miracle Power engine was using 33% less oil, had 13% greater compression, 84% more spark plug life, 49% less cylinder wear, 13% less ring wear.

Use Miracle Power in your gas and oil—accept no substitutes.

Be your own weather man

Rain or shine, you won't be caught off guard if you keep an eye on the sky . . .

BUTLER, N.J.
ON LONG ISLAND Sound one hot July day, hundreds of small craft floated almost motionless.

The sun blazed fiercely out of a clear sky. Sails hung limp in the stifling air. That morning, weather reports had mentioned nothing about the possibility of a storm . . . "today, fair and hot, not much change in temperature"

But off to the south, low on the horizon, an ominous yellowish haze seemed to be forming.

Then, without warning, the sky darkened and a howling squall churned up the Sound. When it passed, seven people had been drowned, hundreds of craft sunk.

This spring, savage tornadoes, striking without warning from weather bureau stations, tore through the South from Texas to Georgia. Their toll: over 115 dead, $40,000,000 damage.

In the months ahead, a flash flood, a line squall or a tornado may strike your community, even though weather reports show no indication of danger.

Old Rules Still Apply

HOW ARE these things possible? Why, you may well ask, are we not warned in advance? The fault, I'm afraid, is partly ours. We haven't learned simple fundamentals about weather. At the same time we're forgetting the weather wisdom of our elders. Many old saws and sayings have good basis in scientific fact.

A twinge of rheumatism or an ache in a once-broken bone, for example, indicates that atmospheric pressure is decreasing. That actually foretells a change.

Best known of the old sayings is probably: "Red sky at dawning, sailor take warning. Red sky at night, sailor's delight."

This is still reliable for our latitudes. Our weather moves toward us from the west in alternate cycles of good and bad. Fair weather is associated with descending currents of air which bring down atmospheric dust. When the sun is close to the horizon, it shines red through this dust. And so, when the sun rises red, good weather is leaving us. When it sets red, good weather is headed our way.

The approach of storms is often forecast by movements in the highest clouds, the feathery cirrus. When these thin-trails of ice crystals stream eastward, thickening and growing more scalloped, a storm is surely approaching you. "Mares' tails changing to mackerel sky" is one of the oldest and surest of portents.

Ring Around Moon?

ARING around the moon is produced by light reflected (or refracted) from the myriad ice crystals of which cirrus clouds are composed. It is not always a sure sign of bad weather, unless the clouds thicken and move lower.

The legend of the groundhog is considered by most meteorologists as pure superstition. The older saying is: "If Candlemas be fair and clear, there will be two winters in the year."

Candlemas is February 2, about the middle of the winter season. Yet, with the recent discovery of the Jet Stream flowing some seven miles above our heads, and with the further knowledge that its changing path seems to control our surface weather over a cycle of four to six weeks, we can conclude that a clear spell at the beginning of February foretells a period of winter storminess for the second half of the month.

What Does Dew Mean?

DEW AT nightfall is a sign of a clear, cool night. In autumn, particularly, when the air is still, this is the time to watch out for sudden patches of fog in hollows and lowlands.

The earth then is stripped of its blanket of cloud and is radiating away its excess heat during the night. With no wind to stir the air, moisture in the atmosphere will condense into fog.

These are facts that can help you second-guess weather experts.

A good way to keep from being caught off guard by the weather, summer or winter, is to:

- Study weather maps and reports in newspapers.
- Listen to radio reports on weather as often as possible.
- Watch the clouds, note the direction of the wind.

There may even be times when you can find that the weather man has gone way out on a limb—a limb which the weather, in its own unpredictable way, is busily engaged in sawing off completely.

MACKEREL SKY, seen ahead of "warm front," usually means rain.

RAIN: here's the cumulonimbus cloud, familiar "thunderhead."

A PIE FOR SUMMER

◀ Milk, cream and the fruits of summer make a beautiful pie in a toasted coconut pie shell.

By Beth Merriman, PARADE'S FOOD EDITOR

IT'S the PERFECT pie for June—three luscious layers in a brand-new version of the toasted coconut pie shell. One layer combines ripe, red strawberries and sunny pineapple, the next uses June's plentiful milk in a velvety custard, and the top is a luxurious swirl of whipped cream.

SWEET COCONUT PIE SHELL

Spread 9-inch pie pan with 1 tablespoon softened butter. Combine 1 can moist-pack shredded coconut with just enough condensed milk to hold it together (about 2 tablespoons). Press into pie pan. Then bake in a moderate oven, 325°F., 15 minutes or until golden brown. Cool.

FRUITED CREAM PIE

1½ envelopes (1½ table- spoons) unflavored gelatine	1 cup sliced strawberries
2 cups milk	1 cup diced canned pineapple
6 tablespoons sugar	1 tablespoon fine granulated sugar
½ teaspoon salt	Sweet Coconut Pie Shell
2 egg yolks	½ pint heavy cream, whipped
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 egg whites

Sprinkle gelatine on milk; heat over hot water. Add sugar and salt; dissolve. Beat egg yolks. Add hot milk to beaten yolks; cook over hot water, stirring until mixture coats spoon. Add vanilla. Chill until mixture begins to stiffen. Beat egg whites stiff; fold in. Combine fruits; add fine granulated sugar; pour into pie shell. Pour custard mix over fruit. Chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream and strawberries.

AN EASY WAY to make a summertime pie shell is to blend some sweetened condensed milk with shredded coconut and bake briefly.

By murder and piracy

They smuggle CIGARETTES!

BY FREDERIC SONDERN, JR.

Piles of American cigarettes lie on

TANGIER, North Africa. MILLIONS OF Europeans, during the recent years of war and occupation, have acquired a taste for American cigarettes. But their various governments have profitable tobacco monopolies and impose prohibitive excise taxes on imported brands.

As a result, approximately 30 million dollars' worth of U. S. cigarettes will be smuggled this year into Italy, France and Spain.

This huge and highly organized business, in which Americans play an important part, has attracted some of the most energetic and resourceful badmen of three continents. In Smugglers' Triangle—as the Western Mediterranean between the ports of Tangier, Genoa and Marseilles is known—gun battles on the high seas, piracy, murder and every kind of skulduggery are matters of course in a wild conflict with the law.

They Come From Tangier

H EADQUARTERS of the smuggling operation is the International Port of Tangier, strategically located on the shore of North Africa 20 miles across the Strait of Gibraltar from Spain.

Now ruled by an inefficient combination of eight nations, including the United States, Tangier harbors one of the greatest concentrations of wanted criminals in the world. Its small port is crowded with sleek, fast boats flying British, American, Dutch and other flags. This is the Tangier smuggling fleet, available for anything if the price is right.

Not far from Tangier's waterfront in modern office buildings are the luxurious offices of the members of the unofficial but tightly organized cigarette smugglers' association.

Two big firms control the field. One of them may buy as many as five thousand cases of cigarettes in New York and resell them to brokers for export.

Since all exports of American goods from Tangier must be approved by the U. S. Consulate General, the broker presents a manifest which is accurate enough except that the destination—usually stated as Israel, Egypt or Turkey—is fictitious. But since cigarettes are not rated strategic materials, it is not the Consulate's business to check on where they are actually going.

Each "broker" has his smuggler captain or group of captains, crusty salts of every nationality.

Behind the violent captains and their crews are the shrewd brains of the Tangier brokers. The operation of one Rome distributor is typical.

"Fishing boats" meet his runners off the Italian 12-mile limit and transport the contraband to a beach not far from Rome. There, it is transferred to trucks, farm carts or automobiles. These usually have ingeniously constructed hiding places under floor-boards, fake gas tanks and hollow tops.

ABOARD fishing boat, the officer checks on papers. Smugglers usually have a false license to get them inside the 12-mile limit off Italy.

The Guardia di Finanza (finance guard) sets up road blocks in areas where they know smuggling is going on. They're shrewd at discovering these dodges. But when they find one, another is invented.

From the beach, the contraband is taken to secret warehouses—caves, ruined houses, abandoned barns with concealed entrances to cobwebbed cellars. From these depots, smaller lots of cigarettes are brought into Rome, usually by auto.

The Retail Army

H ERE another staff takes over to distribute them in 10- and 20-carton lots to the barbers, barmen, street vendors, hotel porters and others who form the vast army of final retailers.

Until recently, the undisputed master broker was a mysterious Monsieur Emil Gabut. Gabut's real name is Albert Marius Gerin. Brought up on the Marseilles waterfront, this sharp-faced little man was sent in 1941 to Devil's Island for murder. Seven years later he killed two guards in the penal colony and escaped.

Within a year, Gabut had become an underworld power in the western Mediterranean. He acquired five fast U. S. naval craft sold as war surplus and two Italian flying boats.

As one of his boats loaded with cigarettes put in toward the Bay of Genoa, for example, a plane searched the area for revenue cutters and observers on shore reported the whereabouts of Guardia di Finanza patrols. With this sort of careful planning, he soon owned three luxurious villas, a yacht and a fleet of cars.

But Gabut met with an accident. He liked to check occasionally on the operation of his smaller units. By sheer chance, he was caught in a truck loaded with contraband cigarettes by a patrol in Italy.

HAILING A SUSPICIOUS FISHERMAN

Italian finance guard (see story) uses megaphone to stop fishing boat if that doesn't work. he'll use a machine gun deck of schooner tagged by Italian police. They were intended for black-market sale.

His picture and fingerprints were sent to police headquarters in Rome where Dr. Giuseppe Dosi, Italy's great detective chief, identified them as belonging to Albert Gerin, murderer, wanted by the French authorities. Extradited to France, Gerin is again in jail for life.

The economics of smuggling American cigarettes into France and Italy allows attractive profits at all levels. The original importer in Tangier pays a wholesale price of about 10 cents a pack. After passing through the hands of the broker, and the distributor ashore, the retailer sells the package for 40 cents. The official price is 60 cents.

The efficient, but hopelessly understaffed, Guardia di Finanza in Italy (and its French counterpart) has a hard war to fight. It's hard for 20 coast guard cutters to patrol a 2000-mile coastline.

On shore, the revenue agent is hamstrung by inadequate facilities and lenient courts. He operates in a small slow car against runners who drive Cadillacs, and he may not use firearms unless his life is directly threatened.

A smuggler when caught rarely gets more than a few months in jail. Some 30,000 illegal cigarette dealers of various echelons were arrested last year, and 134 tons of cigarettes were confiscated. But even that seems to have made little impression on the industry.

A Rest in Jail

I HAPPENED by chance to see one distributor being taken to prison in Venice. He was grinning broadly; his family, friends and associates waved and shouted gaily. "It will be a good month's rest for Pietro," one said. "He needs it."

Not long ago, the association's strict smuggling ethics were outrageously violated by an American. He broke into the business by hijacking a cargo.

One night last October, the little Dutch freighter Combinatie with American cigarettes worth about $100,000 aboard was plodding through the quiet Mediterranean when a trim launch shot alongside. Five men, hooded and with submachine guns, jumped to the freighter's deck and locked the master, Captain van Delft, and his crew of six into a tiny cabin.

'We'll Shoot You All . . .'

TRY ANYTHING," said the tall, obviously American leader of the hijackers calmly, "and we'll shoot you all."

For 11 days, Captain van Delft and his men suffered in their foul cell while the hijacker sold and delivered the cigarettes as though they and the ship were his. On the 12th day, the pirates vanished with the proceeds.

Members of the fraternity were highly incensed. All pertinent information was promptly communicated to the authorities. The pirate chief is now a fugitive.

During recent months the whole business has been changing. Both the smugglers and the customs authorities are streamlining their organization, and their procedures are becoming more and more violent. The Guardia di Finanza is putting helicopters into service, and the French government is commissioning fast heavily armed new cutters.

There is also increasing sentiment among legislators in Rome and Paris in favor of cutting the price of the government-sold American cigarettes. The entire cigarette running industry contemplates this possibility with horror.

"So many people will be put out of work," one member of the fraternity said to me sadly. "It's a pity."

HOW THIS BIBLE NEWS CAN CHANGE YOUR LIFE

Your present Bible is most likely the King James Version... translated 342 years ago, and filled with expressions that are confusing today.

Now you can own a Bible in living language... so clear and powerful you'll turn to it twice as often: the Revised Standard Version. As it strengthens your understanding of God's Word, it can literally change your life, bring you peace of mind.

Ninety-one scholars cooperated in a 14-year labor to recover the full meaning of the Bible in this new version. Based on the most authoritative manuscripts—some more ancient than any previously known—the RSV is in a sense our oldest Bible.

Here is a Bible for the family that already has a Bible. Get your copy

SWIMMING SAFETY

How you may save

... Learn now to fight water's mystery killer,

THIS LONG, sandy beach sloped gently.

Far out, giant combers formed slowly, curled and cascaded toward the sand in floods of foam.

Down the beach were swimmers—plenty of kids and adults, swimming, leaping and tumbling in the surf on one of the widest beaches in America.

A little farther away, however, a geology at the famous Scripps Institution of Oceanography of the University of California at La Jolla near here, tells this story as an illustration.

"All too often," he says, "swimmers think they're safe in shallow water.
They wade along, and suddenly they step into a rip channel. They're swept out before they know it.

"That's what happened to those boys."

► To Dr. Shepard, the rip current is a far greater danger than "undertow."
Scientists doubt that undertow really exists on most beaches. Even on steep beaches where tests show some underwater "pull," it's no real hazard.

► Dr. Shepard and his associates at Scripps have taken real pains to find out just what a rip current is, however.

They've watched weighted bottles in the water. They've poured bright dyes into the water and watched them spread, and they've charted movements of ingenious "cross current" buoys used to measure currents in deeper water.

From this, they've found how to recognize rip currents before you step into them—and how to get out before you get swept into deep water (see box, right).

IN TEST of current, Dr. Shepard pours dye into surf. With stopwatch, he times its spread through the water. Such tests help save swimmers' lives.

Rip Current Clues

IF THAT father had noticed how rapidly bubbles were surging along on top of the water, he might have hesitated before going in," Dr. Shepard says. "Then, if he had waded along the shore and noticed irregular holes in the bottom, he would have had sure signs of a rip current."

There are other signs, too. Surf running at right angles to the shore is a danger clue.

Where are rip currents most hazardous? At ocean beaches, or course—and especially on gentle, sloping beaches where the combers break way out.

You'll find them in lakes where wind kicks up surf.

Special warning: if you see sandspits and jetties sticking into the sea, keep away. They often cause rip currents on nearby beaches.

► What should you do? "Keep your eyes open," says Dr. Shepard, "and learn about the place you swim. Watch it when waves are quiet or the tide is out. That way you can spot dangerous currents—and you won't have to worry later."

young father and his son swam in the second line of breakers. With them were two other boys.

Suddenly, all three boys seemed to lose their footing. One of them called out—and the other two ducked struggling under the waves.

Horror-stricken, the father swam toward them. He could grasp only two of them. His son, aged 8, was swept out of reach. His body was never found.

How could tragedy suddenly strike on a sunny, carefree, gently shelving beach?

To Dr. Francis P. Shepard, one of the nation's No. 1 authorities on how water behaves, the answer is simple:

The boy was a victim of a rip current
—the mystery killer of many lake and ocean beaches.

Dr. Shepard, professor of submarine

a life...

the rip current

THESE PRACTICAL HINTS MAKE SWIMMING SAFER

1. If you wade out in shallow water and find the bottom is irregular, watch out. You may be in a rip channel, where a sudden surge of large waves will create hazards.
2. If you do get caught in a rip current, DON'T try to swim directly to shore. Instead, swim parallel to shore. Keep trying to touch bottom—you'll find shallow water along both sides of a rip channel.
3. If you can't get out of a rip current, let it carry you seaward. Out a ways, the current loses its force, and you can swim back.
4. Don't worry about undertows. In most places, they don't exist. Rip currents like that shown at left are the real danger.
5. If you're tired, remember that each passing breaker will carry you shoreward if you ride in on the crest.
6. Remember, too, not to struggle if you find yourself in a bad place. Simply stay afloat, using the least possible energy.
7. Look out for exceptionally large waves. Scientists have found that they generally come once every several hours.
8. If you're a weak swimmer, keep out of the water when you see breakers cutting the horizon as you stand at water's edge.

ARE LAXATIVES MAKING YOUR "CONDITION" WORSE?

This natural way to regularity is helping more Americans than any medicinal laxative on the market!

FOREWORD: Too often, attempts to treat constipation cause serious mis-treatment of the digestive system. Long-continued overdosing, with products intended only for overnight laxative relief, can lead to serious lifelong suffering. Since constipation is probably the most widespread of all human maladies, you owe it to yourself to read the following statement.

(signed) KELLOGG COMPANY
Battle Creek, Michigan

Since the turn of the century, this nation's health progress has been nothing short of remarkable.

Twenty years or more have been added to the average American life-expectancy at birth.

Death rates from specific diseases such as pneumonia and tuberculosis, have been cut—some almost to the vanishing point.

The general level of nutrition has risen year after year. What is hard to understand is how—despite all this enormous health progress—a seemingly simple ailment like Constipation could be so widespread that according to competent medical authorities, at least 70% of our total population, from time to time, suffer from constipation in one form or another.

Is the prevalence of constipation—occasional, common or chronic—due to lack of medical research, progress and knowledge on the subject? Far from it.

On the contrary, nature and the medical profession—separately and together—have provided man with a vast array of remedies, treatment and even prevention.

But by and large, constipation is not a "ready-made" condition that strikes without warning; it is a progressive ailment.

—AND THE PROGRESS OF CONSTIPATION, FROM OCCASIONAL TO COMMON TO CHRONIC, IS HASTENED TO A WIDELY UNREALIZED EXTENT BY THE WAY THE DIGESTIVE SYSTEM IS ABUSED WITH PURGATIVES TOO HARSH IN IMMEDIATE EFFECT TO HAVE A SOUND CORRECTIVE RESULT.

When continual abuse is accompanied by not enough exercise, tension of modern living, and today's steady diet of processed food lacking in natural bulk... then it is little wonder that some degree of constipation, sooner or later, is almost inevitable.

Few people indeed are ever aware what damage can take place inside them, when without medical guidance—without even reading the directions on the label—they choose a laxative at random and take "big doses" willy-nilly.

This continual overdosing, instead of the careful therapeutic dose designed only for overnight relief of a temporary stoppage, can exert upon the delicate digestive system a strain nature never intended. The fact that thousands unknowingly abuse themselves for years in this manner, without apparent harm, merely demonstrates that the human digestive system can stand unbelievable abuse.

Sooner or later the vicious "laxative habit" takes hold. And before they realize it, their condition has progressed so far that even daily laxative or purgative dosing can no longer bring satisfactory, comfortable relief.

These men and women tried to substitute harsh purgative "forcing action," for the natural regularity which sensible daily habits and sufficient bulk in the diet could probably have maintained... if only they had "let nature take its course."

Let us see what happens inside the digestive system, when it is churned up by unnatural purgative over-dosing.

1. Most purgative compounds, designed for fast overnight relief, must depend on: (a) mechanical action which loads the lower intestine (colon) with a flood of water; or (b) "irritant" action which, with certain chemical ingredients, prods bowel walls into muscular contraction.
2. Obviously, these compounds draw off water from the system and rush it through the intestines; thus also drawing off fluids and juices needed for normal digestion, and vitamins and minerals from the food you have eaten.
3. The chemical action of these compounds, when they reach the colon, often further irritates an already over-sensitive intestinal tract. It tightens and becomes tense.
4. RESULT: An upset stomach, a small intestine containing little nourishment to feed the body, and a colon which often needs another purgative dose—and another—and another—to prod it into renewed muscular action.

IN SHORT: YOU INFLICT UPON YOUR DIGESTIVE SYSTEM UNNATURAL PUNISHMENT WHICH LEAVES A TRAIL OF DIGESTIVE HAVOC, INSTEAD OF THE CORRECTIVE RESULTS HOPED FOR.

With these facts before you, is it possible to doubt that continual overdosing can so weaken your digestive function that finally, "the remedy is worse than the disease"?

If you feel you have to take a laxative occasionally, be sure you take it wisely—in an accurate, recommended dose.

BUT THERE IS A WAY TO AVOID DRUG-TYPE LAXATIVES ALTOGETHER, AND PLACE YOUR MAIN DEPENDENCE ON NATURE.

It is a medically established fact that nature has provided, in the natural foods men were intended to eat, all the elements necessary for lifelong avoidance of common constipation.

In many of these natural foods—such as certain vegetables, fruits and grains—nature grew, AND GROWS TODAY, abundant natural fibrous bulk which normally and naturally aids the rhythmic process of elimination.

And in no other natural food is this natural bulk so ideally found as in the vitamin-rich, mineral-rich outer layers of the whole wheat kernel, known generally as bran.

Whole-wheat bran is nature's "food instead of a medicine"—a veritable storehouse of such essential nutritional elements as iron, calcium, phosphorus, vitamin A, Thiamine, riboflavin and niacin.

—whole bran when properly processed and shredded yields smooth bulk the digestive system can handle unimpaired.

—AND MOST IMPORTANT TO CONSTIPATION SUFFERERS: THE COMPLETE, WHOLE BRAN, WITH NOTHING TAKEN AWAY TO LESSEN ITS EFFECTIVENESS, IS KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN—THE NATURAL LAXATIVE CEREAL.

Let us tell you how Kellogg's All-Bran works inside your body. And we leave it to you to compare its action with the unnatural "forcing action" which takes place when you overdose your digestive system in the way previously described.

1. Kellogg's All-Bran has no significant laxative action in the stomach or small intestine, thus it does not significantly change the normal digestive sequence. Only in the colon, where laxative action is needed, does laxative action take place.
2. Kellogg's All-Bran is eaten with milk, thus it draws from the system no needed water and digestive juices. It has no harsh action, thus it does not rush vitamins or minerals past the small intestine too quickly for absorption.
3. Kellogg's All-Bran is rich in vitamins and minerals, thus it actually assures the presence of these elements in the small intestine for proper absorption.
4. Kellogg's All-Bran is shredded to fine, soft consistency, thus it supplies bulk which neither irritates nor inflames the normal colon. It helps—as nature itself intended—to supply the proper consistency for unforced, normal elimination.

THERE IS NO CHURNING, NO STOMACH UPSET, NO AFTER-EFFECT, EXCEPT THE FEELING OF SATISFACTION AND FULFILLMENT WHICH COMES WITH NORMAL, NATURAL ELIMINATION.

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN IS SAFE FOR THE NORMAL DIGESTIVE TRACT.

YOU DO NOT COURT THE DISASTER OF PROGRESSIVE CONSTIPATION WHEN YOU EAT ONE OUNCE OF KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN DAILY, AND DRINK PLENTY OF WATER.

Kellogg's All-Bran is not a habit-forming "drug-type" laxative but a delicious NATURAL laxative cereal.

It is sold as a cereal. Bought at cereal prices. Served as a cereal. Eaten as a cereal. Enjoyed like a cereal, with a crunchy, toasty, nut-like flavor like a cereal. Digested like a cereal. Many prefer it, on taste and eating qualities alone, to any other cereal on the market.

Kellogg's All-Bran is ALL BRAN. No "part-bran" cereal—in the amounts you usually eat for breakfast—can give you the benefits of All-Bran.

No exaggerated claims are made for the laxative qualities of All-Bran. The name Kellogg's on the package, a symbol of healthful foods throughout the world, speaks for itself.

But the thousands of unsolicited testimonial letters which pour in—and the fact that it is today the largest-selling laxative cereal in the world, with over four hundred million servings per year consumed by the American public—indicate that it lives up to the fine things said about it.

Kellogg's All-Bran is no "overnight cure" for constipation. There is no such cure. All-Bran must be eaten regularly to obtain the natural and lasting relief you are looking for.

Kellogg's makes it easy for you to prove that to yourself. Just eat All-Bran every morning for 10 days. Then, if you're not completely satisfied, send the empty carton to Kellogg's, Battle Creek, Michigan—and get double your money back.

READ HOW OTHER SUFFERERS FROM CONSTIPATION (due to lack of bulk in the diet) HAVE BENEFITED:

"I spent half my life looking for a cure for constipation. After 35 years I began eating Kellogg's All-Bran daily. I haven't been bothered with constipation since."

—Mrs. Margaret Topham

"I wish I had all the money I've spent on laxatives. I used them for 20 years. Finally I got around to trying Kellogg's All-Bran. I haven't needed a laxative since."

5 TOP DOGS FROM ABROAD

PARIS.

EVERYWHERE he went on a recent trip abroad, PARADE photographer David Preston asked: "What's the most popular dog in your country?"

The answers provided plenty of surprises, along with the pictures on these pages.

For example:

In France, the boxer edged out the traditional poodle by a pug nose.

The Italian favorite, a Molosso, is a breed dating back to the ancient Romans.

The famous English bulldog was way down in 13th place in his home country.

Preston, of course, was only asking about pure breeds. Just as in the U. S., dogs of uncertain ancestry far outnumber pedigreed pets.

Only problem: in most countries the dogs didn't understand Preston's language.

ENGLAND:

The top favorite in England, as in the United States, is the cocker spaniel. While his proud owners watch, this tri-colored spaniel retrieves a small stick from a London lake. The second choice among the British is the Alsatian.

FRANCE: The French like boxers better than powder. Reasons: they're easy to keep clean, and they look good on the Champs Elyses.

SPAIN:

SWITZERLAND:

"Belisar von Suren," a German sheep hound, is typical of breed Swiss call "avalanche dogs." They find people in snow.

Hold Your Hats for a Gas Buggy Ride!

Sunday, June 7, 1933

By Vera Williams

FROM Long Beach and elsewhere in Southern California, from Reno, Sacramento, the San Francisco Bay area, Tulare, Santa Maria, and as far away as Oregon, 90 shining horseless carriages of the "brass age" (1900-1915) and their proud and happy owners will converge on Fresno next Friday.

They will be participants in the sixth annual Horseless Carriage Club Caravan to Yosemite Valley June 12-15.

Cars will be parked overnight Friday in the Fresno fairgrounds. Owners will have a buffet dinner in Hotel Fresno, with prime ribs courtesy of General Petroleum, a dance to a six-piece orchestra and then an "old-fashioned" waltz contest.

Saturday morning the caravan of cars and owners most of them dressed in dusters, goggles and the other paraphernalia of the era of their cars—will head for Yosemite Valley on Highway 41. A motorcycle escort will be furnished through Fresno, Madera and Mariposa Counties.

They will have lunch at Coarse Gold Inn, in the foothills of the High Sierra, and during the two-hour stop there everyone in the vicinity with any kind of a camera is expected to photograph all or part of the caravan.

In Yosemite, they will have accommodations at Wawona Hotel and two adjacent lodges, with dinner and dance at the Wawona. The orchestra will be provided by the Horseless Carriage Club of Southern California.

Sunday morning, beginning at 9 o'clock, there will be a horseless carriage tour of Yosemite Valley, groups of 30 cars leaving at 15-minute intervals with a park ranger in charge of each group. Lunch will be served in Ahwahnee Hotel, with protected parking in the hotel compound. After a movie and talk by a park naturalist, the caravan will return to Hotel Wawona for a campfire barbecue, cowboy orchestra and awarding of plaques and prizes.

Monday morning, they will return home, many doing it by way of the 9000-foot high Tioga Pass and Reno.

Will the horseless carriages make that 9000 feet?

"Of course!" says Harry B. Johnson, 3671 S. Leland St., San Pedro, a Los Angeles fire department captain who drives a 1913 Mercer Raceabout, and is the unofficial local starter for the caravan. "They made it on dirt roads; they certainly can make it now!"

Lindley Bothwell of Woodland Hills, owner of a 1914 Rolls Royce, heads the Horseless Carriage Club, which organized in 1937 in Los Angeles, now has 2900 members in the United States and some foreign countries.

Among the Long Beach horseless carriage fans are Lester Barnett with a 1900 FMT—nobody seems to remember any more what those initials stood for; John Gillespie, with a 1914 Ford which he drove down the Alcan Highway from Alaska; Glenn Thomas, with an 1898 DeDion and 1903 Cadillac; C. Standee Martin with 1909 and 1915 Oldsmobiles.

Ralph Cherry of San Pedro has a 1912 Flanders, and Dr. George E. Shafer of San Bernardino has a couple of Duryeas. The first gasoline-driven car in the U.S.A. was a Duryea, built in 1892, say the fans.

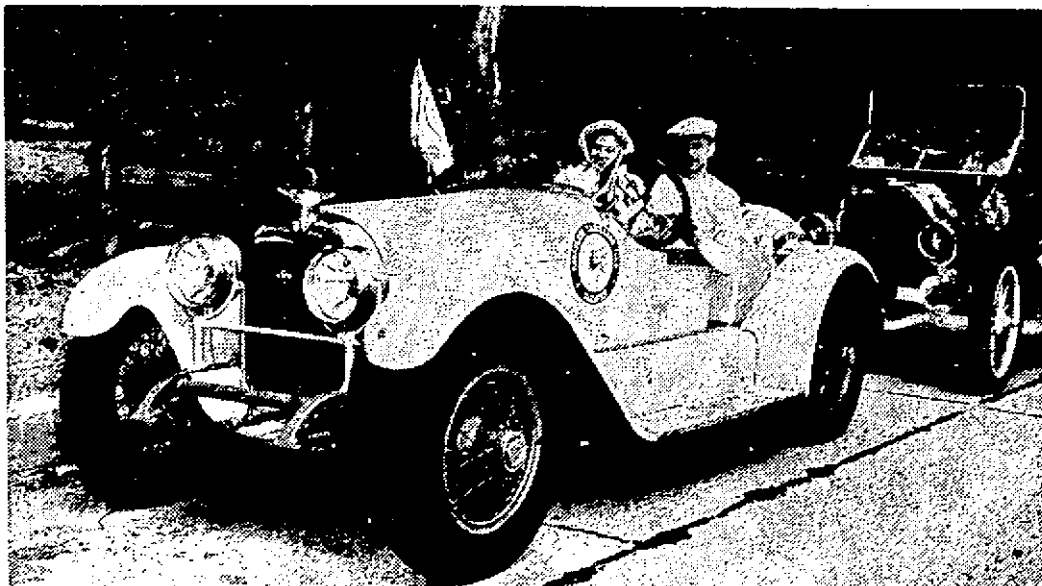

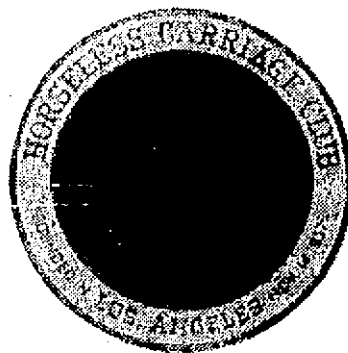

Although the horseless carriages in the caravan may have new upholstery, paint and general refurbishing, it isn't cricket to replace the motor. The motor made the car what it was—and is.

General Petroleum, underwriting the caravan, will furnish gasoline coupons, plaques for all cars, and prizes.

Last year, the caravan went from Los Angeles to Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Sorenson (standing) and Mr. and Mrs. Warwick Eastwood grab their hats as Eastwood takes off in 1905 Buick for a Horseless Carriage Club rendezvous.

Mr. and Mrs. Jo Goodell drive a 1915 Mercer. Can gas buggies like this climb the 9000-foot Tioga Pass? "Of course," say Horseless Carriage Club members.

Goliath of the City Colleges

By Don Drury

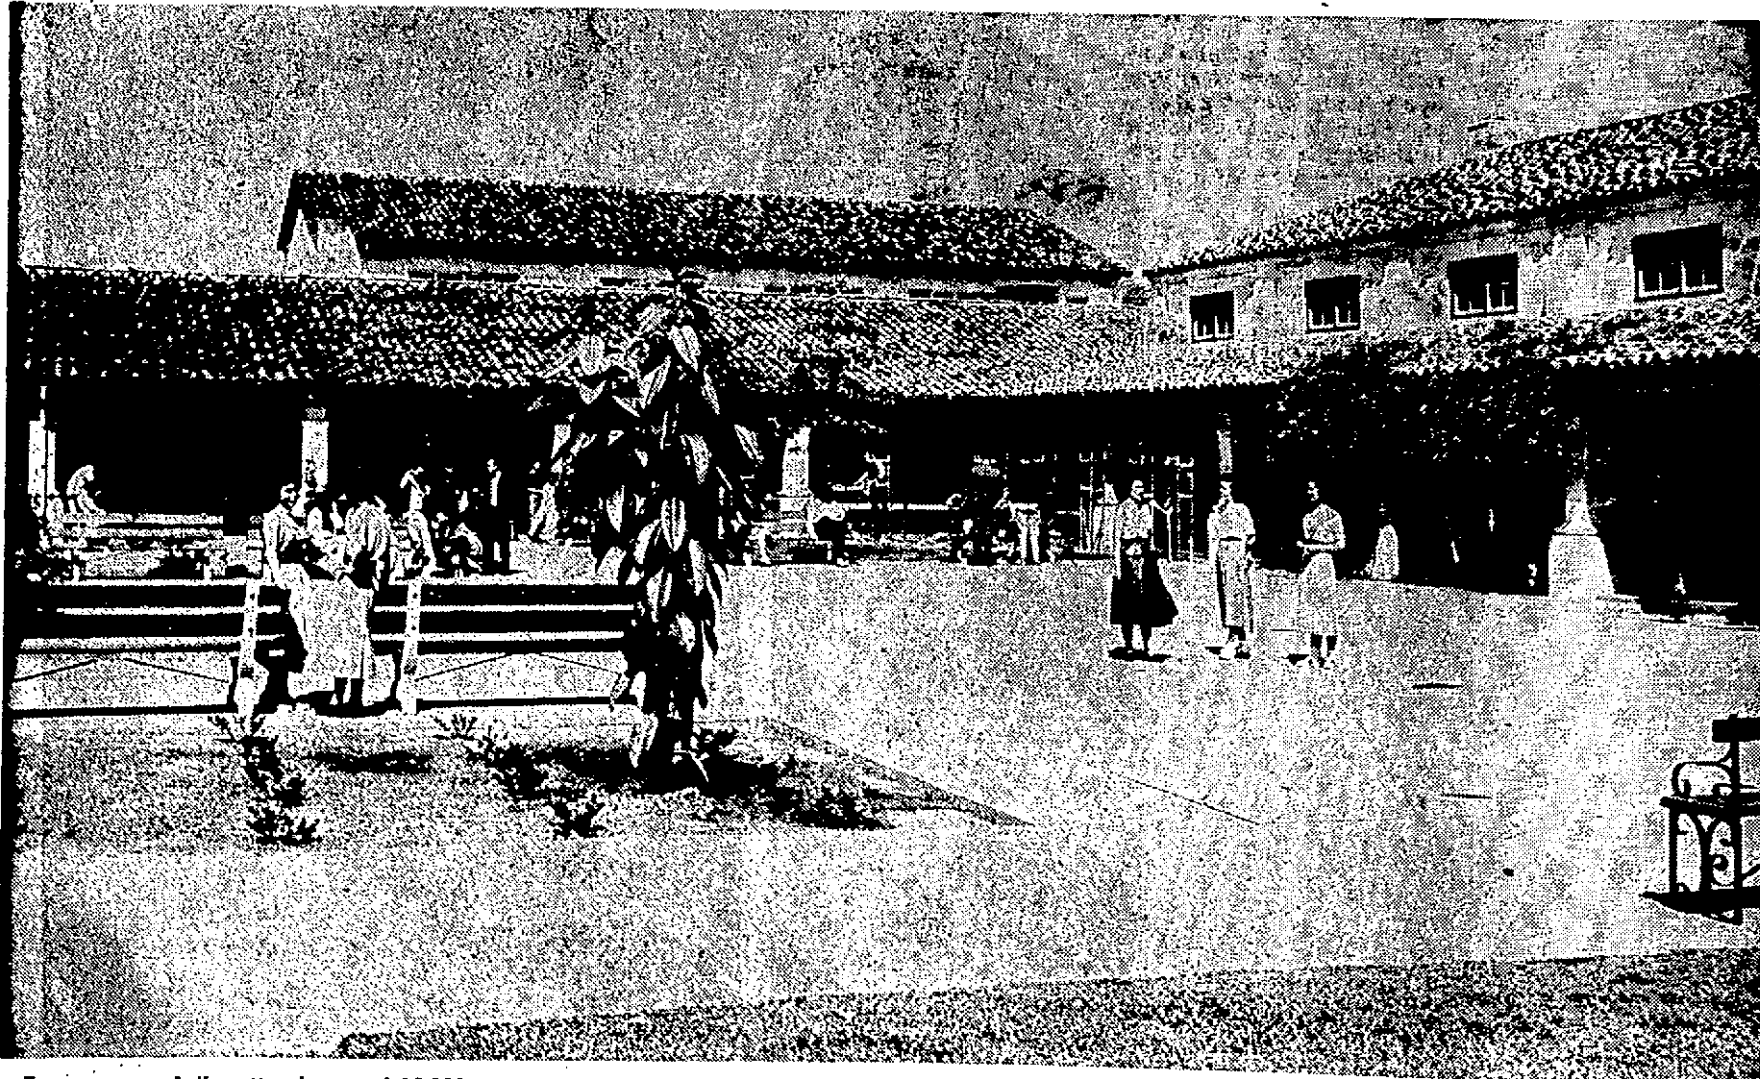

—(Photos by Frank Hedgcock)

An average daily attendance of 10,000 was set at City College last year, making it second largest junior college in country. Above, a campus view.

FROM AN ENROLLMENT of 500 to one of 10,000, from open-air classes in Recreation Park to the finest in new buildings, from dream to reality — this is the story of Long Beach City College as its 25th Anniversary year draws to a close.

Back in 1927, the junior college idea was still pretty new, although 18 of the present-day California junior colleges had already opened their doors. The idea was simple: bring college education to the people. There weren't enough of the traditional four-year colleges and universities to go around. They were too far away, too expensive. . . .

And so it was that in March, 1927, the Long Beach Board of Education called upon the citizens to decide upon the establishment of a Long Beach Junior College, announcing some of the functions of the proposed college as follows:

"(1) To make it possible for many more high school graduates to secure two years of college training, (2) To increase the number of students who will complete the four years of college, (3) To continue home influence during the years of immaturity, (4) To prepare boys and girls more acceptably for occupational positions, (5) To conserve finances to the advantage of both the parents and the city, and (6) To serve as a community builder."

The voters of Long Beach must have liked the idea, because the original Long Beach Junior College opened its doors on the Wilson High School campus in September, 1927, under the direction of Principal John L. Lounsbury.

By June, 1929, the fledgling

junior college had graduated its first sophomore class, and had also begun to make history by winning the state basketball championship.

FOUR MORE YEARS, and the college had grown steadily in enrollment and had gained high academic standing through the record of its graduates at major universities. Then came the 1933 earthquake.

Forced out of damaged buildings, the college held classes in the bleachers, around picnic tables and under the trees of Recreation Park.

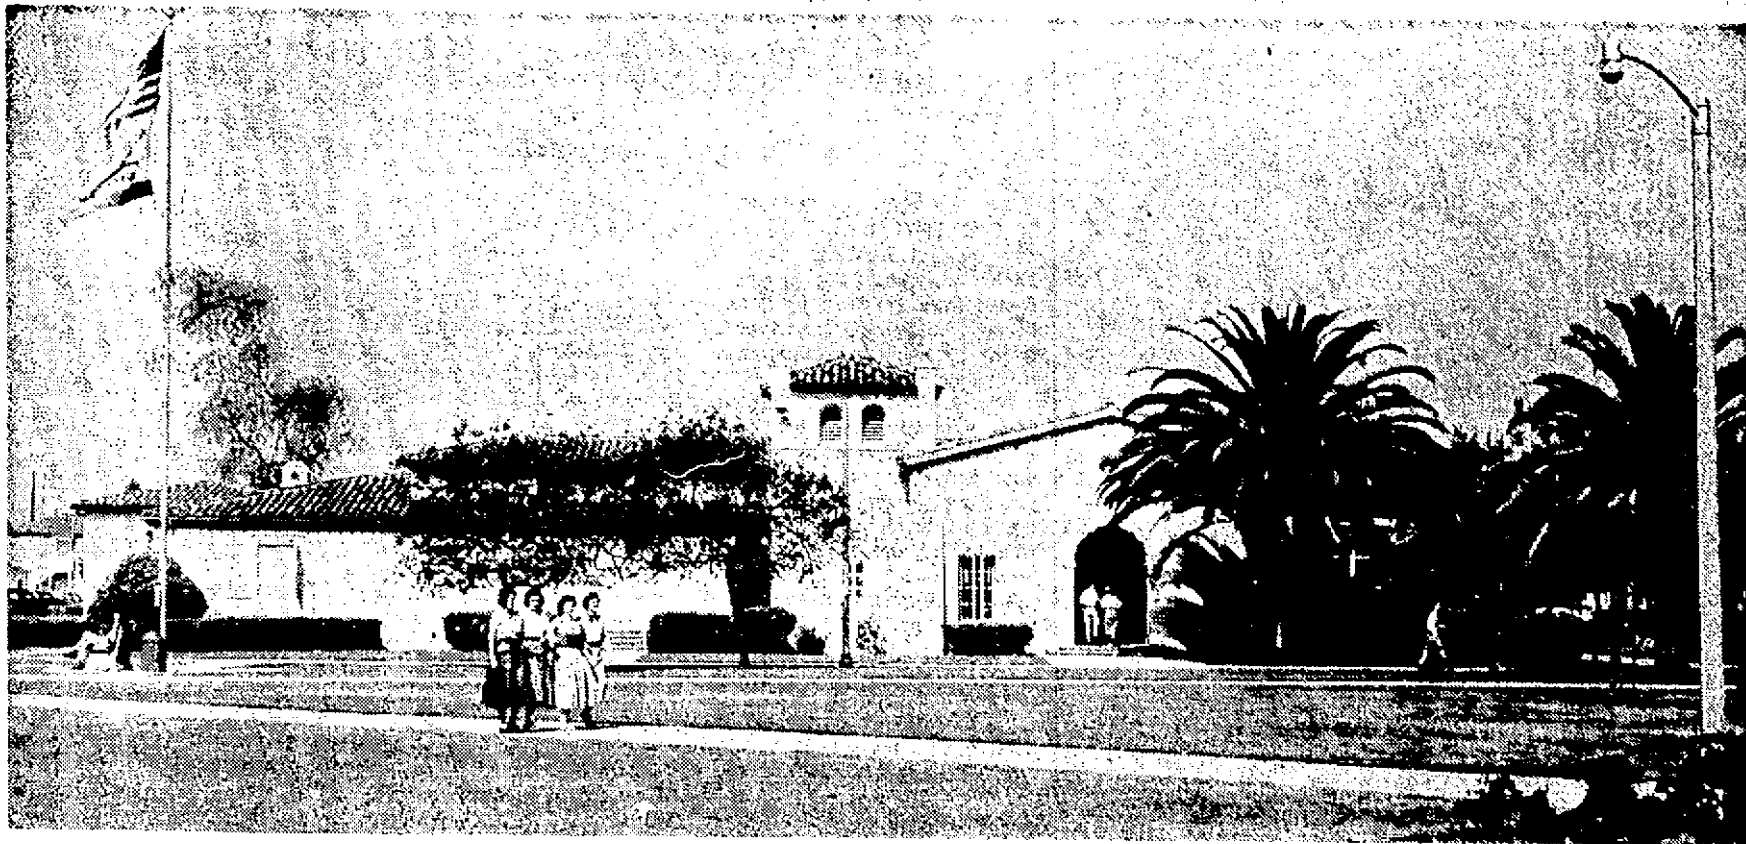

Kibitzers sometimes livened things up in this open-air era. Occasionally a stray picnicker would saunter up to a "classroom" table, start eating his lunch, and then — apparently assuming it was some sort of public meeting — would heartily join in the class discussion, and (Heaven forbid!) might even contradict the teacher.

Next big event in the school's history was the move from borrowed space at Wilson High to a campus of its own, as announced in the Sept. 15, 1935, issue of the Press-Telegram: "An educational dream which took form almost overnight will be realized here tomorrow morning when the new Long Beach Junior College at Lakewood Village opens its doors."

On its opening day, the first bus from downtown Long Beach reached the campus at 7:40 a. m. — and some visionaries ventured to prophesy an amazing growth for the new college and whole Lakewood area.

LAKEWOOD was then little more than a gleam in a real estate man's eye. Aside from a few scattered homes, one service station and a tiny shopping center, the new junior college's three permanent buildings and dozen bungalows stood alone in an expanse of bean and alfalfa fields.

Already, with nearly 1500 students, the seventh largest junior college in California, the new college continued to grow, and to win increasing recognition as one of the outstanding two-year colleges in the state.

By 1938, celebrating its first "Decade of Progress," it was the third largest in the nation. Additional permanent buildings had to be added in the next three years. Then came Pearl Harbor.

During the next four years the college concerned itself with training citizens for wartime jobs. Enrollment in the regular academic program shrank to 250 as students and many faculty members went into uniform.

Another major event in school history took place in 1944, when the original junior college became Long Beach City College — including not only the Lakewood liberal arts campus but a business and technology division and a community service (adult) division.

Under the leadership of Dr. George E. Dolson, who had succeeded Dr. Lounsbury as director, City College now offered a complete range of post-high school training to the youth and adults of Long Beach and adjacent communities.

IN ADDITION to the first two years of regular college studies, City College set up an outstanding training program for those who wished to enter directly into business and technical vocations. The evening high school, forums in world and national affairs, a variety of special adult courses — all these helped to fulfill the original dream of a "community college" which would serve all the people.

Heart Held High

By Charles Neiswender

WILMINGTON. LIFE HAS been long and painful for Martha Snell Nicholson, but the woman, famed as a religious poet, has brought happiness and relief from suffering to thousands throughout the world.

Mrs. Nicholson, who lives at 1406 Lagoon Ave., has had seven books of religious poetry published over a period of 20 years and daily receives hundreds of letters from persons who tell of the comfort found in her verse.

The letters crowd the frail poetess' home, filed in drawers, on tables, and in closets. All carry the same message of consolation and comfort.

"Twenty Years of Pain and Suffering," a prose tract on her fight against tuberculosis, amoebic dysentery, and arthritis, was published in 1932. Since then more than 1,500,000 copies have been distributed.

Visitors flock to Mrs. Nicholson's modest green cottage, where she is confined much of the time to her bed. Illness has shrunk her body from 5 feet 6 inches to 4 feet 8 inches and she now weighs only 77 pounds.

She first was stricken shortly before her marriage to Howard Nicholson, who died in 1948. After apparent recovery from a lung ailment, she married Nicholson. A relapse followed. The couple moved to California, where the poetess contracted amoebic dysentery. Later, arthritis crippled her.

Gay laughter still rings through the green cottage. Mrs. Nicholson tells of her laughter in a poem:

"Watching me walk with sorrow,

That is why

He made me this gift of laughter,

This heart held high."

Her illnesses have necessitated seven major operations and 15 lesser cases of surgery throughout the years, but Mrs. Nicholson and her husband worked ceaselessly to fill mail requests for her poems.

To top off her writings, Mrs.

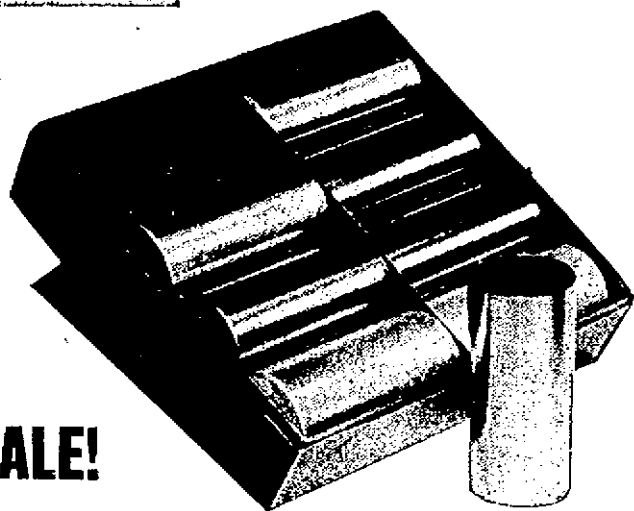

Frail Martha Nicholson—her poetry has brought happiness to thousands.

Nicholson, who has composed most of her work on the backs of envelopes or on paper bags, is writing her autobiography.

"It's the hardest thing I have ever done," Mrs. Nicholson says, "and, confidentially, it is not too good." But there are thousands throughout the world who would disagree, for the first and only time, with the frail poetess with the "heart held high."

They'll Ride the Mountain

By David Thompson

BEAUTIES of the Palomar country will attract nearly 100 horsemen to Vista in northern San Diego County June 19-23 for an annual five-day ride conducted in true western style. The ride is sponsored by the Vista Palomar Riders, who issue a blanket invitation to all who enjoy the pleasure of the out-of-doors, the mountain trail and the warmth of friendship that comes with a campfire gathering.

Following a trail that is as historic as it is beautiful, the riders will leave the Vista Palomar Riders grounds, Santa Fe Ave. and Bobier Dr., in Vista at 9 a. m. Friday, June 19. The first night camp and also the last night, will be spent at the Lazy H Sky Ranch in Rincon. The country traversed will include sections of El Camino Real which connected the California Missions; the Pala Mission, which was constructed on the San Luis Rey River in 1816, and the picturesque San Luis Rey and Pauma Valleys.

From Rincon on the second day the trail winds up "Nigger Nate" grade to the top of Palomar Mountain. The grade was named for Nathan Harrison, who was brought here as a slave in 1848 and later homesteaded a claim on the west end of the mountain. Camping the second and third nights will be in lovely Doane Valley, where the group has permanent tie-in stalls.

Sunday will be given over to riding through sections of Palomar State Park and Silver

Crest, an area sheltered by Golden and Valparaiso Oaks. A visit to famous Palomar Observatory is planned. A barbecue also is held on Sunday, at which families of the riders and other interested parties join in the festivities.

Returning to Vista, the trail followed will be the one used by the Indians to transport logs used as beams in the Pala Mission. The trail begins at Morgan Hill and crosses both Doane and French Valleys.

Each rider pays $40 to cover the cost of his food and feed for his mount. Bed rolls are transported by truck each night to the camping area. The fun and fellowship of the Vista Palomar ride is wide in its appeal with the ages of last year's participants ranging from 6 to 70 years. The barbecue on Palomar Mountain attracts nearly 150 persons in addition to the riders, and entertainment includes talent recruited from among the riders and their families.

WHAT'S YOUR HOBBY?

Golden Dishes With a Brush

By Jule Armin

ETCHING china in gold has been found by many hobbyists to be a most satisfactory art. This opinion is shared by Mrs. Herbert Jordon, 345 Molino Ave., who finds the richly-pleasing and difficult-appearing results no harder to achieve than is the case in most other handicrafts.

Mrs. Jordon displays as examples of her work an open-edged plate with a saucy bird in a bower of leaves in the center, a creamer and sugar bowl that can be made to ring like a chime, another bowl with a dragon prancing on it.

Mrs. Jordon says:

"At first I was so awed at the idea of golden dishes, I never thought of making them anything but beautiful. Now I sometimes like to add a bit of humor.

"Etching in gold is so unbelievably easy! Take any piece of fine china and draw or trace the desired design on it. There's a china marking pencil for those who can draw freehand. Patterns can be bought ready to transfer for people like me, who love art but haven't quite the courage to try to make their own designs.

"Asphaltum, a sticky black tar is used to cover that part of the dish you wish to make bright gold. Just paint it over your pattern," she said.

DETAIL lines such as veins in leaves, eyes, feathers, and curves are then etched out by cutting through the tar-covered surface down to the china base, with a needle-like lace tool or etching knife, Mrs. Jordon pointed out.

The asphaltum dries quickly and when dry it is an easy matter to trim off any rough edges or unsatisfactory spots, with a craft knife. That is one of the nice things about gold etching. You can do a piece in a hurry, or putter along, fussing over each tiny detail, if you are a perfectionist. When the tar-painted design exactly suits you, the piece is ready to be etched."

"Unless you are truly an expert in the line, better let someone in a fully equipped shop give your china the acid bath which etches the design through the glaze into the base. Any acid strong enough to eat through a good china glaze is definitely dangerous in the hands of an amateur. The cost of having the piece professionally done is negligible, and the piece comes back with all tar removed, ready for painting.

Wipe dish to be gilded with a non-lint cloth dipped in alcohol. Then handle with care, lest an undesired fingerprint loom up later as part of your design. Liquid gold can be used directly from the bottle. Flow it on for even coverage. Too thin a coat may have a purple cast, in which case it would need re-painting and refiring. Thick gobs of paint will blister and peel. Just a smooth, even all-over coat is required. The slick surface parts will come out bright gold and the rough surface parts will be dull or matte gold, after firing.

IF YOU prefer you can paint just the slick surface with the bright gold and have it fired. Then paint the rough surfaces with burnished or Roman gold, for an antique effect.

"A mottled background, for even greater contrast to the smooth shiny design, is easier to do than it looks, too," Mrs. Jordon said. "The scroll-like and marbled effects and an all-over coral effect background can be made by dipping a coarse sponge in the asphaltum and then just patting it hit or miss on the china so it leaves little, tarry imprints over the background area. All parts covered in tar remain smooth after etching. All parts left open to contact with the acid bath, become slightly roughened, or etched."

Rough surfaces are undesirable in contact with food and on the edge of a cup, but on vases or the outside of bowls, salt and pepper shakers, or purely decorative pieces, the contrasting surfaces are very effective in emphasizing the beauty of the clear design.

City College

in 1946 when the "back to school" flood of veterans brought a record enrollment of 4500 — jamming inadequate buildings and bungalows from 8 in the morning to 10 at night.

Nineteen-fifty was another banner year. The City College Vikings won the Junior Rose Bowl game and were acclaimed the top junior college football team in the nation. A new building with the finest in technical equipment and facilities had opened at the Business and Technology Division, 1305 E. Pacific Coast Hwy. Six new, permanent buildings were under construction on the Lakewood campus.

THE SECOND largest junior college in the country, City College, in its various divisions, had an average daily attendance of 10,000 last year. In terms of total persons served (nearly 50,000), it was the largest.

What of the future? Looking ahead 10 years, Dr. George E. Dotson (assistant superintendent, City College) expects an enrollment of 10,000 day and night students on the Lakewood campus alone, and continued growth in the business-technology and general adult programs. The new Long Beach State College is not expected to affect the growth of City College materially — since the two are complementary, not competing, institutions. When the flood of pupils now in the elementary schools reaches college age, college officials expect both schools to be bursting at the seams.

When 100 City College Alumni met on the Lakewood campus recently, they had every reason to congratulate themselves and the school on a "Quarter-century of Progress."

A Friend to Tag Along With

When Joyce, 6000 pounds of Indian female pachyderm, arrived recently at Griffith Park Zoo, she was greeted "with open arms" by Bojo, "dainty" three-ton like member of her sex, who has been an all-alone since her arrival at the zoo in 1938.

The "girl" behemoths get more and more affectionate as they get better acquainted.

Everything's okay now! Bojo finds there's nothing like a friend to tag along with.

Fresh Strawberry Pie

STRAWBERRY season beckons the ingenious cook! And since you'll want to serve berries often, it's a good idea to have several variations of the strawberry theme in mind.

During this tempting season there are frequent calls for Fresh Strawberry Pie. A recipe for this culinary delight is supplied today by Mrs. Hubert J. Prichard, 5361 El Parque. An invitation to her home assures one of not only gracious hospitality, but of foods approved by experts as well. You'll be convinced, too, after you've tried her recipe for Fresh Strawberry Pie, which appears elsewhere on this page.

The mention of strawberries and nine people out of 10 immediately think of shortcake, even though they won't all think of the same kind. Some like a whipped cream layer cake type, some think of sponge cake as a base, while others will grow vehement in insisting that the only true shortcake is made from a very short, sweetened biscuit dough. But they all agree that, no matter what the base, it's a "must" in summer. Following are some shortcake variations:

Whipped Cream Strawberry Cake

- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup milk
- 2 1/4 cups sifted cake flour
- 2 1/4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 quart ripe strawberries
- 1/2 pint heavy cream
- Powdered sugar

Work the butter to a soft cream, add sugar gradually, beating it in. Add eggs and beat for 2 or 3 minutes, until very light and fluffy and until the sugar is almost dissolved. Stir in the milk. Mix flour with baking powder and salt and sift twice. Add to the first mixture, stirring it in. Add vanilla and pour into 2 buttered, scalloped 8-inch pie plates. Bake in a moderate oven (375 F.) for about 20 minutes or until done. Cool 5 minutes in the pans, then turn out and let cool.

Wash and hull the berries. Reserve the largest for the top. Slice or mash the rest and sprinkle with powdered sugar to sweeten. Let stand at room temperature until ready to use. This is to let the sugar dissolve and make the berries more juicy.

For serving, put one layer, bottom side up, on a serving plate; cover with a layer of whipped, slightly sweetened cream and add a layer of berries. Cover with second layer, right side up, and add more cream and the whole berries.

Scone Shortcake

- 2 cups cake flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1 cup milk
- 1 egg white
- 1 quart strawberries
- 1/2 cup confectioners sugar
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped and sweetened

Sift together flour, salt and baking powder. Cut in butter with pastry blender or two knives until it resembles coarse cornmeal. Add milk and mix well. Place in well greased 8-inch layer cake pan. Brush top with egg white. Bake in hot oven (450 F.) 10 to 15 minutes.

Wash berries; set aside one dozen for garnish. Crush remaining berries and sweeten with confectioners sugar.

To make shortcake: When scone ring is cool, cut into two layers. Divide top layer into

Old Fashioned Strawberry Shortcake

- 2 cups sifted enriched flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 6 tablespoons shortening
- 3/4 to 1 cup milk
- Sweetened sliced strawberries
- Whipped cream

Sift together flour, salt, baking powder and sugar. Cut or rub in shortening. Add milk to form a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead gently 1/2 minute. Pat or roll out 3/4 inch thick. Cut with 2 1/4-inch biscuit cutter. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in hot oven (450 degrees F.) at 10 to 12 minutes. Split crosswise. Spread bottom layer lightly with butter or margarine. Cover with sweetened berries and replace top. Cover with more berries and whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

Kitchen Tip:

Mrs. Prichard's Kitchen Tip: Try this trick on children's party cakes: Press an animal cookie cutter lightly into the frosting; then fill in the outline with tinted icing in gay colors.

Mrs. Prichard's Fresh Strawberry Pie:

Bake one 9-inch pie crust and when cool, cream two small packages of Philadelphia Cream Cheese and spread on bottom and sides of pie crust.

Filling:

Wash and hull one quart of fresh strawberries. Select the choicest berries and set aside two cups. Slice the remaining berries once or twice and combine with a mixture of four tablespoons cornstarch and one cup sugar. Cook, stirring constantly, until the filling is smooth and thickened. Now cook over boiling water for 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool the mixture.

Place the uncooked berries in bottom of pie crust and cover with the cooled berries. Chill until serving time. Top with slightly sweetened whipped cream.

Old-Fashioned Chicken Dinner

And what wonderful eating it is. Crisp, golden-brown chicken that's tender clear through... whole kernel corn... mashed potatoes with rich, creamy gravy. That's the kind of meal folks get hungry for.

And it's so easy to make it perfect with Pet Evaporated Milk. The chicken's always crisp, tender and golden-brown when you dip it in Pet Milk before frying. The gravy's always rich and creamy smooth because Pet Milk's twice as rich as ordinary bottled milk.

Like all Mary Lee Taylor recipes, this one helps you make your meals better with Pet Milk. And Pet Milk helps you save money, too, because Pet Evaporated Milk costs less generally than any other form of whole milk.

Mary Lee Taylor's Husband-Tested Recipe

1. You'll need a 2½-lb. chicken, cut into pieces, to serve four. Pour 1½ cups Pet Evaporated Milk into a bowl and dip each piece of chicken into it. Save the milk that's left for gravy. There should be 1 cup; if not, add more milk.
2. Roll each piece of chicken in a mixture of ½ cup flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, and ⅛ teaspoon pepper.
3. Brown chicken slowly in a skillet in ¼ inch hot fat about 30 minutes, or until drumstick is tender when pierced with a fork.
4. Remove chicken (keep hot)... Drain fat from skillet, then put 2 tablespoons fat back into skillet. Mix in 2 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, few grains pepper. Stir in 1 cup water. Boil and stir for 2 minutes.
5. Stir in the 1 cup of saved milk and heat till steaming hot, but do not boil. Serve the hot gravy with the fried chicken, mashed potatoes, and whole kernel corn for a real American chicken dinner.

Friendly Bayside Home

Prized sailing trophies decorate shelves flanking the fireplace in the Richard Linebergers' Treasure Island home. Ruddy redwood paneling in natural tones lends charm to living room.

By Eileen Ball

ITS WINDOWS framing views of Alamitos Bay, a two-story, shingle-faced house at 46 Geneva Walk is the friendly home of the Richard Lineberger family. The house, approximately a year old, is the realization of the Linebergers' long-held dream of a place within easy access of the bay.

The Linebergers are widely known for their sailing prowess and, when they first saw the lot on Treasure Island in the heart of the Naples district, they knew the site for their home had been found.

Just a few months ago, after the thrills of planning were over, the Linebergers with their three young children moved into their three-bedroom home which has 1700 square feet of floor space.

The house as it stands today is a dwelling that provides adequate space for the growing family. But the Linebergers have plans for extending the living area to a spacious 2100 feet with the addition of a fourth master bedroom and dressing room.

The living room features a wealth of redwood paneling and a welcoming open-hearth fireplace. Shelves adjoining the fireplace on each side display several dozen sailing trophies won by the seafaring Linebergers in various regattas.

The walls are finished in a warm pink plaster that marvelously complements the deep-napped nude carpeting. In addition to the extensive use of paneling, the Linebergers have further brought the pleasing qualities of natural woods into their decorative scheme by means of valances, doors and baseboards, all of which are in the same deep-toned redwood finish. Aside from the feeling of warmth and hospitality that natural woods give a room is the very valuable work-saving advantage. And any mother, like Mrs. Lineberger, will agree that this should be a major factor in home-planning.

The Dutch door that grants admittance to the pleasant little entry hall is similarly curtained in organdy. The entry separates the living room on the left and the dining room on the right. And leading directly from the entry is the staircase to the bedrooms above.

The dining room is a restful room conducive to harmonious dining. The walls are papered in a scenic pattern that pictures sailing vessels against a background of soft gray.

The same pearl gray has been used in the heavy satin draperies. Mrs. Lineberger chose a graceful Duncan Phyfe dining set in deep mahogany and a regal crystal chandelier to complete the decor.

Directly off the living room is the cozy den-living area that is a mecca for the Lineberger children. The red cement floor has been scored off to simulate tile and has been highly waxed to give it an attractive ceramic-like finish. Walls in this congenial room have been faced with natural sugar pine against which the gayly patterned provincial curtains display themselves proudly.

This room, which is a step down from the living room, may be closed off by means of louvered, shutter doors. The plan is an excellent one for families with young children. Now, when friends drop in for the evening, the children are happy to entertain themselves in the recreation room while the adults converse in the room adjoining.

THE RUMPUS ROOM opens by means of French doors to the outdoor patio sheltered on the north side of the house by means of a lofty grapestake fence. Out here is the ideal location for patio suppers and sheltered sun bathing.

Another door leads from the recreation room to the service porch which contains a half-bath. This is an immense work-saver for Mrs. Lineberger. When her children are ready to come indoors after a vigorous play, she can cope with the "clean-up" problem just a step inside the back door. The half-bath is equally accessible from the patio and the rumpus room.

The kitchen is unique with its all-over paneling (ceiling included) of knotty pine finished in a dull driftwood finish. Against this muted background, Mrs. Lineberger's fire engine red range is startling, to say the least!

lusty color of the stove and provides a gay dining site.

Curtains over the sink are fully fashioned of unbleached muslin ruffled in bright red cotton.

UPSTAIRS are three bedrooms, the master bath and the sun deck that, one day, is slated to be turned into a spacious master bedroom, bath and dressing room.

The bedroom presently serving as the master room features a color combination of pink, du-bonnet and gray. The deep wine bedspread is striking against the headboard padded in dusty pink. The bed itself is against a wall papered in a pattern employing a pink and deep wine motif against a ground of pearl gray.

The little Lineberger daughters share a bedroom that is femininely decorated in tones of pale green and ice cream pink. A handsome feature of this room is the high four-poster bed with its tufted spread.

The boy's room is typically masculine and devoid of frou-frou. The walls, which provide the distinct advantage of being virtually finger-print-proof, are paneled from floor to ceiling in combed pine.

Quaint and friendly-looking is the shingled exterior of the Richard Lineberger home. Upper story has 3 bedrooms.

BELLFLOWER.

AS THE charter boats and their sun-bronzed captains head out to the offshore fishing banks in search of the elusive albacore, fighting yellowtail and the boiling barracuda, they will be accompanied again this season by a dark-haired, blue-eyed woman skipper and her 46-foot boat, Weazel.

She is Lorraine Leigh, the only "lady captain" operating a charter boat in these waters as far as can be ascertained. Lorraine makes her home in Bellflower and navigates her craft from a berth in Newport Harbor. This will be her second season matching wits with the wily game fish.

Necessity, long known as the mother of invention, is also re-

Leigh Jr., who heretofore had capably filled the captain's position, temporarily ended his seagoing days by accepting a job in the northern part of the state. With several charter parties booked and a successful season seemingly spiked, Lorraine ventured to suggest that she try to obtain a license. Don gave a reluctant "yes"—never, as Lorraine claims, thinking she would pass the necessary license test.

That same evening she burned the midnight oil, cramming nautical terms, rules and regulations until 4 a. m. the follow-road!

The very next day she took out her first charter party of 14 persons.

SO FAR she has had only one cancellation. The intended angler (a man) reneged when he learned the skipper was a member of the fair sex. She is familiar with the Catalina Channel, Horseshoe Kelp, The Flats,
and has made runs down the
coast as far as Dana Point.
The largest fish brought to gaff
aboard the Weazel last season
was a 24-pound albacore.

She has proved equal to every emergency that has arisen. Lorraine repaired a burned out impeller on the Jabsco bilge pump
all by herself as an initiation
into the mysteries of mechanics.
When repairs were necessary
on other pieces of equipment
she drew diagrams of the faulty valve, pipe or hose and mailed
them to Don. By carefully following his written instructions
she has been able to conquer
her difficulties and prove mistress of most of the boat's "in-nards."

The only thing that worries
her on the trips are sailboats.
Like Sunday drivers, they are prevalent on week ends and
holidays and, also like Sunday
drivers, they are unpredictable.
This is no small worry to
powerboat skippers because they have the right of way in water traffic.

In winter months the Leigh family, which also includes two sons, Dennis, 11, and Randy, 7,
can be together more often.
They make numerous trips
from their home at 9700 Maple
Ave. to adjacent snow-capped mountains where they indulge
in their favorite sport, skiing,
at which they all excel.

They Let Earthworms Toil

By Carmela Clark

Hybrid earthworms are raised at the Percy Bulley place in Garden Grove, producing amazing fertility in the garden.

EARTHWORMS, in the opinion of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bulley, 13352 Verano Rd., are among the world's most important creatures, serving mankind in a manner few understand. The Buleys have come to realize the importance of earthworms in recent years because they have seen the results of their presence in the soil and have taken up the culture of hybrid worms.

The Buleys began their work as an experiment three years ago. When they purchased their property, there was a large avocado tree in the backyard. There were no leaves on it and it was covered with a fungus growth.

A tree surgeon advised them to have it removed but they had heard about another similar tree that had been revived by the use of earthworms in the soil surrounding the roots of the tree.

They purchased $30. worth of

True Friend and Watchdog

By Eleanor Avery Price

IN ORDER to understand and appreciate the modern Cairn terrier, it is necessary to learn a little about the oldtime Cairn from the Isle of Syke. It is known that in spite of his petite size, he was a working dog of great courage and was used especially to bolt otter, foxes and various vermin from their hiding places among rocks and cliffs. His abilities made him very popular among those who wanted an all-weather hunter.

The Cairn terrier is distinctive in conformation, and his body gives the impression of being very active even though his legs are fairly short. Males weigh about 14 pounds and females average around 13 pounds. Males measure about nine and one-half inches tall at the shoulders. The shoulders are sloped, but the back is level. His head differs from other terriers in that it is short and broad, and the muzzle is quite pointed but not too heavy.

The Cairn's ears are short, erect and pointed, and his expressive eyes are large and dark. His little feet are heavily padded. For show he should have dark ears, muzzle, and tail.

This terrier has a double coat, soft and furry underneath with a harsh, sometimes slightly wavy outercoat. Silky, curly coats are ruled out. The fur can be clipped some to give him a tidy appearance, but he should never appear trimmed.

Combing and brushing are necessary. Any color coat is acceptable except pure white.

The Cairn makes a loving pet and an attractive pal and watchdog.

IF YOUR dog is suffering from the heat, here are several ways to help him. Change his drinking water several times daily, and give him an occasional ice cube to lick or chew. Wash his face and feet with fresh cold water.

Remember that the only way a dog can perspire is through the tongue, and he needs cool spots in which to lie.

IF YOUR watchdog sleeps heavily at night instead of guarding his home, it probably is due to the fact that he is being fed a hearty meal each evening. If he is fed in the morning, he usually sleeps most of the day and is alert at night. A heavy meal makes the dog inclined to be sleepy.

VALUABLE PRIZES GIVEN EVERY HOUR

begin laying eggs when 90 days old.

A GROWN WORM weighs about one ounce and a newborn is difficult to see with the naked eye. He is able to move an object 60 times his own weight. A million worms will produce a ton of castings a day.

It is these castings that so enrich the soil. If the earthworms are placed in hard-pan or adobe clay soil, they will in time, change it into loosely packed dirt, the most fertile of all soil. All the thin layer of the earth's top crust has passed through and will again pass through the intestinal canals of worms.

Roses grown in the Bulley's worm bed garden, covered with an alfalfa mulch, are consistent prize winners. Mrs. Bulley grows African violets in this worm soil and has produced some of the finest in Orange County. Some grown from seeds, took honors in the most recent flower show in Garden Grove.

Mrs. Bulley feeds oatmeal to the worms surrounding her violets. They are all potted and on a bed of sponge rock to keep them from mildewing.

When asked for an estimate of the worms capacity for reproducing, Mrs. Bulley stated, "If 1500 worms are placed in a bed, in one year, they will reproduce, if not destroyed by natural enemies, until there are 350,000 worms in this same area. The worms will survive if cut in half, or if any portion of the body is removed but they will not reproduce."

Club to Enter Fuchsia Show

Plans for the club's entry in the National Fuchsia Club Show at Knott's Berry Farm June 26-28 will be discussed by Carl A. Bjorkman, president, when the Long Beach branch, National Fuchsia Society of America, meets at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at 728 Elm Ave.

Carl Holm will speak on selection and final care and grooming of show fuchsias. Carl Edmond will give national board instructions. Mrs. Monroe Hubbell, program chairman, will present Tat Shinno, who will arrange garden flowers. Mrs. Carl Edmonds will be chairman of the social hour.

NORWALK

Plants Must Eat, Too

By Bob Gilmore

GARDEN ornaments will grow vigorously only if there is sufficient food in the soil to satisfy their demands. Of all the nutrients used for increasing plant growth the most important are nitrogen, phosphorous and potash. The manner in which these various agents act is one of the most interesting stories in the plant world.

Nitrogen is one of the most important food factors and certainly the most dangerous. It increases susceptibility to disease, largely because it produces lush green growth that is extremely sensitive. It brings out the green coloring in foliage and that explains why fertilizers with a high nitrogen content are often used on lawns. Sulphate of ammonia is one example of this. However, lawns require more than just nitrogen and a well-balanced food will prove far better than one containing only nitrogen.

Nitrogen should be used very sparingly if at all during cold weather. It encourages succulent young growth which is highly sensitive to frost and cold weather.

An excess of nitrogen delays maturity, leads to a certain weakness of stem growth and may lower the quality of a vegetable crop. On the other hand, leaf crops such as lettuce, spinach and endive become more palatable and tender when the right percentage of nitrogen is applied.

THE VALUE of phosphorous is due to the fact that it encourages faster maturity, aids in root development and strengthens stem growth. Phosphorous is also believed to aid cell division. Commercial seed growers find it valuable for it helps to ripen the seed and tends to produce a higher yield and a more uniform seed crop.

While nitrogen may be dangerous to work with, especially during cold weather, phosphorous is relatively safe, even an excess of it causing practically no harm.

Potash is a sort of balancing agent between nitrogen and

phosphorous. It aids in the development of roots and is therefore essential for root crops; yet it tends to delay maturity. Potash should be used liberally in sandy soils which are usually deficient in this food factor.

A lack of potash causes an abnormal leaf color and in certain cases may lead to weak stems. Potash adds tone and vigor to most plants and the coloring of flowers is often improved by its use. It is linked up with the process of photosynthesis, being of great value in the formation of chlorophyll.

THERE are several types of plant food now available such as dry or liquid, simple or well-balanced and root feeding or leaf feeding, the latter being comparatively new. Sulphate of ammonia is a simple food in contrast with a rose food that would be a mixture of nitrogen, phosphorous, potash and probably several trace elements. Nitrogen is the only food agent in sulphate of ammonia. Superphosphate is an inorganic food as contrasted with bonemeal or bloodmeal which are considered organic, meaning they have been derived from living organisms.

Do not confuse soil conditioners with plant foods. Hydrated lime, for example, is not a food but simply a soil conditioner. It is used for purposes of neutralizing extreme acidity. It also aids in promoting air and moisture penetration. Gypsum corrects alkalinity but is not a food. Lime is another soil conditioner, not a plant food. It sweetens the soil by neutralizing acidity.

Tips on Gardening

GARDENING TIPS for the week ... Chrysanthemum cuttings that are started now require an open exposure and lots of water. It is advisable to keep them pinched back until about July, thus preventing their becoming woody before flowering time.

Hawaiian tree ferns will add a cooling effect to your garden. This ornamental is not too well known in this area but will do quite well here. In time the plants attain a height of from eight to 10 feet.

It is advisable, when watering African violets, to have the temperature of the water the same temperature as that of the room.

As the weather warms up you should set your lawn mower to cut the lawn at a greater height. Do not mow closely during the summer as the individual plants will suffer. The taller the grass the more shade is provided and this tends to cool the surface and to retard evaporation. Set the mower to cut at a height of about one and three-quarter inches during the summer months.

Sex Sets a Trap for a Man's Soul

By Lew Allison

JOE BAILEY was born early enough to take the full impact of the depression of the '30s—perhaps more tragically than most adults—and late enough to be yanked from the insecurity and frustration of a young citizen into military service in World War II.

Rhodes' 'Sheriff' in Pocket Format

The last novel by Eugene Manlove Rhodes, considered by some critics to be the finest writer of western fiction who ever lived, is now published in pocket-book format. Title of the book is "The Proud Sheriff" (Dell).

Other new Dell books (25 cents): "The Frightened Stiff," by Kelley Roos; "The Bahamas Murder Case," by Leslie Ford; "Behind the Crimson Blind," by Carter Dickson; and "Bats Fly at Dusk," by Erle Stanley Gardner writing under the name of A. A. Fair.

Irving Stone's best-selling novel "Immortal Wife"—the story of Jessie Benton Fremont, wife of California's John Fremont—has just been published in pocket size by Permabooks (35 cents).

Other new Permabooks: "Spencer Brade, M.D." by Frank G. Slaughter; "Swing the Big-Eyed Rabbit," by John Pleasant McCoy; and "Front Office," by Herbert Lyons.

Charlemagne and the Dope Habit

Two of the better new historical novels are Mario Pei's "Swords of Anjou" (John Day, $3.50) and "Men Like Shadows" by Dorothy Charques (Coward-McCann, $3.75). Mr. Pei translates his interest in the legendary figure of Roland to a stirring story of how the events really worked out in the days of Charlemagne. Miss Charques uses the Third Crusade for the background of her lengthy novel.

Startling in contrast is "The Everlasting Arms" by Garth Hale (Dutton, $3). A minister of a run-down city church is confronted with the problem of his attractive young daughter becoming a dope addict. The author saves the reader the degrading experiences of the girl and presents what he thinks can be done to clear a city of such a menace. —E. G.

The depression destroyed his security of social class as it did his economic security. Disillusioned in adolescence, embittered by tragedies and a boy's warped sense of values, he is taken in Oakley Hall's ruthlessly frank novel of nearly 500 pages, "Corpus of Joe Bailey" (Viking Press, $4.50), through crises of school and college life; the tortures of a love that entangled him from boyhood; the tragedies of friendships betrayed; the sour cynicism of attachments of convenience. His imperfect marriage reaches a climax in which the destruction of his own being by his own folly can be prevented only by destruction of the false ideals that have shaped him.

Hall is a talented author who writes something in the traditions of Dreiser and Faulkner. "Corpus of Joe Bailey" can be highly praised for its craftsmanship. But Hall will never be a Dreiser, nor a Faulkner. Despite the fact that Joe Bailey, and the girl Con whom he loves so desperately, and Peter, his friend, an even more tragic figure, are entangled in much more critical traps than sex relationships, Hall devotes also the entire story to brutal conflicts of sex, leaving undeveloped elements of tremendous human drama much nearer to most of his readers.

Truman Memoirs

Former President Harry S. Truman's memoirs will be published in book form by Doubleday & Co. in 1955. Appearing in one or two volumes, it will contain the story of Mr. Truman's life, including his personal account of his history-packed years in the White House and the Capitol.

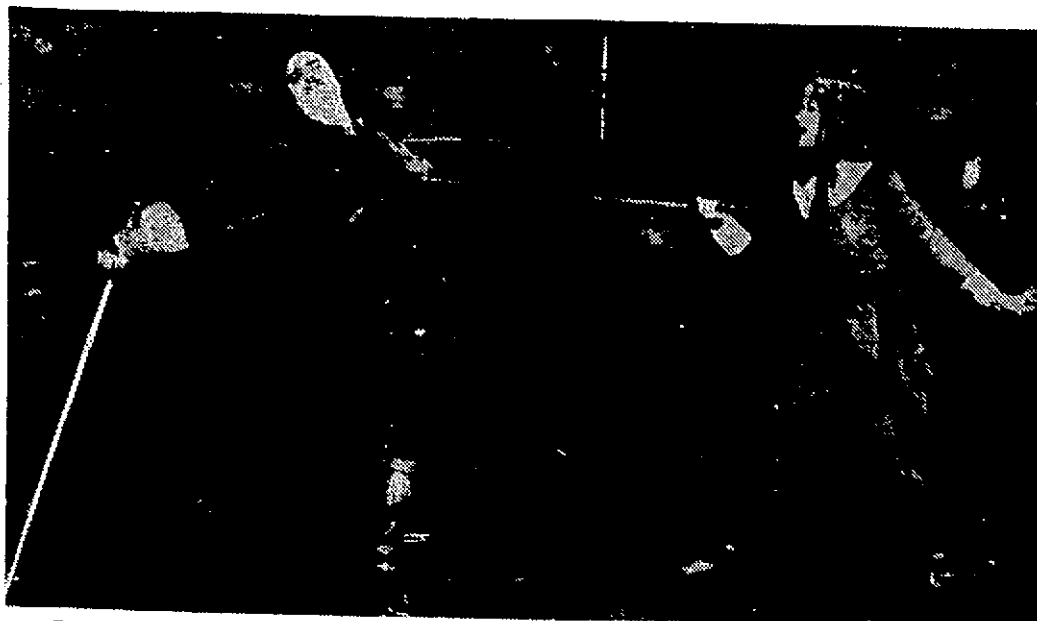

Publication of the book, said Doubleday officials, is by arrangement with Life magazine, which bought all publication rights to the Truman memoirs. They will be serialized in the magazine, it was stated.

Album for Stamps

Part II of Scott's International Album has arrived on the market. It covers the stamp-issuing period for all countries from the middle of 1949, where Part I ends, up to the beginning of 1952. For the United Nations it goes through 1952. For the U. S. it extends through the Service Women's 3-center. The new looseleaf album has 748 pages and can accommodate more than 20,000 stamps.

This new album is a far cry from the first Scott International which was published in 1876 and had less than 500 spaces for stamps.

RECORD ALBUM

Let's Watch Sunny Cut a Disk

By Elaine Hauck

LET'S GO to a recording session and see just how long it takes to cut one of those disks that you spin in three minutes. We'll follow Sunny Gale as she records "Send My Baby Back to Me" for RCA-Victor.

Henri Rene and a pickup band are on hand to back up Sunny. RCA recording director, Hy Grill, is at the controls with two recording engineers in the next booth. A sprinkling of unexplained hangers-on stand around, snapping fingers and looking important.

It's 2 p. m. and the studio begins to buzz with preliminary activity. The musicians are rehearsing; Rene dances around, gesturing to demonstrate the feeling he wants his men to get. Miss Gale is off to one side, singing to herself and the engineers are checking the things engineers check.

2:30—The four mikes are set and the delicate process of "balancing"—getting each section of the band at the right distance from the mike—begins. Grill works hard, especially with the rhythm section. "Back off, Billy," he tells the guitarist. "A little less on the cymbals, Jack," he yells to the drummer.

2:45—Miss Gale answers the call, "Sunny, on Mike" and the red light, signaling the tape is rolling, flashes on. "B 3 BB 1093, Take A," the engineer reads into his mike. They play this first run through and listen to it. "It sounds dead," wails Grill. "It sounds like an old dead fish," says Sunny and Rene agrees, "Something's Wrong."

3:15—They are working on the fourth run and nobody's satisfied. "It's still dragging," says Grill. "It's too fast," argues Sunny. They decide to split the difference and change the tempo as well as rearrange the band. Now they are ready for Take E. They play it back with all the musicians tapping their suede shoes. "Try it with a shuffle rhythm," somebody suggests. "Sunny, watch your Ps," the engineer says, "They're popping."

3:45—They run through with the new shuffle rhythm and decide that was just what it needed. Grill orders the final take. "That does it," exclaims Grill, "but, Sunny, the ending was weak. Let's do that last eight bars again, and Sunny—get mad!"

4:04 — Everyone happy and content with their efforts. Two hours and four minutes to do a side that will run a bit under three minutes. That's a record session.

TEN TOP TUNES — Percy Faith's "Song From Moulin Rouge" continues to be the number one disk on the local hit parade. Other most populars are: (2) "April in Portugal," Freddy Martin; (3) "Ruby," Richard Hayman; (4) "I'm Walking Behind You," Eddie Fisher; (5) "I Believe," Frankie Laine; (6) "Doggie in the Window," Patti Page; (7) "Anna," Sylvano Mangano; (8) "Seven Lonely Days," Georgia Gibbs; (9) "Your Cheatin' Heart," Joni James, and (10) "Pretend," Nat King Cole.

NEW FIELDS of interest open to listeners of the non-music recordings at the Long Beach Public Library. For example, Chaucer, "Canterbury Tales: The Nun's Priest's Tale" is read by Kemp Malone with the real Anglo-Saxon flavor; "Gertrude Stein Read by Gertrude Stein" gives a richness and color to her words that the eye doesn't receive from the printed page; "If I'm Elected" records the actual words of our Presidents and their opponents from 1892-1952 and includes a campaign song of the 19th Century; "Through Childhood to the Throne" is a timely anecdotal recording of high lights in the life of Queen Elizabeth II, and more dictation records will be of interest to those developing speed in shorthand. All but the last mentioned are lps.

Students and teachers influenced the reserve lists last week, with tops to Beethoven, "Symphony No. 9; Bizet, "Carmen"; Rimsky-Korsakov, "Scherzade," and "Tchaikovsky, "Romeo and Juliet Overture."

For Sports Lovers

Three volumes for sports-minded readers cover three important sports. "Best Sport Stories 1953," edited by Irving T. Marsh and Edward Ehre (Dutton, $3.50), includes some of the best of photographs taken on the scenes by lucky cameramen. It's a book to cherish. "Stop That Slice," by Joe Dante and Len Elliott (McGraw Hill, $2) is illustrated by Bill Crawford. A slice is a nightmare to a serious golfer, and if text and pictures can remedy it this book will.

One of the most definitive books on racing is "The Kentucky Derby Story," by Lamont Buchanan. Bill Corum does the foreword, and the pictures still show Twenty Grand to be the most beautiful animal that ever lived. Aristides was the first winner, and the volume brings the '52 champion Hill Gail, into the winner's circle.—G. L.

New Books at the Library

"The Complete Book of Home Freezing," by Hazel Meyer and "Old Time Pickling and Spicing Recipes," by Florence Brobeck are two new books at the Long Beach Public Library for the homemaker.

How to Be Picture-Safe

NOW AND THEN each and every one of us encounters something that is a once-in-a-lifetime situation. Some of these are, of course, more important than others, but the big and little ones are often occasions for picture taking.

And since the event or whatever may be isn't going to be repeated next week, or next month, or maybe even next year, you want to be sure that your picture is good.

The first thing you must do is to be certain your camera is in good working order and that you really know how to use it. Chances are good that it will work, and that you understand its workings. But I did want to mention this because of an experience a young woman I knew had last summer. She had been taking color transparencies with more than fair success for a couple of years. But when she went to Europe, for the trip that she had been looking forward to for years, she bought a new camera just the day before she sailed. She took almost 200 pictures but when she sent the film in for processing, all she got back was a series of blanks! There was something about the operation of the shutter on the new camera that she didn't understand!

I always advise my friends to

try out a new camera before they take it on a trip, or use it for any of the once-in-a-lifetime picture taking occasions.

Forgetting to remove lens cap, cock a shutter, pull a slide, insert a fresh flash bulb, and many other "little things" plague even the best cameramen in their worst moments. Attention to these small items, establishing a routine checkup to be performed each time before shooting a picture will save many a much-wanted snap. Routine will become habit and will be performed almost automatically after a while.

MISS JEAN SMITH, 941 Orange Ave., back from 22 months in Casablanca, has five reels of 8-mm. movies and a collection of 35-mm. slides of scenes in Tangier and Casablanca which she will show evenings to interested organizations without charge.

She has one reel of bullfights. Other reels show market places, field flowers, camel water wells, thatched huts, modern office buildings and persons plowing with camels and donkeys.

PRINT NIGHT will be observed by the Houghton Park

Camera Club at 8 p. m. Thursday in Houghton Park Clubhouse basement. Pictures of models in costume taken at the last meeting will be judged. Color slides will be shown by several members and plans discussed.

COMMUNITY CAMERA CLUB will meet at 8 p. m. Wednesday in Fellowship Hall, 14752 Jackson Ave., Midway City. . . . South Bay Camera Club will meet Wednesday at 8 p. m. in Room 105, Redondo Union High School, Redondo Beach.

A 16-PAGE catalog on projection screens may be obtained by writing Milt Sherman, Radiant Manufacturing Corp., 2627 W. Roosevelt Rd., Chicago 8, Ill. The book includes hints on how to choose projection screens.

Graduation day is a big event, one to be photo-recorded. Don't miss; have equipment in order, know how to use it.

Art Circles

By Vera Williams

Independent Press-Telegram Art Editor

KARL SEETHALER, president of the Long Beach Academy of Art, who was born near Vienna and is considered an authority on German art, will give a gallery talk at 4 p. m. today on the display of 60 postwar German color prints which will be shown through June 28 on the second floor of Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd.

Seethaler will speak on the prints and on German expressionism in general. After the talk, he and Mrs. Seethaler will be honored at an informal reception, at which Samuel Heavenrich, municipal art director, and Mrs. Heavenrich will be hosts.

Chosen by the Carnegie Institute and circulated by Carnegie Institute and the American Federation of Arts, the show includes color lithographs, wood block prints and silk screen prints. Included is work by Willi Baumeister, Fritz Winter, Karl Roedel, H. A. Grieshaber and Georg Meistermann.

Also showing in the Art Center are the Long Beach Art Association spring juried show; prize-winning designs of Long Beach architects and a new Art Mart of paintings, sculpture, ceramics, enameled metal jewelry and textiles by Joseph Henry, Alice Estes, Pamela McDavid, Selma Schrut and Grace Dimmick.

The Art Center, free of charge, is open from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Tuesdays through Fridays; 1 to 6 p. m. Sundays; closed Saturdays and Mondays.

EIGHT WATER COLORS by Leta Hiles will be shown through June in the Long Beach branch office of the Los Angeles County Medical Association, 814 Pine Ave.

Shown are "Spring Flowers";

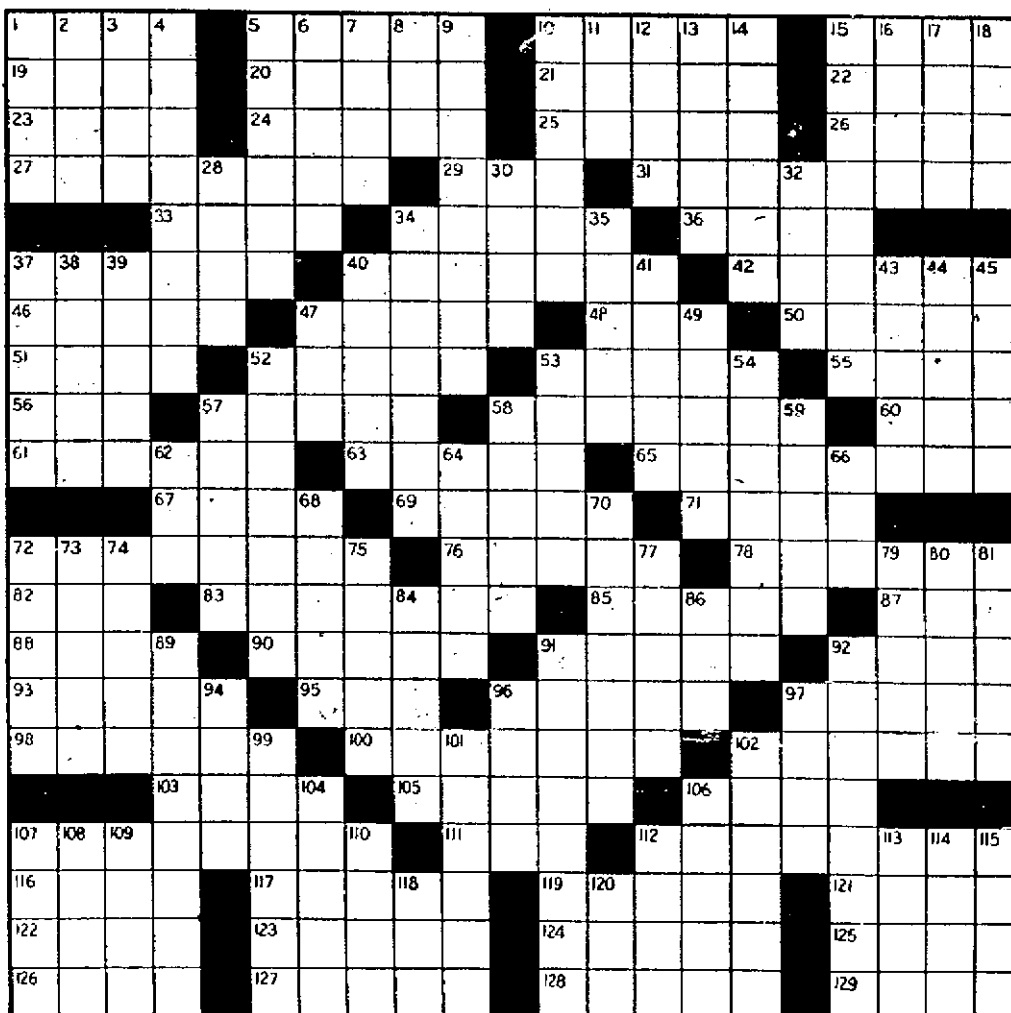

"Peter and Penny," a rooster and hen; "Cora," portrait; "Provincial," interior scene with antique furniture, a gray cat sleeping comfortably on an ottoman; "Lugo House," the famed Spanish country home of the Lugo family; "Country House," an English type home at the outskirts of Compton; "Sea Shells" and a semi-abstract.

TWENTY-EIGHT water colors, oils and etchings by members of the Spectrum Club, organization of men painters, will be shown through June in the Bellflower Art Association clubroom, 9302 Laurel Ave., Bellflower.

Injustice of Law

The injustice of a parent's being accountable before the law when a child dies after medical aid has been refused due to a religious conviction forms the background of "Fool's Haven" by C. C. Cawley (House of Edinboro, $2.75). Set in Pasadena, the book will be of interest to those aware of the many religious sects in Southern California.

OR WIPING!

"VEL SOAKS DISHES CLEAN

THE HARD WORK!"

DON'T WASH--JUST SOAK

Dishes soak grease-free in seconds! No washing needed! If food clings, a touch of the dish scrub gets it off. There's no greasy dishwater with Vel--needing around the pan!

DON'T WIP--JUST RINSE

Yes! Just soak and rinse. Dishes dry grease-free without wiping! When dishes are clean, no pots and pans need to be scrubbed. No hard scrubbing is needed with Vel!

"--and yet NO
